London Wants Change

Dulles May Be Balm to Rift

Europe in Tizzy, 7A

LONDON — (AP) — Expectations of a break in Western strategy on Germany pervaded London's diplomatic colony Monday — 48 hours in advance of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' flying trip to Europe.

Informants said one reason for the Dulles trip is to heal a cleavage between the Western Allies that could pave the way for a new Western approach to the German problem.

The cleavage was reported between Britain and the U.S. on one side and France and West Germany on the other.

In the meantime, in Washington, Sen. J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) said Monday night Dulles is seriously considering a counterproposal to Russia on the German issue.

Fulbright, soon to become chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen after an hour-long conference with Dulles at the secretary's home that Dulles spoke frankly in a review of foreign policy issues, particularly what to do about Russia's new demands on Germany.

Dulles arranged the session with Fulbright on the eve of his departure for talks with Allied leaders in London, Paris and Bonn.

Both Britain and the U.S. favor a reexamination of previous fixed positions on the German question. West Germany and France are less inclined to support a "new look" at the Allied position, it is felt here.

Informants said this still is the impression in London of the West Germany attitude despite a suggestion in Bonn Monday by a government spokesman for a Western foreign ministers meeting on Germany in April to be followed late in May by an East-West foreign ministers' meeting.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan are expected to spell out British ideas on a possible association of East and West Germany in talks with Dulles Wednesday.

Foreign Office spokesmen say these are only ideas and that no set British formula for German reunification exists.

The Foreign Office, moreover, emphasizes that any association of East and West Germany would have to be voluntary and carried out in freedom.

It is felt here that if such a plan could be worked out and presented to the Russians it would provide an opportunity for demonstrating Western flexibility.

Tain't Fit for a Groundhog: Arctic Cold Gripping North

By Herald Wire Services

CHICAGO—Groundhogs and the weather bureau agreed on one thing Monday—the nation is in the grip of one of the severest cold waves of the winter.

Shadow or no shadow, any groundhog which didn't jump back into its warm burrow after sampling the air risked a case of frostbite.

An Arctic air mass which invaded the nation during the weekend spread from the Rockies to the Atlantic. The severe cold pressed as far south as Missouri where Kirksville registered three below zero Monday.

A high-pressure weather pattern responsible for the bitter cold in the East also brought clear skies throughout much of the area. This permitted venturesome groundhogs to see their shadows. Based on legend, though not the science of weather forecasting, it foreshadows six more weeks of winter weather.

The Arctic air, which dropped temperatures to 40 below zero in Minnesota over the weekend, spread eastward and headed slowly into the southland.

Ex-Newsie Is Generous

The will of the industrialist and philanthropist revealed Monday he shared his fortune among members of his family, waiters, secretaries, his barber, business friends, servants—and even his pedicurist.

Sterling, a Socialist, reversed the usual route. He came to Britain in a cattle boat from New York when he was 24. He had six pounds (almost $17). He pioneered the radio and phonograph industries and died at 79.

Trucker Shells Out

'Safety Don't Pay In South,' He Says

His complaint — 35 traffic fines in Dixie. Only one up North among the Yankees. None in five sweeps to California.

Stokes, a trucker "all my natural life," hung a multicolored scoreboard on the 32-foot trailer he uses in runs up and down the Atlantic Seaboard from the Florida fruit belt to the Northern markets.

He's the first to admit he's sticking out his neck, for the first thing the scoreboard, covering the entire back of the trailer, declares is "safety don't pay down South."

Then it comes:

Now is the unkindest cut of all. The sign reads:

"35 traffic fines . . . total, $728."

His scoreboard of Southern states where the fines were meted out lists them in order. They include Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and West Virginia.

It concludes with "five California trips—zero."

The fining jackpots were hit by Maryland, South Carolina and Florida—seven each.

"I don't know what they put the premium on, safety, or what," Stokes complained, "but it's danged funny, it only happens to me in the South. Zero everywhere else."

But Host's 'Not Mad at Him'

Tired of 'Hugging and Kissing,' Van Cliburn Skips Miami Date

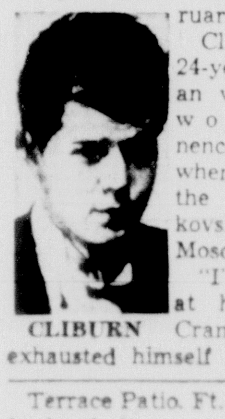
By DORIS RENO

Herald Music Critic

Piano virtuoso Van Cliburn is "so tuckered out with being hugged, kissed and cocktail-partied clear across the U. S." that he canceled two South Florida dates Monday.

The young bachelor was to have appeared in Fort Lauderdale's War Memorial Auditorium tonight, and in Miami Thursday night.

Charles H. Crandon, whose Miami Civic Music Association was to have presented the young pianist in recital Thursday evening, said Cliburn "suddenly canceled his entire February tour."



CLIBURN

Cliburn is the 24-year-old Texan who shot to world prominence last April when he won the big Tchaikovsky prize in Moscow.

"I'm not mad at him," said Crandon, who's exhausted himself with telling Miamians over the phone of the cancellation.

Crandon said Cliburn probably will fulfill his contract here the week of March 29.

"We'll let our members know the new date as soon as we clear it with New York," he sighed. "If I'm tired trying to put on a Cliburn concert here, I know Cliburn is even more tired. I sympathize with him."

"He'll have a breakdown. He's got to have Feburary off," Judd said.

The pianist canceled two Texas appearances during January because he could not otherwise get time to have his teeth fixed.

But in Fort Lauderdale, feeling was less sympathetic.

Seethed Richard W. Ward, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce:

"What has happened to the old slogan: 'The show must go on?'"

Echoed Robert Stephens, Chamber president:

"This doesn't help him any here."

It was an obvious reference to Cliburn's refusal to appear in Fort Lauderdale Jan. 17 to be named one of the 10 outstanding young men in the U.S. in 1958. Singer Pat Boone was named in his place.

At the time Cliburn said:

"They (Fort Lauderdale Junior Chamber of Commerce) had ulterior motives.

Integration 'Escape' Plan Wins Backing Of Florida Officials

$2 Billion Slum Bill Approved

Over President's Budget Proposal

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Senate Banking Committee Monday approved a six-year $2,100,000,000 slum clearance program.

This was considerably more than the six-year, $1,350,000,000 program in this field proposed by President Eisenhower. At the same time, it was less than several Democrats on the committee wanted. The formula the committee adopted was in an omnibus housing bill by Sen. John Sparkman (D., Ala.).

The Eisenhower slum clearance, or urban renewal, program was defeated in the committee by an 8-7 vote, some of the members reported.

This program not only called for 750 million less than Sparkman's proposal, but also would eventually have cut the federal share of capital grants for the program to 50 per cent. Washington now pays two-thirds of such grants. The administration measure would have reduced this to one-half by 1963 on a graduated scale.

On the House side of the Capitol Monday the home building industry called for an increase in the allowable interest on GI home loans. It said the alternative is a billion dollars of government money to bolster the mortgage market.

Yep, It Has Been Warm

Miami is 301 degrees warmer this year than it was at this time last winter.

It may seem hot to you, but according to Miami Weather Bureau statistics, it's still 36 degrees below normal.

Last winter, when record low temperatures were being set for Florida, day-by-day temperatures from Dec. 1 through Feb. 2 totaled 337 degrees below normal.

For the same period this year, the total is minus 36 degrees — 301 degrees warmer than last winter.

How It Works

Here is how the Bailey-Ervin plan would work:

In the event a child is withdrawn from a school faced with integration, the state would give to the parent, possibly in monthly payments, his share of school operating funds. This money would be turned over only upon receipt of sufficient evidence of attendance at an acceptable school.

The next step would be to determine what is an acceptable school which a withdrawn student may attend and receive aid. This could be done by requiring they be approved by a private non-state authority, such as the Southern Association for Colleges and Secondary Schools, or the law could require that all teachers instructing any school be certified or licensed by the State Department of Education.

Virginia Schools Integrate Quietly

NORFOLK, Va. —(UPI)— Twenty-one Negroes went to public schools with white pupils for the first time in Virginia Monday in a momentous transition to integration that went off without a single incident.

Seventeen Negro boys and girls in this bustling seaport city walked into six high and junior high schools which had been closed since last summer in the state's effort at "massive resistance" to federal court orders.

There were no pickets, no crowds of grownups, no violence, no shouting, no catcalls. White pupils clustered curiously around the Negroes as they were being interviewed before school, but there was not a threatening move.

This was the first major test of whether the South would accept integration in the classrooms since violence erupted in Little Rock, Ark., in September 1957. Virginia's smooth transition was in marked contrast to the explosion that led President Eisenhower to send paratroopers to the Arkansas capital.

Reports and rumors of planned trouble and demonstrations never materialized. Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, who fought down to the wire to get around a succession of federal court orders that punctured state segregation barriers, promised that no violence would be tolerated.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Montgomery, Ala., Negro leader, urged other Southern states to follow Almond's lead. He called the Virginia integration "the most significant development in the area of race relations since the 1954 Su-

She Isn't Bothered By Color

NORFOLK, Va. —(UPI)— Karen Gearreald, a ninth grader, is one of 10,000 Norfolk teenagers for whom the end of Virginia's long fight against integration means a chance to return to school.

Karen, a 14-year-old A student, won't be able to detect a difference in her two new classmates — a Negro boy and girl — whose enrollment caused Blair Junior High to close last September.

Karen is blind.

After learning the halls, the classrooms and the stairs at Blair through two years, Karen was told in September she couldn't go back this year because two children there were a different color.

She enrolled in a tutoring class, one of many which sprang up in Norfolk, at a Methodist Church. She learned her way around the buildings, and she maintained her average.

Monday, she happily went back to her school.

"I'm overjoyed," she said. "I'm so glad things will be stable for the rest of the year. I wanted the school to be open all along."

Bailey And Ervin In Accord

Private Tuition Grants Suggested

Voters to Have Last Say, 7A

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Attorney General Richard W. Ervin and State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey reached agreement Monday on a "parent option tuition school plan" they said would offer every parent an opportunity for escape from forced integration.

In a joint statement, these two high ranking state cabinet officers said that in their opinion the plan seemed to be the least imperfect of any legal proposal advanced to date to prevent forced race mixing in the classrooms. The chiefs of both the Florida House and Senate endorsed the plan.

The plan, in brief, authorizes parents of children faced with forced integration to withdraw them from the public schools. It authorizes payment of tuition grants amounting to the child's share of state and county school operating funds to allow the parents to send their child to non-sectarian private schools.

The amount of the grant will vary from county to county. The average for the state now would be about $240 a year.

They said the parent option plan was drawn up in the light of all recent court decisions dealing with integration and in the light of the consideration that there is no community in Florida where the climate of public opinion is such as to allow even "token" integration of schools.

By leaving it to the individual parent to decide whether his child should attend a segregated or integrated school, they said the element of "force" is removed and there is a lesser invitation to extremists.

"It will ease tensions and give people a choice," they continued.

"We do not want to do anything that will destroy the public schools. If we do not do anything, there will be turmoil and a breakdown in the schools."

Bailey said he believes school people will support the plan when they understand it, since it provides for most things school people are interested in — retaining the free public schools and retaining contractual rights and retirement rights of teachers.

To clear the way legally for operation of such a plan, the state officials said the 1959 Legislature would be asked to write an addition to the state constitution authorizing the tuition subsidies and to enact a law authorizing payment of these subsidies to the parents.

While acknowledging that the plan is imperfect, the two state officials said that it had these important considerations:

1 — Florida's system of free public schools will be retained.

2 — No parent would be

Faint Radio Signals Stir Hopes for Ship

Search Pressed In Atlantic

HALIFAX, N. S. — (UPI) — Feeble radio signals were picked up in Denmark Monday night on the regular emergency frequency for ships, stirring new hopes there would be some survivors among the 95 persons who were aboard the Danish ship Hans Hedtoft when it crashed into an iceberg Friday.

Word came from the Danish commercial radio station, Lyngby Radio, north of Copenhagen, that intermittent and faint signals had been heard between 3:30 and 3:55 p.m.

The radio reported there were intermittent long signals with irregular intervals between.

Officials said the emergency radio transmitters on the lifeboats and rubber dinghies aboard the missing ship had been set to operate on a frequency of 8.354 megacycles, the frequency of the signals reported.

The fourth straight day of the international search for the 2,857-ton ship failed to turn up a single trace of the vessel, which vanished on the homeward leg of its maiden voyage between Denmark and Greenland.

Aboard the brilliant orange-colored ship were 40 crewmen and 55 passengers, including 19 women and six children. All were Scandinavians.

The last word received from them was an urgent radio appeal for help at 3:35 p.m. Friday.

Since then, there has been nothing except reports that could not be checked out — a piece of floating timber, possibly from the ship; what appeared to be a lifeboat bobbing upside down on storm seas, and a faint radio message believed more likely to have come from an airplane somewhere over the Atlantic.

In Copenhagen, home port of the flagship of the Royal Danish Greenland Trading Co., Danes were plunged into gloom over what appeared to be one of the worst maritime disasters of modern times.

Hans Christiansen, managing director of the company, said he harbored growing fears for the passengers and crew of the ship.

"We deeply regret we have to admit that . . . we have had no result at all from the search operations," Christiansen said.

"All unfavorable conditions seem to have conspired against us. The weather is still rough despite a certain easing. The U. S. planes are still over the area, and the surface operations will be continued, of course.

"We have no right to abandon hope, but so far we can offer the relatives nothing but our heartfelt sympathy."

Christiansen said faint radio signals heard Sunday night and early Monday might have come from a land-operated portable radio transmitter in a lifeboat.

But U. S. Air Force and Royal Canadian Air Force search officials in Halifax said they were convinced the signals, picked up by two Newfoundland radio stations, must have been faint aircraft signals.

As Would-Be Assassin

Cuban Police Hold Coral Gables Pilot

A Coral Gables pilot has been held in Cuba since the day after Christmas on suspicion of trying to assassinate Fidel Castro for $10,000, Havana police reported Monday.

But Alan Robert Nye, who gave his address as 107 Calabria Ave., Coral Gables, told newsmen he went to Cuba to aid the rebels and to bomb planes of the Batista government in its final days before Castro's revolution succeeded.

The telephone at Nye's address was no longer working Monday and the American Airmotive Corp. at Miami International Airport reported that Nye stopped working as a pilot-salesman for the cargo-flying firm on Oct. 1, 1958.

Lt. Manuel Carbonelli of the police told newsmen in Havana that Nye, a former Navy pilot, was being held in Havana on suspicion that he tried to infiltrate rebel forces to kill Castro. Carbonelli said Nye was jailed Dec. 26 pending an investigation.

Police said Nye was arrested walking along a road near Santa Rita in the Bayamo sector of Oriente Province a few days before the Batista regime collapsed on New Year's Day.

Nye said he was unarmed when he was seized, but police said they believed he had hidden a rifle with a telescopic sight and a pistol after landing in a plane.

Castro's police suspect Nye of trying to kill their leader for a $10,000 fee, but did not say who offered the money to Nye.

Nye denied all of the suspicions to newsmen.

He said that since leaving the Navy and becoming a reservist in 1954 he had worked for the Douglas Aircraft Co. at Patuxent River, Md., and for an Agricultural Air Service spraying outfit in Florida. He was listed in a 1958 Miami suburban directory as an em-

preme Court decision was rendered."

Negro pupils here agreed there had been no incidents in class on the first day, although some animosity was shown.

"On the whole, it went pretty good," Alvarez Gounsouland, 16-year-old Negro, said.

He was asked if he made any friends.

"I think I made a friend with my homeroom teacher—at least, I hope so," he replied.

Charles Perdue, former Duke University football star who is now principal of the big Norview High School at Norfolk, went on the school's loudspeaker system at the close of the day and said:

"Continue the wonderful conduct you have shown today. Don't hang around the school. See you tomorrow."

In Norfolk, where 10,000 whites have been without public schools, city officials were highly pleased.

"I am quite proud of the people of Norfolk, the way they have faced up to this," said School Superintendent J. J. Brewbaker.

Total enrollment in the six Norfolk schools, however, was far below normal.

Maury High School, for example, which last year had more than 1,950 students, enrolled only 1,185. Blair Junior High admitted 800, compared to 1,200 last year.

Final enrollment figures for the day at Norfolk showed that 6,370 pupils attended the six affected schools compared to 9,398 in attendance last June. This was a decline of about 33 per cent.

Many parents kept their children home to see if any trouble developed.

Norfolk's Norview High School had been the place where trouble was mainly feared, but there was not the slightest incident. No adults appeared except parents driving their children to school and only four uniformed police officers were on hand.

Perhaps 1,000 whites were waiting for the doors to open when the first two Negroes appeared at 8:40 a.m. They were two girls, Carol Wellington and Johnnie Rouse, who had walked from their home nearby.

The white children formed a human corridor down the main walkway as the Negroes came to the front door.

A few white students told reporters they believed violence against the Negroes would still come.

June Davis, 14, sophomore, said:

"There is going to be trouble, I just know. Some of the boys are going to gang up on them. They say maybe the parents have given up, but the teenagers haven't."

Lewis Gains Doctor Says

The 78-year-old president of the United Mine Workers union entered Georgetown University Hospital Friday and suffered an attack Sunday morning.

Dr. John B. Minor called the illness serious Sunday night. Monday he said, "Mr. Lewis is much improved and seems to have responded to treatment—we believe it is not an embolism but pneumonia."

3 — The fundamental American concept of the separation o. church and state would be retained.

Agreement of these two cabinet officers on details of the parent option tuition plan is significant since it brings together the state's No. 1 legal officers and the state's No. 1 school officer.

The two chiefs of the 1959 Legislature endorsed the proposal. House Speaker-Designate Thomas Beasley of Defuniak Springs said the plan looks "mighty good" to him. "With some few exceptions it sounds like something I can support," he added.

Senate President-Designate Dewey Johnson of Quincy said he will back the proposal and predicted it will pass the Legislature easily.

Gov. LeRoy Collins could not be reached immediately for comment. But at his news conference last week, the governor stated emphatically he will have nothing to say about such proposals until he has received the report of his special racial advisory committee.

In past legislative sessions Ervin and Bailey were on opposite sides of the fence on the "last resort" private school law and some other proposals designed to preserve segregation, although they were agreed on the need for preserving public schools.

Earlier, Ervin had suggested that the word "uniform" be stricken from the present constitutional requirement for a uniform system of public free schools.

However, on reconsideration, he said he had decided to leave the word in with this phrase added to the present constitution:

"Provided it (the Legislature) may alternately provide assistance to any of the state's inhabitants for their education by such other reasonable means, including education in private schools and institutions, as it may determine to be in the best interest of the state."

Reaction to Proposal Cautious or Opposed

Reactions to the plan among school leaders in Dade County was cautious or antagonistic.

Arvel Morgan, president of the Dade Classroom Teachers Association, said he opposes the plan.

"I would be opposed to any type of legislation," said Morgan, "which would change our present system of public schools. This plan would be such a change."

He and others doubted that the amount of private school tuition grants proposed would be sufficient to solve schooling problems for parents.

"This is no practical answer," said Morgan.

Mrs. Henry C. Fox, president of the Dade County P.T.A., said "I really wonder if it's legal."

Police Feel Pulse of Dying Doctor Pinned Inside Car

Miami Heart Specialist Dies in Lonely Road Crash

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

A lonely 2 a.m. drive through heavy fog on Old Cutler Rd. led to death early Monday for Dr. Herbert Eichert, prominent Miami heart specialist.

He was known as a careful driver but his speeding car failed to make a curve at SW 128th St. and crashed into a tree, leaving him pinned upside down just two feet from his medical bag.

Nearly an hour later, after he had been pulled from the wreckage, Dr. Eichert's heart stopped beating as an ambulance rushed toward Doctors' Hospital in Coral Gables.

According to Metro Accident Investigator John Nelson, there were no skid marks to indicate Dr. Eichert tried to stop. The needle on the car's speedometer was jammed at 70 mph.

"It was so foggy that I couldn't see 20 feet in front of me — I had to sort of creep along to stay on the road," said Sam Mathes, 17, of 6391 Snapper Creek Dr., who spotted the wreck only seconds after it happened.

An autopsy showed that Dr. Eichert had not been drinking nor had he suffered a heart attack. Nelson said he was apparently traveling at "an excessive speed."

Where had the doctor been going in such a hurry at 2 a.m.?

No one can say for certain.

According to Nelson, Dr. Eichert's answering service had no calls for him but he could have received an emergency request at his Coconut Grove home.

"Sometimes he would just go for a drive late at night if he couldn't sleep," said his widow, Mrs. Mary Ruth Warfield Eichert, who is in Glyndon, Md., where she has been visiting relatives since December.

His partner, Dr. Edward St. Mary had the same theory; "He would often take long drives when he was lonely — if he had been on an emergency call we probably would have found out about it by now."

Dr. St. Mary was the last known person to talk to Dr. Eichert before the crash.

"He called me up from his home about 11 p.m. and we talked nearly 45 minutes," said Dr. St. Mary. "He sounded lonely but not despondent — he had a great zest for living.

"We chatted mostly about the high-fi sets we're building and about our patients.

"He told me he had been out flying his plane in the afternoon — he loved to fly — and would often take a spin out over the Everglades or over to the west coast just to relax," said Dr. St. Mary.

"When we got ready to hang up, Dr. Eichert said the same thing he always said — 'Over and out.'"

His Medical Honors National in Scope

Dr. Herbert Eichert was a national figure in medical circles.

Chief of staff of the National Children's Cardiac Home in Miami; Chief of Staff of Medicine at the University of Miami; past vice president of the American College of Cardiology; former president and trustee of the Greater Miami Heart Association.

Member of the Scientific Assembly of the American Heart Association; Diplomat of the American Board of Internal Medicine; diplomat of the American Board of Cardiology; Chief Cardiologist for Mercy Hospital.

Board Member of the Dade County Medical Association; member of the Florida Medical Association; member of the American Medical Association; member of the Florida Heart Association; and former chief cardiologist at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

He received his degree in medicine in 1932 from the University of Maryland and did postgraduate work at the Union Memorial hospital, Johns Hopkins Hospital, and the American Hospital in Paris.

Besides his wide practice in the U.S. he also made trips to Canada, Europe, and South America to attend patients.

He was co-chairman of the Florida Flying Physicians Association; and a member of the Dade County Sheriff's Air Patrol.

He came to Miami in 1937, married the same year, and lived at 4000 Ensenada, Coconut Grove.

His widow, the former Mary Ruth Warfield, is a distant relative of the Duchess of Windsor, the former Wally Warfield of Baltimore.

Also surviving are his daughter, Miss Mary Ruth Warfield Eichert, 17, in school at Dobbs Ferry, N.Y.; and a brother, Dr. Arnold Eichert, administrator of the South Florida Mental Hospital in West Hollywood.

The family has requested that no flowers be sent but that donations be made to the National Children's Cardiac Home, 4250 W. Flagler St.

At Dr. Eichert's request, his ashes will be scattered over Biscayne Bay following a private family funeral.

Pope Receives Ornate Candles

Candlemas, officially termed the Feast of the Purification, commemorates the day in which the Virgin Mary went to the temple of Jerusalem for ritual purification 40 days after childbirth, according to ancient Hebrew law.

Defenses Called Adequate

Hiding Nothing, Says McElroy

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Defense Secretary Neil McElroy said Monday the defenses of the U.S. are "prepared to meet the threat it faces today."

McElroy sought to assure congressmen who have been openly suspicious that President Eisenhower's administration is dangerously cutting armed forces strength in the name of economy.

"There is nothing under the rug" in the nearly 41-billion-dollar defense budget request Eisenhower sent Congress for the armed services, McElroy told the House Armed Services Committee.

Some members of the committee have fumed over a reduction of the Army by 30,000 men under the level set by Congress last year. McElroy assured them no further significant cuts are planned.

McElroy also dealt directly with a statement last week by Committee Chairman Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), who said Eisenhower is asking Congress to surrender its control over the relative strengths of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

The secretary said a new system in the budget request of identifying funds by categories cutting across the services has "no intent or likelihood" of changing the actual method of appropriating to the separate services. Nor, he said, would it give the secretary of defense any important new authority to switch funds around.

The only purpose of the change, McElroy said, is to make the money needs of the military clearer to Congress and to the public.

He conceded that each service chief had some reservations about the amount of funds provided for his service. But McElroy said they joined in calling the budget adequate and "also included a statement they saw no important gaps in the 1960 defense program."

In a review of major defense programs and decisions, McElroy conceded that early warning and counter-weapons do not provide an absolute defense against enemy missile attack.

"We cannot expect to counter an all-out attack so completely that no hostile weapons will penetrate," he said.

But the defense secretary said any potential attacker would recognize U.S. defenses and strike-back capacity as formidable. The military's first responsibility, he said, is still "to retaliate with large weapons in case of an outbreak of general war."

McElroy said the Atlas missile, a prospect for intercontinental fighting, "is moving ahead even faster than originally expected." Some operational Atlases are expected to be in place and attended by trained personnel this summer, he told the congressmen.

The first "fully operational Polaris submarine, at sea ready to fire" its 1,500-mile range missile, is expected for the latter part of 1960, McElroy said.

National Summary

The southwestern mountain areas have had some snow showers otherwise the southwest has been mostly fair with the northwest having considerable fog and some cloudiness.

Occasional snow and flurries are likely from New York into northern New England during the next 24 hours and may appear in the northern Great Lakes region Tuesday.

The rain area across the South will represent the major departure from fair weather east of the Rockies. Forecasts include warnings of a continuing threat of freezing rain or snow through much of the west, central and northeast Texas to Arkansas, and ice storm warnings have been issued for southern Oklahoma.

Some freezing rain is likely to reach extreme northern portions of Mississippi and Alabama while a cold rain persists over the balance of the Gulf region into Georgia and northern Florida through Tuesday.

Temperatures should dip to zero or below from the West Virginia and Maryland mountains into the northeast but a warming trend through the northern plains should reach the midwest and northeast.

Intermittent snows or flurries are likely over the Rockies from Colorado southward and some freezing rain is indicated for southeast and southern border regions of New Mexico.

Ike Reports

Space Status: 'Solid'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower said Monday the U.S. has accumulated a "record of solid achievement" in its space programs.

He told that to Congress in a letter forwarding an administration report on aeronautics and space projects since this country succeeded in getting its first satellite into orbit a year ago. The report is required by law.

The 12,000-word report, prepared under the over-all direction of the new National Aeronautics and Space Administration, was confined to what the U.S. has done or plans to do in space. It made no mention of Russian progress in missiles, satellites and space probe vehicles.

"The report," Eisenhower wrote, "provides an impressive accumulation of evidence as to the scope and impetus of our aeronautical and space efforts. Equally impressive is the report's description of the variety of fields being explored through the ingenuity of American scientists, engineers and technicians.

"The report makes clear that the nation has the knowledge, the skill and the will to move ahead swiftly and surely in these rapidly developing areas of technology . . ."

The report itself said that during 1958 the U.S. carried out a series of space experiments that yielded invaluable data and established a firm foundation for further efforts.

But, says the report:

"There were a number of failures during the year and we promptly announced them."

The report made no mention of Russian competition except to say that "the U.S. is aware of the magnitude of the challenge and aware that it must be fully met."

"The past year has seen notable progress in the space effort of the U.S.," the report said. "Five U.S. satellites have gone into orbit. Two space probes, one launched in October and the other in December, traveled 71,300 and 63,580 miles, respectively, before earth's gravity reclaimed them."

A statistical table showed that the five satellites and two space probes were achieved out of a total of 17 efforts during 1958. This did not include failures in attempts to launch the Vanguard late in 1957.

Chicago Called Segregated

CHICAGO — (AP) — Chicago is more racially segregated now than at any time in its history, State Treasurer Joseph D. Lohman says.

Lohman, a former professor of sociology at the University of Chicago, said more than 70 per cent of the Negro people live in neighborhoods which are 95 per cent Negro. About 20 years ago such neighborhoods had a far greater mixed population, he added.

Batista's Stay 'Repugnant,' Hosts Say

CIUDAD TRUJILLO —(P)— The continued presence of Fulgencio Batista is "repugnant and unpleasant" to this country, the Dominican Republic radio says, backing a suggestion that he get out.

The former Cuban president has been in political asylum here since New Year's Day, when he fled Havana and the Cuban revolution.

BATISTA

A government spokesman said Monday the radio and press attacks on Batista represent the views of the authors — and the government will stick by the principle of granting asylum to political exiles.

The outspoken broadcast of La Voz Dominicana called Batista an unscrupulous, evil man and a petty figure "hated by the very stones in Cuba." It echoed the sentiments of a leading Dominican newspaper, El Caribe, which carried an article under the headline: "Batista Should Get Out."

The radio station was founded by Arismendi Trujillo, brother of this country's leader, Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo. The broadcast quoted from El Caribe and said Arismendi Trujillo wanted to add some of his views. It then continued:

"The vigorous campaign waged by La Voz Dominicana against the atrocities committed by Red Chieftain Fidel Castro (leader of the Cuban revolution) must not be misinterpreted. It does not mean that we are forgetting the abuses and ingratitude of the regime under Batista, that unscrupulous, evil man who gathered together part of his clique and unexpectedly fled Havana.

"Today he is enjoying asylum and courteous treatment at the hands of the illustrious personage (Generalissimo Trujillo) whom he allowed himself to insult basely in the past.

"This individual who savagely persecuted Dominicans throughout Cuba and without cause attacked our sacred institutions cannot have our friendship.

"Trujillo's nobility and Christian kindness have given shelter to a man who would not have come here if he had any sense of decency . . . The fact that the Dominican Republic observes the right of asylum and sanctuary does not mean that we are in sympathy with everybody who comes."

An aide to Batista said he would not talk to newspapermen about the situation.

There is a long-standing feud between Trujillo and Batista. One of Batista's chief henchmen, ex-Sen. Rolando Masferrer, once led an expedition against the Dominican Republic with the intention of overthrowing Trujillo. Masferrer now is in the U.S.

Can't Afford Inflation, He Says

Fight for Balanced Budget, Director Urges Businessmen

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

Maurice H. Stans
. . . a hidden tax

President Eisenhower's budget director said in Miami Monday that John Q. Taxpayer should pressure his congressman to spend no more than the U.S. takes in.

Maurice H. Stans, U. S. director of the budget, said overspending — except in an emergency — invites inflation and bankruptcy.

"When you individually have an emergency like an unexpected illness of your wife, you may spend all you have and borrow more," he told Miami businessmen at the First Federal Savings & Loan office here.

"When the emergency is passed, you repay the money you borrowed. You know you must live within your income. The same goes when you have an emergency in your business."

Government, he said, should operate within its income.

"We can afford to let the country go into the red during a war emergency," Stans declared.

"But in peacetime, we should get back on an even keel."

Failure to do so, he warned, means destruction of sound national economy and is an invitation to inflation.

"Inflation is nothing but a stiff, hidden tax," he said.

Stans made a strong pitch for the businessmen and "Mr. Average Citizen" to get behind President Eisenhower's proposed 77-billion-dollar balanced budget which now is before Congress.

Congress, he declared, is the voice of the people and congressmen are influenced by what they hear from the home folks.

Just complaining to your neighbor about high taxes, won't help Stans said.

"Too many people who want economy in government use the shotgun approach," he said. "We scatter our fire.

"The other side . . . the special interests . . . our opponents who favor spending — they use rifle fire and pinpoint their targets."

High-powered lobbies, he pointed out, are camped on the doorstep of Congress pressuring for legislation which will benefit their causes.

When Congressmen get these pressures, without hearing to the contrary from the homefolks, there is a tendency to bow to it, he said.

Fitness Week

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower Monday proclaimed the week beginning May 3 as National Youth Fitness Week. He urged the nation to demonstrate the importance of youth fitness as the foundation of the continuing strength and well-being of the American people.

Verse Halts Horn Noise

ATLANTA —(AP)— A suburban drive-in has noticed quite a decline in horn-blowers since its carhops began handing out cards with this verse:

When you want to call your waiter
And you're sitting all forlorn—
You will get him to you quicker
With your lights than with your horn.
For there ain't a man among us
Who has eyesight that has growed
To the point wheer he can look around
And see whose horn has blowed.

Egypt Closes Three Schools

CAIRO — (AP) — Officials of the United Arab Republic sealed the doors of three Jesuit schools and announced Egyptian staffs will take them over.

The three units of the Roman Catholic Saint Famille School were seized by the government of Egypt — largely a Moslem nation — because the schools allegedly taught forbidden matters on Arab history and georgraphy.

Fulbright In The Critic's Chair

A New Hand For Policy

SECRETARY of State Dulles is off today for Europe on what is described as a patch-up job. Confronting the Berlin question and the Soviet demand for withdrawal, the Western powers are represented as divided and confused over a common policy.

Everyone will hope that Mr. Dulles has something along positive lines in his well-traveled brief case.

If he hasn't, he will hear from home in the person of a newly powerful and perhaps commanding figure on the diplomatic scene.

This would be Sen. James William Fulbright (D., Ark.) wso succeeded yesterday to the chairmanship of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, a post more or less occupied up to now by Sen. Theodore F. Green of Rhode Island. Senator Green is retiring because of age and physical infirmity.

UNDER the Constitution the Senate is a sort of council of advisers on foreign policy. On occasion its Foreign Relations Committee has exercised a powerful influence on the conduct of our world affairs. No one will forget the postwar role of the late Arthur H. Vanderberg of Michigan, whose famous resolution of 1949 mobilized Senate support for the system of "collective security arrangements" that is now Mr. Dulles' concern .

Will the Senate find an equally powerful and influential voice in Senator Fulbright? There is reason to think so.

The ex-college president and ex-Rhodes scholar who gave his name to the Fulbright fellowships is a thorough student of the world around him. Though sometimes mercurial in his positions on public questions he has a habit of going to the very heart of the matter when foreign policy is in dispute.

For instance, Senator Fulbright last August called attention to the "serious distortion" in the relative emphasis given to military and economic aid — something this newspaper has accented repeatedly.

And he is the foremost Senate critic of Mr. Dulles' stubborn inflexibility and negativism.

If this role is played to the hilt and if Senator Fulbright can stay with it, the country should benefit immeasurably. Since Senator Vandenberg's time the Senate largely has abdicated its responsibility toward foreign policy, forgetting that bipartisanship is useful only up to the point where the clash of ideas is needed to whet and vitalize the conduct of our affairs.

We trust that at long last somebody's keeping the shop.

Pleasant (And Busy) Weekend

IN RETROSPECT this last weekend, when the new terminal was dedicated at Miami International Airport, will be long remembered. And as the oratory and applause die away, these facts remain for guidance:

We have an airport terminal adequate for our needs, but now is the time to start planning for the era not far distant when we will need another major airport.

This is, without doubt, the most air-minded community of its size in the country, as witness the tremendous crowds that attended the air show at Opa-locka despite poor planning and advance confusion.

President Arturo Frondizi of Argentina found it so. In an eloquent address before a distinguished audience of civic leaders and representatives of neighboring countries, he told of the hopes and fears of his native land, of its need for trade and understanding. He urged us, and all Americans, to "stop looking so hard at Europe" and look instead to the nations next door whose future is so closely linked to ours.

SEN. GEORGE Smathers, too, took the occasion to further his campaign for better Pan American relations. He called for an end to military missions which in many cases create ill feeling. He was highly critical of the Pentagon plan to send military training experts to troubled Haiti.

"We are deliberately walking into the middle of an explosive Caribbean situation with our eyes shut to the consequences," said Senator Smathers.

Stepped-up aid for better health, higher living standards and increased self-reliance are needed far more in Latin America than proficiency in gun slinging.

All this talk resulted from the dedication of our new terminal. In their way the pageantry, the ceremonies, the speeches were a reflection of this community — air-minded, Latin American-oriented — with an unlimited future in both these directions.

On the whole, it was a brilliant and thought-provoking weekend.

If You Please, It's Our Row

WE DON'T know one L. Boyd Finch but we freely offer him a bit of fatherly advice. It's this: Anyone who mixes into a family spat is likely to get clobbered by both sides.

That's what is happening to Mr. Finch because of his article in Harper's magazine titled "The Florida Swamp That Swallows Your Money." His thesis seems to be that Congress has been wrong in appropriating money for flood control in Central and Southern Florida, and should stop.

In support of this argument, Mr. Finch quotes some public officials and several Herald editorials. What he didn't know, evidently, was that The Herald's comments dealt with housekeeping details, not the basic merits of the work. Divorce may be the farthest thing from the mind of a husband who reproves his wife for burning the corn muffins.

If it is true, as has been said, that Mr. Finch lives in California, his error on this score is understandable. It also may account for his unfavorable comparison between flood control in Florida and the work of the Reclamation Bureau in the West.

From his viewpoint, flood control is a boondoggle while reclamation is a model of economic prudence. That ain't, as the saying goes, the way we heerd it. Quite the contrary.

SO, now, let's see.

Congress prescribed the conditions under which federal money would be invested in flood control. The Florida project qualified to the satisfaction of Congress, and has been checked repeatedly by congressional committees.

Mr. Finch's main point seems to be that taxpayers all over the United States ought not be required to foot part of the bill for a local improvement. We wonder why he didn't include reclamation and irrigation out West, harbor dredging wherever there's a harbor East or West, road building, the Tennessee Valley Authority and other federal hydro-electric dams, flood control on the Mississippi, the St. Lawrence Seaway, rural electrification, and farm subsidies whose chief beneficiaries are big farm operators.

If Mr. Finch had chosen to cite flood control in Florida as a minor example of charges on all the taxpayers which ought to be questioned, we couldn't quarrel with him.

As matters stand, we'll thank him to keep his nose out of Florida's business.

Don't Ask For Unpleasantness

THE GOOD, gray Chicago Tribune recently printed its annual diatribe on the perils of motoring southward to Florida resorts.

The theme is that "Florida, Georgia and Kentucky . . . appear to be the worst states" for speed traps as one travels down from the middle west.

The whole thing is illustrated by a map with danger zones in red. In Florida, these are stretches of U.S. 19 and U.S. 27 in North Florida and the entire length of U.S. 1 from the Georgia line to Miami. The legend points to 18 speed traps in Florida.

It would all be very interesting — if true.

"To the best of our knowledge and feeling, we know of no speed traps, as such, existing in Florida," a spokesman for the South Florida Motor Club (AAA) says. "Certainly we can speak with authority about U.S. 1.

"The State Road Department has conducted studies and recommended limits, even in cities. We find officers in most of the towns reasonable and tolerant.

"We do tell our members to watch the speed signs and obey them as they go through."

ONE PLACE on U.S. 1 to be especially wary, it appears, is the little town of Boulogne in Nassau County, just south of the Georgia line.

"The tendency in driving to Florida is to step on it when you cross the state line," the AAA man said. "It isn't a good idea."

If the sign says 40, don't go 41 in Boulogne.

Over on the other side of the state, there was somewhat zealous enforcement by the local constabulary up around Chiefland. The Tampa AAA club took that up, protested, and the situation is reported improved.

The Tribune's article cites complaints to the Chicago Motor Club of speed traps on the southern routes.

". . . 34 per cent were about unpleasant experiences with the law in Florida," the piece said.

Were the aggrieved parties observing the posted limits? We doubt it.

"Any time a person is arrested for a traffic violation, it is an unpleasant experience," the AAA spokesman tells us. "It is bound to be unpleasant. But if I'm doing 70 in a 45 mile zone, it is my own fault."

Over and out.

The Artist As Ornament

CONNOISSEURS called Theodore Frederick Spicer-Simson the world's greatest portrait medalist. His art was an exacting one—to catch and fix, in low relief, on a tiny circlet of metal, an image of the face and spirit of his subject.

He did this so well that his life's work depicts many of the great men of his time. He was better known in Europe than in the United States.

Unbeknownst to most of the 900,000 people now living in Greater Miami, Mr. Spicer-Simson did much distinguished work here, at his winter home in Coconut Grove. He died there Sunday at age 87.

His presence in Greater Miami was an ornament to this community.

Editorial Background - - The Metro Commission

You Want To Do Big Things! But What?

By JEANNE BELLAMY
Herald Editorial Writer

Bellamy

IMAGINE YOURSELF as a Metro commissioner.

You have 10 colleagues. With them, you make the laws and chart the course of Metropolitan Government here.

This is a brand new kind of local government. It was set up by the voters for all the 900,000 people of Dade County, Florida's largest city, getting bigger by the minute. You're in charge of this enormous, new venture.

No one anywhere has had a job just like yours before. You can't find out how to do it by reading, writing or telephoning. It's squarely up to you.

WHAT ARE you supposed to be doing? You're torn between two schools of thought on that.

One is in the charter adopted by the voters as Metro's constitution. It gives you "the power to carry on a central metropolitan government" for the whole county.

But the charter can't talk, and you seldom hear from plain Joe Citizen urging you to get rid of duplication so you can give him better public services and improvements at the lowest possible cost.

YOU'VE HEARD plenty, though, from city officials who didn't want Metro and still don't. They tell you to do absolutely nothing about anything inside city limits. You know if you go against their wishes, they'll give you fits.

Besides, no one is handing you any well-thought-out plans for action on such problems as traffic, bridges, expressways, zoning, water and sewers.

Isn't that up to County Manager O. W. Campbell? He's an experienced public administrator, rated one of the best in the country. It looks to you as if he and his staff ought to be bringing in recommendations for you to approve, change or reject.

But you don't feel at ease with Campbell. Rightly or wrongly, you've got the impression that he isn't taking you into his confidence.

FROM questioning Campbell, you get the idea that some of his aides aren't keeping him fully informed. Are they trying to run Metro themselves? Maybe they think they're the only ones who know what ought to be done, and elected officials are nothing but a nuisance.

You're sore about this whole attitude right now. If you dared, you'd vote to fire Campbell and replace him with some home-town man who talks your language and recognizes your importance. You haven't done it because you're sure a lot of people would be furious and might try to recall you.

You give Campbell credit for reorganizing Metro's 6,200 employes. They're lined up now to handle their chores right, and the detail work seems to be moving smoothly.

But you're getting tired of endless surveys, studies and reports.

YOU KNOW the charter says you can be thrown out of office for meddling with administration.

That makes you self-conscious about anything you say to Campbell except on the most formal basis.

The only time you feel free to talk about administration is at public meetings of your commission. Newsmen are there, and sometimes television cameramen. Naturally, you want to make sure their reports give the public a true picture of your thinking, so you feel obliged to make a little speech setting forth your views on nearly everything that comes up.

Your colleagues do the same. These meetings take up an awful lot of your time.

IF YOU happen to be one of the five commissioners who took office in January, 1957, you find it hard to get used to the new setup. You were elected as a pre-Metro-style commissioner. This meant full-time duty. You personally ran several county departments, hiring and firing pretty much as you pleased, telling employes exactly what to do.

Then, when the charter was adopted, you found yourself suddenly changed from a boss into a lawmaker.

As one of the five, you had to enact a lot of basic ordinances to put Metro in business. City officials howled that you were "moving too fast," making a "power grab."

Then came the time to elect six additional commissioners. Candidates picked up some of the criticism and used it in their campaigns. As soon as the winners were sworn in, they started acting as though they didn't trust you, undoing your decisions.

ON THE other hand, if you are one of the six new commissioners, you have a few frustrations, too. You had a platform in your campaign and you want to carry out your promises.

As a "new" commissioner, you thought you'd have to spend only a few hours a week in the courthouse. All the rest of your time could be devoted to your means of livelihood. Your awakening has been unpleasant. You've run into the maze of old laws that keep you in the courthouse for such trivialities as signing bonds for notaries — 1,000 a month of those alone.

Because you're a "new" commissioner, your salary is fixed in the charter at $6,000 a year. But you do as much work as the five who get $15,000. And there's nothing you can do about it but ask the voters to approve a charter amendment more than doubling your salary. You don't want to do that.

WHICHEVER group you're in, you've been feeling up until lately that your fellow-commissioners aren't much help to you. Gradually, though, you're beginning to get together with them on a few things.

One thing you've all been cautious about is using your lawmaking power for the benefit of pressure groups. Nearly every time you turn around, someone buttonholes you to pass a law that will protect him from his business competitors, or something similar. He gets mad when you turn him down, but you're sure that's the right thing to do and glad your colleagues agree.

You know about City Hall efforts to steam up resentment against Metro. You've heard of builders, for example, who were told the municipality would like to let them do what they want to but it's forbidden by Metro's countywide building code.

YOU WANT to make Metro work because you know that's what your constituents expect. There's so much to be done that you don't know where to start.

You've got no major recommendations from the county manager. You've been scouring around for ideas for action. So have your colleagues.

You can't help thinking you're the only commissioner who's willing to take a strong stand. The rest seem afraid to do anything for fear they'll be criticized.

"Sure," you say, "no matter what we do, we'll get criticized. But have you noticed what people are starting to say about us for doing nothing?"

Y'all Come Back To See Us!

Ohio's Tax System Better

Editor The Herald: Florida can learn something from the state of Ohio in regard to the state sales tax.

Florida does not get all of the monies it should because of the very poor system.

In Ohio, when you pay your sales tax, the storekeeper gives you a stamp as your receipt. The storekeeper buys these stamps from the state. Under this system, the storekeeper does not have to give a monthly report to the state.

I think it is the best system.

Our Congressman Loaned A Hand

Editor The Herald: The achievements of the House government information subcommittee would not have been possible without the continuing support of newspapers such as yours.

More important the subcommittee would not have been successful in breaking down some of the barriers to the people's right to know without the efforts of your congressman, Dante B. Fascell. As the second ranking member of the subcommittee his dedication to the principles of freedom and his untiring work to implement those principles have been responsible for a good deal of the subcommittee's success.

Convalescents Fill Hospitals

Editor The Herald: It is true that hospitals here are overloaded. The reason is there are too many patients convalescing.

In our hospitals, it is said, about one-third of the patients are convalescent and taking up bed space. People won't send their old loved ones to convalescent homes because they know the good care and attention they get in the hospitals.

Are our modern hospitals turning into convalescent homes?

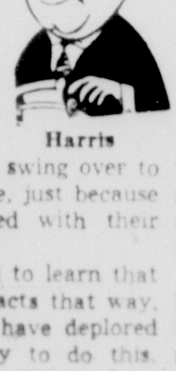
There's Danger In Extremism

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS



Harris

A FRIEND of mine, whom I have always considered a calm and stable personality, told me recently that he is regarded in some quarters as a wild-eyed radical, and in other circles as a stony conservative — when actually he is neither.

"It's an irresistible urge I have when I get together with extremists," he said. "I promptly swing over to the other extreme, just because I am so irritated with their one-sided view."

I was delighted to learn that somebody else reacts that way, too. For years I have deplored my own tendency to do this. In most cases, it gives a false impression of my views — but when I am confronting an extremist, I become a passionate defender of the opposite view.

With ice-cold reactionaires, I sound like a rabid bolshevik; with professional liberals, I take on the tone of a fascist; with the ardent culture-vultures, I pretend to read nothing but comic books and lovelorn columns; with pugnacious lowbrows, I refer haughtily to the French symbolist poets and the ontological existentialism of Kierkegaard.

THIS, of course, is a senseless way to behave; it is overreacting to a situation. But, in all fairness, there is something about extremism that breeds its own opposite.

The complacency of the bourgeoisie makes me yearn for the Bohemian life; the sloppiness of the Bohemians brings out my primness; loud-mouthed patriots prompt me to take a stand for the French way of life; and moist-eyed lovers of all things European give me the urge to hop on a chair and begin waving Old Glory.

THE DANGER of extremism is that it forces its opponents to adopt an equally extreme view — thus hurting its own cause more than it realizes. The Reign of Terror during the French Revolution was a natural historical result of the repressive monarchy; the satanism of Stalin sprang out of the soil of Czarist cruelty.

No single way of living is exclusively right. Combination is all. Life is the art of mixing ingredients in tolerable proportions, so that all the varied needs of man are somehow satisfied, and no important hunger is neglected. This is what all extremists forget, with their too-simple slogans for the good life.

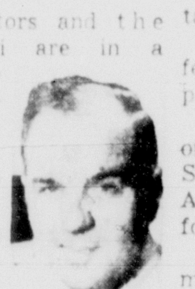
To See Ourselves As Others See Us

By JOHN PENNEKAMP

WANT A LOOK at Miami as others see it?

Joe LaGore, managing editor of the Paducah (Ky.) Sun-Telegraph, is a trained observer. He spent some time in Miami Beach recently, and when he got home, wrote about us.



Pennekamp

Some of his comments:

Airline operators and the City of Miami are in a hassle over the new Miami International Airport terminal.

The city (he means Port Authority) says the terminal is "operational." The airlines say it isn't, and, what's more, they'll not be persuaded that it is until they can move into the quarters allotted to them.

MIAMIANS are accustomed to such spats, an evil but seemingly unavoidable part of the mushrooming that Miami and other Florida areas are undergoing.

Metro has not solved all of the problems, nor even begun to do so, mainly because it has been in existence only a year or so.

For instance, there is no uniform traffic code for the metropolitan area. Traffic cases are supposed to be tried in a certain court, but the city of Miami, mindful perhaps of the revenue involved, goes on trying such cases in its own courts, as if Metro did not exist.

"The postwar building boom that hit Miami is showing little or no signs of slackening. Some new residential areas are designed to contain several thousand homes. Hundreds of homes now occupied were started less than two months ago.

ONE GETS the notion that Greater Miami some day will run out of space to accommodate the influx of people into the area. That may happen, but not soon.

There still is a tremendous amount of space left in which to expand.

Already Miami has outstripped our national capital as the city of magnificent distances.

It no longer is a matter of a few minutes to get from one part of town to another.

Examples: It took us one and one half hours to get from Sunny Isles to International Airport, 19½ miles. Three hours for the round trip.

Hialeah race track is 15 miles from Sunny Isles. We made that trip in 25 minutes each way.

To get from Sunny Isles to Homestead, 40 miles south, required only an hour in the early morning, but twice that long to make the return trip in the afternoon.

HOW DO YOU get into "restricted" places, like the control tower at the airport or inside a B47 at Homestead Air Force Base? You know somebody. LaGore knew a minister whose brother is an instructor in tower operation.

He climbed, he wrote, into the nose of the B47 to the navigator's seat.

There is precious little room for any of the three-man crew. But it was about all the room they'll need.

They are too busy flying the plane to need room for sightseeing or reading or lounging.

It's all business when the plane is in flight.

Before entering the tower (at International) our host warned us that we might hear some raw language, especially if a snafu developed in some landing or takeoff.

There were no verbal explosives while we were there.

It was barely possible to hear operators giving instructions to pilots nearing or leaving the field.

There are half a dozen or so restaurants and cocktail rooms that will serve the flying public.

"One of these was done in Oriental decor and we wished we could have waited around for its opening to see whether the barmaids were from Bali or Baltimore."

Each Generation Resists Criticism

Communists Turning Capitalist While We Produce Welfare State

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

SOKOLSKY

THERE ARE ALWAYS those who believe that the mechanisms which were used so successfully and advantageously when they were young, are available today after a world-wide depression, a permanent war that started in 1914 and is not yet over, and after all nations went off the gold standard and therefore destroyed confidence in the medium of exchange.

It may take a century to correct some of the errors that were made between 1914 and 1958. One of the major difficulties is that each generation develops its own orthodoxy and therefore resists criticism of the status quo.

Thus, when one says that the law of supply and demand will solve all economic problems, he ignores the fact that while economic problems are important, social problems are even more significant in a free society.

FOR INSTANCE, it is socially and politically intolerable that several million Americans be unemployed. The law of supply and demand cannot be depended upon to safeguard us against the disturbances that unemployment produces.

We are still suffering from the effects of the 1929-1938 period of great unemployment, the social memory of which is not readily erased.

Today, the American market is governed by a volume of treaties, the Reciprocal Trade Agreements, the GATT agreements, and our various liabilities and obligations to allies and associated powers.

THE PROBLEM that we face is not controls vs. the law of supply and demand, but capitalism vs. socialization.

The Western capitalist countries have been moving into a social system which might be termed socialized capitalism.

Soviet Russia is gradually moving out of Bolshevism into capitalism.

As confusing as this paradoxical terminology may be, it does represent a closer approximation to what is happening than references to government controls or the law of supply and demand.

What is generally called democracy in the West has been converted from its 19th century concept as a movement to increase human freedom to a movement which imposes upon the state greater responsibility for the welfare of the individual.

In fact, it tends to make the individual, who retains freedom to choose his government, dependent upon it.

The free market had to recognize the rights of the individual to follow his choice, to exercise his free will, to be, in fact, an individual.

Today, those who speak of democracy glibly insist upon government supervision to protect the individual from exploitation from control by other individuals, so that various organizations are set up inside and outside the government which restrict the human will.

As these organizations grow stronger, they are manipulated by powerful political personalities.

Also, they are called by other titles, presidents, chairmen, leaders, bosses. They form a new elite. They know each other and have assessed each man's strength. They form into an aristocracy of power.

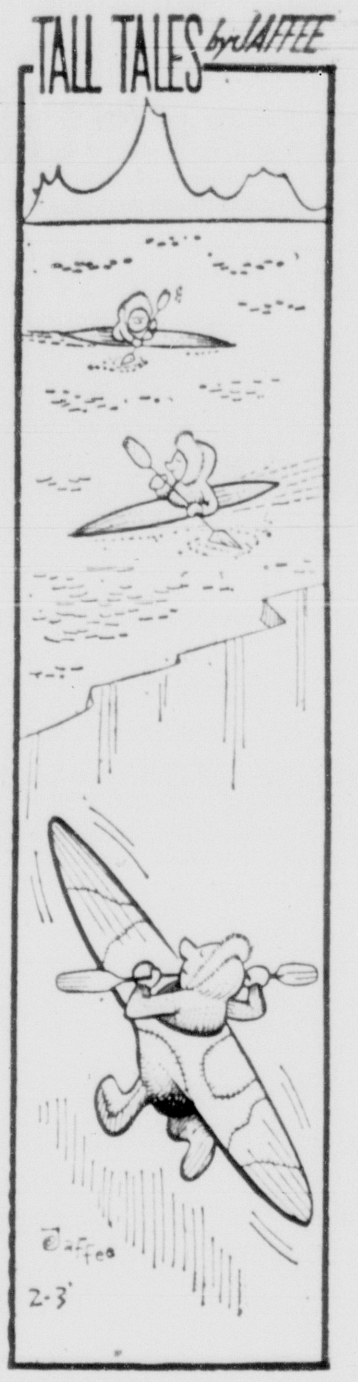
IN A WORD, socialization leads to power for those in charge of the machinery of socialization.

The difference between Stalin and Khrushchev is that Stalin protected the political organs of revolution from dissipation by employing the purge which included murder; Khrushchev is not strong enough politically to use murder as an effective weapon of the state.

Mikoyan must have been puzzled by those peculiarities during his visit here. He will have to manage to report what he has witnessed in Marxian terminology.

Yet, from the standpoint of Karl Marx, the world is topsy-turvy, the Communists are moving toward capitalism and the capitalists have produced a welfare state.



GOP Congressmen Say

Nixon in Walk

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON—Vice President Richard M. Nixon holds a 4½-to-1 lead over New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller (R) in a poll of Republican congressmen's choices for the 1960 presidential nomination made by Congressional Quarterly.

Rockefeller emerges as the leading choice for vice president, but by a less decisive margin.

A similar poll of Democratic Congressmen, released yesterday, picked Sen. Stuart Symington (D., Mo.) for President and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D., Mass.) for vice president.

Both the Republican and Democratic lawmakers were asked by Congressional Quarterly "Give us your judgment on your party's strongest possible ticket for President and vice president."

Secret ballots were filled out by 76 Republican senators and representatives, comprising over 40 per cent of the total GOP membership of Congress from all sections of the country.

IN THE PRESIDENTIAL voting, Nixon was named 59 times, Rockefeller 13 times and Sen. Styles Bridges (R., N.H.), once. Three Republicans said they didn't know who the strongest candidate would be.

Nixon had a big margin over Rockefeller in the votes of Western and Midwestern Republicans and led the governor by a 2-1 margin even in the East.

Scattered returns from Southern Republicans gave the two men equal strength.

THE VOTING FOR vice president was wide-open, with 19 men drawing mention and almost one fifth of the ballots indicating no choice at all.

Rockefeller was named for vice president on 16 ballots, four times as many as the runner-up, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

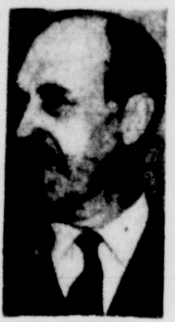
Only three men drew votes as running-mates for both Nixon and Rockefeller: Senate Minority Leader Everett McKinley Dirksen (R., Ill.) and House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck (R., Ind.), each mentioned six times in all; and Sen. Barry Goldwater (R., Ariz.) mentioned once as a running-mate for each man.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ike Was Real Mad but Hid Concern After Des Moines

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The President was a lot madder over the Republican criticism against him at Des Moines than he let on at his press conference.



PEARSON

Privately he boils at the insinuation that his leadership was responsible for the Democratic landslide last November.

The Des Moines needling has had a healthy effect, however. For those who meet weekly with Ike to map strategy can see him reaching for leadership as never before.

He seems to realize that he has only two years to go and in that short time he must repair the political damage and make his record as a great President.

He wants to leave the White House with the same popularity as when he entered.

One year ago Ike was talking wistfully about the Queen of England and her relatively easy job of laying cornerstones and making speeches.

Now he seems to realize that the United States cannot be run that way. He now even reads the papers himself, doesn't depend on the abbreviated news summary prepared by his staff.

He asks more questions of congressional leaders, has more suggestions to make.

He is irked at the way Sen. Lyndon Johnson and the Democrats have stolen the initiative, but he isn't sulking over it. He's determined to catch up.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER sent a chiding message to crusty old Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany the other day, urging him to cooperate more with the West in solving the Berlin crisis.

The "diplomatic spanking" was sent before Eisenhower knew that West German businessmen had agreed to sell Russia the 12,000 miles of steel pipe which the United States government had refused to let American businessmen sell.

If he had known this, possibly the message would have been stronger.

What Eisenhower wants Adenauer to do is cut off West Germany's trade with East Germany in case of a Russian blockade, and to announce this in advance.

The East Germans rely so heavily on West German trade to keep their economy going that they might throw up their hands and tell their friends in the Kremlin to change their tactics if Adenauer should cut off all trade.

However, Adenauer, who is urging the West to fight to the last man to save Berlin, has refused so far to consider cutting off trade.

He claims such a trade boycott would hurt only the East German people who are anti-Communist, not the government.

The State Department refuses to accept this explanation, and has urged Eisenhower to keep needling Adenauer.

The State Department is convinced that West German businessmen just don't want to interrupt their lucrative commerce across the border, regardless of Berlin's fate.

Last Word

By DR. BERGEN EVANS

QUESTION: Is one who writes a playwright or a playwrite?

ANSWER: He is a playwright. Playwrite certainly seems more natural, and I assume that playwriter would have to be accepted, though I have never seen it in a dictionary.

The --wright in playwright is derived, ultimately, from the Anglo-Saxon wyrcan, to work. A playwright, therefore, is one who works in plays, or, rather, one who works or fashions plays, as a wheelwright fashioned wheels and a shipwright fashioned ships. A plain wright was a carpenter — whence our very common surname.

Just to complicate matters further, there is still another word --playright. It means the legal right of presentation which a playwright has in what he writes.

His Palms Become Moist

Oh, How He Fears Dentist Chair!

By JIM BISHOP

TERROR tends to dissipate if one understands it. I cannot understand my terror of dentistry.

BISHOP

Someone mentions a filling or an extraction and little diamonds of moisture show up on my palms.

I see a man with a coat buttoned up the side of his neck smiling at me through rimless glasses and talking cheerfully of his children as his nurse lines up the instruments of torture on a sterile napkin.

At this point, I am dead. My body sinks slowly in the chair until the back of my neck is on the seat.

The doctor assures me that the only thing I have to fear is teeth itself and I nod and do not believe a word he says.

There is no lie so base as a sign that says: "Painless dentistry."

They have been hanging outside offices for at least a century, and it is my considered opinion that they should have hanged some of the dentists.

No profession has advanced less than dentistry. The difference between Benjamin Franklin's bridgework, and mine, is not great.

The methods of oral surgery have progressed somewhat, but the problems of the human mouth remains essentially the same and so too do the the corrective measures.

I have some spurious teeth on the upper side and there was some recent pain so I went to see Dr. Milton Ross, a cheerful and competent man who lives across the river from me.

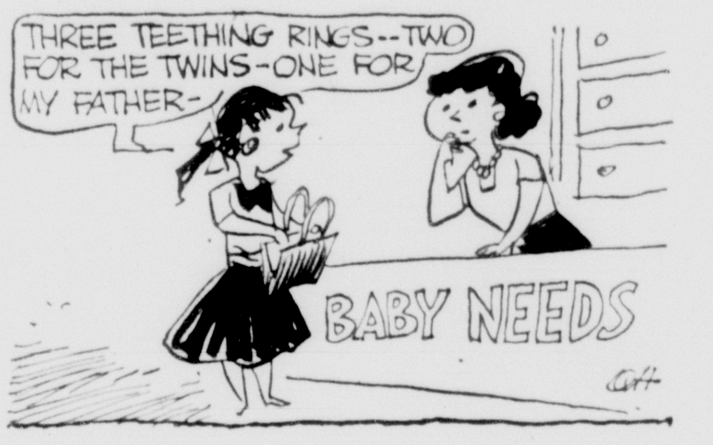
I sat in his office watching the little fish in his waiting room tank. They worked their little gums incessantly.

The nurse, Mrs. Edythe Larsen, is dark and trim and sympathetic. She starts to wring her hands for me when I say hello.

Well, Dr. Ross opened my trap, adjusted an opague light like the kind the Russians use for extracting confessions, and examined, probed, felt, rubbed and took X-rays. I can go through this type of thing pretty well — only half dead.

The doctor said it seemed to him that I was growing a third set of choppers.

When my sympathetic daughter Gayle heard this, she nodded glumly and said: "I was going to get two fancy teething rings for the twins. I'll make it three."



THREE TEETHING RINGS--TWO FOR THE TWINS-ONE FOR MY FATHER-

Ott

Two of the bony eminences had to come out at once. I will spare you the details. Right now, I have stitches in my mouth and, when I grin, the ends come out and I look like an old tabby. Rather, I feel that they are coming out.

The thing that keeps me going in this world of oral masochism is the knowledge that Dr. Ross is going to make me look great when it is all over.

Of course I may not last until it is all over. If I don't, let me go out grinning, please.

OVER A PERIOD of years, I have sat in a lot of waiting rooms. I'm a trained observer, and it's nice to know that I'm not the only one who perspires.

I've seen big strong men tap their fingers on the arm rest of chairs interminably and, when the nurse nodded to them, their faces quivered like bowls of mint jelly.

I knew a medical doctor who wouldn't take care of his teeth under any circumstances. He worked himself down to some brown stubs. He looked bad.

"In my case," he said sadly, "it's even worse. My brother is a dentist."

My father, on the other end, appeared to have no trouble going to a dentist. He just hitched up his pants and went.

My mother-in-law was anti-dentist. As she grew older, she permitted the teeth to fall out.

She ended with about four lowers and could still eat steak.

But she was unusual in many ways. She used to buy her spectacles from a counter in the five-and-ten.

School Mingling Up to Voters?

ERVIN

BAILEY

By JOHN L. BOYLES
Chief of Our Capital Bureau

TALLAHASSEE — How far does the majority of Floridians want to go to avoid integration?

If a proposal by Richard W. Ervin, state attorney general, and Thomas D. Bailey, state superintendent of schools, is adopted by the Legislature, it could provide a statewide test of the question at the polls.

If the Legislature, which meets in April, approves their plan to give parents an option to withdraw their children from an integrated school, it would have to be put to the voters — since it would be a constitutional amendment.

BAILEY AND ERVIN were sharply divided two years ago on a proposal which would have allowed the local school district voters to decide by ballot whether to close a school, rather than see it integrated.

Now, by their agreement on a polished up parent-option proposal, they may have found a plan that will win enough legislative support to thwart more extreme measures that could altogether wreck the state's public school system.

The proposal, however, raises these questions:

WOULD there be enough private schools with accredited standing to meet the demand?

COULD the average parent afford to send his child to a private school on an average tuition-support allowance of $240 a year?

WOULD the passage of such a law taint the Pupil Assignment Law and also cause it to be held invalid by the courts?

The parent-option plan proposed by Bailey and Ervin is not new to the Florida legislative scene. Several key legislators have advanced various types of parent - option proposals, including one to set up a dual system of both public and private schools.

Bailey and Ervin have doctored the much - discussed proposal with some sugar coating that might make it much more palatable to most law - makers who are considered extremists and those who are labeled moderates.

They apparently took cognizance of Gov LeRoy Collins' recent statement that he will oppose any legislation which would not guarantee a "uniform" public school system.

Bailey and Ervin say their parent-option proposal would not conflict with the Pupil Assignment Law, but merely provide a second line of defense for parents who want to avoid forced integration.

They pointed out that before requesting financial aid to send a child to a private segregated school, the parents could first request that the local School Board reassign the pupil to another public school that remained segregated.

Bonn Alarmed by Dulles

By DAVID M. NICHOL
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

BONN, Germany—Secretary of State Dulles has most of official Europe in a tizzy today with his plans for a blitz tour of western capitals.

Publicly, his visit here is welcomed. Bonn will be the last stop after talks in London and Paris.

In private, there is much less enthusiasm about the appearance of this tireless campaigner.

FOR ONE THING Dulles seems to have short-circuited the four-power working group, which is to meet in Washington this week, even before its deliberations have begun.

If "new ideas" about how to reply to the Soviet Union are produced it will now be at the Dulles level.

If these new ideas are of sufficient novelty and importance to bring Dulles to Europe there is understandable concern in West Germany.

The more they study the prospects of "flexibility" the more the Germans realize that they will be asked to pay the cost.

This finds expression here in assertions of "confidence" that Dulles will not make concessions at the expense of West Germany and West Berlin.

If there wasn't some alarm this wouldn't be mentioned.

IN BONN DULLES will find Chancellor Konrad Adenauer strongly opposed to "new ideas" simply for the sake of proposing them.

The chancellor's personal opinion seems to be that the Soviets aren't interested at this time in any acceptable settlement of the German problem and that a search for new ideas under these circumstances is both futile and potentially dangerous.

Dr. Adenauer is finding unexpected support from France's President Charles de Gaulle.

Gen. De Gaulle seems to oppose even meeting with the Soviets until the Kremlin's time limit for West Berlin, at the end of May, is passed and then only if the Soviets don't make some outrageous move against the city.

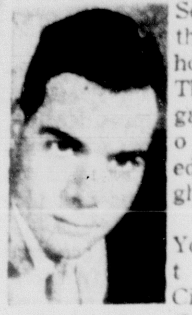
N.Y.'s Housing Bias Still Riding Strong

By DON OBERDORFER
Of Our Washington Bureau



Oberdorfer

NEW YORK — This city's political leaders and social workers, who often throw stones at the race-conscious South, turned to their own glass houses Monday. They are segregated flats in overcrowded racial ghettos.

The New Yorkers told the Federal Civil Rights Commission about vigorous official efforts to stamp out discrimination in housing. Yet the problem, by their own accounts, continues almost unabated.

The Civil Rights commissioners, pausing to study housing segregation here between hearings on voting rights violations and school segregation in southern states, heard the New York story with little comment.

It is the age-old story of the racial slum, created by poverty and group differences and perpetuated by discrimination and continuing migration to the city's core.

Despite new and strengthened anti-discrimination housing laws, some of them covering private housing developments, 80 per cent of New York City's Negroes are compelled to live in four concentrated city areas.

"If the population crowding in some of Harlem's worst blocks were translated into larger terms, we could fit the entire population of the U.S. into three of New York's five boroughs," said Dr. Frank S. Horne of the city's official commission on intergroup relations.

Horne reported some "gratifying" progress in opening housing opportunities to Negroes and Puerto Ricans, but the effect of these is overbalanced by the continuing influx of the groups to New York, he told reporters.

Much of the action in breaking racial barriers has occurred in public housing here. But Chairman Charles Abrams of the New York State Commission Against Discrimination predicted that if the trend isn't stopped by raising income limits on public housing, it will be "wholly occupied" by the two racial groups.

Officials of the New York City Housing Authority testified that when public housing projects become more than 40 per cent Negro, the white occupants begin to leave hurriedly.

Many of the witnesses called for federal efforts to curb discrimination in federally aided housing. They said stepped-up federal efforts would aid in solution of New York's minorities problems.

New York City has more Negroes than the combined populations of the capital cities of all the southern state, more Puerto Ricans than San Juan, more foreign-born Italians than Florence, and more Jews than the State of Israel.

In New York's slums, as in other slums, the people who have the least pay the most for what they get.

A three-year nationwide study reported to the rights commissioners Monday listed as finding number one the fact that a dollar bill in the hands of a non-white American won't buy as much or as good housing as a buck in the hands of other citizens.

Housing is the only commodity in the American market not freely available to minority groups, the study by the commission on race and housing found.

The study found that while Negroes are relatively more dispursed in southern than in northern cities, a non-white person can buy more housing for his money in the North than in the South. Whites in the two areas fare about the same.

'De Facto' Segregation Hit

NEW YORK —(AP)— A unit of the American Jewish Congress charges that tens of thousands of Negro and Puerto Rican children are receiving inferior education in public schools in New York City.

The New York metropolitan council of the congress says there is "de facto (in fact rather than in law) segregation in the city schools."

The council sent a letter to the board of education calling for immediate action.

'Roll Up Sleeves' for Space Battle, U.S. Is Told

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The nation's civilian space chief warned Monday that Americans either must "roll up our sleeves" for a long expensive space conquest program or spend money buying telescopes to watch Russia's triumphs.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the House Space Committee that Russia is 18 months to two years ahead in developing the powerful rockets needed for exploration of deep space.

He also said under questioning that he "wouldn't put it past" the Russians to succeed in placing a man in space this year. The U.S. does not expect to put a man into an orbit around earth for about two years.

Glennan Shows Space Capsule Model

. . . to Rep. Overton Brooks (D., La.)

Glennan's chief assistant, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, injected a surprise note into the hearings by predicting the U.S. would need 10 to 15 years to put a man on the moon — some five years more than estimated by some experts.

Rep. James G. Fulton (R., Pa.) snapped that if the first American did not reach the moon before 10 to 15 years, "there'll be a man there saying 'nyet' when he arrives."

The House committee only last week released a series of statements by space experts predicting that with enough money and effort an American could reach the moon within a decade. The experts included Dr. Herbert York, chief scientist for the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

Glennan said he had "no hesitancy in predicting we will close the gap" in the overall race into space against Russia. But under repeated questions he declined to say when.

He said merely pouring more money into the U.S. program would not appreciably speed it up, but only give greater guarantees of success.

HURL a 10-ton space craft into orbit around the earth by 1962.

FIRE a two-ton space craft "into deep space — far beyond the moon" by the same year.

ORBIT a 75-ton space craft around the earth by 1965.

Glennan said the U.S. had the resources, the intelligence, the technical skills and certainly the necessary wealth to conquer space. What it needs, he edded, is "determination — the willingness to roll up our sleeves and get the job done."

Countess Sought in French Scandal

PARIS — (AP) — Police are looking for a mysterious foreign countess who may be a key witness in France's sexy scandal of teenage dancing girls.

The police did not name the countess but hinted she may have given dancing lessons—of a sort—to the young girls who then entertained a collection of influential men.

The investigation of the growing "Rose Ballet" scandal has already resulted in indictments for "attacks on public decency" against the former president of the French National Assembly, bald, Andre Le Troquer, 74, and two prominent Parisians, Businessman Jean Jessier and Guillaume Guglielmi, a leading hairdresser, to whose salons the fashionable ladies of Paris stream.

The three men were placed on provisional liberty and immediately went into seclusion after engaging a battery of well known lawyers who began scattering denials like a snowstorm.

Red Cites U.S. Political Prisons

MOSCOW —(AP)— A leading American Communist told the 21st congress of the Soviet Communist Party Monday that U.S. jails contain many political prisoners.

James Jackson, secretary of the national committee of the U.S. party, told the sixth session of the congress:

"If President Eisenhower could say, as (Premier) Khrushchev did in his report) that in the U.S. there is not a single political prisoner, then many leaders of the Communist and workers movement of the U.S. would be able to be present here and to greet the delegates of the congress."

Jackson named "many Communists who are languishing in the jails of the U.S.," a summary of his speech broadcast by Moscow radio said.

Romania Denies Churchman Held

VIENNA —(UPI)— An official Romanian source Monday denied reports that Marina Justinian, patriarch of the Orthodox Church of Romania, was under house arrest.

Last month, it was reported that the churchman was under house arrest and had been taken by Communist police to an undisclosed place outside Bucharest.

This report followed other information that several hundred Romanian Orthodox priests had been arrested in the last two or three months of 1958 and accused of anti-state activities.

The source denying that the patriarch had been arrested said Justinian had presided over a holy synod meeting of the church in Bucharest Dec. 12-15.

TOKYO — (UPI) — The Kyodo news service reports that Japan has received slightly more than one billion dollars worth of weapons from the U.S. since 1950.

At the same time, it reported that the Japanese government would ask the U.S. not to reduce drastically its military aid allocations to Japan.

An advance party of the top-level Draper Committee, appointed by President Eisenhower last November to evaluate America's global military aid program, is now in Tokyo for a survey of aid to Japan.

William H. Draper Jr., chairman of the committee, has arrived in Tokyo to begin talks with Japanese officials.

Authoritative Washington reports said the U.S. was contemplating a cut in military aid to Japan.

Oil Slick Perils Thames Villages

LONDON — (UPI) — A sheet of oil floated slowly down the Thames Monday, bringing the threat of fire and destruction to dozens of ancient English villages lining the river.

Fire brigades manned the banks of the Thames and officials warned against throwing lighted matches or cigarets into the oil which escaped Sunday from a damaged pipe in the Kennet Canal at Beenham.

"The stuff was so inflammable that a lighted match could have set the river ablaze from bank to bank," one Thames conservancy board member reported.

Art Identified As Correggio

LONDON —(AP)— A painting in Leningrad's Hermitage Museum has been established as the work of the Italian master Correggio.

Radio Moscow said the work was compared with known Correggios and the landscape and figures were executed in a manner typical of the Italian artist's early period. Correggio died in 1534.

Keeping Up to Date

What Ever Became of . . .

E. G. (CANNON BALL) BAKER?—In the days when a man who repaired cars was a "mechanician," Cannon Ball roared to fame by making record transcontinental speed runs. His first record: Driving a Stutz Bearcat in '15 from San Diego to New York in 11 days, seven hours. His fastest New York-Los Angeles road time was in '33, steering a supercharged Graham the 3,224 miles in 53½ hours. Then state speed laws put the kibosh on coast-to-coast marks. Baker got his start racing a motorcycle on a Crawfordsville, Ind., dirt track.

Today at 76, Baker and his wife live in Indianapolis. He is commissioner of the NASCAR racing association, presides at races. Cannon Ball drives a '55 Pontiac with 117,000 miles on it, has no trouble "because I know how to handle it." On today's wide highways, Cannon Ball drives "no more than 60 miles an hour."

Double-Decker For Russians

BERLIN —(AP)— Double-decker buses are going to get a tryout in Moscow traffic.

The East German news agency ADN reported a 14-foot high East Berlin doubledecker left by road for a tryout in the Soviet capital.

the man had 13 bears...

Our money sources got hysterical when we told them about the bear owner who wanted to build a house and needed $10,000. What, they asked (all but one), did a bear-owner want with a new house? Wouldn't the bears move over and make a little room for him? But that one (the one in parentheses)...did commit himself. It was a good asset-protected deal, and the ability to pay was there many times over.

And this little story, friends, is merely to tell you that we arrange financing that takes a little doing. We're not always so lucky...sometimes we work our hearts out and we still don't get money for a client we consider highly-deserving and solvent. But by and large, we're pretty good. And we're always pleased when the impossible ones come through.

So if you need an experienced, stubborn, dogged, never-say-die outfit to find the sort of financing which is outside the province of your local bank, please telephone or write us for details. We work a lot harder than bears!

Today's Cele-Birthday

By JOY and JERRY SHAW

An eminent sociologist and anthropologist, Soustelle succeeded Andre Malraux in July. He is an authority on the Aztec and Inca Indians, and former governor-general of Algeria. He is a dynamic speaker who relaxes with literature and music. Sometimes considered politically ruthless, the bespectacled leader is seen by many as President Charles de Gaulle's successor. The Christian Science Monitor says of him: "Soustelle is a walking paradox."

Roof Kills One

DAMASCUS, Syria — (AP) — Press reports said Monday at least one workman was killed and 17 others were injured when a 300-ton roof they were building collapsed on one of the main bazaars in Haleb (Aleppo). The reports said the search is continuing for more possible victims.

France Honors Fascist Legionnaire

By PAUL GHALI

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

ROME—When Giuseppe Bottai was burned in Rome a few days ago, fervent admirers of the late Benito Mussolini were surprised to read the sympathy card on one of the wreaths.

Bottai was minister of education under Il Duce for seven years, and the sender of the flowers was France's ambassador to Italy.

Why, it was asked, did the present tenant of France's stately embassy, Farnese Palace, mourn a man whose political career was unfriendly to France?

And thereby hangs a tale. It is the saga of a onetime Fascist bigwig who didn't like Mussolini's "stab in the back" of France and later proved it under arms.

Giuseppe Bottai and one Andrea Battaglia, who enlisted in the French Foreign Legion at its headquarters in Sidi Bel Abbes in Algeria, Aug. 30, 1944, were one and the same person.

Nobody in those hectic North African days divined that Battaglia, in the quiet guise of a former Italian high school teacher, was in reality one of the most ardent theoreticians of Italian fascism.

But Bottai, like Mussolini's son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, had been convinced that Il Duce's biggest mistake was to enter the war.

He stood at Ciano's side July 25, 1943, when the count opposed his father-in-law, called for an end to the war, and handed in his resignation.

More fortunate than Ciano, who was imprisoned by the Nazis at Verona and then executed, Bottai managed to escape. A year later he found himself in Algeria and enlisted.

As a private, Battaglia landed in France with his combat unit in September 1944. He gave a good account of himself in the campaigns of France and Germany.

As a sergeant, in 1945, he was sent back to a Foreign Legion camp in North Africa where, now over 40, he was assigned to desk work.

After demobilization in 1948, Bottai served as editor of Rome's newspaper A.B.C. In his last years he became an active advocate of monarchic restoration to the great disappointment to many ex-fascists still active in Italy.

Visit G.H.Q.
for income number two

If you want to know more about a second income — an additional check over and above your regular take-home pay — don't delay. Go straight to headquarters!

Headquarters for a second income is any Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Here's a first-rate source for the help you need to go after extra income through sensible investment in stocks and bonds. Specifically . . .

Headquarters For Advice

Before you make any important purchase, you probably like to ask the opinion of someone who knows his business. For investing, too, there's no substitute for good advice. And there's an easy way to get it. Drop in at headquarters (a Member Firm, remember) and talk with a Registered Representative or Partner. He (or possibly she) has measured up to the Exchange's standards of knowledge and experience—and can be of real help to you.

Be frank. Discuss your financial situation and objectives with him. Invest only money left over after paying your bills and putting something aside for emergencies. Then let him help you work out an investment plan — whether in stocks or bonds or both — for your particular needs and pocketbook. He does it all the time — with all kinds of people.

Headquarters For Facts

In addition to getting qualified advice on any major purchase, you undoubtedly look it over pretty carefully yourself. It's not too different with a security. Tips and rumors are undependable. Stock and bond prices go down as well as up — and a company may not make a profit, may not pay interest or a dividend.

So you need facts. And a Registered Representative has a great deal of information. Member Firms, all told, spend millions of dollars for research about companies and securities. Study the facts a Registered Representative will give you . . . evaluate them with him . . . and you've taken another big step along the road to a second income.

Headquarters For Service

Let's assume that you've decided to buy some stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Once you've told the Registered Representative what and how much, you place your order and your Member Firm sends it promptly to its representative on the floor of the Exchange. That's the nation's market place where orders to buy or sell securities come together from investors all over the country. There, your Member Firm's man finds a seller and your order is executed, usually in minutes.

That's all there is to it. You'll be one of many part-owners of a company. If things go well, you can share in its profits — and in its growth. All you pay for the experienced service of a Member Firm is a modest commission on what you buy and sell. And, from time to time you can (and should) ask your Registered Representative to review your securities with you.

There's something you can do right now about getting that second income. Visit a G.H.Q. for investing. Ask a Member Firm for a free copy of our helpful booklet, "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." It gives the records of some 365 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange that have paid a cash dividend every year from 25 to more than 100 years. It contains much more worthwhile information — including a description of the Monthly Investment Plan, through which you can systematically acquire stock on the New York Stock Exchange for as little as $40 every three months up to $1000 a month. PONCE DE LEON DISCOVERED THE REAL "FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH" IN THE FRUITS OF FLORIDA

Mr. Ponce tells Mr. and Mrs. Florida Visitor:

What made Great Aunt Florence flip!
How to make a Million Dollars!

LET us suppose that you have a maiden aunt or a lonely uncle and that said doddering relative has $1,000,000 to bequeath to a deserving kinfolk. Let us suppose, too, that in your visit to this fair Florida Sunland of ours, you've been sending flush Aunt Florence or affluent Uncle Frederick pretty picture postcards. Do you think that those perfunctory postals will alter that precious Will in your favor? Not one whit! The big boodle of cash will still probably go to your ne'er-do-well nogoodnik second-cousin, Marvin, whose only redeeming feature is his brown eyes (just like Aunt Flo's or Uncle Fred's).

BUT, on the other hand, let us suppose that instead of those well-meaning, yet inexpressive, postcards, you send the ultimate greeting form — a basket of Cobbs Florida Fruits. What do you suppose will happen when dear Aunt Flo or lovable Uncle Fred bite into that luscious, juicy, maddeningly delicious ambrosia? How do you suppose they'll feel about you, who were thoughtful (and devilishly clever) enough to send Cobbs Gift-Quality Fruit? Second-Cousin Marvin had best enroll in a proper vocational school and pursue a possible career as a cut-glass mallet maker. As for you, ...

CONGRATULATIONS! YOU'RE A MILLIONAIRE!

Note: Cobbs FRUITS are perfect for sending to fancy friends and plain ordinary relatives, too. Your thoughtfulness will earn you $1,000,000 worth of affection and gratitude.

Oh, yes, OUR MINIMUM standard for quality (5 out of every 100 boxes picked) is MORE than the MAXIMUM standard rating issued by the U.S. Govt. Dept. of Agriculture. WE SHIP ONLY THE SELECTED BEST OF U.S. NO. 1 GRADED CITRUS FRUIT . . . Inspected and Certified daily for size, color, juice content and quality in our own Packing House . . . The largest of its kind in the State of Florida.

. . . and REMEMBER — You pay no more for COBBS Quality . . . and Prestige!

She Can't Model Diaphanous Suit

MUSKEGON, Mich. —(P)— A judge failed to grant a request to have a woman model a bathing suit she says became transparent when wet.

Circuit Judge Henry L. Beers told attorneys for an apparel shop, "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

He did grant a defense request to run chemical and physical tests on the suit.

Mrs. Donnan Dibble is suing for $2,500. She claims the first time she wore the suit in Lake Michigan it became transparent.

'Think of Something'--GOP

WASHINGTON —(P)— The Republican National Committee is polling 6,300 county and city party chairmen and vice chairmen on their ideas for strengthening the party organization for the 1960 campaign.

Committee officials said about 200 replies already have been received, but will not be made public at this time.

They said a questionnaire went out about a week ago carrying a reprint of Chairman Meade Alcorn's Des Moines speech proposing reorganization plans and asking the local leaders what they think of the proposals and which should be given first priority.

One question put to the local leaders is whether the people in their areas believe the charge that the GOP is the party of big business or the rich.

If the answer is yes, the leaders are asked what can be done to combat the assumption.

Another question asks the chairmen what they are doing to develop strong candidates for the next election.

Other questions sought information on the most effective topics used by Democrats in the last election and on methods of raising money.

Columnists Blush At 'Brigitte,' 14

By Herald Wire Services

GILLIAN HILLS, the 14-year-old "Brigitte Bardot of Britain!" made even London gossip columnists blush as she exposed her legs and threw sultry glances at random during a television performance.

"This kid ought to be back in school," one of them commented. "It's positively indecent."

But Mrs. Wendy Hills, Gillian's mother, told the columnists: "Look at my Gilly. So innocent."

Asked if her daughter was going to get an education, Mrs. Hills replied, "Of course Gillian had to leave school. There's no time."

He's Weathered Cuba's Coups

By JAMES BUCHANAN
Herald Staff Writer

Antonio Medina, Miami's Cuban Consul, is proof that a government official can be successful while keeping his nose out of other people's business.

For 47 years Medina has been a member of the Cuban consular service.

And that is no small accomplishment with a country whose officials are subject to change at the drop of a president.

He's weathered the cold wars of political and military coups—and the recent hot war of Fidel Castro's revolution.

It was the latter which forced the ouster of Cuban Consul Eduardo Hernandez and left the door open for Medina, a member of the consulate staff in Miami for the past year and a half.

Today, as before, the 70-year-old silver-haired Medina is sticking to the rule he credits for his long tenure.

"I'm a man of trade and commerce and passports," he says. "I'm not a politician."

"My job is to make some other country's business with my country run smoothly. The internal affairs of my country are matters for the politicians and political leaders."

What does that really leave Medina to handle?

For one thing, 5,000 Cubans who in just three weeks have been wearing thin the floor of the Cuban consulate office in the Pan American Bank building.

"We've repatriated that many," Medina said, "and there may be that many more before the surge slacks off in two months."

Medina himself has been working with both hands, signing one paper and stamping another. He and his office staff have gone on overtime.

"Overtime" in the consulate office means its hours are extended both ways from the regular 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. schedule. "Now we start at 8:30 a.m. and leave at five or six or seven . . . after we have done all we can for those who come each day."

It means less time for Medina at home with his family at 6231 NW 39th Ter., in Virginia Gardens.

But the Medina family's routine is accustomed to change.

His first post for his government was in Spain. Then came transfers to Vienna, Hamburg, Mexico City, and Kansas City. From there it was back to Cuba, where he served eight years as head of the state department under Presidents Ramon San Grau Martin and Carlos Prio Socarras.

Born in a plantation cottage in the province of Pinar del Rio, west of Havana, he received a prep school education in the U.S. and secondary school education in Cuba.

His goal from the beginning was to work for his country. "And the consular corps looked like the best spot to serve without interruption," Medina says.

He hasn't been interrupted since 1911.

British Take Rebel Village

BAHRAIN — (AP) — The capture of three rebel-held villages in Central Oman by forces of the Sultan of Oman has been announced by the British.

A residency offical who made the announcement here said he was unable to confirm reports that three leaders of the rebellion — dating back to 1957 — had fled the country.

Car's 'Shadow' Was Attached

ASHLAND, Ky. —(AP)— Odd, thought Motorist W. S. Patton, how closely a pickup truck had been following his car.

Then he got out and learned why. His car was towing the driverless truck.

Patton said he apparently hooked bumpers with the truck before pulling away from a parking place.

Out-of-Work Parents Serving Alternate Weeks

Mom of 7 Jailed for Delinquent Son's 'Tuition'

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP) — A mother of seven children was in the Marion County jail Monday for failing to pay her delinquent son's keep in a private correctional institution.

Mrs. Catherine Robbins, 35, tearfully fell into the arms of a matron when she was brought to jail in compliance with an order issued by Juvenile Judge Harold N. Fields. The judge ordered that Mrs. Robbins and her husband, Perry, 36, be jailed alternate weeks until they pay $21 a week or prove they are unable to make the payments.

The money, plus $1,200 in back payments, is tuition for their son, James, 12, who was committed by the court to White's Institute, a private correctional institution.

Both say they are out of work now.

Robbins, who served the first week's sentence, said he told the judge they could not afford to make the payments and that the boy be sent to a state school instead, but the judge refused.

Judge Fields said he considered the boy, charged with stealing, too young to be sent to the Indiana Boys School and would be better off among lesser offenders at White's.

"This is a case of noncooperation and wilful contempt," Fields said. "If they had made a reasonable effort to pay, they wouldn't be where they are today."

The judge said the parents had paid only $5 in the last six months.

Teamsters Victors in Election

JIMMY HOFFA'S pledge to "take over all of Dade County" moved closer to fulfillment Monday as the Teamsters Union won a membership election at Acme Concrete Corp. 5500 NW 37th Ave.

HOFFA

The triumph means the first and second largest concrete firms in Florida are in the Teamsters camp.

Maule Industries, number one in the industry, was won over by the Teamsters more than a year ago. Since then Acme, the second largest concrete producer in the state, has been a prime target of the Teamsters.

Monday's election, held under the jurisdiction of the National Labor Relations Board, showed 62 Acme workers in favor of joining the Teamsters, 13 opposed and one vote void.

Dave Frechette, president of Local 290, reported the Teamsters have their sights set on other concrete companies.

"Eventually, the whole industry will be organized by the Teamsters," Frechette commented.

Hotel Sued In Gem Theft

A CHICAGO COUPLE — victims of Miami Beach's biggest gem robbery last year — filed suit in federal court Monday seeking $32,000 damages to cover the loss.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Taylor, charged the King Cole Northshore Hotel, Normandy Isle, allowed safety deposit boxes to be in "easy access" of persons on the premises. In the haul, bandits got away with loot totalling $100,000 — including the Taylor valuables.

Height Limit Increase Asked

THE MIAMI PLANNING Board Monday night recommended the height limit on downtown buildings be raised to 300 feet — about 26 stories. And for traffic-harassed shoppers, it urged a five-block, no-vehicle pedestrian mall. The Engineering department already has the mall plans.

Metro Can Get City Services

MIAMI CITY MANAGER E. A. Evans Monday night recommended the city could turn over to Metro operations covering transportation franchises, water distribution, crime detection, sewage and garbage disposal and roads.

City Puts Tract On Block

The Miami Commission Monday called for public sale of a tract of city-owned land within the site for The Miami Herald's new 20-million-dollar building on Biscayne Bay.

In rounding out its property acquisitions—east of NE Bayshore Ct. between MacArthur and Venetian Causeways—the newspaper offered to exchange two Herald-owned parcels outside the site. These are a block-long lot on NE 14th St. and a strip along NE Bayshore Ct.

George F. Gilleland, attorney for The Herald, described the property offered by the newspaper as land much more valuable than the city property.

City Engineer Arthur E. Darlow said sewers and underground utilities would have to be moved at a cost of about $125,000, and that The Herald would bear the cost.

Last month the Commission instructed James C. Yelverton, city property manager, to appraise both tracts.

Yelverton valued the city land at $264,150 and the Herald property at $174,600 on a basis of $4.50 a square foot.

Assistant City Attorney Jack Rice told the commissioners they could either put the property up for public sale or negotiate it privately.

The three commissioners present—B. E. Hearn, James W. High and Otis W. Shiver—agreed to put it up for sale at a minimum price matching Yelverton's appraisal.

No date was set for the sale.

Two Bodies In River

Bodies of two men, both apparently drowning victims, were found in the Miami River Monday.

They were identified as Henry Fabbrizio, 69, a New York contractor who was visiting relatives here; and Phillip Entler, 43, of 1329 NW 27th St.

Fabbrizio's body was found near the Flagler St. bridge and Entler was found floating near the 17th Ave. bridge. Police said no foul play was involved in either death.

Chinese Vote For Red Film

TOKYO — (UPI) — A movie called "Daughter of The Communist Party" was selected overwhelmingly as Communist China's best film of 1958, the Communist New China News agency reports.

The agency said workers, peasants, soldiers, students and government officials voted in a poll and cast two-thirds of their ballots for the movie, which describes the 1927-to-1937 struggle between the Communists and the Kuomintang forces of Chiang Kai-shek.

Teacher's Dress Is Too Snug?

Mother Cautioned On Hasty Decision

By ANN LANDERS

ANN

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son just entered the eighth grade. I went to school with him to meet the principal and become acquainted with the rules and regulations.

When I was introduced to my son's new homeroom teacher I almost fainted.

She can't be more than 25 years old and her dress was so tight I thought she would break the seams when she sat down. The neckline was square but very low. I worried for her when she leaned over to shake my son's hand.

I hate to start off on the wrong foot but eighth grade boys are not babies — they are 13 years old. And these boys aren't blind; in fact they don't miss a thing. Shall I speak to the principal — in a nice way, of course?—W.L.D.

Don't base conclusions on ONE visit. Perhaps the teacher gussied up in her best dress for registration and, what with the holidays, maybe she gained a few pounds.

In a couple of weeks visit the school again. If after three such visits you honestly feel this teacher is dressing in a provocative manner, then mention it (in a nice way, of course) to the principal.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a teenager who usually agrees with your advice but I almost croaked when you said three dates a week is one too many for high school kids.

I'm 16 and have been going steady with a wonderful boy for six months. We are in love and planning for a future together. Neither of us has any intention of dating others. We are happiest when we're together.

When we first started to go steady we saw each other every night. My folks cut it down to one date during the week, and two dates on weekends. Now, after reading your column, they want to cut out the mid-week date, and let me go out only on weekends.

We are sensible and know right from wrong. Why should we be deprived of the pleasure of being together when we are so in love? This boy is my whole life.

You have made things rough for me and I hope you'll change your mind and say three dates a week are not too many for sensible teenagers.—TROUBLED TEEN Sorry, Chicken, but the advice still stands. You describe yourself as "sensible" yet in the next breath you say this boy is your "whole life." These two statements don't jibe.

You're too gaga over this boy to think straight. What most teenagers fail to realize is 16-year-old "love" is made up of three parts chemistry to one part logic.

You see each other every day at school. This is ample stimulation for teenagers whose major business should be getting an education. A date on Friday night and one on Saturday night are plenty to keep the love boat afloat. Be thankful your parents have the judgement to lower the boom when they see things which are not perceptible to your 16-year-old eyes.

DEAR ANN: The letter from the mother with two daughters, one beautiful and the other an ugly duckling, reminded me of my own girlhood. I just HAD to write this letter.

My younger sister was a beauty, I was so unattractive it was pitiful. Everyone fussed over her and ignored me. I learned early the only way to make life livable was to be considerate, kind and useful. I developed the "old-fashioned virtues" while my sister became selfish, spoiled and inconsiderate.

Today I'm married to a wonderful fellow and we have a fine family. My sister has been divorced twice and is on the verge of a third catastrophe. I'm certain, Ann, her good looks were her undoing and my ugliness was a blessing. — MUD FENCE

CONFIDENTIAL TO VEXED: Your husband needs a doctor (head-type). He's not in touch with reality when he thinks a mother of six with no help in the house has time and energy for such monkeyshines.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

PREPARED from fresh dough, special tomato sauce and cheese by owner and chef Charlie, each pizza is cooked on hot bricks at Charlies Pizza and Spaghetti House.

Pizza and Spaghetti Featured at Charlies

The secret of a delicious, crisp pizza pie is in using only fresh dough for the crust. This crust must have delicious flavor, as well as tender crispness, to make a good pizza.

Of course, the ingredients used on top of the crust are important too. A specially prepared tomato sauce, imported cheese and the right herbs blend to give a delicious taste to every pizza served at Charlies Pizza and Spaghetti House.

After the proper preparation, with fresh dough and special topping, the pizza must be cooked just right. At Charlies, every pizza is baked on hot bricks, with no pan between the pie and the brick.

Like any other baking, the pizza must be cooked in an oven of the right temperature. If it cooks too fast or too slow, even the best pizza dough may be ruined. All factors mentioned must be balanced if one is to enjoy a truly delicious pizza such as is served at Charlies.

This quiet, comfortable restaurant specializes in pizza and spaghetti. Charlies is owned and operated by "Charlie and Jean," whose slogan is, "If you don't agree it's the best, give Charlie the check." "Charlie" in this case is the chef, as well as the owner.

The spaghetti used here is an imported variety. It is timed while cooking so it will not be too hard to too mushy. The spaghetti sauce is cooked slowly for seven hours and has a definite character all its own.

All food is prepared by, or under the personal supervision of the owners. Convenient take out orders may be placed in advance by telephoning NEwton 5-9403 or stopping in at Charlies, 3406 NW 17th Ave.

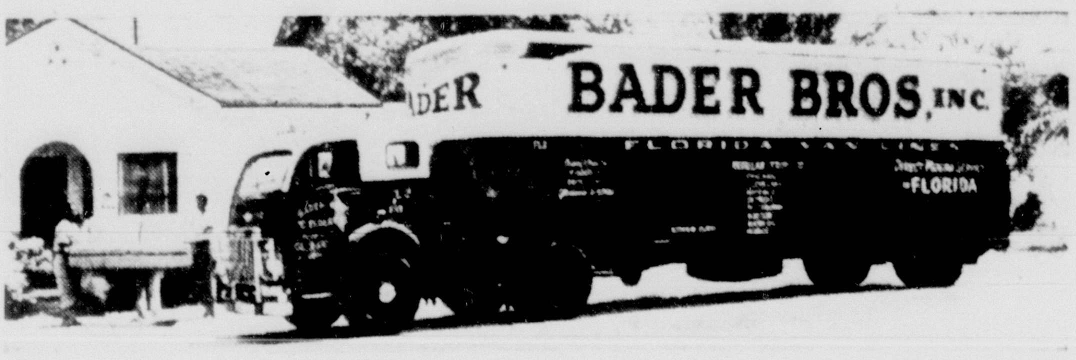
In addition to the Italian dishes featured, a regular luncheon menu is served every day from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Prices range from 75 cents to one dollar.

Conveniently located, Charlies is favored by families during the dinner hours. Business men and women in the Allapattah area like the quiet atmosphere and fast service at this air conditioned restaurant.

Free parking is available at the rear of the building and the rear entrance may be used. Charlies is open from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, until midnight Fridays and Saturdays, and is closed every Sunday.

A variety of beers and wines is available to be served with meals at Charlies Pizza and Spaghetti House.

Local and Long Distance Moving Made Easy by Bader Bros. Experts



HUGE VANS, as shown above, are carefully loaded and unloaded by Bader Bros.' experienced workmen to assure a moving day without worry.

Gone are the days when moving day was a "nightmare." Bader Bros. have changed all that with their latest, modern equipment and handling methods which enable them to give quality service at lowest rates.

Bader Bros., Inc., was founded in 1905 by John M. Bader. Today four sons of the founder are operating the business, which has grown to nation-wide proportions. They are George M. Bader, president; H. D. Bader, vice president, Edward Bader and Dan Bader.

Since coming to Miami in 1945, the firm has assumed a place of leadership in the moving and storage field all over Florida. As an example of its nation-wide services, an average of four vans leave weekly for New York and New England, two vans leave weekly for Chicago and the entire midwest and two vans leave weekly for California and points en route.

They also have a large "Greater Miami Fleet" for local moving and an intra-state fleet which handles all points in the State of Florida.

"Whether you choose Bader Bros. direct service which delivers your load immediately, or the delayed service which allows you extra days to get to your destination and find quarters, you can be assured of first class, dependable, courteous, efficient service," says George Bader.

"There is a savings factor, too," he said, "because Bader Bros. operates under an independent tariff which enables us to offer lower-than-national tariff rates. This is not a mere claim; it is a proven fact. An example: small shipments are often within our $50 minimum to points such as New York, Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Boston."

Bader Bros.' modern Miami terminal and warehouses are equipped to load or unload 15 trailer vans at one time. Other major terminals are in Tampa, Key West, Orlando, Jacksonville, with a super-terminal and warehouses in the New York City area. Warehouse facilities also are available in all major cities.

Free estimates for local or long distance moving may be secured during the day or evening by calling MUrray 8-2511.

Top Men To Join UF Drive

In Final Push To Reach Goal

Top executives of the United Fund Executive Committee said Monday they will step into the campaign personally to help out in the final drive for a remaining $728,240 in the goal of $3,477,000.

John B. Turner, 1958 campaign chairman, and Comer J. Kimball, first president of the United Fund, volunteered to serve as co-chairmen of a special committee which will include 50 top community leaders in the windup campaign.

John E. Shuey, fund vice-president, said Monday that the executive committee will activate the program to put the campaign over the total collected last year.

"It does not mean we intend to take anything away from the magnificent efforts Bill Lantaff and his campaign committee have performed against overwhelming odds in this year's drive," Shuey said.

Serving with Turner and Kimball on the special committee will be John S. Knight, former board chairman of the Fund, and Dan J. Mahoney, a charter member and former Community Chest president.

Lantaff, meanwhile, reported that a total of $2,748,760 had been raised from the present campaign.

He said that in the past 24 days, volunteers had raised more than $600,000 and overcame an apathy which had stalled the drive.

At the Monday meeting, campaign officials analyzed areas through which more money could be raised with top Fund officials pitching in to help.

Fraud Case Bond Set at At $10,000

Defendants in two separate fraud cases quickly were freed under heavy bonds Monday after appearing before U. S. Commissioner Roger Davis.

Robert P. Kline, 36, posted $10,000 bail soon after postal inspectors and two Miami officers, John Czerenda and M. Schwartsman, arrested him on a complaint from Houston, Texas.

Postal inspectors said they had sought Kline for a check-fraud scheme he was believed to have carried on in many cities.

In the other case, Fonzo Wells, 33, was arrested at 2932 NW 16th Ave., on charges of defrauding an East Saint Louis woman of $100 then released under $2,500 bond. Lee O. Teague, special agent in charge of the Miami FBI office, said Wells allegedly represented himself to be a jockey, and persuaded the woman to send a $100 telegraphic money order for a bet.

Alumni to Meet

University of Michigan alumni from eight southern states will hold a three-day get together at the duPont Plaza Hotel beginning Friday. Reservations can be made by calling HI 8-2532 or HI 6-7563.

800 Quit When Pay Hike's Refused

N.Y. Night Teachers Resign

NEW YORK — (AP) — The city's 800 evening high school teachers resigned en masse Monday when their demands for wage boosts were turned down.

Affected were 16 schools in the city's five buroughs with an estimated 30,000 night-school students, including armed forces veterans and other adults.

Harold Israelson, counsel for the High School Teachers Association, said resignations for the entire force of evening teachers were sent to school Superintendent John S. Theobald.

The night schools will have to close as a result, Israelson said.

The teachers have been negotiating with the Board of Education for higher pay, but have refused to accept what the board has offered to date.

'Intention' to Recall Is Needed for Good Memory

Professor Powell meets the test of a topnotch teacher, for he goes the Biblical "second mile." He not only offers his students the facts of chemistry, but he gives them the psychological rules by which they can improve their memories and retain such chemical data. Send for the booklet below and help your children gain better school marks.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

He is a dynamic type of educator who has such zeal for his special field of education, that he tries to help his students become more proficient therein.

For example, a year ago I wrote a column outlining the psychological rules for improving your memory and studying more efficiently for school exams.

It is in these little extra evidences of helpfulness that a great teacher surpasses the mediocre professor.

MANY CHEMISTRY professors offer their students the basic laws of that science. But how many go the "second mile" which the Bible recommends, and also show their students the psychological methods by which they can more efficiently remember those chemical facts?

"Dr. Crane," you may ask, "don't you have to be born with a phenomenal memory if you wish to be a memory expert?"

No, there may be no difference at all in the I.Q. of the average persons versus the memory expert.

Both will retain memory of objects if the latter are indelibly impresses on our brain tissue at the time we contact the new items.

But the average person pays little attention. And he seldom prods himself with the "intention" of remembering the material.

WHEN INTRODUCED to a stranger, the average person glibly says, "Glad to meet you."

But the memory expert uses that new name at once by adding, "glad to meet you, Professor Powell."

Then he further acts on the new idea by turning to a friend and saying, "May I present Professor Powell of Evansville College?"

To remember, you must get a clear impression at the outset, for memories are like prints from a camera negative.

You can't get a clear print later unless your original negative has a clearcut impression of the object or person photographed.

Then you must have the "intention" to recall the facts, for this is even more important than sheer repetition.

Repetition helps increase your memory but not very much unless you meanwhile intend to remember.

For further advice, send for my booklet "How to Improve Your Memory & Study more Efficiently," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). Imitate Professor Powell and use it to help your students.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Miami Herald, enclosing a long four cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets).

No Surgery Needed to Heal Swollen Pile Tissues While You Shrink Them!

Remarkable medication does more than reduce the tissue swelling ...stops pain in minutes and promotes natural healing, too!

Pain, itching of swollen piles are torture. You may think there's no relief without an operation. Yet...thousands have discovered how to stop this nagging discomfort in minutes—and without surgery! A remarkable compound you use at home makes you feel worlds better, right away! Not only reduces swelling but stops pain at once, promotes healing of inflamed tissues too!

Preparations that just act to "shrink" piles can't offer complete symptomatic relief. For real comfort, fast, you need this more complete medication, called Stainless Pazo. In doctors' tests, patients reported immediate relief of discomfort. That's because Stainless Pazo combines the most effective ingredients known for piles. Thus works 3 ways at once: 1. Anesthetic action stops pain, itching in minutes...puts rectal nerves to sleep, thus relaxing muscle spasms that cause discomfort. 2. Reduces tissue swelling, congestion...protruding parts shrink. 3. Promotes healing of raw tissues. You get immediate new comfort while Nature's own healing magic goes to work.

Don't suffer needlessly one more day. To sit, stand, walk without pain again, get Stainless Pazo Suppositories or Ointment at druggists. Get glorious relief without surgery or money back!

Rockets to Eye Weather

FRANKFURT, Germany — (AP) — The U.S. Air Force plans a global effort to unlock new secrets of the weather by sending up rockets and parachuting instruments from a jet plane, a Bendix Aviation Corp. engineer said Monday.

Bendix's L. B. Young said the project will test the latest inventions in scientific sensing and electronic equipment mounted in a Boeing 707 jet transport.

Weather data from the ground up to 150,000 feet will be continuously collected, analyzed and transmitted to the ground, Young said.

The Bendix engineer made the report at a Bendix engineering conference and exhibit here.

"This data is essential not only to guided missile, rocket and aircraft programs but also to the needs of civilian and commercial aviation," Young said. "The idea is to fly higher and farther to get this information on a regular and timely basis."

Ike and Johnson Agree--On Heart Disease

WASHINGTON —(P— President Eisenhower and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D., Tex.), both of whom suffered heart attacks in 1955, smilingly agreed Monday on need for a bipartisan national policy on fighting heart disease.

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, reported the agreement to newsmen after he had received the American Heart Association's annual Heart-of-the-Year award from the President. Eisenhower himself was given the award four years ago.

Johnson was stricken in July of 1955. Eisenhower's attack came two months later.

Johnson said he and Eisenhower recalled that the last letter the President wrote the day before Eisenhower's own attack was to Johnson, "urging me to take it easy and to take care of myself."

Eisenhower dictated the letter Sept. 23, 1955, but did not get around to signing it before he was stricken the next day. A White House aide, Wilton B. Persons, sent the unsigned letter on to Johnson later.

Policy Assailed

Is the federal government unfair to small communities? Rep. Burr Harrison (D., Va.) cites one case. The Small Business Administration refused to make a loan to help a business move from New York City to Winchester, Va., because New York is on the Labor Department's surplus labor list.

Protested Rep. Harrison:

"To suggest that the movement of a small business from New York to Winchester would cause a substantial hardship to New York City would be ludicrous if it did not reflect a pathetic aberration in bureaucratic vision."

Mine Tragedies

European mining experts have told a congressman the U.S. has enough equipment to fight mine disasters like the recent one in Pittson, Pa. Rep. Daniel Flood (D., Pa.) requested the information. Among other things, he wanted to know if they used stronger pumps. No, the experts answered. The Germans, in fact, said they bought their pumps from the U.S.

Always Hope

Sen. Stephen Young (D., Ohio) recently made his maiden speech in the Senate. His plea: Repeal the 10 per cent tax on telephone users. In these days of more boosts than cuts in taxes, most observers think he has a losing cause.

But history may be on his side. On March 14, 1933, Young made his maiden speech in the House of Representatives. His plea: Repeal the prohibition amendment and the Volstead Act. Both were repealed.

Merit Asked

A member of the House Patronage Committee says merit — not patronage — should decide who gets a job as a House page. Rep. Harry Sheppard (D., Calif.) made the comment while discussing 14-year-old James Johnson of Chicago, who almost became the first Negro page in Congress. Johnson lost out, however, when the committee said it was not the turn of Johnson's congressman to dispense patronage.

Texan Happy

What does a congressman who no longer represents the biggest state of the union think of those old Texas jokes? says Rep. Joe M. Kilgore (D., Tex):

"The people who write jokes have been working overtime turning all the old Texas jokes into 'new' Alaska stories. We are well rid of some of the jokes about Texas. Too many of them carried an intended sting."

Beach Chamber Picks Governors

The Miami Beach Chamber of Commerce has elected five new governors to three-year terms.

Shepard Broad, C. W. (Pete) Chase Jr., C. L. Clements Jr., Lloyd Farrey and Frank Smathers Jr. will meet with the chamber's holdover board members Feb. 9 to elect a new president and an executive staff. Six one-year governors also will be appointed.

War on Rats

IDRAMAJU, Indonesia — (UPI)— Officials of this Java island community launched a campaign Monday to use marriage to combat rats overrunning the area. They announced each marriage license would cost 25 rat tails.

Swiss Bank Hit For $327,000

GENEVA — (P — Three gunmen held up a van making cash deliveries to a Geneva bank Monday and escaped with the equivalent of $327,000.

One of the bandits was armed with a submachine gun. They slugged an employe of the Banque Nationale Suisse who was standing guard over a postal van while messengers were delivering cases of money into the bank.

Then the bandits grabbed one sack of money and drove off in a car of French make. The car later was found abandoned.

BELL

THEY TELL ME (and who am I to question?) that Walt Disney spent six million bucks on his latest masterpiece, "Sleeping Beauty." The man says, "If one man were to undertake the job he could do it in 42 years, working 24-hour days and no vacation."

Well, you can see it at the Sheridan Theater Feb. 10 — a benefit for Lend-a-Hand summer camp — like so:

Tickets run from $2.50 to $15. But let me give you an idea: For $20 you can buy two very good seats. That same $20 will send a boy or girl to camp for two weeks this summer. Do you know a better way to see a six-million-dollar show?

Golf Battlers Settle Dispute

Miami Beach Judge Albert Saperstein Monday dismissed cross charges of assault and battery filed by Miami Beach Boxing Commissioner Lou Gold, 64, and James H. Gallahan, 28, a New York visitor.

The two fought a blood-spattered fist and golf club battle at Bayshore Golf course in a dispute over use of a putting green.

Attorneys for the two men told the Judge the combatants had "made up."

Pup's a Problem! She Thinks She's Lady, Not a Dog

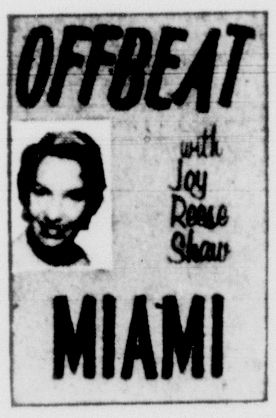
By JOY REESE SHAW
Herald Staff Writer

Lady Bridgett is a gal who takes her title seriously.

"That's the whole trouble," explained chubby, nine-year-old Joan Westerman earnestly. "She doesn't think she's a dog. She thinks she's a lady."

"Yes," agreed her sister Sue with the detached air of a sophisticated 11-year-old. "It's just silly."

The eyes of both little girls fastened adoringly on the small Manchester Terrier even as they spoke accusingly.



Under discussion were the eating habits of their canine gourmet.

Dog food? Don't mention the word.

Steak? Are you kidding?

"She's what you call a vegetarian," Joan said learnedly. "She likes carrots best — they're so crunchy. She likes the way they snap."

The perfect meal for Lady Bridgett?

Well, for breakfast, sliced oranges. But if it's dinner—a little lettuce salad, carrots or some nice string beans, and ovaltine to drink. Dessert? Sherbet and cookies — or maybe jello, for a change.

It is a pleasant, roomy apartment at 7414 Gary Ave. on Park View Isle. The sun streamed through the huge glass window and a pair of parakeets chirped gaily in a corner.

Sue sat on the couch with her red stockinged legs tucked under her — a demure little miss with glasses and braces on her teeth. Joan bounced around the room, her blonde hair bobbing in the breeze.

They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Westerman, attend Biscayne Elementary School and are interested in music and dancing and soap carving and stamp collecting and lots of things.

But mostly, Lady Bridgett. Joan told how they went to the kennel and fell in love with the Manchester pup.

They loved her so much and she was so little, that Mom put the dog in her purse when they went to a movie one night and took her with them.

The girls giggled.

"Everytime Bridgett would growl a little, mom would put her hand on her stomach and say 'my goodness, pardon me!' "

They told how the dog drags her bed from room to room, upstairs and downstairs, person to person — depending on who is in current favor.

"And she's just a born watchdog," bragged Sue.

"She's very dainty," added Joan. "She won't eat long string beans — only when they're cut up in small bites."

She snuggled the dog in her arms.

Then — in a burst of little-girl honesty — she confessed.

"Sometimes she isn't a lady. You see when it's raining she just won't go outside and get her feet wet. Mother's kind of upset about the rug."

Sue confessed, too.

"And sometimes she WILL eat a little of that dog meal —if we coax her real hard and feed it to her one grain at a time."

That's Lady Bridgett.

Showmen Save Midget From Pauper Burial

By ELVALEE SWIFT
Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Hazel Morris, show business midget who died penniless in Miami, was buried Monday, but not in potter's field as her daughter had feared.

Her four-foot casket was lowered into a grave in the Miami Showmen's Cemetery at Southern Memorial Park.

Only six persons—including the woman's midget daughter, Jackie—attended the services.

Jackie wept openly as her mother was buried. The two had been partners, billed at carnivals and circuses as the "World's Smallest Mother and Daughter."

They sat in wheelchairs, neither able to walk, the mother rising 18 inches from her chair and the daughter, 15.

During an engagement with the Cristiani Brothers circus here two weeks ago, Mrs. Morris became ill. She died Saturday.

Because she had no money, Jackie made plans to bury her mother in potter's field.

But Walter Weiss, executive secretary of the Showmen's Association, intervened.

"She wasn't a member of our group," he said, "but we wouldn't let that happen to any of our show business people."

State Road Plans for Miami Hit

Miami officials charged Monday that State Road Department plans for the Interstate Expressway system here would cut the city into four sections.

But the road department countered that is was a choice between solid-fill elevations over much of the superhighway network or an indefinite postponement of the expressway program.

State Road Board Member William D. Singer of Miami told the City Commission that lack of expressways is "strangling us — and we have to do something about it right now."

Plans for the North-South Expressway, and its eastern link to Miami Beach, include use of elevated solid fill where it overpasses major east-west streets.

The road will be at grade level or on open concrete and steel structures over the remainder of the route, Singer said.

Arthur E. Darlow, city engineer, said that the proposed plans would divide "children from their schools, congregations form their churches and shoppers from the stores."

The Federal Bureau of Roads has required that the North-South Expressway use solid-fill where it is less expensive than open structures.

"But if we had unlimited funds," said Winston Carlton, SRD district engineer, "I'd still recommend this type of construction."

City to Check State Work

The City of Miami agreed Monday to inspect the state's new 2.5-million-dollar office building without charge.

The state had refused to shell out some $3,000 worth of inspection fees and the city served notice last month that no inspections would be made.

"We want to make sure the building conforms to Miami standards," said City Manager E. A. Evans.

The new building is to be at NW 12th Ave. and 14th St.

The assemblies, all within the diocese, cover the areas around Fort Pierce, West Palm Beach, Fort Lauderdale and Miami, which has jurisdiction from the Broward County line to Key West.

Joseph A. Sweeney, state master of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, will be master of ceremonies.

Gables Girl Shot In Neck

Target Outing Nearly Fatal

By JOY WINANS
and TONY PATRUS
Herald Staff Writers

A pretty 15-year-old Coral Gables girl was accidentally shot in the throat Monday by a teenage boy companion as they wandered along a canal shooting at fish.

Linda Darlene Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Owen, of 6920 Camarin Ave., was in fair condition at James Archer Smith Hospital in Homestead.

Police said she was shot by Kenneth Edward Benson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Benson, of 1302 Asturia Ave., Coral Gables. The elder Benson is well-known in aviation circles here and is a Miami insurance executive.

Young Benson told police he accidentally shot Linda as they — with two other teenagers — roamed a canal bank east of Krome Avenue, shooting at rats, fish and tin cans.

He said he spotted a fish in the water and turned to get a rifle from Linda, who was walking directly behind him. When he whirled, he said, a cocked .38 pistol he was carrying went off.

Benson's 15-year-old sister, Anita, and Dennis O'Leary, 16, of 1026 SW 12th St., were behind Linda at the time.

All four teenagers were armed and had the permission of their parents to go target shooting, police said.

Linda was carrying a .30-caliber rifle and both Anita and young O'Leary had .22-caliber rifles.

After the accident, the teenagers carried the bleeding girl to the Benson car and started for the hospital. They stopped en route to telephone police.

Metro Homicide Investigator Norman Kassoff said no charges had been filed in the case.

Benson, a senior at Coral Gables High School, told officers he didn't remember pulling the trigger.

The bullet went into Linda's throat and lodged at the back of her neck, but hospital authorities said her condition improved after surgery.

Grief Costs Man's Mind

Paul C. Donat lost his mind after his only child was crushed to death by a school bus, his wife claimed Monday.

Mrs. Irene Donat, of 2400 NE 135th Ter., filed suit in Circuit Court, to say Donat has been declared 100 per cent mentally incompetent.

Mrs. Donat asked to be named curator of his estate to collect damages which an insurance company now is ready to pay.

The child, Paulette, six, was on her way to a playground when killed by a bus Nov. 6, 1956.

Her father won a $45,000 jury verdict from Coast Cities Coaches, Inc.

Investigators said the little girl was running beside the bus as it stopped to drop off children. She dodged in front as the bus started. It went 300 feet before the driver heard children's shouts.

Labor Feud Stalls Work At Airport

May Slow Airlines' Transfer

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

A sudden labor dispute stalled construction at Miami's new International Airport terminal Monday less than 24 hours after the fanfare of dedication ceremonies had died down.

The dispute may delay "moving day" for the port's major airlines, scheduled Feb. 12.

Pickets from local 725 of the Steamfitters Union began parading in front of the terminal after accusing a subcontractor of bringing in outside workers.

In an effort to nip the dispute and prevent further delay in the completion of the terminal, Port Authority Director George McSherry called a hurried meeting late Monday with labor leaders and company representatives.

"No conclusion was reached," McSherry reported after the session.

He emphasized that the Port Authority was not involved in the labor hassle and that he was acting only as an interested party.

Construction work throughout the huge terminal came to a halt when workmen from other craft unions refused to cross the picket lines.

The dispute arose when the steamfitters protested that Latex Corp., a pipelaying firm, imported help which was not certified to work here.

They claimed also they were being deprived of work because of a new process which welds pipes instead of fitting them.

The process is being employed at an underground fueling system belonging to Eastern and National airlines.

Latex is a subcontractor for the Arkansas Fuel Corp.

According to the latest timetable the major carriers here will start moving into the new terminal Feb. 12. McSherry said moving delays will depend on how long the labor dispute lasts.

Pan American, Delta and National are scheduled to begin operations there on that date, as well as Northwest Orient and Capital, U. S. Customs, the Immigration Service and the Public Health Department are set to transfer at the same time.

Eastern has reported a 30-to-40-day delay because of its year-end strike.

Already based at the terminal are TWA, Northeast, Mackey and three non-scheduled carriers.

Steel Braces Versus Steel Bumper
. . . Dick Howden's legs spared in accident

This Man's Glad He Wears Braces

By HENRY RENO
Herald Staff Writer

Steel braces, locked on Richard Howden's legs because of a bone disease, saved his limbs from being hopelessly mangled in a freak accident here Monday.

Howden, crushed between two cars in a parking garage, suffered only bruises.

"If I hadn't had the braces," said the 38-year-old insurance investigator, "both legs would have been broken."

Howden, an ex-deputy sheriff and Florida highway patrolman, stopped his car on a ramp in the Ingraham Parking Garage, police said, and was standing by the trunk, getting equipment out.

A car driven by Raymond Koby, Fort Lauderdale, pulled in behind Howden and Koby got out.

The car, in gear, inched forward and when Koby jumped back in it to hit the brakes, police said, he hit the gas pedal instead and the car roared forward, pinning Howden between the two vehicles.

Koby was not charged.

"I sure feel sorry for the guy," said Howden from his hospital bed after the accident. "He was really broken up about it."

Howden said he got the bone disease when he was just a child, and a doctor broke both his legs to straighten bowed limbs.

In 1953 he had a brace put on the right one and, a year later, one was put on the left.

Light, Dark; Hotels Sued

One Miami Beach hotel was sued Monday for too much light and heat. Another was sued for too much darkness.

Herbert S. Asherman said in Circuit Court that his right leg was burned at the New Deauville Health Club and Solarium, April 17, 1958.

Mrs. Ethel Abel alleges her ankle was broken and her legs and back injured when the lights were turned off casting the Fontainebleau Hotel's La Ronde night club room into darkness.

She said she fell off a platform on which patrons' tables were raised.

400 Students To Get Degrees

President Jay F. W. Pearson will confer degrees on almost 400 University of Miami seniors at commencement exercises at 10:30 a.m. today in the Dade County Auditorium.

Speaker for the ceremony will be Michael L. Haider, a director of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Eyeballs Roll at Cowgirl

'You Can't'
. . . says Bowers

By ELVALEE SWIFT
Herald Staff Writer

A blonde Miami cowgirl who sewed 2,500 sequins on a sexy riding outfit said Monday she will go to court and defend her right to wear the brief costume in the horse show here.

Diane Eckman, 19, of 2730 SW 31st Ct., made eyeballs roll when horse show officials saw the getup she designed:

DIANE

Tight pink felt shorts and bolero set with 1,000 handsewn rhinestones, 2,500 glittery sequins and trailing a purple fringe.

Snug anklehigh boots, also adorned with the pink felt and glitter.

And sequins atop her long blonde curls.

Sex in the horse show? Never. So they told Diane to change her costume.

Said Diane: "I worked on that costume for three weeks and we'll see whether I can wear it or not."

So Diane and her attorney cooked up a suit, to be filed in circuit court today, seeking an injunction to stop the Board of Governors, in particular John L. Bowers, show manager, from denying Diane her right to wear the costume.

The officials say the rule books call for costumes resembling those worn in the Old West, Mexico and Spain.

Diane, a petite 5-foot-5, measures a nifty 38-26-38, enough to turn heads even when she wears long riding trousers.

Should Diane and the shorts win out, they'll be on view when the horse show, for the benefit of the Miami Cancer Institute, opens Thursday in Dinner Key Auditorium.

'Oh, Yeah?'
. . . says Diane

Florida's Stake in the Jet Age

Why Drive to Westchester? Fly to Miami

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

NEW YORK — "Why," asked an Eastern Air Lines vice president, "would a New Yorker spend two hours driving to a Westchester County golf course on a weekend when he could get to Miami in the same time?"

In the answer to that question lies the key to Florida's stake in the rapidly developing age of jet air travel.

And in anticipation of a growing demand for more and more space on southbound flights (and the northbound return), Eastern is planning now to handle twice its current New York-Miami passenger load by 1962.

THE BENEFIT to Miami and all of Florida in such a projection is obvious. Every new arrival at a Florida airport, whether the traveler is planning to stay for a weekend or a lifetime, means an added boost to our economy.

Where will all this increased airline business come from?

"From tourists, businessmen, convention-goers — from the same people who ride the airlines now and many more who don't," said one EAL official here.

"We expect the passenger totals to grow almost in proportion to the increase in speed and convenience of the airliners."

For the time being, Eastern is banking on its new fleet of prop-jet Lockheed Electras —which make the Miami-New York run in a little more than three hours—to bear the brunt of the transition between the piston age and the jet age.

PURE JETS, already in service on some of National Air Lines' New York-Miami trips, will begin carrying Eastern passengers on long hauls by early next year.

And even as plans are made for broad-scale use of the 600-mile-an-hour pure jets (which will be Douglas DC-8s in Eastern's case), the plane makers are already talking of 2,000 mile-an-hour supersonic jets as passenger carriers by 1970.

Such an airliner could put a New Yorker in Miami before he hardly had time to buckle his seat belt.

"WE'RE THINKING of things like that," said Eastern Vice President William Van Dusen, "but we're primarily concerned now with the present. There's a need for a jet-speed plane that can use existing airports and we think the Electra fills it.

"It's fast (400 miles an hour) maneuverable (climbs to 10,000 feet in six minutes), and can use almost every airport in our system. It's going to be our workhorse plane in the next few years, even after the DC-8s are in service."

Eastern's officials are not waiting for business to come to them. They have a 20-man sales staff here drumming up business, much of it directed toward the busy and lucrative New York-Miami run.

To compensate for the losses suffered in the recent 38-day strike and to gear for the jet age at the same time, the airline is keeping its sales staff on the go.

"IN A WAY," said one sales representative, "we're working for Miami as well as for Eastern. Business for us means business for you."

The jet age itself is working for Miami, too.

"It's boosting Miami and all of Florida as an appealing resort area because the state is getting closer to northern cities all the time," said Van Dusen.

"From a time standpoint, Miami became as close as Atlantic City when you could make the flight in four hours. Now, the people who used to think of making a Miami trip once a year are going several times. They can afford the time because of speedy air travel."

NEW YORK businessmen, Van Dusen pointed out, can whiz down to Miami in the morning on a rush assignment and get back that night. Some of them are doing exactly that, just as many Miami businessmen do the same thing in reverse.

Convention-goers who once regarded Miami as too distant from the nation's geographical center can eliminate that factor as a consideration now.

"In every way," said one Eastern spokesman, "Miami—perhaps more than any other city—is going to be the big gainer in this age of faster air travel."

New Businesses Are Being Born At Record Pace

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

Not ever has the business birthrate in our land been as high as it is right now—a superlative confirmation that our economy is really growing again, that we're back into a major phase of expansion.

In December alone, over 16,400 new businesses were incorporated—the highest number of births ever recorded for a single month, up a fabulous 55.5 per cent over the total in the same month a year ago, up 20.6 per cent over the previous monthly peak.

SYLVIA PORTER

While Dun & Bradstreet has not yet released the figures for the first month of 1959, it's a virtual certainty that new charters substantially topped the 13,000 in January of 1958, and the total probably set a new record for the month.

What's more, the trend is nationwide, with every region, every state feeling the new upsurge in business births. Although New York is properly worrying about the pace of its business growth, the fact is that in December New York led all others in the number of new incorporations—2,770 against 1,976 a year ago.

California was second with 1,468 new babies against 974 a year ago. And in such sparsely settled states as South Dakota, Utah, Nebraska, the year-to-year percentage gains have been spectacular, running over 100 and 200 per cent.

The Big Are Still Getting Bigger

The forces working for giantism in industry in our nation are still powerful. Through mergers, consolidations, outright purchases the big are getting bigger every year.

The forces working for business bankruptcies also are still deplorably strong. Because of inexperience, ignorance, lack of money and credit sources, business failures are running over 260 a week, and this covers only those which fail with losses to creditors. Dun & Bradstreet calculates that the total disappearing each year through voluntary liquidation, merger and bankruptcy, approaches 400,000.

But the other side of the coin—and today, this side is shiny—is the rising number of businesses coming into being. The total of individual enterprises in the United States today is estimated at above 4,200,000—a rather wondrous statistic to contemplate in this era.

This is not just a simple story about the renewed boom in business births, fascinating as it is. For behind this tale are profound implications.

Birth Upsurge Precedes a Revival

FIRST, THE UP OR downtrend in business births is one of the most sensitive clues we have to where business in general is heading. This index usually turns down long before a business decline becomes perceptible, turns up long before a business revival is clear to the majority.

SECOND, THE FACT that hundreds of thousands of individuals do go into new businesses each year against all the known odds is a significant reflection of the broadening, basic growth of our economy.

AND THIRD AND MOST important, the healthy birthrate testifies to the fact that the American dream of owning your own business, of being your own boss—no matter what the hardships, the long hours, the risks, the lack of security, the heartbreaks—is far, far from dead.

The little, independent businessman is our greatest safeguard against the monopolistic, corporate state. His birth must be encouraged and his survival must be assured, for he is, in effect, a protector of our whole way of life.

The vitality implied by the booming business birthrate today should warm the heart of any American who honestly believes in our system.

Floridians Testify For Barge Service

TAMPA, Fla. —(AP)— The Interstate Commerce Commission Monday wound up the Tampa phase of a hearing on a petition for expansion of service by A. L. Mechling Barge Lines, Inc.

Among the witnesses at the final session here were chamber of commerce officials from Tampa and Fort Myers and John N. Gibson, director of development for Dade County.

All testified in favor of the expansion, citing the advantages it would bring their communities as well as the state.

Mechling, whose barges serve the Mississippi River area to Tampa, seeks to extend its service south to Miami, Fort Myers and Port Everglades and up to Minneapolis, Chicago and Pittsburgh. It also is asking ICC permission to extend its hauling privileges to cover general commodities.

Gibson told Commission Examiner James I. Carr that expansion of Mechling service would help bring Miami more industry of the type that "moves in and out." He explained this type of industry brings raw material into a city and moves out a finished product to markets elsewhere.

South's Textile Pay Rising

Dow Jones, AP, UPI

A wave of wage increases is spreading through the South's textile industry, with 35,000 workers affected so far.

Cannon Mills started it late last week by notifying its 16,500 employes that their wages will go up in mid-February, with minimums rising to $1.25 an hour. Higher paid workers are getting 10 cents an hour boosts.

Now, Springs Cotton Mills has posted wage hike notices in its South Carolina plants but the amounts have not been announced.

Over the weekend, Pacolet Manufacturing Co., Spartan Mills, Arkwright Mills, Judson Mills and Drayton Mills — all in South Carolina — said they plan to join in raising wages.

Textile men expect the increases to become general among the South's 550,000 textile workers.

The current wage average in the mills is $1.52 an hour but that includes overtime.

Ford's Profits Tumble

NEW YORK —(AP)— Ford Motor Co. Monday reported a 1958 profit of $95,700,000, equal to $1.75 a share.

This compared with $282,800,000, or $5.20 a share, in 1957.

Net sales during 1958 came to $4,130,300,000 against $5,771,300,000 the year before.

The company announced a month ago that 1958 production of cars and trucks slumped to 1,462,312 units from the 2,226,828 turned out in 1957.

Ford was the first of the auto industry's big three to report 1958 earnings. General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. are expected to announce theirs shortly.

All three saw sales, profits and production sag in recession 1958.

Steels Set The Pace, Then Dip

NEW YORK —(AP)— Bullish news for steel and copper failed to sustain the stock market Monday. The list backed away from a moderate gain and closed irregularly lower.

The steels were pacemakers, rising in very active dealings early in the session. Their gains were reduced and in some cases erased by the close.

Overall, gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point, with exceptions here and there. Pitney-Bowes was ahead about 5 points momentarily on news of its 3-for-1 stock split proposal and boosted dividend, closing with a net rise of 3½.

Profit taking in an assortment of blue chips weighted the average downward. American Telephone dropped 2½, Eastman Kodak 2 and Goodyear 3.

Graham-Paige, which came to life last week after it bought a 40 per cent working control interest in Madison Square Garden, was again the most active stock, rising 3-8 to 3 3-8 on 179,800 shares. Second was American Motors, off 1¾ at 35 3-8 on 61,700 shares. Third was Bethelehem, up 7-8 at 54 7-8 on 56,800 shares.

U. S. government bonds were mostly unchanged in quiet dealings.

8 GROWTH WARRANTS
LOW-PRICED FOR BIG 'LEVERAGE' PROFITS
Where you can afford to speculate, there is probably no faster, more profitable way to make your money grow than in well situated warrants. For example: while $100 in Tri-Continental's stock was growing to $1,623 in 48 months, $100 in Tri-Continental's warrants grew to $17,200 — or 10.6 times as much. And while $100 in Hoffman Electronics' stock was growing to $2,267 in 24 months $100 in Hoffman Electronics' warrants grew to $50,000 — or 22.1 times as much. As you can see, $100 in warrants (especially at low prices) can do the work of $1000 or even $2000 in growth stocks. Now many warrants are low-priced once again. And our Editors in a new Special Report select for you: "8 Very Low-Priced Warrants That Can Make You Big 'Leverage' Profits". A copy of this new Warrant Report is yours as a special bonus now when you send just $1 (new readers only) to try our unique advisory service 'The Growth Stock Letter' for the next two weeks. TV Performance Explained

'Small World' Reveals Just How Small It Is

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK — (AP) — Good conversation on the television screen is extraordinary. But good TV conversation by three or four persons removed thousands of miles one from another seems slightly miraculous.

Now a steadily increasing audience is enjoying the small miracle of such conversational exchanges conducted by Edward R. Murrow on "Small World" (CBS-TV, Sundays, 6 p.m., EST). Locally it is on Ch. 4, WTVJ.

HOW IS THIS wizardry worked?

If the electronics engineers will kindly leave the room, I'll try to explain it simply. All errors are my own and should not be attributed to Palmer Williams, associate producer of "Small World," who patiently tried to make the method clear to my technically obtuse mind.

The half-hour programs you watch and hear are on sound film, meticulously edited down from conversations of 90 minutes to two hours in length and held a week or so previously.

All participants are linked by long distance telephone lines. A sound cameraman is operating his camera in front of each constantly.

Typical of the distances spanned to demonstrate that this really is a small world was the conversation involving former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in Portland, Me, Prime Minister Nehru of India in New Delhi, and Novelist Aldous Huxley in Turin, Italy, with Murrow pitching a few lines from New York.

THE ESTABLISHMENT of telephone communications among a number of persons in various places is a common method of holding business conferences these days.

On "Small World," however, extraordinary pains are taken — usually involving many hours — to establish "Pure" lines, free of interruption, static and echo.

The voices are amplified until each speaker can catch others' nuances of tone clearly.

Murrow, in New York, controls all cameras, as a director does on a movie set. After "pure" phone lines are firmly set and everyone is in his place, he goes around the circuit: "New York ready . . . Portland ready? . . . Turin ready? . . . New Delhi ready?"

UPON RECEIVING an affirmative reply from the technician in each place, he says, "we'll start the cameras in 10 seconds." Thus each cameraman is ready to shoot when Murrow starts the conversational ball rolling in New York.

After 10½ to 11 minutes, he interrupts, saying to whoever is speaking, "please retain that thought while we re-load the cameras."

This interruption is later edited out, of course. After a brief pause, Murrow checks around the circuit again and the sound filming resumes.

All film is flown to New York where technicians begin the painstaking job of synchronizing and editing.

Williams emphasizes that the whole process of setting up phone communications is difficult and tricky. You or I couldn't do it, for example, merely by calling the long distance telephone operator.

It simply couldn't be done, he says, without the "magnificent work" of CBS radio and BBC engineers who sweat out those "pure" communications lines until it sounds as if everyone were in the same room.

New Survey Shows

Stars Outrank the Sponsors

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Quick, now! Who sponsors Dinah Shore on television? "Gunsmoke?" "Have Gun, Will Travel?" "Lawrence Welk?" "Jack Benny?"

Trendex, a rating service which makes weekly audience surveys, has come up with a new one-sponsor identification.

The results are surprising — the top rated shows by audience surveys often are the lowest in sponsor identification. This applies mostly to the popular TV westerns.

DINAH

WELK

Champion in the sponsor sweepstakes is Miss Shore with a whopping 87.3, meaning that nearly nine out of every 10 people who see her show know what she sells. She has had the same sponsor all her eight years on TV.

The carmakers, who seem to stick with one star, come out best. Runnersup to Miss Shore are Lawrence Welk and Pat Boone at 80.8. Ernie Ford racked up a 74.4.

"Gunsmoke," generally the champion on all audience surveys, had a 45.6 rating in the Trendex sponsor survey. Other westerns and their ratings include:

"Maverick," 44.7; "Restless Gun," 44.7; "Have Gun, Will Travel," 22.4; "The Texan," 19.2; "Trackdown," 16.8; and "Wagon Train," 16.0.

The re-runs of "I Love Lucy" have a high audience rating but only 20.0 sponsor identification but the new "Lucy" spectaculars have 53.3

Others in the sponsor Trendex: Jack Benny, 71.2; Ed Sullivan 55.3 for one sponsor, 23.3 for his other; Bing Crosby, in a single show, 68.7; "Father Knows Best," 48.8; Danny Thomas 46.4 and "Dragnet," 18.3.

Your Horoscope

Follow Own Idea

By CARROLL RIGHTER
Tuesday, February 3, 1959

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A good pal may today try to influence you in a certain direction, not seeing accurately your true position. Be grateful for interest shown, but follow own inclinations for best results. Don't let anyone high-pressure you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) A day for real conscientiousness where your job and duties are concerned. Follow every rule that is applicable to you, taking no chances that may incur the displeasure of executives.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Be sure you do not jump into some new venture or situation without due reflection, or you may jeopardize someone or something that is infinitely more worthwhile.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Be sure that you have everything in every practical department of your life under perfect control and in condition or you lose the support and respect of important persons.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Several very blunt persons may today appear to be imposing upon you undeservedly, but realize that they are somewhat frustrated and take things in your stride.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although you are faced with many labors and obligations that must be met, you will come through the day nicely if you will work relaxed and methodically.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) While you are very desirous of enjoying yourself and having those treatments, beauty touches that mean so much to you, take care you are not overly extravagant.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be very sure you are not critical at home or the tension there will mount appreciably. Rather give credit where credit is due and gain good will, affection.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take particular care on the road and in conversations with all today, or there will be some unfortunate results. Spend as much time as you can on statements.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be on your guard where property or job affairs are concerned today. Take no risks whatever. Concentrate on acquiring that for which you have the greatest desire or need instead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You would certainly love to get into some temperamental orgy today, and perhaps with good cause, but this would help nobody, least of all yourself. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't run away from your obligations now. Face them squarely and make adjustments, do what is right and necessary. It is very possible that those you consider inimical are your best friends.

Named by Ike

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Eisenhower has named Charles F. Willis Jr. of New York to be 1959 chairman of the U.S. Committee for the U.N.

In a Hole? That's Space

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Just what is space?

Dr. James A. Van Allen of the State University of Iowa, for whom the newly discovered Van Allen radiation belt encircling the earth is named, offers this definition:

"Space is that in which everything else is."

Or, he suggested this:

"Space is the hole that we are in."

Van Allen came up with these nifties at a dinner marking the first anniversary of the launching of Explorer I and honoring the army-industry-science team which developed and fired the nation's first satellite.

Writer Barred By Philippines

MANILA — (AP) — A Time Magazine correspondent was barred from the Philippines by President Carlos Garcia. The president indicated any attempt by Time to replace him would be rebuffed.

Correspondent James Bell was refused a visa to return here because of a story suggesting Garcia is a luxury loving, unpopular president who has failed to correct the nation's economic ills. Bell now is at his regular post in Hong Kong.

Red China's Films Pull Big Audience

HONG KONG — (AP) — Red China's Central Film Bureau in Peiping reports mainland China movie audiences last year totaled three billion — for a 50 per cent increase over 1957. That figures out to five movies a year for each of the 600 million persons. No comfort for Hollywood, though. The movies were almost all made in China.

Lady Beatty Nips Rumor

NEW YORK—(UPI)—Lady Beatty, frequent companion of Actor Frank Sinatra during his London visit last year, denied on her arrival here that she had come from London to see him.

She was asked about a report to that effect and replied: "How could anyone possibly say that? It isn't true."

The Oklahoma-born beauty appeared to be extremely nervous when confronted by reporters at Idlewild International Airport.

She said she will go to Nassau, Bahamas, for a few weeks.

LIFE WITH LARRY THOMPSON

He's Rich for a Time

THE YOUNG LADY at the Special Checking Accounts window, T to Z, was mightily impressed by me. I was putting in money faster than Arthur Vining Davis. Maybe not as much, but faster.

She didn't know it, but I was raising money to buy a car.

First, I had gone up the street to the savings and loan association and had withdrawn the money I had in there for a rainy day. I had deposited this to my account.

Then I gathered up the savings bonds I had been hoarding and took them to the third floor of the bank where I cashed them. I put this money in my account.

Inasmuch as this already was more money than I had deposited for years, the girl was looking at me with new respect. She probably thought I had just been appointed publisher of The Herald.

Then I went to the sixth floor of the bank where I pleaded until I borrowed some money. I put it in my account.

The girl was looking at me with big eyes now. Her admiration was beginning to have a trace of suspicion.

I still had one more financial coup to pull. I cashed my weekly pay check and I made my regular deposit. It wasn't much, but on top of what I'd been pouring in so fast, it impressed the girl.

I think she almost pressed the burglar alarm button when I gave her this final deposit.

She was almost sure by now that I had been out robbing some other bank, or that I was the front for some syndicate getting ready to buy Miami and ship it to California.

Maybe my account wasn't that big, but considering its normal size, it must have looked like it to her. It sure did to me, anyway.

It was a nice feeling, putting money in the bank like that, and if I swaggered a bit as I walked up the street after the last deposit, I hope I can be forgiven.

I even toyed with the idea of buying a big fat cigar, to go with my financial position, but gave it up because cigars make me sick. I never saw a business tycoon get sick on a cigar, and I didn't want to ruin the picture.

I DIDN'T STAY RICH very long. I went out to see the fellow who was selling me the car, and I wrote a check, and there I was, broke again.

When I was writing the check, I did my best to act nonchalant, but I couldn't quite carry it off. I'm not accustomed to writing checks with more than two figures on the left side of the decimal point, and here I was writing a check like a millionaire.

Despite myself, I looked self-conscious as I wrote it, and I even smirked a little.

Just the same, it was a thrill, and I wish I could write checks like that every day.

But I am worried about that girl in the Special Checking Accounts window, T to Z. For that one day, she thought I was a Big Shot. And I realize that within a day or two after she saw me bring in all those deposits she is going to see that check come through, and my balance will be erased in one big swipe. I no longer will be a Big Shot. I will be a Big Minus.

The last time I saw her, she was looking at me in awe, even though there may have been suspicion. The next time I see her, she will look at me with pity.

Ah, well, it was fun to be rich for a few hours.

IF I HAD THOUGHT of it, I think I would have saved some money on that car. I should have taken up a collection in our block.

The neighbors, I am sure, have been sick and tired of having Old 51, my battle-beaten jalopy, parked in front of my house, giving a low-tone look to the whole block.

I don't doubt that it's removal from the scene will boost the value of all property in the block, and the neighbors probably would have been happy to contribute to getting it out of sight.

I SAY THIS CAR is new, but it's actually a '57 station wagon. That seems new to us. It even has that new-fangled contraption so you don't have to shift gears. Personally, I don't see how that is possible, but my wife says other cars have had them for years and so far I must admit ours works fine.

East pulled off a highly ingenious bit of deception today to defeat a vulnerable slam contract that was virtually in the bag.

North bid one heart and tho South had the high card values for a jump shift, he responded modestly with one spade. No fit had been established so he wished to proceed cautiously while he investigated the possibilities of the hand. North rebid two diamonds and South temporized again with three clubs. When North revealed the fit by raising to four, South contracted for slam.

West, with his utterly hopeless hand, opened the five of hearts. To East, this was marked beyond any question as a singleton, for the only heart out of view was the jack, which was obviously held by declarer, for West would hardly have led the five from a holding of jack-five. If East won the trick with the queen and returned the suit, declarer might be put on guard as to the impending danger and ruff high enough to shut out West. East therefore set up a smoke screen by winning with the ace and returning the deuce. There could be no doubt that the queen of hearts was in the West hand, so declarer is hardly to be taken to task for discarding on the heart return. When West ruffed in, South had a rude awakening.

I suppose that purists will point out that South might just as well have ruffed the return with the eight of clubs and perhaps they are right, but I for one am not going to hold this against South's record for deportment. I shall look upon him as an outraged victim

Jack Kofoed Says

Some of Veterans Don't Merit Cash

VETERANS organizations are attempting to force through a $100 month pension for everyone who served in World War I. There would follow, as night follows day, a similar demand for those who wore uniforms during the second global conflict and the Korean war, as well.

The cost of the former program would be great, the latter, astronomical, and there is no excuse for either. Men who were wounded . . . who suffered, and lost earning power . . . deserve the best the nation can give them.

Those who came through unscathed, doing no more than what every man should do for his nation in time of peril, do not deserve, and should not have, a dole.

America is up to her ears in debt. To add such a financial burden as this would be ruinous.

TWO OF MY favorite entertainers . . . Jack Benny and Giselle Mackenzie have come to Our Town to play an engagement at the Fontainebleau. For 20 years, no matter where I was or what happened, I tried never to miss the old master's Sunday night radio show.

With all the accent on youth in these days, no youngster can master that art until the years hafe dimmed some of that youth. As for Giselle, just let's say she's Miss Wonderful.

MR. GEORGE RAFT, cinema villian and gambling room entrepreneur, has offerer "Sugar Ray" Robinson $450,000 to fight Archie Moore, and Archie Moore $450,000 to fight "Sugar Ray" Robinson.

No one in history ever showed contempt for money as Mr. Raft does in this case.

Even with theater television, and other dollar grabbing gimmicks, it is almost certain the show would go deeply into the red.

The offer, though, should be an inspiration to the aging generation. Moore is edging toward 50. Robinson isn't far from 40. This is the equivalent of 70 to 80 years in any other business, so chins up, old timers, let nothing you dismay!

Most people refuse to take lessons from the past, but gentlemen of the cauliflower-ears-and-leather-gloves set might accept one from Willie Pep.

This little man was an incredible performer over the years. He finally has retired, and save for a trust fund which starts paying him $50 a week when he is 39 years old, Willie has little to show for a career, which has had few parallels. Do you get the idea, boys?

A LADY NAMED Marjorie Holmes believes the American male is losing the art of talking to his wife. In Readers Digest, Mrs. Holmes offers various reasons, among them sex differences. Ever since the days of Sigmund Freud we find it necessary to blame everything that goes wrong on one phase or another of sex.

There used to be simpler explanations. I remember when my dad and mother were reaching toward their 80th birthdays.

One evening pop was settled in his chair, pipe in mouth, newspaper in hand. Mom was catching up on her sewing. Several hours went by, and not a word was spoken.

Finally, mother said, "Sinius, why in heaven's name don't you say something?"

Father looked up, with that quiet little smile of his, and said:

"Annie. We've been married 50 years. There isn't anything you haven't heard me talk about in that time, so what's new to talk about now?"

This seems about as good a reason as the "sex differences" Mrs. Holmes advances.

WHEN WALT Disney made "Snow White" in 1938 he spent a million and a half bucks on the picture. His "Sleeping Beauty" cost six millions. "Beauty," which is a beauty, has its premiere at the Sheridan theater Feb. 10. Every dollar taken in will go to the Lend-a-Hand-Fund summer camp. Parents Killed in Head-On Auto Collision

Hand-Pump on Lung Keeps Injured Girl Alive

does not mean they cannot be

—(AP)— The thump-thump of an iron lung Monday forced life into a 10-year-old girl who can't breathe on her own because of auto accident brain damage. Her parents and two others were killed in the head-on collision.

Priscilla Taylor, 10, of Chamblee, Ga., is in critical condition.

She has not drawn a breath of her own since midnight Saturday, shortly after the accident.

An electric respirator broke down Sunday. Nurses and orderlies pumped a hand-operated one more than three hours before the iron lung was obtained from Charlotte, 35 miles away.

Killed in the wreck at nearby Grover were Marine Sgt. Mack Taylor, 36, stationed in Atlanta; his wife, Stella Taylor, also 36; and two Gaffney, S.C., Negroes, George Arthur Gregg, 14, and Clarence Luther Horton, 20.

Sgt. J. B. Kuykendall of the state highway patrol said a car driven by a third Gaffney Negro, Henry Galmer, 32, went out of control at high speed and hit the Taylor car head-on.

Galmer was in good condition at a hospital here. Kuykendall said he was charged with murder.

The sister and brother of the girl in an iron lung were in other rooms of the hospital with minor injuries.

You Can't Take It With You

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: Why did Jesus say it was so hard for a rich man to be saved? (Matt. 19:24) can you explain his words, "It is easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven?"

My Answer

GRAHAM

ANSWER: Rich men are confronted with temptations unknown to most people. That does not mean they cannot be saved, but if they are to enter the kingdom, they must adopt a wholly different attitude toward their wealth.

The needle's eye was a very small opening in the wall of Jerusalem where one could squeeze through after the large gates were shut. It would not be possible to pass through in an erect position nor with any merchandise.

No more can a rich man enter the kingdom except he humble himself and abandon any reliance on his wealth. He cannot take his wealth with him. The riches of the believer are all spiritual, never material.

LESABRE, the Buick you can own for only $200 more than the best models of the leading low-priced cars...

This is in no way a "stripped" car you're looking at. Come in and study the manufacturer's suggested retail price of a Buick LeSABRE like this, equipped with Twin Turbine automatic transmission, radio, heater, white sidewall tires, and anything else you want in your next car. Then do the same to the top models of the leading low-priced three, and you'll find the statement above stands up.

What a difference for only $200!

Now think how much more you'd enjoy a Buick. A comfortable, substantial, quality-built automobile. A car with the finest ride in all Buick history. A car with Buick's exclusive fin-cooled brakes, and the smoothest type of transmission money can buy. A wonderfully quiet and greatly respected car!

Owners report QUALITY outstanding

Your money in a Buick today also puts you in on the ground floor of what promises to be a long new time of leadership for Buick cars. "Best-performing Buick ever!" . . . "My sixth Buick and the best I ever owned!" . . . "Best-operating car I've driven in thirty years!" . . . "Much the best Buick yet!" . . . Reports like these from owners mean extra pleasure in your Buick ownership . . . and they also mean hard dollar value when the time comes to trade. It all adds up to the best proof in 50 years that: "WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK PEOPLE WILL BUILD THEM!"

New in gas economy, too!

In planning the '59 Buick, the new Wildcat engines, transmissions, and axles were all engineered to work together for greater gas mileage. Across the country owners tell us they are getting 15 to 20 miles per gallon in the '59 Buicks. And in a recent thorough test of LeSabre against another car of comparable size and a good reputation for economy . . . the Buick won in every case under all kinds of driving conditions.

So we think we've got a new kind of value in this Buick LeSabre. And we suggest you go to your Quality Buick Dealer's and see whether you agree before you buy a new car.

THE CAR IS THE BUY!

Major League Managers Tops In Optimism and Co-Operation

YOU DON'T NEED a calendar to tell that spring is near. Baseball news is popping back into the paper and the press services, which could use their wires for better purposes, are sending in stories about (a) players who have signed their contracts; and, (b) players who claim they are holdouts.

SMITH

LOPEZ

Eventually all of 'em will sign and spring training will produce the usual crop of bright rookies who'll wilt fast when the pitchers get around to curving 'em. Out of the bunch will emerge a few like Orlando Cepeda and Albie Pearson, most valuable rookies in the National and American Leagues last season, to make good.

All of this will bring one of the more pleasant assignments of the year, a leisurely tour of the Grapefruit Circuit. It is enjoyable because you visit eight or nine of the more interesting cities in Florida.

Also intriguing is the optimism of the big league managers who are the most co-operative persons encountered in sports — at least in the spring, when even a guy who knows he's doomed to wind up in the celler prattles about his chances of making the first division.

Except for being busy with their own spring football practice, college coaches would do well to prowl the Grapefruit Circuit, noting the frank manner in which the managers answer questions and refrain from the chilling words, "This is off the record."

Most of the baseball players are helpful, too, being anxious to see their names back in the sports pages.

In 12 Grapefruit Circuit tours, I've encountered only one manager who was disagreeable. It would be both difficult and unfair to say which was the most cooperative, although guys like Casey Stengel, Al Lopez, Fred Haney and Mayo Smith go high on the list.

Richards Becomes Tough Golfer

HERE IN Miami we'll have Paul Richards, who'll spend his spare time on the links. He started playing golf when he was with the Atlanta Crackers and, on occasional trips with the team as a sports writer, I smuggled Paul's golf clubs along. Manager Eddie Moore took a dim view of his hired hands playing golf, but we played many courses.

PENROSE

I was willing to be bothered with Paul's clubs because he was one guy I could beat. Once at Knoxville on an off-day, I beat Richards in the morning. He thought it was an accident, so that afternoon I beat him again, each time by shooting 81.

Quite a few Miamians will snicker at the claim I ever scored an 81. They forget a fellow grows older, balder and slower. Anyway, Paul has progressed in golf, just as he has in baseball, and it'll take guys like Jack Penrose, Frank Strafaci, Henry Russell, Paul Woolley and that type to give him competition on the links.

Bowie Ready for 'Spring' Meeting

"I WAS, of course, shocked to hear of the unfortunate accident to our mutual friend John Madala," John F. Loome writes from Bowie. (Madala was shot last week by a tip sheet seller at Hialeah and John's many friends here and throughout the nation are happy he is on the road to recovery.)

LOOME

Loome, who formerly worked at local tracks with the TRA Protective Bureau, advises he has been promoted to assistant to the president of the Bowie track. John is another former FBI agent, who has made good in horse racing.

"This beautiful track (Bowie) in the pines, opens it's 'spring' meeting on Feb. 7 and will run through March 31," Loome writes. He showed a sense of humor in quoting spring.

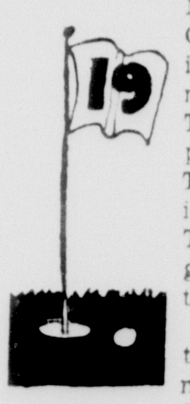
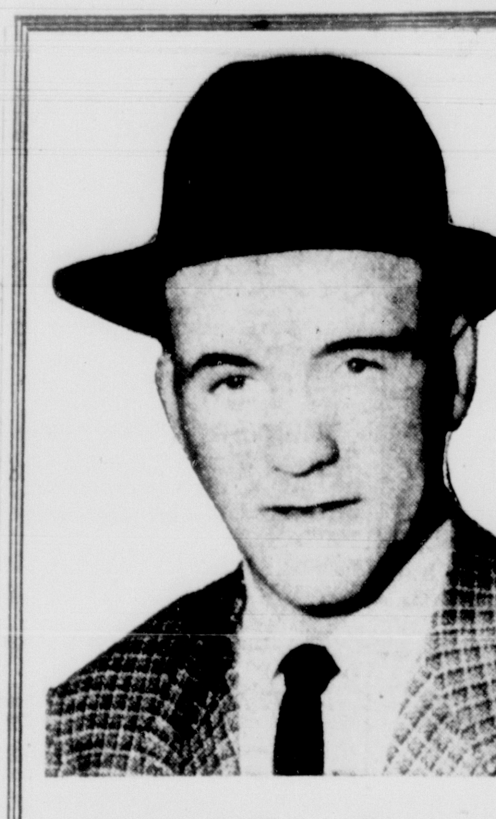
Another Tip to City Officials



I AM AGAIN suggesting City Commissioner Otis Shiver should take his fellow commissioners and City Manager E. A. Evans on a tour of Broward County sports facilities . . . The tour should include Sam Frost's Orange Brook, where more than 400 golfers play daily; Robert Trent Jones' par-three course, which has 200 players each day at three bucks each; and Tom Day's Plantation links, which is showing a 16 per cent gain over last year . . . The commission announced Monday it will go ahead with a frilly new type course but that is not enough.

The suggestion is not made to the County Commissioners because so far as I know not one of 'em has ever shown any interest in doing anything for sports enthusiasts . . . The Miami Men's Golf Association meets tonight at Miami Springs to elect officers . . . They will vote on Emil Flutie and Tom Testa for president and choose between Emil Flutie, Jr., and Maurie Meehan for secretary . . . Already elected are Webb Childress, treasurer; Speedy Gonzalez and Lish Gall, vice presidents . . . Directors named are Allan Bruce, Austin Daigle, Albert Flutie, Dan Johnson, James McIntyre and John Palmquist . . . The MMGA will hear Pro Vince Allen . . . Chicago Cub Alvin Dark, three-time winner of the baseball players' golf championship, thinks Vince is the best putting instructor he's ever known . . . The 13th hole at LaGorce should be George Dockerty's favorite . . . He used an eight-iron there Sunday and got a hole-in-one with Herbert A. Faux as his witness . . . It was George's fourth ace and his second on the 13th.



Ex-Coach Terry Brennan

Terry Chucks Football For Business Career

CHICAGO —(AP)— Terry Brennan, ousted Notre Dame coach, Monday night said he believes he's through with football for good while announcing that he had accepted a position with an investment banking firm.

The 30-year-old Brennan, making his announcement at a press conference preceding a testimonial dinner given him by some 500 friends, said he would work in the investment firm's branch office in Chicago. The firm's main office is in New York (Goldman, Sachs and Co.)

"I will train in all phases of the business and live in Chicago," said Brennan, whose firing by Notre Dame before Christmas became a national controversy.

"I will start my new job the first week of April. My verbal contract with Notre Dame expires March 31 and the university will pay me until then. I will have a good salary in my new job and a lot of opportunities in the business."

Brennan, a graduate of Notre Dame, obtained a law degree at DePaul while coaching Chicago's Mt. Carmel High School to city football titles.

He was asked if he meant never to return to the sport again.

"Never is a long time," he said. "But I think I'm out for good."

Brennan, who coached Notre Dame five years before Joe Kuharich replaced him, disclosed he had been offered six head collegiate coaching jobs but turned them down.

As for Notre Dame, he said he had "no desire for any 'show 'em attitude' towards the university.

"I've proven I can coach a football team," he said. "There are uncertainties in coaching. I feel I have a better future in business. I hold no bitterness towards Notre Dame and wish them luck next season and the seasons to come."

Hurricanes Edge Past Mocs, 79-76

LAKELAND —(AP)— University of Miami's Hurricanes edged Florida Southern College, 79-76, Monday night to retain its grip on first place in the Florida Intercollegiate Conference.

The Hurricanes took back the lead, 74-73, with a minute left in the seesaw game, their fifth league victory. It was the Moccasins' second loss in conference play.

Florida Southern spotted Miami a 10-point lead early in the game, 19-9, then came back behind the shooting of Frank Scuderi to tie the score at 33-33.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. —(AP)— Tennessee jumped off to an early lead and coasted to a 100-70 victory over Florida Monday night in a Southeastern Conference basketball game.

Charlie Pike, a Florida senior from Miami, rode the bench with a knee injury which a Knoxville bone specialist said would keep him out for the remainder of the season.

Ussery Still Minus McLennan Mount

By RUSS HARRIS
Herald Turf Writer

What does a jockey have to do to get a mount in a stakes race?

Bob Ussery arrived in Miami with the Tropical Park meeting half over and still wound up in a tie for jockey honors. At Hialeah, Ussery is far in front of the field with a winning average of nearly 20 per cent.

Ussery

Yet Ussery Monday remained without a mount as 13 possible starters were listed for Saturday's $50,000 added McLennan Handicap.

Calumet Farm's Bardstown, with 126 pounds and Steve Brooks, heads the McLennan probables along with Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Clem, 125 pounds and Johnny Sellers.

The two topweights indicated their fitness by splendid workouts, Bardstown going six furlongs in 1:11 2-5 Sunday while Clem breezed a mile in 1:38 2-5 Monday morning.

At the moment, the oddsmakers rate Bardstown a slight favorite at 2-1 over Clem. However, the latter's brilliant victory in last Wednesday's Palm Beach Handicap cannot be overlooked.

In that race Clem trimmed Round Table, Nadir, Bardstown and others while spinning a mile in 1:34 flat, fastest mile run in the U. S. last year. And it is interesting to note that Sellers was riding "The Little Red Lion" for the first time in that Chicago race.

Nadir, beaten favorite in the Royal Palm Handicap at Hialeah, is listed among the probable starters Saturday with Bill Hartack slated to

Colgate Gets Brown Coach

By Herald Wire Services

Alva Kelley, placing a challenge over security, Monday was named Colgate head football coach.

The personable Kelley had been offered a new five-year contract, which would have hiked his pay to $11,500, to remain at Brown University.

Kelley turned his back on the Brown "security" to take a crack at rebuilding Colgate's slumping football fortunes.

He leaves Brown after a successful 6-3 season. His new team, Colgate, won only one of nine starts last year. Included in the defeats were a 47-0 lacing by Syracuse and 68-6 spanking by Army.

The Red Raiders gave Kelley a five-year contract, but refused to disclose details.

A RARE SIGHT TODAY
It's one of the reasons why there's not enough Jack Daniel's Whiskey to go around

On occasion, you may have found your dealer out of Jack Daniel's Tennessee Whiskey. May we make clear that it's not his fault? The shortage of Jack Daniel's is accounted for in its making—in the most unusual way we smooth out our sippin' whiskey.

Just as other Tennessee whiskey makers did generations ago, we burn ricks of hard maple to a special kind of charcoal, a charcoal for gentling the character of a whiskey. Then we grind it and tamp it tightly into huge vats until the vats are filled 10 feet deep. Following that, we trickle our just-made whiskey through the charcoal . . . a long and leisurely trip which takes each drop 8 to 12 days.

This old-time Tennessee process is called Charcoal Mellowing. And it's an "extra blessing" only we take the time and expense to give our whiskey today. The result is a sippin' smoothness and a flavor like that of no other whiskey in all the world.

That accounts for Jack Daniel's growing number of good friends, and, at present, its currently short supply. If you have trouble finding Jack Daniel's, we hope you'll understand it's not your dealer's fault. And we hope you'll try again later.

Pimlico, Laurel Merger Nixed?

BALTIMORE —(AP)— A proposal to merge Pimlico and Laurel Race Tracks, which has been kicked around like a football for 12-15 years, took a new and different bounce Monday.

Pimlico announced plans for a remodeling job, which would indicate the perennial merger idea has been dropped. There was no official confirmation, however, from either track.

Venerable Pimlico, crowded into a northwest corner of Baltimore, is the second oldest active track in the country. The move to transfer its 40 days of racing to the most spacious Laurel, between here and Washington, was beaten in the Maryland Legislature as recently as last year, when the senate killed the measure by one vote.

The latest development came from Charles H. Johnson, Pimlico's publicity director now working at Hialeah Race Course in Miami. Buried in a lengthy news release was this one sentence:

"Pimlico will soon begin a major impovement program to enable it to accommodate up to 60,000 fans for its newly enriched Peakness . . ."

Johnson was reported flying to Baltimore and unavailable for comment.

Snowden Carter, racing writer for the Baltimore Sun, said he learned that the visit was for the express purpose of announcing the rebuilding plans.

"I've got nothing to say on that," said Pimlico Secretary-Treasurer Ben Cohen, when asked if he would confer about rebuilding at today's meeting of the State Racing Commission. Johnson has scheduled a dinner with racing reporters tonight.

Yacht Race To Nassau Draws 28

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

Twenty-eight tautly tuned yachts, including many first-time starters on the Southern Ocean Racing Circuit, will shove off at noon today in the 21st annual Miami to Nassau race.

The historic 184-mile classic is likely to provide newcomers with a rude introduction to blue-water racing.

Northeast winds of 25 miles an hour, with even more muscular gusts, are expected to greet the near-record fleet.

That means the first leg, from a mile off Miami Beach's Government Cut to Great Isaacs light some 67 miles to the northeast, will be to windward — where old salts insist sailing races are won and lost.

In addition, the yachtsmen are not likely to get any relief from tedious tacking when they round Isaacs and head for the Great Stirrup Cay.

Forecasters expect the wind to change direction right along with the fleet, more to an easterly source early Wednesday and, thus, remain still "on the nose."

By the time skippers complete the final leg, southeast down the tongue of the ocean to Nassau, they're likely to believe Careleton Mitchell, winner of the past two Miami-Nassaus and two straight Newport-Bermudas.

"This is about as fine a yacht race as there is in the world," Mitchell has said. "The course makes it almost impossible for any boat to wander far off by itself and benefit from a fluke wind shift."

With Mitchell's famed Finisterre sitting this one out, only one former winner will answer the starting signal from the Coast Guard Cutter Aurora.

She is Caribbee, 58-foot yawl which Mitchell skippered to victories for three successive years, 1951 through '53.

Handling Caribbee will be a trio of America's foremost yachtsmen — Henry duPont, Ed Disharoon and Charlie Dell — representing the Cruising Club of America.

Participants are looking for a "new face" to emerge the victor. Such predictions stem from the knowledge that in two short tuneup races this year, brand-new boats have won both.

Always considered among the boats to beat is Comanche, 39-foot yawl owned by Miamian Jack Price. She was runnerup in the Gun Cay Light; fourth in the Lipton.

The 10-boat Class A fleet gets under way at noon; the eight-boat Class B field at 12:15, and 10 Class C entrants at 12:30.

Kentucky Holds AP Poll Lead

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

College basketball's leading teams ended their midseason lull and resumed the full time business of beating one another's ears off last week. The results brought only one change in the Top Ten rankings, but led the experts to scatter their votes a bit more than usual.

It was Kentucky on top again by a comfortable margin over North Carolina with the order of the leaders unchanged until seventh place was reached.

St. John's of Brooklyn dropped out of that spot after losing two games on a road trip. Michigan State and Bradley moved up to close the gap and St. Louis, winner over St. John's, took over ninth place.

The top ten teams, with first place votes and won-lost records through last Saturday in parentheses (points on 10-9-8 etc. basis).

Kentucky rolled over three Southeastern Conference opponents last week to build its season record to 17 victories in 18 games. Kentucky scored 296 points against Georgia Tech, Georgia and Florida to 171 for the combined opposition.

Other teams in the top ten in this week's voting, based on results through last Saturday, were Cincinnati, North Carolina State, Michigan State, Bradley, St. Louis and West Virginia.

1. Kentucky (42) (17-1)	890
2. North Carolina (22) (12-1)	802
3. Kansas State (10) (15-1)	619
4. Auburn (7) (14-0)	610
5. Cincinnati (2) (13-2)	579
6. North Carolina State (14-2)	575
7. Michigan State (3) (11-2)	263
8. Bradley (14-2)	281
9. St. Louis (3) (13-2)	211
10. West Virginia (1) (16-3)	174

The second ten: Mississippi State (4) 150; Marquette (3) 148; Oklahoma City 97; Seattle (4) 85; St. John's (N.Y.) 57; Utah (1) 38; Texas Christian 36; St. Bonaventure (2) 25; California 21; St. Joseph's (Pa.) 17.

Brennan Tackles Crawford Tonight

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Music-loving, Bible-reading Gomeo Brennan, apparently making a main event boxing career out of "his first major test", tries it again tonight against ranked welterweight Mickey Crawford at the Miami Beach Auditorium.

This time, it should be for real.

Brennan, brought along slowly and carefully by Manager Dave Yoemans and Trainer Angelo Dundee, has been scheduled for three "first major tests" before at the Beach. None turned out to be too tought; none resulted in the hoped-for big time recognition.

The 20-year-old Bimini-born blaster KO'd a faded Wallace (Bud) Smith in the fourth round of his first "test"; won six rounds with four even on one scorecard in whipping Tony DeCola in the second; and scored a perfect 100 points on two official cards in butcher-knifing TV star Jimmy Archer in the third.

Mickey Crawford

. . . Brennan's top test

Crawford, 10th-ranked welterweight and likely candidate to go much higher doesn't figure that way at all.

Unlike Smith, Crawford is a 24-year-old with his future still ahead of him. Unlike Archer, Crawford earned his television reputation (seven TV bouts last year) against the best in the business.

Crawford, who has beaten Chico Vejar and Gil Turner and drawn with Gaspar Ortega, is a slim, probably 7-5, favorite. That worries him more than it does Brennan.

"I don't like being a favorite," he says. "Being picked over Tiger Jones cured me."

Middleweight Jones, a weight step too much for Crawford, took a 10th round TKO which tumbled Crawford out of the sensation class back into the mere excellent.

Both Crawford and Brennan work better against "name" opponents, tending to loaf against so-so foes. Crawford seldom wins big — a fact that annoys Manager Art Greenwald—and Brennan tends to look ordinary against ordinary opponents.

Brennan, by far the best puncher, has never been stopped or knocked down in winning 14 of his last 15 fights. Crawford, a boxer who's learning to slug under new Trainer Charlie Goldman, has won 22 of 27 fights.

Crawford's efforts have paid off in TV returns; Brennan's haven't.

"Crawford," says Dundee, "is the kind of company Gomeo is ready to keep now. He's not ready for the top 3-4 in the welter ranks yet, but he will be . . . he will be."

Garvin Sawyer, who lost a close TV decision to Zora Folley, meets Ollie Wilson, a previous winner over Charlie Norkus, in the 10-round semifinal heavyweight battle.

Other prelims, beginning at 8:45, pit Featherweights Pablo Caripides and Hector Rodriguez; Lightweights Bobby Marie and Duane Simpson; and Heavyweights Joe Laquatra and Roosevelt Luggin. All are four-rounders.

Shaw Zips Ahead In Smith Tennis

City Commission Passes Up Par-Three Course, Votes Three-in-One Links for Miami Springs

Revamping of the Miami Springs Golf Course will be necessary under orders given City Manager E. A. Evans Monday by the City Commission. The Commission voted unanimously, with only George DuBreuil absent, to build a revolutionary three-in-one layout instead of a conventional par-three hole.

The new type links, proposed by Luke Morris, calls for hitting three balls from one tee and playing the par three, four and five holes in succession. It will occupy space now used for the practice grounds and the 10th and 11th fairways.

Construction, expected to cost $125,000 will be started soon.

The first work will be building two new holes on the western border of the course to replace the two lost holes. The present 12th will become No. 10 The new holes, a par four and three, will be built north of the present 14th and west of the 15th holes.

Public Welfare Director James Hilton said the OK has been given for equipping the Miami Springs cluhbouse and paving the parkway between the clubhouse and first tee. This was demanded by the City of Miami Springs.

Plans for the new course will be provided by Morris, who contends installation of the course will be copied by other cities. Either Dick Wilson, Delray, or Mark Mahannah, Riviera, will be retained as the supervising golfing architect.

ride. Nadir carries 118 pounds and is listed at 5-1.

Sharpsburg, a fast-closing second to Petare in the Royal Palm, also is rated at 5-1. He packs 116 pounds and Howard Grant.

Mister Jive, a disappointment until his victory in a sprint here Saturday, is in with 116 pounds and ranked as a 15-1 outsider.

Others on the McLennan list are Oligarchy, A Dragon Killer, Admiral Vee, Amerigo, Backbone, Ricci Tavi, Hoop Band and Village Idiot.

Norman Cox handles Ricci Tavi and Willie Lester wil be aboard Admiral Vee. The other mounts are still open.

Trainer Norman Haymaker said A Dragon Killer will go only if the track is fast.

Oligarchy, last year's Widener Handicap winner, is on the doubtful list. He has had only one race this winter, a seven-furlong tuneup last Saturday. Trainer Elliott Burch said he would decide in the next two days whether Oligarchy will go postward in the McLennan.

Hialeah Five Tests Dragons

Hialeah's rampaging Thorobreds put their 11-2 record on the line tonight against Stranahan's towering Dragons, 10-2.

The game at Hialeah will match high-scoring Bernie Butts (27.8 average) against the Dragons' well-balanced attack. John Hursey, Andy Krondstadt, Vernon Rogers and Ron Hamilton usually hit in double figures for Stranahan.

Miami High's Stingarees will host unpredictable Jackson, and Gables will invade Edison in Big Ten Conference action.

North Miami's Tom Baxley will try to hike his Dade County high point total of 363 when the Pioneers host South Dade.

One game will be played in the afternoon, Norland visiting Palmetto for a 3:30 clash. Tech plays at Miami Beach, and Curley goes to Southwest.

In Bowling, You Stoop To Conquer

By BILLY SIXTY

You'll find as many crouchers as erect starters among the bowling stars, so don't hesitate to try the "hunch" method of getting set for the stride.

Notable crouchers were Jimmy Blouin and Charlie Daw, former world match kings. Today's best is Joe Wilman, ex-match ruler.

The principal advantage of the crouch start is that it lends itself better to relaxing than the upright stance.

You have to adhere to the vital form points: Pick and stick to a starting spot, use a slow first step timed with a fairly long push-away of the ball, and don't force the ball at any time during the swing.

Just one more fundamental that's part of the crouch system: The distance covered in stride is usually shorter than in the form, and the first step, via crouch, should be of normal walking length, rather than the shorter, sort-of-shuffle start for the upright approach.

Sports Spending Going Way Up

CHICAGO —(AP)— An economist estimates Americans will spend almost two billion dollars this year on sporting goods.

Richard E. Snyder of Chicago made his estimate in a report for the National Sporting Goods Association annual convention here.

Snyder said sporting goods sales this year will total about $1,978,073,000, eight per cent more than in 1958.

Redskins Sign 2 Irish Stars

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Washington Redskins announced the signing of two Notre Dame football players as they officially lost their coach to the Irish.

The contract Coach Joe Kuharich signed with Notre Dame, after five years with the Redskins, became effective Feb. 1. Mike Nixon, named to succeed Kuharich, already has taken over for all practical purposes.

Notre Dame players who came to terms with the National Football League club were End Bob Wetoska and Tackle Don Lawrence.

John Busso In Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. —(AP)— Challenger Johnny Busso took a look at his downtown training site here and said he is confident he will win the lightweight title from Joe Brown in their Feb. 11 fight.

Told that Ralph Dupas and Kenny Lane also were very confident, Busso said, "Well, they thought they would win. I know I will."

Busso did not work out, much to the disappointment of several hundred fans who crowded the Downtown Gym expecting to see him in action.

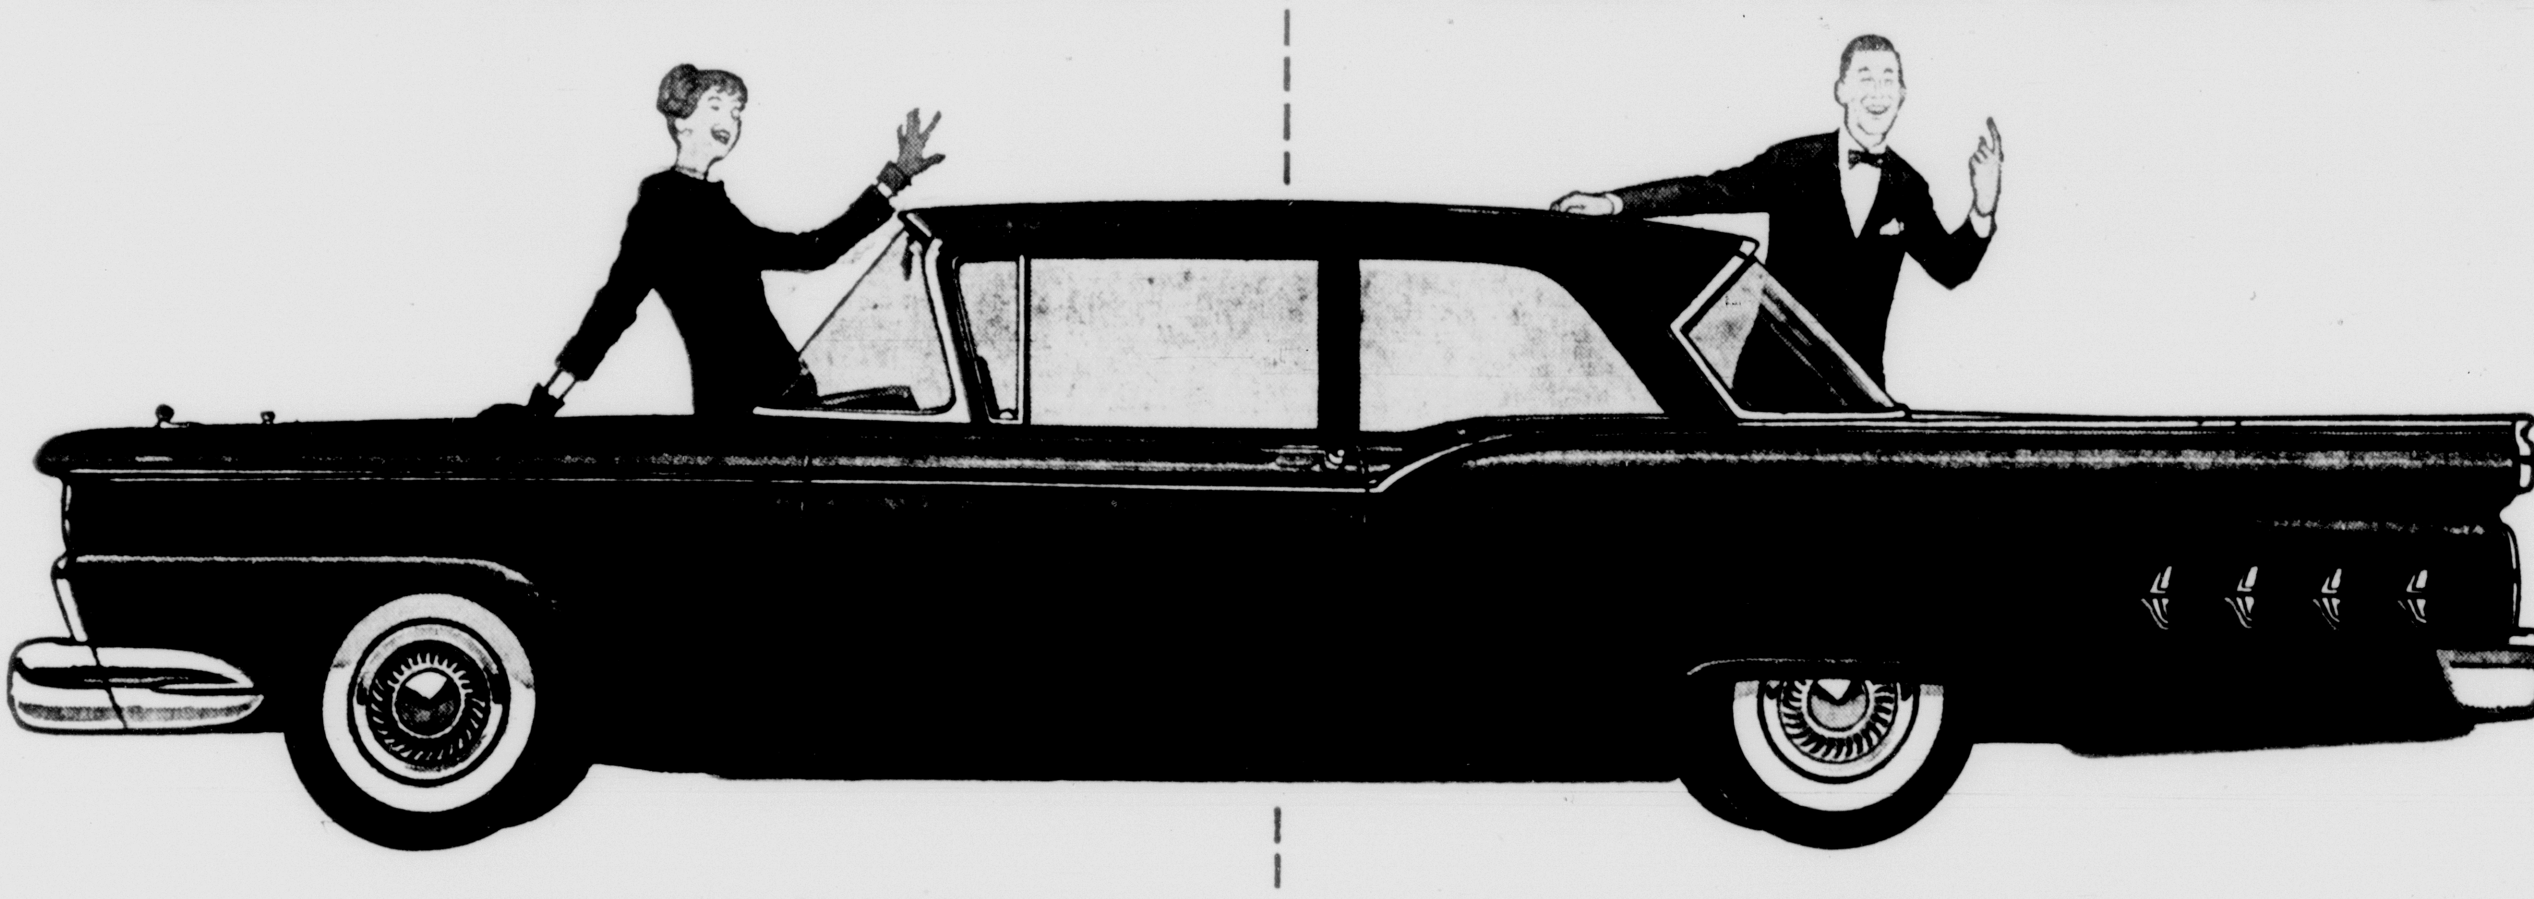
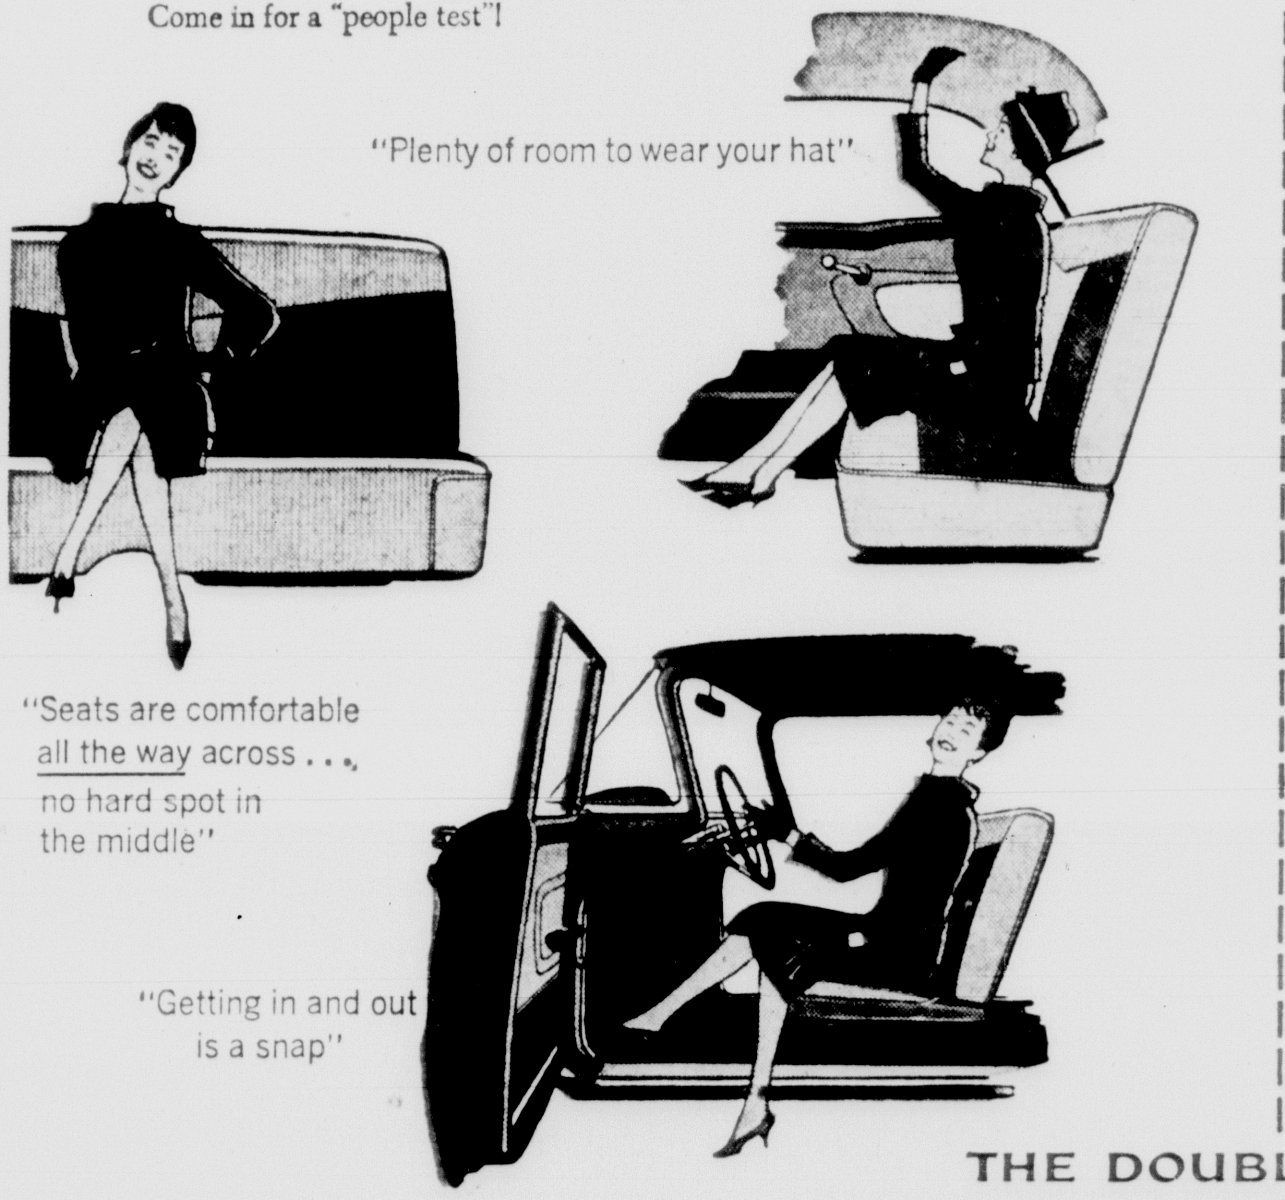
Let's take a trip in the cars BUILT FOR PEOPLE
Let's take a trip in the cars BUILT FOR SAVINGS



THE WORLD'S MOST BEAUTIFULLY PROPORTIONED CARS

Here's the easiest way to comfort-test a Ford. Take six people—a daddy long-legs, a mister "five by five," any shape, any size. Put them in a Ford and watch what happens. In the first place they can get in easier. Doors are wider than competitive cars in Ford's field . . . wider-opening, too. Slide inside and everybody (including the man in the middle) has a seat that's thickly padded for real comfort. There's more than enough room for legs, elbows, hips—and hats! And unlike cars with high rear-end styling, Ford's low-level trunk loads easily. Come in for a "people test"!

Actually you could love Ford for its price alone. A quick check will show you that suggested Ford retail prices are lowest of the best-selling three for all comparable models. What's more, with radio, heater, and automatic transmission, Fords are priced up to $102.75 less than the major competition . . . and if you want air conditioning, you can save up to $219.85. Then there are Ford saving exclusives like Diamond Lustre Finish that never needs waxing and the aluminized muffler that normally lasts twice as long. Finally, Ford's beautiful proportions will command a higher price when you're ready to sell.



"Plenty of room to wear your hat"
"Seats are comfortable all the way across . . ., no hard spot in the middle"
"Getting in and out is a snap"

"Save up to $1.00 on every tankful"
"Go 4000 miles without changing oil"
"Save up to $102.75 on purchase price alone!"

KENTUCKY

taste WHY THE BUBBLES DANCE FOR JOY!

HERE are highballs as they should be—sparkling and zestful, rich in bourbon flavor.

Yet—and here's the big point—they're light and mild, and so gentle to drink!

The reason? 86 proof Old Taylor—lightest full-flavored Kentucky bourbon you can buy—is the same in quality as our famous 100 proof bonded bourbon. That, of course, means the absolute top!

A deeply satisfying highball can be light and gentle to drink—as your first taste of Old Taylor 86 will prove, de*light*fully!

Big Name in Bahamas Fish Tourney

OUTDOORS

with Vic Dunaway

A FAMILIAR NAME heads the medium-tackle kingfish list in the annual Bahamas Winter Fishing Tournament. Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations, collared a 54-pound king during his holiday at the Lighthouse Club on Andros Island.

The Norwegian diplomat fished on the cruiser Can-Do with Capt. Bill Shackleton to catch the whopper, which was three times the size of the average kingfish.

Even if his catch fails to hang onto the lead, he is assured of a citation.

Public Boat Ramp Funds Allocated

HERE'S HOW the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission plans to spread most of a two-year $250,000 appropriation, according to F. G. Banks, assistant chief of the fishery division:

Dam construction and repair (including two new dams in the Florida panhandle section), $83,000; salaries, expenses and equipment, $55,000; gizzard shad control in Lake Apopka, $28,000; experimental shad control in Lake George and Newnans Lake near Gainesville, $3,000; public boat ramps, $41,500. The remaining $39,500 has not yet been released by the cabinet, Banks said.

For South Florida, the biggest prize in the package is in the boat ramp allotment. Launching difficulties will be greatly relieved in many canal areas, and altogether new boating opportunities opened up in others.

Black Bass Championship Under Way

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED this week carries a long and fancy article on bonefish and bonefishing, with main emphasis on the Florida Keys. Along with scientific diggings and some interesting bits of bonefish history, the piece is crammed with names well-known among local anglers.

The Kissimmee River and 69 East Polk County lakes are eligible waters for the first annual Dixie Black Bass Championship, now open under sponsorship of the Greater Lake Wales Chamber of Commerce.

Skindivers' schools may have to add a course on law to their curricula. Just about every coastal county in Florida has a different law on spearfishing, so you'd better not set forth with gig or gun without first getting the lowdown from a locally-assigned conservation agent.

NINE OUNCES more was all Steve Clifford's sailfish lacked to grab first place in the Herald-sponsored Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament. Nine-year-old Steve caught the 8-foot, 72½-lb. sail on Capt. Rene Roy's Marguerite II out of Snake Creek Dock in the Keys. It makes him a solid contender for top junior honors in the Met.

Blaik Joins N.Y. Firm On Feb. 16

NEW YORK — (AP) — Earl H. (Red) Blaik, who retires Feb. 15 as Army football coach and athletic director, will join a New York company (AVCO Manufacturing Corp.) the next day as a vice president and member of the management committee.

The company is active in a number of fields, ranging from space reserve to television boradcasting.

Whether Blaik will specialize in any one field was not indicated in Monday's joint announcement by him and the company.

Throughout most of his coaching career, which began in 1926, Blaik also has been active in business.

Stout Wins Pompano Pin Event

John Durr and Leo Domrose paced doubles competition with 1,273.

DON GARBETT and Earl Franks posted a 1,765 to become the unofficial winners of the Paradise doubles tournament. Official results of the tournament which drew 90 teams will be announced later in the week.

PAUL DENNIS, a busy bowler, has been hired by Tropical's John Sprow. Dennis will work as a deskman.

MANAGER JIM FACENTE plans to have the new 32-lane Palm Springs establishment in operation by the first of March. Brunswick will start installing its automatic pinspotters today.

THE 19TH annual Men's City Bowling Tournament — scheduled to start April 18 at Bowlerama — already has attracted 237 entries.

Entry blanks are available at all 17 local lanes.

Powerful Domingo Clicking at Miami

In 113 starts over the first 42 days of the meeting, Domingo has finished in the money 55 times and has won an astonishing 21 of that number.

The youthful Basque, vastly improved over his rookie season last year, uses much the same formula as Larranaga. Depending almost entirely on the forehand attack, he simply blasts the pelota past his opposition.

DO TODAY'S COUPLES UNDERSTAND THE PROBLEMS OF MARRIAGE BETTER?
YES ☐ NO ☐

By S. M. DUVALL and EVELAN M. DUVALL, Ph.Ds

FALSE. NEWBORN infants differ extensively in their activity and abilities to respond. Psychologists believe that these differences are important in determining whether the child will later grow up to be aggressive, domineering, co-operative, sympathetic and, in general, able to take care of himself. Because of such inborn differences, children need quite different treatment and training. Don't try to raise a lion the way you would a rabbit.

2. No, at least unlikely. In an earlier age, young people, who married, often grew up in the same communities and knew better not only each other but their whole families. Now they are likely to meet as relative strangers. Marriage meant, mainly, working together to run a farm and manage a household, so they knew better what to expect of it and of each other. Today many young people marry with only the foggiest notion of what to expert. Marriage is more difficult now than it was.

WHY buy a used trailer? When you can buy a brand new one—never lived in—at less than dealer wholesale cost! We are auto dealers — and did sell a lot of House Trailers — but we don't believe the two businesses go together. Hence we are absolutely liquidating our seven remaining Trailers at hundreds of Dollars under our cost. You can see the actual Factory invoice if you wish. Cash preferred but can offer reasonable terms BUT with Sensible Down payment. These are brand new Knox's, Detroiter's, Melody Homes, Travellite's, eight by ten feet wide, some with Front Kitchens, up to fifty feet, including all colored appliances, and low as $2,850 complete. Displayed only at our Trail and South Miami Stores. Open till ten P.M. closed Sundays.

By REGRET
Herald Columnist

If you're amazed that a race's results can be officially announced only minutes after a photo finish you'd be even more amazed if you saw the lightning-fast operation at Hialeah which makes this possible.

High on the roof over the clubhouse two cameras stare down, one focused on the track, the other on the turf course. All they see through a narrow slit in the wall is six inches of track at the finish line 220 feet away.

Winners' Circle

There is no shutter on the lenses. Instead, the 35 mm film moves with the horses so as one passes into the camera's view he and his correct positions are recorded on the film.

The second the last horse crosses the finish line, photographer Al Poirier whips the film out of the camera into the developer. Eight seconds later he begins printing it. Eight seconds after that it is ready to be projected on the wall of the adjoining judges' room, the door to which is efficiently opened by a pulley next to the projector.

As soon as the judges have seen the picture, no more than 35 seconds after the end of the race, Al's assistant calls the results to the press box. Meanwhile the film is being made up into four 3¼ by 4 inch glass slides.

Seven minutes after the results are announced officially these slides are being projected for public viewing in three places in the grandstand, one in the clubhouse.

Some aids are used in shooting the finish. One is the tall six-inch mirror which records on the film a reverse view of the finish, thus revealing hidden horses. Another is a pair of 10,000 watt searchlights which are turned on for the finish on cloudy days and after the sun has gone behind the clubhouse, casting a shadow on the track.

The purpose of this is not to illuminate the horses, but to lighten the track, providing contrast for the dark horses in the finish pictures.

John's Reward Keeps 'Em Moving

There'll be nothing permanent about the visits of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Morris of New York, despite the fact that their name and their silks are among the oldest in racing. Instead they're commuting, and for a good reason.

Son John Jr., who's at boarding school, is allowed by the school two home permissions a month if he maintains a straight "A" average. So far the boy has kept up this superior record so rather than deprive him of his reward his parents make a point of being in New York on his home weekends.

Mr. Morris is a member of the austere and exclusive organization The Jockey Club which, although it has no legal authority, sets the policies for all American thoroughbred racing.

The Chenerys Are In Palm Beach

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher T. Chenery, who own the 1958 champion two-year-old First Landing, now turned three, won't have him in the Bahamas stakes but will enter his Meadow Stable mate Prince's Gem.

The Chenerys, who live on their ancestral plantation, The Meadow at Doswell, Va., are wintering at the Everglades Club in Palm Beach.

The Fred Hoopers, whose Olymar captured last year's Bahamas Stakes, have nominated Prybu and Disposition. The Kentucky contingent will be represented by Calumet Farms colt Numo and by W. M. Ingram's hopeful Scotland. This colt is by Princequillo out of Vermont Marble an appropriately named mare since Mr. Ingram has made a fortune in marble tombstones.

Perfect Coordination --Even to Her Glasses

ONE EXTREMELY ATTRACTIVE WOMAN seen almost daily in the Hialeah Clubhouse is Mrs. John O. Needles, wife of the clubhouse director. Always "dressed" for the track, she usually chooses a simple silk or a chic linen which she accentuates with significant but modest jewelry.

A sunny breezy day recently she carried her costume to a remarkable degree of coordination. Matching her blue and white silk suit, white pocket book and navy and white spectators were her sunglasses—with blue lenses.

More Silver for Calument Farms

THE RED AND BLUE SILKS of Calumet Farms have brought home the silver again. On Feb. 15 Mrs. Gene Markey, owner of Calumet Farms, will be awarded a trophy by the Florida Turf Writers Association for owning the horse they voted the outstanding thoroughbred to race in Florida last season.

Mrs. Markey can thank Tim Tam, who won all the major Florida events last season, for bringing her this honor for the second year in a row. Others who will receive awards at the Diplomat Country Club are Michael G. Phipps, W. Frank Hobbs, Calumet trainer J. A. Jones and Sam Souletmetis, jockey.

What! Only Two Candles!

VETERAN TURF WRITER Pat Lynch of the New York Journal American had a birthday recently. In celebration there appeared in the press box at Hialeah a pink, green and white rose-decked cake—with two candles.

One fellow journalist took a look at the gooey confection and objected, "I know Pat's older than two. He's been racing in handicaps!"

CHAMPAGNE SUPPER puts Radiant King in a festive mood for the opening for the Miami Charity Horse Show Thursday night. Steadying his glass of oats is Mrs. Walter Pierce. She is chairman of the Golden Horseshoe Box, the dress circle seating area at the show where real champagne will be served each of the show's four nights. A huge gold horseshoe and hundreds of fresh flowers will decorate the box at the north end of the ring in Dinner Key Auditorium.

Passport Head Tells One Key To Her Success

By MARCIE FEINGOLD
Herald Staff Writer

One of the federal government's top career women who combines marriage with a heavy business schedule, slipped in and out of Miami this past week. She's Frances Knight, efficient bosslady of the State Department's passport division.

Her visit to Miami was no vacation. She was here to make final arrangements for the establishment of a new passport issuing office in the new First National Bank building.

Her husband, Wayne Parrish, head of American Aviation Publications, voiced slight displeasure when Miss Knight became director of the Passport division in 1955.

She succeeded Ruth Shipley, who had held that position for 27 years.

At the time, Parrish said most emphatically, "She (Frances) will never be there 27 years."

"He still makes that statement," said Miss Knight. "But, the only time he really complains is when office hours interfere with his leisure time."

MISS KNIGHT arrives at her State Department office at 8 a.m. and never leaves before 7 p.m.

"The first three years in this job (that's up until last year) I used to hurry home, fix dinner, and then go back to the office and work until midnight," she said.

"But Wayne was constantly annoyed. You know how men are."

So, now I arrange my evening work during the day, and I take home all the reports, reading, and problems that need working out. It's much better this way."

"Heavens no, I don't discuss my work with my husband!" She exclaimed. "Why, he has problems of his own."

MISS KNIGHT doesn't hesitate to tell you that her office is run with the maximum amount of efficiency.

"I live a well-organized life. You could set your watch by the routineness of my everyday activities."

She does not think women are given enough opportunity and responsibility in government policy and administrative jobs.

"I feel my success is based entirely on an extreme amount of orneriness!" she exclaimed.

"No, I'm not running a popularity contest. I don't care whether I'm liked or not. I have a job to do, and I do it.

Unexplained Bleeding? See a Doctor at Once

By DR. J. G. MOLNER

I would like to know if you are 60 and bleed from the uterus, is that bad? Or is it nothing to worry about? — MRS. T.

It is not normal. It may be a small trouble and it could be a big one, but it should send you to your doctor at once. At once!

SLIPPED DISC

My son has what the doctor says is a slipped disc. He is wearing a belt with an oblong hard piece between his hips. Will that help him and how long will it take? MRS. H.I.

This is an accepted form of treatment in milder disc cases. Nobody can predict, but unless you have reason to think otherwise, I would be optimistic. How long? Can't tell.

LET DOCTOR DECIDE

I would appreciate your sending me information on how to treat hemorrhoids without surgery.—G.D.

Sort of like asking your plumber, "How can I fix a leak without replacing this pipe?" isn't it? My advice is to let the physician decide.

For the whys and wherefores, see my booklet on "Hemorrhoids and Rectal Problems." (For the booklet, send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents in coin to Dr. Molner in care of The Miami Herald.)

Why suffer from sinus trouble? Much can be done to help you, and it is explained in my booklet, "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble." To receive your copy, write to me in care of The Miami Herald enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20c in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. Always write to him in care of The Miami Herald.

MRS. R. SAYS:

$1 Means Hope If Given to CARE

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

Mrs. FDR

NEW YORK — I should like to call to the attention of my readers the crusade that has been carried on and is still being carried on by CARE. This crusade is designed to use some of our surplus food to help feed those who are hungry in other parts of the world.

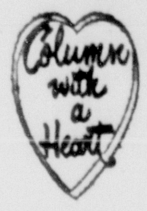
When there is a famine in some part of the world we can make a very dramatic appeal throughout our country and the response usually is most commendable.

But many of us do not realize that in many parts of the world while there is no actual famine there simply is not enough to eat, nor the right kind of food, so many people die from various causes stemming from the basic cause of malnutrition.

You can help in this crusade by contributing one dollar to the CARE organization during these winter months. That dollar will mean that CARE can send 22 pounds of life-giving food to a needy family in Europe, Asia, Latin America, or the Middle East.

Every CARE package means a message of hope and friendship from the American people to the particular family who recieves it. One hundred dollars sends a ton of food, and you can even set down your preference as to which country the food you send will go, but you cannot set down a particular individual or family.

Could My Husband Be Bored With Me?



DEAR ELEANOR HART:

My husband and I were discussing the 15-year-old marriage of friends of ours that is apparently going on the rocks.

He said, "When a fellow knows he can have steak every night, he grows tired of it and a hot dog would taste good."

Coming from my husband, this shocked me. After a few more questions, I discovered he felt this way, too.

In our three years of marriage, I have noticed his ardor has cooled, but attributed it to the fact that this happens when the stardust has worn a little thin, and you settle down to something deeper and more lasting.

He admitted quite freely that when the thrill of the chase and the unknown quality is gone, a fellow can become bored.

Why is it that when a man looks for a wife, he wants one on whom he can depend to be faithful, make a nice home, etc. Yet these same qualities bore him after a few years?

As a result of knowing how he feels, I have lost the sense of security I felt about our marriage and doubts are creeping in.

I am unhappy and don't know how to cope with it. Perhaps some of your readers, particularly men, can help me.

DEPRESSED WIFE

How long do you think a fellow, who's accustomed to steak, will settle for hot dogs? Don't let another's change of menu give you indigestion!

Every man, or woman, seeks and expects different fulfillments from marriage. But if he develops security within himself, he is not so apt to lose it in someone else.

You may be interested in attending the next session of Miami High School Evening Center's "Marriage Is for Two" class, where both men and women discuss questions like yours.

The class is open to all adults and is held every Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Miami High. Laura H. Ross, family and marriage counselor, is the instructor, and registration is still open.

WAITING AND PRAYING (Stuart): For your granddaughter's sake, get in touch with Dr. Andrew G. Mathis, director of the Indian River Mental Health Clinic, 1002 Avenue C, Fort Pierce, immediately. This is a brand new clinic and the nearest source of professional counseling help for you that I know of.

Write him the story you told me, with a request for personal consultation, and don't delay. This is urgent.

If anything happens that you can't make an appointment with the clinic, please let me know.

'Some Parents Teach Hate'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

My problem is that I am not prejudiced and I am beginning to think I am in the minority.

The worst part is that some parents actually teach their children to hate others.

What do you do when you hear those closest to you make derogatory remarks about another race or religion?

Do you just remain quiet, or do you state your feelings about these derisive comments?

HOPEFULLY WONDERING

You may not be able to change a person's attitude, but never be afraid to let him know how you feel.

Once he gets the word, he'll be more apt to save his choice remarks for birds of a feather.

ANGEL: P. T. is thinking only of himself, and that's not love. When you really love someone, you put the other person's well being FIRST. Yes, giving him up is best—for you.

And when you love again, as you will, remember the importance of giving your love to someone who can return it.

As for A. C., you can't make a person be your friend if she doesn't want to, but if you have within yourself warmth and affection to give, there are always others who need it and will respond.

Confide in your foster mother. A woman who has the capacity to take three children into her home has the capacity to help them. That's what parents are for.

Eleanor Hart.

Column With a Heart welcomes discussion of your problems, and your replies to the problems of others. Write to Eleanor Hart, The Miami Herald, Miami, Fla.

Big-Name Band Will Play for Benefit Ball

By HELEN WELLS
Herald Society Editor

Naturally her sense of the dramatic came to the fore when Marianne Reynolds, that dymatic red head and former lovely of the stage, introduced Dr. Jean Perdue, a v.p. of the Heart Association, at a luncheon for same.

Marianne Reynolds

It was Dr. Jean's birthday and the happy birthday song was sung for her. But the big announcement that Marianne made was that Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians would play at the Heart Ball of which she is chairman on Feb. 22 at the Fontainebleau Hotel.

The occasion was a luncheon at Marianne's new home in Bay Point on Monday to inject her 35 member committee with her won enthusiasm. She didn't fail.

A switch on women's luncheons was the presence of a number of men . . . nice, eh? These included Ira Mogul, treasurer of the Heart Association, tall, dark and handsome; Jim Blozie, executive director of the H.A.; James T. Marks, door prize chairman; Larry Haugen there with Ann Van Seiver, chairman of patrons; Ben Olsen and Jack Butler, just there.

Freda (Mrs. Robert) Taylor, secretary for the Heart Ball, had been working like mad since early morn at Mariannes house. And to such good results, the luncheon was not only beautiful to the eye but delicious to the palate.

Two of University of Miami's honorary degree recipients, Nancy, (Mrs. Robert) Greene, and Claire (Mrs. Sydney) Weintraub were being congratulated. Their degrees will be conferred today at the UM graduation exercises.

Down from Hollywood Beach was Ben Tobin's bride, pretty Iris Tobin whose aquamarine eyes and blonde hair are something to see. Ben is owner of the Hollywood Beach Hotel.

Late Date for a Housewarming

Hilarious invitation from Gladys Wilson says, "A soft drink turneth away friends . . ." Glad is having a cocktail party on Feb. 19th at Coral Gables Country Club.

Jack Johnson is giving a cocktail and dinner party on Feb. 12 for Pola Negri. His guests will meet at Phoebe Morse's home on N. Bay Road for cocktails and adjourn to Post and Paddock for dinner. Jack is the son of Jane Fisher, who incidentally, is now a red gold blonde with bangs yet! And vastly becoming, too.

For the German Ambassador

Adding to the international flavor of Miami life this week are the German Ambassador to the U.S., Dr. Wilhelm Grewe and Mrs. Grewe. Dr. Grewe speaks tonight to the Committee of 100.

Miami's German consul Claire Mendel and his wife Nancy have invited several guests to the Surf Club to honor the Grewes at a luncheon today. Dr. Heinz Droge, who is traveling with the German diplomat, and Dr. Karl Schoenbach, German consul in Atlanta, will be among his fellow-country men.

Also on the guest list are Argentine Ambassador Dr. Cesar Borros Hurtado and his first secretary Rafael Oliveira Cezar, wife of the former U.S. Ambassador to Cuba Mrs. Robert Butler, and Mr. and Mrs. Jorge Carnicero of Washington, D.C.

Big Role for Irene Patti

Although she had only a few lines to sing in her role of Countess Ceprano in the opening performance of Rigoletto Irene Patti (Mrs. Boyce) Swartz was thrilled with her costume.

Irene Patti

It was silver metallic cloth entirely covered with sequins, the kind of gown every woman dreams of wearing but doesn't dare.

But what is really leaving Irene Swartz breathless is her role in next year's season.

She will sing the choice role of Micaela in Carmen, the female part second only to the lead, which will be sung by the Met's Rise Stevens.

'Flying Tiger' Is Guest

Distinguished guest at an informal get-together in connection with the inauguration of the new Miami International airport Sunday at the Everglades Hotel was Maj. Gen. John W. Persons.

The General is commander of the famous 14th Flying Tiger Air Force. Representatives from Cape Canaveral also were present and other army and navy brass.

NO he hasn't joined the Army, Marines or the Air Force. Just the same Mary Jane Sertel is now introducing Lino as Col. Sertel! Lino has been appointed a genuine Kentucky Colonel, an honor not as easily come by now, as it once was.

Natural Styles Everywhere

By BEVERLEY WILSON
Herald Fashion Editor

It's news in Paris. It's news in Miami. The back to nature movement is complete.

Everybody — from Yves Saint Laurent and Balmain to Miami's own top designers — endorses putting your waistline, your hemline, your bosomline where nature originally had them.

That's in your dress silhouette. For your sportswear, the dictum is less rigid. Your blouse can still be as free-form as you like — all the way from the easy overblouse to a billowing poncho.

Several trends turning up in Miami designers' collections for spring and summer are illustrated here.

They include the big, polka-dotted collar on an otherwise simply tailored silk shantung dress. And the brief cropped jacket of blended angora over the cotton print dress.

Here's Ravioli Recipe for German Cook

By JEAN WARDLOW
Herald Staff Writer

Here's an authentic Italian recipe for the "German Housewife" who has a new ravioli machine, but no ravioli recipe.

READERS' EXCHANGE

Two Pompano Beach residents also have recipes for her.

Thought you readers might like to know about this one. It's from Mrs. H. M. of Bay Harbor Island, who's a frequent prize winner in The Herald's recipe Contests.

RAVIOLI DOUGH

Onto a wooden board sift 1½ cups flour. Drop 2 egg yolks into a well in its center and add a pinch of salt and enough lukewarm water to make a stiff dough.

Knead it thoroughly until smooth and slightly elastic. Cover and let stand for about 10 minutes. Roll out dough as thin as possible and divide into two equal sheets.

Teaspoon by teaspoon, place small amounts of ravioli filling 2 inches apart on one of the sheets. Cover with other dough sheet, moisten edges and press sheets together around each mound of filling. With a pastry wheel cut out the ravioli in uniform sizes by running the wheel between the mounds.

Drop the ravioli into simmering, not violently boiling, chicken broth or lightly salted water and for 10 minutes until tender.

Serve with grated cheese and a sauceboat of tomato sauce.

Mrs. H. M. offer a choice of three fillings.

RAVIOLI FILLING

Grind in the meat chopper, using the finest blade, 2 cups cooked white poultry meat. Add 4 egg yolks and ½ cup cream sauce. Season to taste with salt, pepper and nutmeg, then mix in 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese.

RAVIOLI FILLING 2

New Lotion for Babies Is Good for Adults

If it's good enough baby, then you know it's good enough for you!

Shopping
FR 9-3826

A new baby skin care product with adult cosmetic benefits combines the soothing properties of a lotion with the protection of a cream.

Delicate skins, whether days old or years old, will thrive on it.

The delicately scented pink lotion, in a white plastic squeeze bottle, is gently antiseptic to baby skin infections, such as diaper rash and irritations in susceptible skin fold areas. It also is kind to mother's hands and the fine-skinned complexion that needs protective covering before applying make-up.

The product's name is a famous one in the baby-care field. Ask for it at your nearest drugstore.

To learn the trade name, call Herald Shopping Service after 9:30 a.m. today. After 24 hours, write for information to Shopping Service enclosing stamped, addressed envelope.

Would Pinch Shore-to-Shore Width at Cocoa

Fight Rages Over River Filling

By STEPHEN TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

COCOA — Taking a leaf from Miami — where an aroused public finally stopped private filling in Biscayne Bay — a militant group here is battling a proposed gigantic fill in the Banana river.

TRUMBULL

The fill, which would pinch the big river to less than half its present shore-to-shore width of Cocoa Beach, was approved by the county commission Dec. 18. It still must be passed upon by the State Internal Improvement Board (the Cabinet) — which is where the protesting group hopes to stop it.

Charges that a "closed door" session of the commission preceeded their approval preface the petition of protest, which some 2,500 persons here have signed.

S. Gary Bennett, mayor of Cocoa, who, as a private citizen, heads up the protesting Brevard Bulkhead committee, has other views.

He said these will be thoroughly aired at 8 p.m. Thursday when his group will hold a public protest meeting in the old city hall at Cocoa.

Commissioner Parrish said: "This (the approved bulkhead line) is not typical of what will be done in the remainder of Brevard County."

Said Bennett: "That's a lot of stuff. If this project, sticking 6,020 feet out in the river and covering 3,200 acres, is allowed to go through — how can they say 'no' to others who want to come out that same distance?

"You people in Miami saw that happen, until the public was sufficiently aroused to stop it. Over in Pinellas county (St. Petersburg) they didn't get aroused fast enough and their once-beautiful Boca Ceiga bay is ruined."

Al Trafford, head of the Trafford Realty company, sales agency for Cocoa Isles, staunchly defended the project.

"Unless we fill some of these mangrove river swamps — which will also be of great aid to mosquito control — we are out of waterfront property for residents of average means. These islands have been privately owned for many years, and unless they can be bulkheaded and fills they are useless."

Bennett's committee, which includes the nationally known wild life photographer, Allen D. Cruikshank, base much of their opposition on the effects of the fill on wildlife.

"There is also the scenic value of the river. It is to us what Biscayne Bay is to Miami. It's our front door, and we don't want it filled up."

Cruikshank pointed out that the big and protected bird colony on Big Island is in the path of the proposed development.

Collins' New Plan For Printing Hit

BOCA RATON — Placing of all state printing contracts under a central purchasing system will "open the door" for price cutting and elimination of competition "by large out-of-state firms," commercial printers of Florida believe.

The Printing Industries of Florida, trade organization holding its annual meeting here, Monday wired Gov. LeRoy Collins, asking the present printing award system be retained.

At a news conference Friday the governor said he intended to ask the Legislature to make the change. There have been complaints two or three Tallahassee concerns get the bulk of the state's business and that state agencies "discriminate" against printing firms not located in the capital city.

The wire, signed by Charles G. McMullan, president of the state printing organization, contended central purchasing would, in the long run, "increase the state's printing bill."

Withers Killed for Murders

RAIFORD — Dallas E. Withers, 35, of Panama City, died calmly in the state prison electric chair Monday for the murder of two children. Withers' defense at his trial had been that he "was drunk and unaccountable" for his actions.

He was convicted of tossing Douglas Wilson, four, and David Wilson, seven, brothers, from his motorboat and leaving them to drown. Withers had taken the two children for a boat ride and threw them overboard after sexually abusing the older boy.

Driver Dies in River Plunge

BOCA RATON — At least one person drowned, and officers are searching for the bodies of possible additional victims, when an auto crashed through a bridge rail here Monday.

The body of William Phillips, 42, Delray Beach Negro, was recovered. The car swerved through the railing of the Boca Raton Inlet bridge early Monday, plunging into 20 feet of water, swept by a swift tide current.

Carter Flunks Driver's Test

The reexamination was ordered after Carter was involved in a collision Dec. 17. He paid a $25 fine in Tallahassee for failure to yield the right-of-way. Carter was given a 10-day temporary permit so he can practice for another try.

Polish Legion Picks Officers

New officers of the Col. Francis S. Grabeski Post 158, Polish Legion of American Veterans, named in honor of the World War II flying ace, have been installed.

Townsend Sues For One Franc

The newspaper published last November a long article on Townsend's courtship of the British princess and his life since then.

Schools Plan History Month

Principals of Dade County public schools are cooperating in the observance of February as "American History Month," designated as such by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Special programs are being planned at schools at the request of the Tequesta chapter of the DAR, Miami Shores. The public also is invited to participate.

There are 11 DAR chapters in Greater Miami with a membership of more than 800.

Retiring Judge Greets New One

Dade Civil Court of Record became a five-judge court Monday at installation ceremonies of Leland B. Featherstone, Gov. LeRoy Collins' appointee to fill the vacancy of retiring Judge David J. Heffernan.

Judge Heffernan, who introduced the new judge to a crowded courtroom, advised Featherstone to wrap his temper, if he has one, in a "nice cute package, put it in your hip pocket and sit on it."

Tip Sheet Files Suit

Thomas Kelly Sr., and George Kelly — no kin of Sheriff Thomas Kelly Jr., — filed a Circuit Court suit Monday to classify their racehorse tip sheet as a newspaper.

The suit, filed against Dade Tax Collector Earnest Overstreet and State Comptroller Ray E. Green, says the officials want a $1,000 license tax fee from their "Illinois Sports News."

Their sheet, they say, carries racetrack news items along with the selections and therefore is a "little newspaper."

Coral Gables Commisioner Hits Metro 'Duplication'

Coral Gables City Commissioner John Montgomery accused Metro Monday of "costly duplication" in reappraising Gables property for taxation purposes.

In a letter to County Manager O. W. Campbell, Montgomery invited 23 Metro tax appraisal crewmen, now reassessing throughout the county, to make use of tax records in the Gables City Hall for "all the information you may require."

Campbell replied: "The (Metro) charter explicitly directs us to conduct this countywide reassessment and we have invited the tax assessors of all the cities to cooperate. But I don't think anyone would expect us to accept what is handed to us without question."

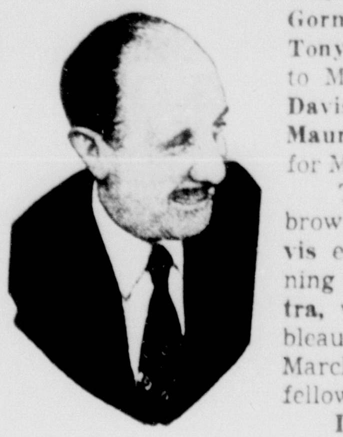
Nightlife with George Bourke

Eartha Kitt, Lewis, Martin to Make Eden Roc Glitter

Amusements



HARRY MUFSON waited a long time to fill his Cafe Pompeii season hand but it should be a winning one. Eartha Kitt opens there on Feb. 6 with Rowan and Martin a pair of Walter Winchell favorities; Joe E. Lewis will move in on Feb. 11 with Edie Gorme for a two week stand; Tony Martin is down for a Feb. 25 to March 3 run-delay; Sammy Davis, Jr., opens March 4, and Maurice Chavalier is scheduled for March 20 through the 26.

There will be a lot of eyebrow lifting over the Sammy Davis engagement. He will be running in opposition to Frank Sinatra, who opens at the Fontainebleau Hotel La Ronde Room on March 3. Up to now they were fellow scamps!

Irv Tunick has taken off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and is working on the scripts for two NBC TV shows during a vacation at the Diplomat. Tunick wrote the teleplay for "The Dead Sea Scrolls" . . . Boxer Vince Martinez, at the Aristocrat Dubonnet Lounge, revealing that he's a landowner aristocrat himself — he owns the Harding Court Apartments.

They Play 12 Instruments

THE VO-CALIANS, for years a popular feature at the MacFadden-Deauville Hotel, are on Easy Street now. At least they are currently at the Easy Street Lounge of the Florida Shores Hotel. The trio — Eddie Paisley, Frank Wantuck and Bill Maggo — play a total of 12 instruments! . . . Diplomat Cafe Cristal maitre de Domenic and his wife, Bunny, expect a stork dividend in April.

Eddie Lieberman, the expert on Indian affairs who was "bumped" off the $64,000 TV Challenge quiz when it was cancelled, is now employed as a designer for Donald S. Lavigne here in Miami. Writing of "Tonka," Eddie says that it is a "better attempt at depicting the Custer battle than some of the previous ones." "Tonka" sort of debunks the legend of a heroic Gen. George Custer.

Harry Mufson
. . . winners

Frank Wantuck
. . . versatile

Nancy Greene
. . . 13th

He is pictured as vain and wrong in his military decisions. Eddie, who has read the report of the Reno trials and other data on the fight at Little Big Horn concludes that "Custer's luck held out even in death. If he had survived there is no doubt that he would have been court-martialed and shot."

Hackett, Krupa, Teagarden Shift

GEORGE ADE once said: "Every man thinks he could do three things — write a play, edit a newspaper and run a hotel." Gosh! Wonder if WE could run a hotel! . . . Porky's Hideaway seems to be alternating with Rocking MB Lounge in using those jazz stars — Dizzy Gillespie, Cozy Cole and Earl Bostic. Dizzy gave way at Rocking MB to follow Cozy into the Hideway — and Cozy takes over at Rocking MB . . . Bobby Hackett goes from Miami Springs Villas to Monte Cristo in Fort Lauderdale on Saturday and Gene Krupa, who was at Porky's will be at Miami Springs Villas Friday and at Monte Cristo on Feb. 24. Jack Teagarden, due at Miami Springs Villas Feb. 27 will warm up at Porky's Feb. 16.

The mink and honeys will pour into La Bastille like wine tonight. It's the night for the 13th annual Polio Ball and Mrs. Robert (Nancy) Greene hasn't lessened in her efforts to make it better than last year's $30,000 profit attained for polio research just because progress has been made in conquering infantile paralysis. It is our guess that it will be one of the best-dressed affairs of the year.

Shawn-Robin-Van Bill Clicks

IT ISN'T just diplomatic courtesy which prompts us to state that the current Dick Shawn-Bobby Van-Tina Robin bill at the Diplomat Cafe Cristal is one that presents an ideal Triple Entente which received much more than a mere vote of confidence from its opening night audience. From Tina's opening rhythmic tinnabulations to Shawn's satirical savvy (you should pardon our chauvinism but he is a local boy who made good), there isn't a moment that is dull.

Shawn is probably better known in our smallest hamlet (Misery Gore, Maine?) than he is at the University of Miami, but it was from that seat of education that he embarked on his trip to stardom in almost every show medium. You must remember him for his blistering but highly humorous take-off at the Rock Age and his trademark "Massa Richard" teaser bit. Something new has been added too—a satirical bit in which Dick deplores the way exposure has become the order of the day in Las Vegas' shows.

Miss Robin is a thrush of great vocal vigor. A pretty good stylist on her own, she is more the performer than straight song stylist here, hitting the peak of her crowd pleasing with excellent impressions of the styles of Kay Starr, Roberta Sherwood and Teresa Brewer. On her own, a nice styling of "Melancholy Baby" and "I've Got a Crush on You" were superb.

Film star Bobby Van, of "Kiss Me Kate" and other MGM musicals holds over in a delightful bit of hoofing and spoofing.

Ekberg, Gypsy Rose in 'Mimi'-drama

Stark Murder Invades Strip Joint

Movie Review

"The Screaming Mimi," at the Town Theater, is one of those murder melodramas wherein columnists are meeting the most interesting people and having a heck of a time freeloading and visiting show-girls in dressing rooms from beginning to end. You wonder when they settle down to write a column.

This version stars Phil Carey, on a bill co-featuring "The Last Blitzkreig," a tight little tale of a World War II incident which was reviewed here last week when it opened at the Lincoln Theater. Together they make a fair two hours of entertainment.

Situation in "The Screaming Mimi" concerns a lass of questionable mentality who is being befriended by a psychologist.

His intentions are open to suspicion — especially when his charge, who has been installed as a dancer in Gypsy Rose Lee's strip joint, is found stabbed under circumstances which indicate the attack was made by a "ripper" who had been more successful in an earlier case.

Phil runs down the killer although he isn't particularly happy about it. An effort is made to make you suspicious of Phil—but nobody is going to fall for the line so we aren't violating any rules in tipping you off to keep an eye on the butler or anybody else—but scrub Carey.

Red Norvo and Miss Lee do specialty numbers, with Anita Ekberg, who is the slashing "victim" also attempting a go at Miss Lee's specialty.

Story has more loopholes than a cheese but then this IS supposed to be a mystery.

Why Faulkner Quit Job as Postal Clerk

William Faulkner . . . 'damned'

Edie Adams . . . 'knew'

Carl Sandburg . . . sneezed

ONE of Edie Adams and Ernie Kovacs are blessed-eventing . . . Miss Adams' romantic conquest, ironically, was the consequence of a defeat. Although she lost a "Talent Scouts" show her performance impressed the star of a Philly tv program. So Ernie Kovacs gave her a job. It wasn't long before they were enslaved by that many-splendored thing. Strangely, she fell in love with a comic because he isn't funny — offstage. As Mrs. Kovacs explains: "I expected him to be a typically Broadway comedian who is knocking himself out to be a wiseguy all the time. But he was different. Away from work he was gentle and intelligent and sweet. I knew he was for me." (Looonngg sighh.)

WILLIAM FAULKNER, whose "Requiem for a Nun" opened on Broadway Friday, is one of the more distinguished alphabet-scramblers, of course. The Nobel Prize-winning author launched his career by toiling as a postoffice clerk. When he renounced the job, he gave evidence of his gift for words. He wrote to the Postmaster-General: "As long as I live under the capitalistic system I expect to have my life influenced by the demands of moneyed people. But I will be damned if I propose to be at the beck and call of every itinerant scoundrel who has a few cents to invest in a postage stamp. This, sir, is my resignation."

PLAYWRIGHTING is an arduous chore — full of pleasure and anguish, hope and despair. There is no formula for creating clicks . . . Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse, whose latest effort is "Tall Story," have produced many hits. Their top mint was "Life With Father." They talked about it for two years without writing a line of dialogue. When they finally planted themselves at their typewriters — they dialogued it in 17 days.

* * *

CECIL B. DeMILLE once wrote this definition of a good trouper: "Another word for a good trouper is dedication. And that word, I think, is the secret of anyone who succeeds at anything. Most of us serve our ideals by fits and starts. The person who makes a success of living is the one who sees the goal steadily and aims for it unswervingly. That is dedication."

What makes a man a poet? Carl Sandburg, who just celebrated his 81st birthday, was a milk-wagon driver, a wheat harvester, a dishwasher, a coal-shoveler, a soldier, a hobo and a goat farmer. Nevertheless, he became an outstanding historian-biographer and one of the nation's leading poets. When asked to explain why poets write, Sandburg told the story of a boy in church who exploded into a sneeze at a peculiarly inappropriate moment. After the service his mother chided him. The boy's defense was perfect: "But I didn't sneeze, the sneeze sneezed me."

CAST OF CHARACTERS: Baron Lavalle, a clever magician at the Den-in-the-Duane. He's 32. Does it for kicks. His real name is Lawrence Jones, a lawyer and judge from Louisville . . . Van Alexander, composer of the music for "The Last Mile" movie. He wrote Ella's famed "Tisket, A Tasket." Made 30Gs with that hit . . . Jody Cameron, who wrote the recording hit "Falling Star," is the record librarian at a local radio station . . . That lady at L'Aiglon who smokes her ciggies thru a 2-foot-long gold holder is Barbara Bedford, Standard Oil heiress . . . Al Cooper, who came out of the Army with a Purple Heart and no money, is now one of the town's richest restaurateurs . . . New singing team who call themselves The Short Twins . . . They're 6Ft3.

"PEYTON PLACE" (the paperback edition) has sold over eight million copies . . . When "Whoop Up" departs Feb. 7 the backers will have lost $350,000 . . . At the Friars' cocktail party ex-quizmaster Jack (21) Barry introduced himself: "Remember me? I used to be on television" . . . Overheard at the Knocker's Table in Lindy's: "Well, Mikoyan's gone home, the Cuban War is over and Marie Torre's out of jail. Let's get back to Eddie and Liz!"

Singer to Do Benefit in Caracas

Nat Cole to Be Fine Envoy Of Good Will to Latins

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Nat Cole
. . . good will envoy

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Nat King Cole will make a fine good will ambassador to the Latin American countries when he leaves late in March on his first concert tour of South America. He has a host of fans there who buy his records.

One of the highlights of his tour will be a benefit show in Caracas, put on with the joint blessing of our State Department and the Venezuelan government.

In anticipation of the tour both Nat and Maria are brushing up on their Spanish. Nat's "Cole Espanol" album is a hit

CLINT WALKER is tall in the saddle again, not only in his old "Cheyenne" TV series, but he's been cast by the boss himself, Jack L. Warner, for the starring role in "Yellowstone Kelly."

As soon as the snow melts in Yellowstone Park, Clint, director Gordon Douglas and writer Burt Kennedy take off for the Wyoming location.

SURPRISING and unexpected was Charles Schnee's resignation from Columbia Studio. Schnee won the Academy Award for writing "The Bad and the Beautiful," and he has such properties as "Let No Man Write My Epitaph," "The Image Makers," and "The Tiger Among Us."

I asked him why he left Columbia when Kim Novak was set for "The Image Makers" with Richard Quine directing. He told me the basic reason is that he is a writer and would much rather write than produce motion pictures.

JOHN IRELAND will have to leave his changing romances long enough to check into "Spartacus" with Kirk Douglas, Laurence Olivier, Tony Curtis and John Gavin.

Ireland was ready to take off for the musical, "Destry," in New York, but when he had the chance to get into "Spartacus," he bowed out of the stage play.

SNAPSHOTS—There will be three in the Peter Ustinov family in March. Mrs. Ustinov, the former Suzanne Clouthier, has another date with the stork.

The seven-acre estate in Chatsworth which Lionel Barrymore bequeathed to his housekeeper, is being put up for sale because she feels the place is too big for her.

'Grounding' Chassis Taboo for Airmen

By JOY WINANS
Herald Correspondent

Lowdown cars have no place on Homestead Air Force Base, base officials have decided.

In a move to stop airmen from customizing their cars to a point past safety, officials announced new rules:

1. Customized cars without adequate street clearance will not get inspection stickers from the base.

2. No more car customizing will be allowed at the base automotive hobby shop.

3. The "low-chassised" cars will not be permitted on the base.

"When we measured one car," said Master Sgt. A. H. Ford of the ground safety office, "we could barely get a pack of cigarets between the car and the pavement."

He said a car chassis should be at least as far from the pavement as the tire rim.

"The boys forget the engineers who designed the cars knew what they were doing," said Ford. "When they lower the chassis they throw the center of gravity off and that's hazardous."

Education Topic

"The Moral Values of School Education" will be discussed by Mrs. Anna Brenner Meyers before the Miami Ethical Society at 11 a.m. Sunday at the University of Miami Koubek Center, 2705 SW Third St. Mrs. Meyers is a member of the Dade County School Board.

This Thief Is 'Honest'

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — (AP) — Hasim Fejza sold his farm for $2,600 to raise cash for a house in town. He hid the money in a box and someone promptly stole it.

About a month later Fejza received a neatly-packaged parcel addressed to him. It contained $2,275 and a note saying:

"I am returning the change from the stolen money. When I stole it I did not know how much money there was. I have spent as much as I really needed. I am herewith honestly returning the rest."

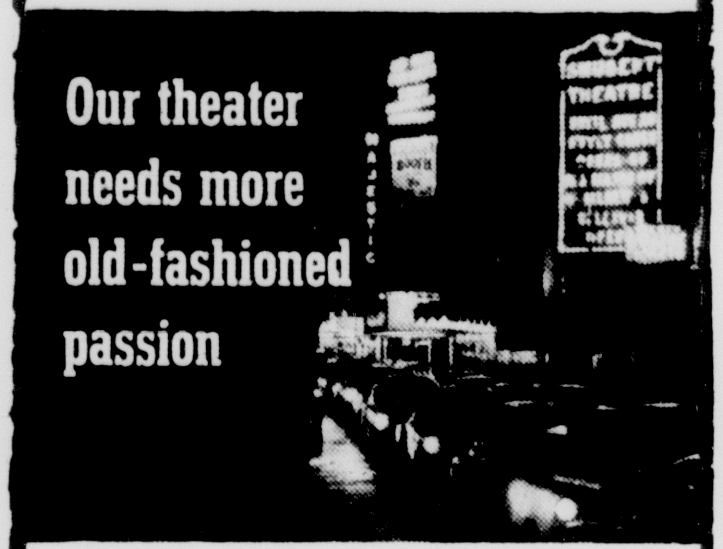
Will the stock market keep going up?

What's behind today's stock market turmoil? Read the inside story!

Today more Americans (9,000,000) than ever before are investing millions in stocks and bonds. In this week's Saturday Evening Post you'll learn why some experts say this shows faith in the future . . . others say it shows fear. And from the old pros themselves you'll learn:

- how to investigate a stock before you buy it.
- which stocks do best during inflation . . . during recession.
- how to buy stocks for less than $15 a month.
- how small investors can use the same "gimmick" that helps big investing funds.
- what's the greatest danger to avoid.

Here's priceless information you'll want to study, use and keep! Be sure to read "Behind the Stock-Market Turmoil."



Our theater needs more old-fashioned passion

In the old days they used to hiss the villain, cheer the heroine, boo the author, shout for encores. But no more! What's turned once-excited audiences into a sober, silent lot? Is it the plays? The acting? The shape of the stage? Or the audience itself? Here's distinguished critic Walter Kerr's surprising explanation of "What Ails the Theater?"

Tain't Fit fer a Groundhog: Arctic Cold Gripping North

By Herald Wire Services

CHICAGO—Groundhogs and the weather bureau agreed on one thing Monday—the nation is in the grip of one of the severest cold waves of the winter.

Shadow or no shadow, any groundhog which didn't jump back into its warm burrow after sampling the air risked a case of frostbite.

An Arctic air mass which invaded the nation during the weekend spread from the Rockies to the Atlantic. The severe cold pressed as far south as Missouri where Kirksville registered three below zero Monday.

A high-pressure weather pattern responsible for the bitter cold in the East also brought clear skies throughout much of the area. This permitted venturesome groundhogs to see their shadows. Based on legend, though not the science of weather forecasting, it foreshadows six more weeks of winter weather.

The arctic air, which dropped temeraptures to 40 below zero in Minnesota over the weekend, spread eastward and headed slowly into the southland.

Sub-zero temperatures were general north of an imaginary line from the Missouri-Iowa border to the Central Appalachians and into Connecticut.

The cold air advance touched off a band of snow and freezing drizzle in the southern plains through western Oklahoma and most of Texas. Roads were open in the storm area, but extremely hazardous.

The weather bureau issued a special warning of freezing weather and hazardous road conditions across a six-state area.

The advisory warned of freezing rain or snow in parts of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

The band of freezing rain, the advisory said, stretches as far east as Alabama and the weather bureau said this glaze would result in hazardous driving conditions.

The freezing precipitation already deep into Texas, with the state highway department reporting varying amounts of ice stretching from El Paso in the far west, down the Rio Grande, east to the central Texas area around Austin and Waco, and then into east Texas.

As Would-Be Assassin

Cuban Police Hold Coral Gables Pilot

A Coral Gables pilot has been held in Cuba since the day after Christmas on suspicion of trying to assassinate Fidel Castro for $10,000, Havana police reported Monday.

But Alan Robert Nye, who gave his address as 107 Calabria Ave., Coral Gables, told newsmen he came to Cuba to aid the rebels and to bomb planes of the Batista government in its final days before Castro's revolution succeeded.

The telephone at Nye's address was no longer working Monday and the American Airmotive Corp. at Miami International Airport reported that Nye stopped working as a pilot-salesman for the cargo-flying firm on Oct. 1, 1958.

Lt. Manuel Carbonelli of the police told newsmen in Havana that Nye, a former Navy pilot, was being held in Havana on suspicion that he tried to infiltrate rebel forces to kill Castro. Carbonelli said Nye was jailed Dec. 26 pending an investigation.

Police said Nye was arrested walking along a road near Santa Rita in the Bayamo sector of Oriente Province a few days before the Batista regime collapsed on New Year's Day.

Nye said he was unarmed when he was seized, but police said they believed he had hidden a rifle with a telescopic sight and a pistol after landing in a plane.

Castro's police suspect Nye of trying to kill their leader for a $10,000 fee, but did not say who offered the money to Nye.

Nye denied all of the suspicions to newsmen.

He said that since leaving the Navy and becoming a reservist in 1954 he had worked for the Douglas Aircraft Co. at Patuxent River, Md., and for an Agricultural Air Service spraying outfit in Florida. He was listed in a 1958 Miami suburban directory as an employe of American Airmotive.

Nye said that so far he had refused to see any representative of the U.S. Embassy in Havana, and the consulate in Havana said it had not investigated Nye's arrest.

Liberal Unit Gains in Luxembourg

LUXEMBOURG —(AP)— The leading Social Christian Party apparently lost five seats to the Conservative Liberal Party in Luxembourg's parliamentary elections.

Final unofficial figures for the 52-seat Parliament gave the Liberals 11 seats, against six in the 1954 election. The Social Christians went down from 26 to 21 seats. Unchanged were the Socialists with 17 seats and the Communists with three.

The results still leave the Social Christians and the Socialists, who formed the last government, the strongest parties in the grand duchy.

About 180,000 Luxembourgers went to the polls. Voting is compulsory here.

Pianist May Give Concert in March

Tired of 'Being Hugged,' Cliburn Skips Date Here

By DORIS RENO
Herald Music Critic

Piano virtuoso Van Cliburn is "so tuckered out with being hugged, kissed and cocktail-partied clear across the U. S." that he canceled two South Florida dates Monday.

Charles H. Crandon, whose Miami Civic Music Association was to have presented the young pianist in recital Thursday evening, said Cliburn "suddenly canceled his entire February tour."

Cliburn is the 24-year-old Texan who shot to world prominence last April when he won the big Tchaikovsky prize in Moscow.

"I'm not mad at him," said Crandon, who's exhausted himself with telling Miamians over the phone of the cancellation.

Crandon said Cliburn probably will fulfill his contract here the week of March 29.

To Avoid Florida 'Mixing'

State Would Pay Tuition

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Attorney General Richard W. Ervin and State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey Monday reached agreement on a "parent option tuition school plan" they said would offer every parent an opportunity for escape from forced integration.

In a joint statement, these two high ranking state cabinet officers said that in their opinion the plan seemed to be the least imperfect of any legal proposal advanced to date to prevent forced race mixing in the classrooms.

The plan, in brief, authorizes parents of children faced with forced integration to withdraw them from the public schools. It authorizes payment of tuition grants amounting to the child's share of state and county school operating funds to allow the parents to send their child to non-sectarian private schools.

The amount of the grant will vary from county to county. The average for the state now would be about $240 a year.

To clear the way legally for operation of such a plan, the state officials said the 1959 Legislature would be asked to write an addition to the state constitution authorizing the tuition subsidies and to enact a law authorizing payment of these subsidies to the parents.

Bailey and Ervin said the plan they have agreed upon can be financed with existing school revenues.

While acknowledging that the plan is imperfect, the two state officials said that it had these important consideration:

1 — Florida's system of free public schools will be retained.

2 — No parent would be forced, against his will, to send his child to an integrated school.

3 — The fundamental American concept of the separation of church and state would be retained.

4 — School people would be protected in their contractual and retirement rights.

Agreement of these two cabinet officers on details of the parent option tuition plan is significant since it brings together the state's No. 1 legal officers and the state's No. 1 school officer.

In past legislature sessions Ervin and Bailey were on opposite sides of the fence of the "last resort" private school law and some other proposals designed to preserve segregation, although they were agreed on the need for preserving public schools.

Gov. LeRoy Collins has kept mum on the parent option tuition plan while awaiting word on recommendations of his race relations committee on the subject. However, Collins told reporters he would oppose any constitutional change which would alter the basic guarantee of a uniform system of free public schools.

Earlier, Ervin had suggested that the word "uniform" be stricken from the present constitutional requirement for a uniform system of public free schools.

However, on reconsideration, he said he had decided to leave the word in with this phrase added to the present constitution:

"Provided it (the Ligislature) may alternately provide assistance to any of the state's inhabitants for their education by such other reasonable means, including education in private schools and institutions, as it may determine to be in the best interest of the state."

Virginia Schools Are Integrated Without a Stir

—Associated Press Wirephoto

Alvarez Gonsouland Fills Out Forms in Norfolk

. . . his white classmates appear unconcerned

No Pickets, No Crowds No Violence

NORFOLK, Va. — (UPI) — Twenty-one Negroes went to public schools with white pupils for the first time in Virginia Monday in a momentous transition to integration that went off without a single incident.

Seventeen Negro boys and girls in this bustling seaport city walked into six high and junior high schools which had been closed since last summer in the state's effort at "massive resistance" to federal court orders.

Four other Negroes entered Stratford Junior High School in Arlington, just across the Potomac River from Washington.

There were no pickets, no crowds of grownups, no violence, no shouting, no catcalls. White pupils clustered curiously around the Negroes as they were being interviewed before school, but there was not a threatening move.

This was the first major test of whether the South would accept integration in the classrooms since violence erupted in Little Rock, Ark., in September 1957. Virginia's smooth transition was in marked contrast to the explosion that led President Eisenhower to send paratroopers to the Arkansas capital.

Reports and rumors of planned trouble and demonstrations never materialized. Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, who fought down to the wire to get around a succession of federal court orders that punctured state segregation barriers, promised that no violence would be tolerated.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Montgomery, Ala., Negro leader, urged other Southern states to follow Almond's lead. He called the Virginia integration "the most significant development in the area of race relations since the 1954 Supreme Court decision was rendered."

Negro pupils here agreed there had been no incidents in class on the first day, although some animosity was shown.

"On the whole, it went pretty good," Alvarez Gounsouland, 16-year-old Negro, said.

He was asked if he made any friends.

"I think I made a friend with my homeroom teacher—at least, I hope so," he replied.

Charles Perdue, former Duke University football star who is now principal of the big Norview High School at Norfolk, went on the school's loudspeaker system at the close of the day and said:

"Continue the wonderful conduct you have shown today. Don't hang around the school. See you tomorrow."

In Norfolk, where 10,000 whites have been without public schools, city officials were highly pleased.

"I am quite proud of the people of Norfolk, the way they have faced up to this," said School Superintendent J. J. Brewbaker.

Total enrollment in the six Norfolk schools, however, was far below normal.

Maury High School, for example, which last year had more than 1,950 students, enrolled only 1,185. Blair Junior High admitted 800, compared to 1,200 last year.

Final enrollment figures for the day at Norfolk showed that 6,370 pupils attended the six affected schools compared to 9,398 in attendance last

Slim Clue To Ship Discounted

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia — (UPI) — Four planes and two ships still searched the ice-choked North Atlantic Monday for clues to the fate of 95 persons on the Danish motor vessel Hans Hedtoft which disappeared after striking an iceberg four days ago.

Moderating weather aided the search. But no trace of the bright orange vessel or its passengers and crew were immediately visible.

Faint radio signals had raised hope that at least some survivors were alive in a lifeboat or on an ice floe. But search directors said Monday there seemed little likelihood the signals were related to the Hedtoft.

Royal Canadian Air Force search and rescue officers said it was believed the signals came from an aircraft or an aircraft homing signal. They were not on a distress frequency, they said, nor on frequencies known to be available to the Hedtoft's radio or the radios in its lifeboats.

Planes criss-crossed the area off the southern tip of Greenland Monday morning under a 2,000-foot ceiling. Visibility was reported to be seven miles, obscured at times by light snow. Other planes stood by to take up the search.

She Can't See It

Color No Barrier To Karen's Study

NORFOLK, Va. —(UPI)— Karen Gearreald, a ninth grader, is one of 10,000 Norfolk teenagers for whom the end of Virginia's long fight against integration means a chance to return to school.

Karen, a 14-year-old A student, won't be able to detect a difference in her two new classmates — a Negro boy and girl — whose enrollment caused Blair Junior High to close last September.

Karen is blind.

After learning the halls, the classrooms and the stairs at Blair through two years, Karen was told in September she couldn't go back this year because two children there were a different color.

She enrolled in a tutoring class, one of many which sprang up in Norfolk, at a Methodist Church. She learned her way around the buildings, and she maintained her average.

Monday, she happily went back to her school.

"I'm overjoyed," she said. "I'm so glad things will be stable for the rest of the year. I wanted the school to be open all along."

Not even a blind girl is immune to the race problems of turbulent Dixie.

"Nobody wants integration," she said, "but if we have to make a choice between integration and public schools I'd take public schools."

More Than Ike Asked

Senate Unit Approves $2 Billion for Slums

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Senate Banking Committee Monday approved a six-year $2,100,000,000 slum clearance program.

This was considerably more than the six-year $1,350,000,000 program in this field proposed by President Eisenhower. At the same time, it was less than several Democrats on the committee wanted. The formula the committee adopted was in an omnibus housing bill by Sen. John Sparkman (D., Ala.).

The Eisenhower slum clearance, or urban renewal, program was defeated in the committee by an 8-7 vote, some of the members reported.

This program not only called for 750 million less than Sparkman's proposal, but also would eventually have cut the federal share of capital grants for the program to 50 per cent. Washington now pays two-thirds of such grants. The administration measure would have reduced this to one-half by 1963 on a graduated scale.

On the House side of the Capitol Monday the home building industry called for an increase in the allowable interest on GI home loans. It said the alternative is a billion dollars of government money to bolster the mortgage market.

Jobless Drop To Be Later

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, predicts that unemployment will not drop back to its pre-recession level until the end of this year.

Clague also predicted there would be a "substantial increase" in personal income in 1959. He said lower prices for meat, especially pork, and possibly lower prices for fruits and vegetables might hold the cost of living steady.

Addressing the convention of the Potato Chip Institute, the commissioner said, "Employment will continue to gain as business recovery proceeds but . . . unemployment will not be reduced to prosperity levels until the end of the year."

U.S. Told It Must 'Roll Up Sleeves' For Space Battle

—Associated Press Wirephoto

Glennan Shows Space Capsule Model
. . . to Rep. Overton Brooks (D., La.)

Or Watch Russia by Telescope

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The nation's civilian space chief warned Monday that Americans either must "roll up our sleeves" for a long expensive space conquest program or spend money buying telescopes to watch Russia's triumphs.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the House Space Committee that Russia is 18 months to two years ahead in developing the powerful rockets needed for exploration of deep space.

He also said under questioning that he "wouldn't put it past" the Russians to succeed in placing a man in space this year. The U.S. does not expect to put a man into an orbit around earth for about two years.

Glennan's chief assistant, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, injected a surprise note into the hearings by predicting the U.S. would need 10 to 15 years to put a man on the moon — some five years more than estimated by some experts.

Rep. James G. Fulton (R., Pa.) snapped that if the first American did not reach the moon before 10 to 15 years, "there'll be a man there saying 'nyet' when he arrives."

The House committee only last week released a series of statements by space experts predicting that with enough money and effort an American could reach the moon within a decade. The experts included Dr. Herbert York, chief scientist for the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

Glennan said he had "no hesitancy in predicting we will close the gap" in the overall race into space against Russia. But under repeated questions he declined to say when.

He said merely pouring more money into the U.S. program would not appreciably speed it up, but only give greater guarantees of success.

HURL a 10-ton space craft into orbit around the earth by 1962.

FIRE a two-ton space craft "into deep space — far beyond the moon" by the same year.

ORBIT a 75-ton space craft around the earth by 1965.

Glennan said the U.S. had the resources, the intelligence, the technical skills and certainly the necessary wealth to conquer space. What it needs, he added, was "determination — the willingness to roll up our sleeves and get the job done."

Defenses Called Adequate

Hiding Nothing, Says McElroy

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Defense Secretary Neil McElroy said Monday the defenses of the U.S. are "prepared to meet the threat it faces today."

McElroy sought to assure congressmen who have been openly suspicious that President Eisenhower's administration is dangerously cutting armed forces strength in the name of economy.

"There is nothing under the rug" in the nearly 41-billion-dollar defense budget request Eisenhower sent Congress for the armed services, McElroy told the House Armed Services Committee.

Some members of the committee have fumed over a reduction of the Army by 30,000 men under the level set by Congress last year. McElroy assured them no further significant cuts are planned.

McElroy also dealt directly with a statement last week by Committee Chairman Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), who said Eisenhower is asking Congress to surrender its control over the relative strengths of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

The secretary said a new system in the budget request of identifying funds by categories cutting across the services has "no intent or likelihood" of changing the actual method of appropriating to the separate service. Nor, he said, would it give the secretary of defense any important new authority to switch funds around.

The only purpose of the change, McElroy said, is to make the money needs of the military clearer to Congress and to the public.

He conceded that each service chief had some reservations about the amount of funds provided for his service. But McElroy said they joined in calling the budget adequate and "also included a statement they saw no important gaps in the 1960 defense program."

In a review of major defense programs and decisions, McElroy conceded that early warning and counter-weapons do not provide an absolute defense against enemy missile attack.

"We cannot expect to counter an all-out attack so completely that no hostile weapons will penetrate," he said.

But the defense secretary said any potential attacker would recognize U.S. defenses and strike-back capacity as formidable. The military's first responsibility, he said, is still "to retaliate with large weapons in case of an outbreak of general war."

McElroy said the Atlas missile, a prospect for intercontinental fighting, "is moving ahead even faster than originally expected." Some operational Atlases are expected to be in place and attended by trained personnel this summer, he told the congressmen.

The first "fully operational Polaris submarine, at sea ready to fire" its 1,500-mile range missile, is expected for the latter part of 1960, McElroy said.

Fitters Picketing At New Terminal

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

A sudden labor dispute stalled construction at Miami's new International Airport terminal Monday less than 24 hours after the fanfare of dedication ceremonies had died down.

Pickets from Local 725 of the steamfitters union began parading in front of the terminal early Monday.

Skilled workmen from other craft unions refused to cross the picket lines, thus halting construction work throughout the huge terminal.

An assistant to Port Authority Director George McSherry said that more than 100 workers were staying off the job.

"Construction at the terminal has stopped, especially at the Consumer Services Building where most of the shops are located," he reported.

He added that McSherry had scheduled a meeting late Monday with spokesmen of the unions involved.

The delay could further postpone the completion of the new terminal, already late in opening for business.

The steamfitters union ordered the picket line thrown up as the result of a jurisdictional dispute with the wlders union.

The steamfitters claim they are being deprived of work because of a new process whereby pipes are welded instead of fitted.

The process is being used at Eastern Air Lines' underground fueling system at the terminal.

Newspapers Print Again In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — Newspapers were back on the street here Monday after pressmen returned to work ending a work stoppage that left Columbus without two Sunday newspapers.

Still unresolved, however, is the contract dispute that triggered the work stoppage. Negotiations are continuing.

The Dispatch and The Citizen were unable to publish Sunday because pressmen, members of Web Pressmen's Union No. 15, did not show up for work.

A union spokesman said the men were reluctant to work without a contract, which expired Dec. 31. Negotiations began Dec. 10 for a new agreement.

The third daily newspaper, The Ohio State Journal, also was affected, but the pressmen returned to work in time for The Journal to publish its final home edition.

Asian, African Youths Meeting

CAIRO — (AP) — An Asian-African youth conference opened here Monday with greetings read from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic. Delegations from 33 Asian and African countries, some of them still colonies, are attending, and more are expected. The conference organizers said they made every effort to keep the delegations balanced on a position of "positive neutrality" between East and West.

Virginia Integrates Quietly

June. This was a decline of about 33 per cent.

Many parents kept their children home to see if any trouble developed.

Norfolk's Norview High School had been the place where trouble was mainly feared, but there was not the slightest incident. No adults appeared except parents driving their children to school and only four uniformed police officers were on hand.

Perhaps 1,000 whites were waiting for the doors to open when the first two Negroes appeared at 8:40 a.m. They were two girls, Carol Wellington and Johnnie Rouse, who had walked from their home nearby.

The white children formed a human corridor down the main walkway as the Negroes came to the front door.

A few white students told reporters they believed violence against the Negroes would still come.

June Davis, 14, sophomore, said:

"There is going to be trouble, I just know. Some of the boys are going to gang up on them. They say maybe the parents have given up, but the teenagers haven't."

Three men died in the flaming wreckage of the ice-laden transport which smashed into a hill 17 miles southeast of here late Sunday night. The plane was carrying 25 Idaho National Guardsmen and a crew of three.

There was no immediate identification of the dead. The Texas Safety Department said the bodies, all found in the plane, were burned beyond recognition. A funeral home in Comfort, Tex., where the bodies were taken, said it had been told by military officials not to give out any information.

A Turn in Fog... Dr. Eichert Dies

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

He was a brilliant heart specialist, well-to-do, and socially prominent.

But early Monday, his speeding car failed to make the trun at Old Cutler Rd. and SW 128th St., leaving him pinned upside down just two feet away from his physician's bag.

Dr. Herbert Eichert
. . . his instruments nearby

An hour later, at 3 a.m., as an ambulance rushed him toward Doctors Hospital, Dr. Herbert Eichert's heart stopped beating. The 51-year-old cardiologist became Dade County's 22nd traffic fatality for 1959.

No one can say for certain just where Dr. Eichert was going at 2 p.m. when his car sped off the fog-shrouded road and slammed into one tree, flipped over and lodged against another tree.

Metro Accident Investigator John Nelson said Dr. Eichert's answering service had no calls for him during the night. But the doctor could have received an emergency call at his Coconut Grove home.

"Sometimes he would go for a drive late at night if he couldn't sleep," said his widow, Mrs. Mary Ruth Warfield Eichert. She is in Glyndon, Md., visiting relatives since December.

There were no skid marks to indicate that Dr. Eichert tried to avoid the crash. But it appeared that the doctor was speeding, Nelson said. The speedometer of his car was frozen at 70.

"It was so foggy I couln't see 20 feet in front of me — you sort of had to creep along to stay on the road," said 17-year-old Sam Mathes, of 6391 Snapper Creek Dr., who discovered the wreck minutes after it occurred.

An autopsy showed Dr. Eichert had not been drinking and did not suffer a heart attack.

His death came just a few hours after the official opening of National Heart Month, a project of special interest to him as publicity chairman of the Greater Miami Heart Association.

He was many things: chief of staff of the National Children's Cardiac Home in Miami, chief of staff of medicine at the University of Miami, past vice president of the American College of Cardiology, former president and trustee of the Greater Miami Heart Association, member of the Scientific Assembly of the American Heart Association.

He was a diplomat of the American Board of Internal Medicine, a diplomat of the American Board of Cardiology, chief cardiologist for Mercy Hospital, a board member of the Dade County Medical Association, member of the Florida Medical Association, member of the American Medical Association, member of the Florida Heart Association, and attending cardiologist at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

He received his degree in medicine in 1932 from the University of Maryland and did post-graduate work at the Union Memorial Hospital, Johns Hopkins Hospital, and the American Hospital in Paris.

He came to Miami in 1937, married the same year and lived at 4000 Ensenada, Coconut Grove.

Well known in medical circles throughout America, he also made trips to Canada, Europe, and South America to treat patients.

He was a pilot and was co-chairman of the Florida Flying Physicians Association and a member of the Dade County Sheriff's Air Patrol.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mary Ruth, 17, in school in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y. and a brother, Dr. Arnold H. Eichert, administrator of the South Florida Mental Hospital in West Hollywood.

The family has requested that no flowers be sent but that donation be made to the National Children's Cardiac Home, 4250 W. Flagler St.

At the doctor's own request, his ashes will be scattered over Biscayne Bay after a private family funeral.

Occasional snow and flurries are likely from New York into northern New England during the next 24 hours and may appear in the northern Great Lakes region Tuesday.

The rain area across the south will represent the major departure from fair weather east of the Rockies. Forecasts include warnings of a continuing threat of freezing rain or snow through much of the west, central and northeast Texas to Arkansas, and ice storm warnings have been issued for southern Oklahoma.

Some freezing rain is likely to reach extreme northern portions of Mississippi and Alabama while a cold rain persists over the balance of the Gulf region into Georgia and northern Florida through Tuesday.

Temperatures should dip to zero or below from the West Virginia and Maryland mountains into the northeast but a warming trend through the northern plains should reach the midwest and northeast.

Intermittent snows or flurries are likely over the Rockies from Colorado southward and some freezing rain is indicated for southeast and southern border regions of New Mexico.

Printers Say Collins Plan Would Be Costly

Ask Leave State Bids Status Quo

By Herald Wire Services

BOCA RATON — Florida's printers Monday called on Gov. LeRoy Collins to reconsider his recommendation that all state printing contracts be put under a central purchasing system to save money.

The printers, meeting here, wired Collins that a central purchasing agency would drive competition out of the state and in the long run boost Florida's printing bill.

They also claimed that the state, counties and cities would lose thousands of dollars annually in taxes and wages.

Collins told his news conference last Friday he would press agin in the 1959 Legislature for an effective centralized purchasing setup to save the state money on printing and other services.

The governor also said he had ordered a study of printing purchases by agencies under his jurisdiction and would direct immediate reforms in cases of "loose, careless and improper procedures."

But Charles G. McMullen Jr., president of the Printing Industries of Florida, told Collins such a plan would open the door to big out-of-state printers "to come in and cut prices and run competition out of the printing business."

There have been complaints of a lack of competition in bidding for printing contracts for the huge Florida Development Commission. It has been charged the commission disciminates against out-of-town companies, prefering two or three Tallahassee concerns including the Rose Printing Co.

Collins said it was a policy of his administration to encourage out-of-town bids, and his office called for a complete report from the development agency.

McMullen said the some 700 Florida printing companies were able to ask low prices for their work because they have invested a great deal of money in machinery and equipment and can provide all kinds of printing within the state.

This savings is passed on the customer, he said, in this case the taxpayer.

But he added if local companies have to compete with out-of-state concerns, then they will no longer be able to make improvements, and instead of going down, the state's printing bill will go up.

"And the state, counties and cities will lose untold amounts of money in tax revenue and employes thousands upon thousands of dollars in wages," he said.

McMullen pledged the "fullest support" of his organization in the governor's investigation of state printing. He said he thought printing laws were now stricter than other state purchasing acts, and if they were changed "the public will be the loser."

. . . Brevard residents protest planned Banana River fill here

Big River Filling Job Under Fire at Cocoa

By STEPHEN TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

COCOA — Taking a leaf from Miami — where an aroused public finally stopped private filling in Biscayne Bay — a militant group here is battling a proposed gigantic fill in the Banana river.

The fill, which would pinch the big river to less than half its present shore-to-shore width off Cocoa Beach, was approved by the county commission Dec. 18. It still must be passed upon by the State Internal Improvement Board (the Cabinet) — which is where the protesting group hopes to stop it.

Charges that a "closed door" session of the commission preceeded their approval preface the petition of protest, which some 2,500 persons here have signed.

Dan Brown, Miami Herald bureau chief here, and Gene Burnett, of the Titusville Star Advocate, turned in the reports on which the "closed door" charges are based. They said that at a commission session three days before the formal approval they were asked to regard as "off the record" a then-upcoming discussion of the bulkhead line.

When they refused, they reported, three members of the commission went into the sheriff's office with W. Turner Wallis, consulting engineer retained by the county, and the door was closed.

Commissioner Bernard Parrish of Titusville, the only holdover member of the commission of that date that this reporter could reach on the day of his visit here, denied this was a "closed meeting."

"It was just a consultation with the engineer who had made a preliminary report," he said, "and we wanted to do it in a calm manner and without hysteria." He did not go into the meeting. Neither did Commission Chairman Dave Nisbet of Merritt Island.

S. Gary Bennett, mayor of Cocoa, who, as a private citizen, heads up the protesting Brevard Bulkhead committee, has other views.

He said these will be thoroughly aired at 8 p.m. Thursday when his group will hold a public protest meeting in the old city hall at Cocoa.

Commissioner Parrish said: "This (the approved bulkhead line) is not typical of what will be done in the remainder of Brevard County."

Said Bennett: "That's a lot of stuff. If this project, sticking 6,020 feet out in the river and covering 3,200 acres, is allowed to go through — how can they say 'no' to others who want to come out that same distance?

"You people in Miami saw that happen, until the public was sufficiently aroused to stop it. Over in Pinellas county (St. Petersburg) they didn't get aroused fast enough and their once-beautiful Boca Ceiga bay is ruined."

The proposed fill would cover and extend outward around the Thousand Island group. It would be some six miles long, from the Cocoa causeway to a point near the north boundary of Patrick Air Force base.

Two main developments of the area are called Cocoa Isles and Rover Isles. Plans are for elaborate waterway fingers stretching through the vast tract.

Al Trafford, head of the Trafford Realty company, sales agency for Cocoa Isles, staunchly defended the project.

"This isn't just a bunch of Johnny-Come-Latelies trying to make a fast buck," he said. "I was born here, and so was my father, and I wouldn't do anything I thought would hurt this area.

"Unless we fill some of these mangrove river swamps — which will also be of great aid to mosquito control — we are out of waterfront property for residents of average means. These islands have been privately owned for many years, and unless they can be bulkheaded and fills they are useless."

Bennett's committee, which includes the nationally known wild life photographer, Allen D. Cruikshank, base much of their opposition on the effects of the fill on wildlife.

"Fishing is still the number one attraction here, and it always will be. Any fish biologist will tell you that when they fill in all of these islands, the main breeding ground of some of our best species — both sports fish and commercial fish — will be gone. That island group is now one of the finest duck hunting and fishing grounds in America.

"There is also the scenic value of the river. It is to us what Biscayne Bay is to Miami. It's our front door, and we don't want it filled up."

Cruikshank pointed out that the big and protected bird colony on Big Island is in the path of the proposed development, and the state bird sanctuary of Hall Island is just to the north.

"There's more to be considered than the bird watchers in developing a growing county," said Commissioner Parrish.

Cocoa Beach is now finishing a sewage disposal plant on one of the outer islands in the effected group. The owners have also given that community a hospital and school site — thereby hurting the strength of their hand not at all.

Five Youths Crash After Robbery Try

CRESTVIEW — (AP) — A Highway Patrol trooper Monday nabbed four youths and a girl wanted for armed robbery, after their stolen car wrecked in a high speed chase.

The girl, Constance Hornsby, 18, of Jacksonville, was taken to a Crestview hospital for treatment of back injuries. The four youths were placed in jail to await officers from Lake City.

At Lake City, Sheriff Ralph P. Witt said the group pulled into a filing station there at 3:30 a.m. and one drew a bayonet on the attendant, John Guthrie. They were frightened off before they could loot the cash register.

State Trooper Phil Farrior got on their trail seven miles east of Crestview and pursued at high speed through Crestview.

West of Crestview the car left the highway at a curve, plunged down an embankment.

The four youths are Adrian Lee Muller, 18, a sailor based at Mayport; Danny L. Miller, 18; Larry Herbert, 22, and Henry Campbell, 29, all of Jacksonville.

Farrior said they had abandoned one stolen car at Quincy and took the one they wrecked later.

Teacher Teaching Changes Advised

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— The teaching of a teacher to teach is best accomplished after he has completed his regular four year college course, Dr. Judson C. Ward Jr. of Emory University said Monday.

Dr. Ward spoke at the opening session of a meeting of liberal arts instructors and professional educationists from Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida at Florida State University.

The 48 professors are discussing what they think is the best education for elementary and high school teachers.

Dr. Ward, vice president and dean of faculties at Emory, said he was convinced of the importance of a teacher knowing the subject he is teaching.

But, he said, "I am also convinced that knowledge of the learner and the learning process will help a teacher."

He said he felt the most fruitful time for professional education courses in methods of teaching was after a teacher actually had started teaching.

He said it was difficult to give both general and professional education to a teacher within the four years of regular college study.

Since the teacher must learn the subjects he is going to teach within four years, there is minimum opportunity for professional preparation until after graduation, he said.

Fear 4 Drowned At Boca Raton

Herald Bureau

BOCA RATON—As many as four persons may have been killed here before dawn Monday when a car crashed through the inlet bridge into 20 feet of tide-swept water.

Police do not know how many passengers the southbound automobile carried when it slammed through the railing.

The body of William Phillips, a Delray Beach Negro, was found floating in Lake Boca Raton at 8:30 a.m., about six hours after the accident.

Police Chief Hugh Brown said late Monday his men were still searching for "at least one more man and possibly a woman."

Brown's grisly prediction was based on information that Phillips did not know how to drive, and that the car had been borrowed by a man known as Spately from Delray Beach, who had not been found.

The owner of the car, Jimmy White of Delray Beach, had not been located, Brown said. Phillips, about 42, was employed as a waiter in a Delray Beach restaurant.

Brown, who has utilized dragging crews and a helicopter in an effort to find the possible victims, said the bodies "could have been carried up the waterway or out to sea. We hope to clear this up by Tuesday."

Panama City Killer Goes To Chair

RAIFORD —(UPI)— Callas E. Withers, 35, walked calmly to death at the state prison Monday for slaying two Panama City children in May, 1956.

Withers, a Panama City electrician and father of seven children, made no statement. Prison Superintendent DeWitt Sinclair said the switch of the electric chair was thrown at 8:36 a.m. and the chief medical officer, Dr. Rex. E. Ramsey, pronounced the condemned man dead at 8:40 a.m.

The convicted murderer was accompanied by the Rev. Adolph Bedsole, Baptist minister of Panama City, and the prison chaplain, the Rev. J. T. Tompkins.

Withers had been convicted of murdering four-year-old Douglas Cecil Wilson of Panama City and also was charged with killing David Wilson, the little boy's seven-year-old brother, the same day, but never tried on that count.

Withers was accused of taking the youngsters "joy riding" in his motor boat and throwing them overboard after sexually molesting the older boy. He contended he was drunk and "unaccountable" for his action.

Sheriff's Food Cost Plan Hit

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Sheriff Homer W. Brooks of Flagler County overcharged the county for feeding prisoners, Sate Auditor Bryan Willis said Monday.

However, the audit indicated the overcharges were due to errors in computing the costs.

Willis said that when the sheriff was taken off the fee system Oct. 1, 1957, and put under a regular county budget he made a flat charge of $1.25 a day per prisoner for jail feeding.

He discontinued the practice April 30, 1957, when the auditor brought to his attention that he could not lawfully estimate the costs of feeding prisoners, but must charge the county the actual cost of food.

A study of food costs for the next five months was made and showed the actual cost of jail food amounted to 86 cents a day per prisoner.

Sheriff Brooks then refunded $622 to the county, Willis said.

Common Cold Not Common This Year

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — The common cold is not so common this year.

Dr. C. L. Brumback, Palm Beach County health director, said Monday colds and influenza are way down this winter.

He gives Florida's mild weather part of the cridit.

"Unquestionably," he said "last year's severe winter increased the cases of upper respiratory diseases including pneumonia."

There have been no full-scale outbreaks of flu only "sporadic reports of cases varying in severity." He predicted it will be several years before the world witnesses another epidemic like last year's Asian flu wave.

"Many people," he said, "are now immune to Asian flu either because they had it last year or they took the flu shots."

The common cold, like the flu, is down to "pretty average" this year. Getting sufficient rest, eating a balanced diet, and avoiding exposure are the best means to combat a common cold.

As for a cure for the common cold, he holds out hope for it in the future.

"There is an awful lot or research and some vaccine has been developed which is effective to some degree. Eventually with increased knowledge of virus, we will find a cure for many cases of the common cold."

Florida's Stake in the Jet Age

Why Drive to Westchester? Fly to Miami

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

NEW YORK — "Why," asked an Eastern Air Lines vice president, "would a New Yorker spend two hours driving to a Westchester County golf course on a weekend when he could get to Miami in the same time?"

In the answer to that question lies the key to Florida's stake in the rapidly developing age of jet air travel.

And in anticipation of a growing demand for more and more space on southbound flights (and the northbound return), Eastern is planning now to handle twice its current New York-Miami passenger load by 1962.

THE BENEFIT to Miami and all of Florida in such a projection is obvious. Every new arrival at a Florida airport, whether the traveler is planning to stay for a weekend or a lifetime, means an added boost to our economy.

Where will all this increased airline business come from?

"From" tourists, businessmen, convention-goers — from the same people who ride the airlines now and many more who don't," said one EAL official here.

"We expect the passenger totals to grow almost in proportion to the increase in speed and convenience of the airliners."

For the time being, Eastern is banking on its new fleet of prop-jet Lockheed Electras —which make the Miami-New York run in a little more than three hours—to bear the brunt of the transition between the piston age and the jet age.

PURE JETS, already in service on some of National Air Lines' New York-Miami trips, will begin carrying Eastern passengers on long hauls by early next year.

And even as plans are made for broad-scale use of the 600-mile-an-hour pure jets (which will be Douglas DC-8s in Eastern's case), the plane makers are already talking of 2,000 mile-an-hour supersonic jets as passenger carriers by 1970.

Such an airliner could put a New Yorker in Miami before he hardly had time to buckle his seat belt.

"WE'RE THINKING of things like that," said Eastern Vice President William Van Dusen, "but we're primarily concerned now with the present. There's a need for a jet-speed plane that can use existing airports and we think the Electra fills it.

"It's fast (400 miles an hour) maneuverable (climbs to 10,000 feet in six minutes), and can use almost every airport in our system. It's going to be our workhorse plane in the next few years, even after the DC-8s are in service."

Eastern's officials are not waiting for business to come to them. They have a 20-man sales staff here drumming up business, much of it directed toward the busy and lucrative New York-Miami run.

To compensate for the losses suffered in the recent 38-day strike and to gear for the jet age at the same time, the airline is keeping its sales staff on the go.

"IN A WAY," said one sales representative, "we're working for Miami as well as for Eastern. Business for us means business for you."

The jet age itself is working for Miami, too.

"It's boosting Miami and all of Florida as an appealing resort area because the state is getting closer to northern cities all the time," said Van Dusen.

"From a time standpoint, Miami became as close as Atlantic City when you could make the flight in four hours. Now, the people who used to think of making a Miami trip once a year are going several times. They can afford the time because of speedy air travel."

* * *

NEW YORK businessmen, Van Dusen pointed out, can whiz down to Miami in the morning on a rush assignment and get back that night. Some of them are doing exactly that, just as many Miami businessmen do the same thing in reverse.

Convention-goers who once regarded Miami as too distant from the nation's geographical center can eliminate that factor as a consideration now.

"In every way," said one Eastern spokesman, "Miami—perhaps more than any other city—is going to be the big gainer in this age of faster air travel."

New Businesses Are Being Born At Record Pace

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

Not ever has the business birthrate in our land been as high as it is right now—a superlative confirmation that our economy is really growing again, that we're back into a major phase of expansion.

In December alone, over 16,400 new businesses were incorporated—the highest number of births ever recorded for a single month, up a fabulous 55.5 per cent over the total in the same month a year ago, up 20.6 per cent over the previous monthly peak.

SYLVIA PORTER

While Dun & Bradstreet has not yet released the figures for the first month of 1959, it's a virtual certainty that new charters substantially topped the 13,000 in January of 1958, and the total probably set a new record for the month.

* * *

What's more, the trend is nationwide, with every region, every state feeling the new upsurge in business births. Although New York is properly worrying about the pace of its business growth, the fact is that in December New York led all others in the number of new incorporations—2,770 against 1,976 a year ago.

California was second with 1,468 new babies against 974 a year ago. And in such sparsely settled states as South Dakota, Utah, Nebraska, the year-to-year percentage gains have been spectacular, running over 100 and 200 per cent.

The forces working for giantism in industry in our nation are still powerful. Through mergers, consolidations, outright purchases the big are getting bigger every year.

The forces working for business bankruptcies also are still deplorably strong. Because of inexperience, ignorance, lack of money and credit sources, business failures are running over 260 a week, and this covers only those which fail with losses to creditors. Dun & Bradstreet calculates that the total disappearing each year through voluntary liquidation, merger and bankruptcy, approaches 400,000.

But the other side of the coin—and today, this side is shiny—is the rising number of businesses coming into being. The total of individual enterprises in the United States today is estimated at above 4,200,000—a rather wondrous statistic to contemplate in this era.

This is not just a simple story about the renewed boom in business births, fascinating as it is. For behind this tale are profound implications.

FIRST, THE UP OR downtrend in business births is one of the most sensitive clues we have to where business in general is heading. This index usually turns down long before a business decline become perceptible, turns up long before a business revival is clear to the majority.

SECOND, THE FACT that hundreds of thousands of individuals do go into new businesses each year against all the known odds is a significant reflection of the broadening, basic growth of our economy.

AND THIRD AND MOST important, the healthy birthrate testifies to the fact that the American dream of owning your own business, of being your own boss—no matter what the hardships, the long hours, the risks· the lack of security, the heartbreaks—is far, far from dead.

The little, independent businessman is our greatest safeguard against the monopolistic, corporate state. His birth must be encouraged and his survival must be assured, for he is, in effect, a protector of our whole way of life.

The vitality implied by the booming business birthrate today should warm the heart of any American who honestly believes in our system.

Ford's Profits Tumble

NEW YORK —(P)— Ford Motor Co. Monday reported a 1958 profit of $95,700,000, equal to $1.75 a share.

This compared with $282,800,000, or $5.20 a share, in 1957.

Net sales during 1958 came to $4,130,300,000 against $5,771,300,000 the year before.

The company announced a month ago that 1958 production of cars and trucks slumped to 1,462,312 units from the 2,226,828 turned out in 1957.

Ford was the first of the auto industry's big three to report 1958 earnings. General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. are expected to announce theirs shortly.

All three saw sales, profits and production sag in recession 1958.

South's Textile Pay Rising

Dow Jones, AP, UPI

A wave of wage increases is spreading through the South's textile industry, with 35,000 workers affected so far.

Cannon Mills started it late last week by notifying its 16,500 employes that their wages will go up in mid-February, with minimums rising to $1.25 an hour. Higher paid workers are getting 10 cents an hour boosts.

Now, Springs Cotton Mills has posted wage hike notices in its South Carolina plants but the amounts have not been announced.

Over the weekend, Pacolet Manufacturing Co., Spartan Mills, Arkwright Mills, Judson mills and Drayton Mills—all in South Carolina — said they plan to join in raising wages.

Textile men expect the increases to become general among the South's 550,000 textile workers.

The current wage average in the mills is $1.52 an hour but that includes overtime.

London Wants Change

Dulles May Be Balm to Rift

See Stories on Page 7A

LONDON — (AP) — Expectations of a break in Western strategy on Germany pervaded London's diplomatic colony Monday — 48 hours in advance of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' flying trip to Europe.

Informats said one reason for the Dulles trip is to heal a cleavage between the Western Allies that could pave the way for a new Western Approach to the German problem.

The cleavage was reported between Britain and the U.S. on one side and France and West Germany on the other.

In the meantime, in Washington, Sen. J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) said Monday night Dulles is seriously considering a counterproposal to Russia on the German issue.

Fulbright, soon to become chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen after an hour-long conference with Dulles at the secretary's home that Dulles spoke frankly in a review of foreign policy issues, particularly what to do about Russia's new demands on Germany.

Dulles arranged the session with Fulbright on the eve of his departure for talks with Allied leaders in London, Paris and Boon.

Both Britain and the U.S. favor a reexamination of previous fixed positions on the German question. West Germany and France are less inclined to support a "new look" at the Allied position, it is felt here.

Informants said this still is the impression in London of the West Germany attitude despite a suggestion in Bonn Monday by a government spokesman for a Western foreign ministers meeting on Germany in April to be followed late in May by an East-West foreign ministers' meeting.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan are expected to spell out British ideas on a possible association of East and West Germany in talks with Dulles Wednesday.

Foreign Office spokesmen say these are only ideas and that no set British formula for German reunification exists.

The Foreign Office, moreover, emphasizes that any association of East and West Germany would have to be voluntary and carried out in Freedom.

It is felt here that if such a plan could be worked out and presented to the Russians it would provide an opportunity for demonstrating Western flexibility.

Liberal Unit Gains in Luxembourg

LUXEMBOURG — (AP) — The leading Social Christian Party apparently lost five seats to the Conservative Liberal Party in Luxembourg's parliamentary elections.

Final unofficial figures for the 52-seat Parliament gave the Liberals 11 seats, against six in the 1954 election. The Social Christians went down from 26 to 21 seats. Unchanged were the Socialists with 17 seats and the Communists with three.

The results still leave the Social Christians and the Socialists, who formed the last government, the strongest parties in the grand duchy.

About 180,000 Luxembourgers went to the polls. Voting is compulsory here.

Pope Receives Ornate Candles

'Tuckered Out, Hug Weary' Cliburn Skips Miami Date

By DORIS RENO
Herald Music Critic

Piano virtuoso Van Cliburn is "so tuckered out with being hugged, kissed and cocktail-partied clear across the U. S." that he canceled two South Florida dates Monday.

The young bachelor was to have appeared in Fort Lauderdale's War Memorial Auditorium tonight, and in Miami Thursday night.

Charles H. Crandon, whose Miami Civic Music Association was to have presented the young pianist in recital Thursday evening, said Cliburn "suddenly canceled his entire February tour."

CLIBURN

Cliburn is the 24-year-old Texan who shot to world prominence last April when he won the big Tchaikovsky prize in Moscow.

"I'm not mad at him," said Crandon, who's exhausted himself with telling Miamians over the phone of the cancellation.

Crandon said Cliburn probably will fulfill his contract here the week of March 29.

"We'll let our members know the new date as soon as we clear it with New York," he sighed. "If I'm tired trying to put on a Cliburn concert here, I know Cliburn is even more tired. I sympathize with him."

Cliburn's New York manager, William Judd, the president of Columbia Concerts, said the 24-year-old pianist can't go on any longer without a rest.

"He'll have a breakdown. He's got to have Feburary off," Judd said.

The pianist canceled two Texas appearances during January because he could not otherwise get time to have his teeth fixed.

As Would-Be Assassin

Cuban Police Hold Coral Gables Pilot

A Coral Gables pilot has been held in Cuba since the day after Christmas on suspicion of trying to assassinate Fidel Castro for $10,000, Havana police reported Monday.

But Alan Robert Nye, who gave his address as 107 Calabria Ave., Coral Gables, told newsmen he went to Cuba to aid the rebels and to bomb planes of the Batista government in its final days before Castro's revolution succeeded.

The telephone at Nye's address was no longer working Monday and the American Airmotive Corp. at Miami International Airport reported that Nye stopped working as a pilot-salesman for the cargo-flying firm on Oct. 1, 1958.

Lt. Manuel Carbonelli of the police told newsmen in Havana that Nye, a former Navy pilot, was being held in Havana on suspicion that he tried to infiltrate rebel forces to kill Castro. Carbonelli said Nye was jailed Dec. 26 pending an investigation.

Police said Nye was arrested walking along a road near Santa Rita in the Bayamo sector of Oriente Province a few days before the Batista regime collapsed on New Year's Day.

Nye said he was unarmed when he was seized, but police said they believed he had hidden a rifle with a telescopic sight and a pistol after landing in a plane.

Castro's police suspect Nye of trying to kill their leader for a $10,000 fee, but did not say who offered the money to Nye.

Nye denied all of the suspicions to newsmen.

He said that since leaving the Navy and becoming a reservist in 1954 he had worked for the Douglas Aircraft Co. at Patuxent River, Md., and for an Agricultural Air Service spraying outfit in Florida. He was listed in a 1958 Miami suburban directory as an employe of American Airmotive.

Jobless Drop To Be Later

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, predicts that unemployment will not drop back to its pre-recession level until the end of this year.

Clague also predicted there would be a "substantial increase" in personal income in 1959. He said lower prices for meat, especially pork, and possibly lower prices for fruits and vegetables might hold the cost of living steady.

Addressing the convention of the Potato Chip Institute, the commissioner said, "Employment will continue to gain as business recovery proceeds but . . . unemployment will not be reduced to prosperity levels until the end of the year."

Cocoa Bureau Chief

COCOA —The USS Observation Island, a floating laboratory and launching pad for the Navy Polaris Missile, docked at Port Canaveral Monday afternoon, and opened the port as a Naval base.

The 563-foot ship, stationed here permanently, carries a crew of 360 officers and men. It will have more than 400 when it fires its first missile.

Missiles won't be fired from the ship for several months, but its crew will spend that time tying the ship into complex communication and instrument networks of Cape Canaveral and the Atlantic Missile Range.

The Observation Island, which was commissioned Dec. 5, is a converted Mariner cargo ship. Its super-structure has been altered to serve as a missile-firing blockhouse, and the after deck converted into a launching pad.

Its hull and engines weren't altered in conversion, but retractable stabilizing fins were placed along the vessel's sides, below the waterline.

Integration 'Escape' Plan Wins Backing Of Florida Officials

Arctic Chill Gripping Northland

Tain't Even Fit For a Groundhog

By Herald Wire Services

CHICAGO—Groundhogs and the weather bureau agreed on one thing Monday—the nation is in the grip of one of the severest cold waves of the winter.

Shadow or no shadow, any groundhog which didn't jump back into its warm burrow after sampling the air risked a case of frostbite.

An Arctic air mass which invaded the nation during the weekend spread from the Rockies to the Atlantic. The severe cold pressed as far south as Missouri where Kirksville registered three below zero Monday.

A high-pressure weather pattern responsible for the bitter cold in the East also brought clear skies throughout much of the area. This permitted venturesome groundhogs to see their shadows. Based on legend, though not the science of weather forecasting, it foreshadows six more weeks of winter weather.

The Arctic air, which dropped temperatures to 40 below zero in Minnesota over the weekend, spread eastward and headed slowly into the southland.

Sub-zero temperatures were general north of an imaginary line from the Missouri-Iowa border to the Central Appalachians and into Connecticut.

The cold air advance touched off a band of snow and freezing drizzle in the southern plains through western Oklahoma and most of Texas. Roads were open in the storm area, but extremely hazardous.

The weather bureau issued a special warning of freezing weather and hazardous road conditions across a six-state area.

The advisory warned of freezing rain or snow in parts of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

How It Works

Here is how the plan would work:

In the event the child is withdrawn from a school faced with integration, the state would give to the parent, possibly in monthly payments, his share of school operating funds. This money would be turned over only upon receipt of sufficient evidence of attendance at an acceptable school.

The next step would be to determine what is an acceptable school which a withdrawn student may attend and receive aid. This could be done by requiring they be approved by a private non-state authority, such as the Southern Association for Colleges and Secondary Schools, or the law could require that all teachers instructing any school be certified or licensed by the State Department of Education.

Virginia Schools Integrate Quietly

NORFOLK, Va. —(UPI)— Twenty-one Negroes went to public schools with white pupils for the first time in Virginia Monday in a momentous transition to integration that went off without a single incident.

Seventeen Negro boys and girls in this bustling seaport city walked into six high and junior high schools which had been closed since last summer in the state's effort at "massive resistance" to federal court orders.

Four other Negroes entered Stratford Junior High School in Arlington, just across the Potomac River from Washington.

There were no pickets, no crowds of grownups, no violence, no shouting, no catcalls. White pupils clustered curiously around the Negroes as they were being interviewed before school, but there was not a threatening move.

This was the first major test of whether the South would accept integration in the classrooms since violence erupted in Little Rock, Ark., in September 1957. Virginia's smooth transition was in marked contrast to the explosion that led President Eisenhower to send paratroopers to the Arkansas capital.

Reports and rumors of planned trouble and demonstrations never materialized. Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, who fought down to the wire to get around a succession of federal court orders that punctured state segregation barriers, promised that no violence would be tolerated.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Montgomery, Ala., Negro leader, urged other Southern states to follow Almond's lead. He called the Virginia integration "the most significant development in the area of race relations since the 1954 Su-

She Isn't Bothered By Color

NORFOLK, Va. —(UPI)— Karen Gearreald, a ninth grader, is one of 10,000 Norfolk teenagers for whom the end of Virginia's long fight against integration means a chance to return to school.

Karen, a 14-year-old A student, won't be able to detect a difference in her two new classmates — a Negro boy and girl — whose enrollment caused Blair Junior High to close last September.

Karen is blind.

After learning the halls, the classrooms and the stairs at Blair through two years, Karen was told in September she couldn't go back this year because two children there were a different color.

She enrolled in a tutoring class, one of many which sprang up in Norfolk, at a Methodist Church. She learned her way around the buildings, and she maintained her average.

Monday, she happily went back to her school.

"I'm overjoyed," she said. "I'm so glad things will be stable for the rest of the year. I wanted the school to be open all along."

Bailey And Ervin In Accord

Grants Suggested Private Tuition

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Attorney General Richard W. Ervin and State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey reached agreement Monday on a "parent option tuition school plan" they said would offer every parent an opportunity for escape from forced integration.

In a joint statement, these two high ranking state cabinet officers said that in their opinion the plan seemed to be the least imperfect of any legal proposal advanced to date to prevent forced race mixing in the classrooms.

The plan, in brief, authorizes parents of children faced with forced integration to withdraw them from the public schools. It authorizes payment of tuition grants amounting to the child's share of state and county school operating funds to allow the parents to send their child to non-sectarian private schools.

The amount of the grant will vary from county to county. The average for the state now would be about $240 a year.

They said the parent option plan was drawn up in the light of all recent court decisions dealing with integration and in the light of the consideration that there is no community in Florida where the climate of public opinion is such as to allow even "token" integration of schools.

By leaving it to the individual parent to decide whether his child should attend a segregated or integrated school, they said the element of "force" is removed and there is a lesser invitation to extremists.

"It will ease tensions and give people a choice," they continued.

"We do not want to do anything that will destroy the public schools. If we do not do anything, there will be turmoil and a breakdown in the schools."

Bailey said he believes school people will support the plan when they understand it, since it provides for most things school people are interested in — retaining the free public schools and retaining contractual rights and retirement rights of teachers.

To clear the way legally for operation of such a plan, the state officials said the 1959 Legislature would be asked to write an addition to the state constitution authorizing the tuition subsidies and to enact a law authorizing payment of these subsidies to the parents.

Bailey and Ervin said the plan they have agreed upon can be financed with existing school revenues.

While acknowledging that the plan is imperfect, the two state officials said that it had these important consideration:

1 — Florida's system of free public schools will be retained.

2 — No parent would be

U.S. Told It Must 'Roll Up Sleeves' For Space Battle

—Associated Press Wirephoto

Glennan Shows Space Capsule Model . . . to Rep. Overton Brooks (D., La.)

Or Watch Russia by Telescope

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The nation's civilian space chief warned Monday that Americans either must "roll up our sleeves" for a long expensive space conquest program or spend money buying telescopes to watch Russia's triumphs.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the House Space Committee that Russia is 18 months to two years ahead in developing the powerful rockets needed for exploration of deep space.

He also said under questioning that he "wouldn't put it past" the Russians to succeed in placing a man in space this year. The U.S. does not expect to put a man into an orbit around earth for about two years.

Glennan's chief assistant, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, injected a surprise note into the hearings by predicting the U.S. would need 10 to 15 years to put a man on the moon — some five years more than estimated by some experts.

Rep. James G. Fulton (R., Pa.) snapped that if the first American did not reach the moon before 10 to 15 years, "there'll be a man there saying 'nyet' when he arrives."

The House committee only last week released a series of statements by space experts predicting that with enough money and effort an American could reach the moon within a decade. The experts included Dr. Herbert York, chief scientist for the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

Glennan said he had "no hesitancy in predicting we will close the gap" in the overall race into space against Russia. But under repeated questions he declined to say when.

He said merely pouring more money into the U.S. program would not appreciably speed it up, but only give greater guarantees of success.

HURL a 10-ton space craft into orbit around the earth by 1962.

FIRE a two-ton space craft "into deep space — far beyond the moon" by the same year.

ORBIT a 75-ton space craft around the earth by 1965.

Glennan said the U.S. had the resources, the intelligence, the technical skills and certainly the necessary wealth to conquer space. What it needs, he edded, is "determination — the willingness to roll up our sleeves and get the job done."

No Crowds and No Fuss

Virginia Integration Of Schools Is Quiet

preme Court decision was rendered."

Negro pupils here agreed there had been no incidents in class on the first day, although some animosity was shown.

"On the whole, it went pretty good," Alvarez Gounsouland, 16-year-old Negro, said.

He was asked if he made any friends.

"I think I made a friend with my homeroom teacher—at least, I hope so," he replied.

Charles Perdue, former Duke University football star who is now principal of the big Norview High School at Norfolk, went on the school's loudspeaker system at the close of the day and said:

"Continue the wonderful conduct you have shown today. Don't hang around the school. See you tomorrow."

In Norfolk, where 10,000 whites have been without public schools, city officials were highly pleased.

"I am quite proud of the people of Norfolk, the way they have faced up to this," said School Superintendent J. J. Brewbaker.

Total enrollment in the six Norfolk schools, however, was far below normal.

Maury High School, for example, which last year had more than 1,950 students, enrolled only 1,185. Blair Junior High admitted 800, compared to 1,200 last year.

Final enrollment figures for the day at Norfolk showed that 6,370 pupils attended the six affected schools compared to 9,398 in attendance last June. This was a decline of about 33 per cent.

Many parents kept their children home to see if any trouble developed.

Norfolk's Norview High School had been the place where trouble was mainly feared, but there was not the slightest incident. No adults appeared except parents driving their children to school and only four uniformed police officers were on hand.

Perhaps 1,000 whites were waiting for the doors to open when the first two Negroes appeared at 8:40 a.m. They were two girls, Carol Wellington and Johnnie Rouse, who had walked from their home nearby.

The white children formed a human corridor down the main walkway as the Negroes came to the front door.

A few white students told reporters they believed violence against the Negroes would still come.

June Davis, 14, sophomore, said:

"There is going to be trouble, I just know. Some of the boys are going to gang up on them. They say maybe the parents have given up, but the teenagers haven't."

Newspapers Print Again In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — Newspapers were back on the street here Monday after pressmen returned to work ending a work stoppage that left Columbus without two Sunday newspapers.

Still unresolved, however, is the contract dispute that triggered the work stoppage. Negotiations are continuing.

The Dispatch and The Citizen were unable to publish Sunday because pressmen, members of Web Pressmen's Union No. 15, did not show up for work.

A union spokesman said the men were reluctant to work without a contract, which expired Dec. 31. Negotiations began Dec. 10 for a new agreement.

The third daily newspaper, The Ohio State Journal, also was affected, but the pressmen returned to work in time for The Journal to publish its final home edition.

Defenses Called Adequate

Hiding Nothing, Says McElroy

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Defense Secretary Neil McElroy said Monday the defenses of the U.S. are "prepared to meet the threat it faces today."

McElroy, sought to assure congressmen who have been openly suspicious that President Eisenhower's administration is dangerously cutting armed forces strength in the name of economy.

"There is nothing under the rug" in the nearly 41-billion-dollar defense budget request Eisenhower sent Congress for the armed services, McElroy told the House Armed Services Committee.

Some members of the committee have fumed over a reduction of the Army by 30,000 men under the level set by Congress last year. McElroy assured them no further significant cuts are planned.

McElroy also dealt directly with a statement last week by Committee Chairman Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), who said Eisenhower is asking Congress to surrender its control over the relative strengths of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

The secretary said a new system in the budget request of identifying funds by categories cutting across the services has "no intent or likelihood" of changing the actual method of appropriating to the separate services. Nor, he said, would it give the secretary of defense any important new authority to switch funds around.

The only purpose of the change, McElroy said, is to make the money needs of the military clearer to Congress and to the public.

He conceded that each service chief had some reservations about the amount of funds provided for his service. But McElroy said they joined in calling the budget adequate and "also included a statement they saw no important gaps in the 1960 defense program."

In a review of major defense programs and decisions, McElroy conceded that early warning and counter-weapons do not provide an absolute defense against enemy missile attack.

"We cannot expect to counter an all-out attack so completely that no hostile weapons will penetrate," he said.

But the defense secretary said any potential attacker would recognize U.S. defenses and strike-back capacity as formidable. The military's first responsibility, he said, is still "to retaliate with large weapons in case of an outbreak of general war."

McElroy said the Atlas missile, a prospect for intercontinental fighting, "is moving ahead even faster than originally expected." Some operational Atlases are expected to be in place and attended by trained personnel this summer, he told the congressmen.

The first "fully operational Polaris submarine, at sea ready to fire" its 1,500-mile range missile, is expected for the latter part of 1960, McElroy said.

Townsend Sues For One Franc

The newspaper published last November a long article on Townsend's courtship of the British princess and his life since then.

Agreement of these two cabinet officers on details of the parent option tuition plan is significant since it brings together the state's No. 1 legal officers and the state's No. 1 school officer.

The two chiefs of the 1959 Legislature endorsed the proposal. House Speaker-Designate Thomas Beasley of Defuniak Springs said the plan looks "mighty good" to him. "With some few exceptions it sounds like something I can support," he added.

Senate President-Designate Dewey Johnson of Quincy said he will back the proposal and predicted it will pass the Legislature easily.

Gov. LeRoy Collins could not be reached immediately for comment. But at his news conference last week, the governor stated emphatically he will have nothing to say about such proposals until he has received the report of his special racial advisory committee.

In past legislative sessions Ervin and Bailey were on opposite sides of the fence on the "last resort" private school law and some other proposals designed to preserve segregation, although they were agreed on the need for preserving public schools.

Earlier, Ervin had suggested that the word "uniform" be stricken from the present constitutional requirement for a uniform system of public free schools.

However, on reconsideration, he said he had decided to leave the word in with this phrase added to the present constitution:

"Provided it (the Legislature) may alternately provide assistance to any of the state's inhabitants for their education by such other reasonable means, including education in private schools and institutions, as it may determine to be in the best interest of the state."

A Turn in Fog... Dr. Eichert Dies

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

He was a brilliant heart specialist, well-to-do, and socially prominent.

But early Monday, his speeding car failed to make the turn at Old Cutler Rd. and SW 128th St., leaving him pinned upside down just two feet away from his physician's bag.

Dr. Herbert Eichert . . . his instruments nearby

An hour later, at 3 a.m., as an ambulance rushed him toward Doctors Hospital, Dr. Herbert Eichert's heart stopped beating. The 51-year-old cardiologist became Dade County's 22nd traffic fatality for 1959.

No one can say for certain just where Dr. Eichert was going at 2 p.m. when his car sped off the fog - shrouded road and slammed into one tree, flipped over and lodged against another tree.

Metro Accident Investigator John Nelson said Dr. Eichert's answering service had no calls for him during the night. But the doctor could have received an emergency call at his Coconut Grove home.

"Sometimes he would go for a drive late at night if he couldn't sleep," said his widow, Mrs. Mary Ruth Warfield Eichert. She is in Glyndon, Md., visiting relatives since December.

There were no skid marks to indicate that Dr. Eichert tried to avoid the crash. But it appeared that the doctor was speeding, Nelson said. The speedometer of his car was frozen at 70.

"It was so foggy I couldn't see 20 feet in front of me — you sort of had to creep along to stay on the road," said 17-year-old Sam Mathes, of 6391 Snapper Creek Dr., who discovered the wreck minutes after it occurred.

An autopsy showed Dr. Eichert had not been drinking and did not suffer a heart attack.

His death came just a few hours after the official opening of National Heart Month, a project of special interest to him as publicity chairman of the Greater Miami Heart Association.

He was many things: chief of staff of the National Children's Cardiac Home in Miami, chief of staff of medicine at the University of Miami, past vice president of the American College of Cardiology, former president and trustee of the Greater Miami Heart Association, member of the Scientific Assembly of the American Heart Association.

He was a diplomat of the American Board of Internal Medicine, a diplomat of the American Board of Cardiology, chief cardiologist for Mercy Hospital, a board member of the Dade County Medical Association, member of the Florida Medical Association, member of the American Medical Association, member of the Florida Heart Association, and attending cardiologist at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

He received his degree in medicine in 1932 from the University of Maryland and did post-graduate work at the Union Memorial Hospital, Johns Hopkins Hospital, and the American Hospital in Paris.

He came to Miami in 1937, married the same year and lived at 4000 Ensenada, Coconut Grove.

Well known in medical circles throughout America, he also made trips to Canada, Europe, and South America to treat patients.

He was a pilot and was co-chairman of the Florida Flying Physicians Association and a member of the Dade County Sheriff's Air Patrol.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mary Ruth, 17, in school in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., and a brother, Dr. Arnold H. Eichert, administrator of the South Florida Mental Hospital in West Hollywood.

The family has requested that no flowers be sent but that donation be made to the National Children's Cardiac Home, 4250 W. Flagler St.

At the doctor's own request, his ashes will be scattered over Biscayne Bay after a private family funeral.

Brevard Fill Would Take Half of River

'Banana Split' Project Opposed

Fish and Wildlife Paradise to Disappear
. . . Brevard residents protest planned Banana River fill here

Last Hope Is State Trustees

By STEPHEN TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

COCOA — Taking a leaf from Miami — where an aroused public finally stopped private filling in Biscayne Bay — a militant group here is battling a proposed gigantic fill in the Banana river.

The fill, which would pinch the big river to less than half its present shore-to-shore width off Cocoa Beach, was approved by the county commission Dec. 18. It still must be passed upon by the State Internal Improvement Board (the Cabinet) — which is where the protesting group hopes to stop it.

Charges that a "closed door" session of the commission preceeded their approval preface the petition of protest, which some 2,500 persons here have signed.

Dan Brown, Miami Herald bureau chief here, and Gene Burnett, of the Titusville Star Advocate, turned in the reports on which the "closed door" charges are based. They said that at a commission session three days before the formal approval they were asked to regard as "off the record" a then-upcoming discussion of the bulkhead line.

When they refused, they reported, three members of the commission went into the sheriff's office with W. Turner Wallis, consulting engineer retained by the county, and the door was closed.

Commissioner Bernard Parrish of Titusville, the only holdover member of the commission of that date that this reporter could reach on the day of his visit here, denied this was a "closed meeting."

"It was just a consultation with the engineer who had made a preliminary report," he said, "and we wanted to do it in a calm manner and without hysteria." He did not go into the meeting. Neither did Commission Chairman Dave Nisbet of Merritt Island.

S. Gary Bennett, mayor of Cocoa, who, as a private citizen, heads up the protesting Brevard Bulkhead committee, has other views.

He said these will be thoroughly aired at 8 p.m. Thursday when his group will hold a public protest meeting in the old city hall at Cocoa.

Commissioner Parrish said: "This (the approved bulkhead line) is not typical of what will be done in the remainder of Brevard County."

Said Bennett: "That's a lot of stuff. If this project, sticking 6,020 feet out in the river and covering 3,200 acres, is allowed to go through — how can they say 'no' to others who want to come out that same distance?

"You people in Miami saw that happen, until the public was sufficiently aroused to stop it. Over in Pinellas county (St. Petersburg) they didn't get aroused fast enough and their once-beautiful Boca Ceiga bay is ruined."

The proposed fill would cover and extend outward around the Thousand Island group. It would be some six miles long, from the Cocoa causeway to a point near the north boundary of Patrick Air Force base.

Two main developments of the area are called Cocoa Isles and Rover Isles. Plans are for elaborate waterway fingers stretching through the vast tract.

Al Trafford, head of the Trafford Realty company, sales agency for Cocoa Isles, staunchly defended the project.

"This isn't just a bunch of Johnny-Come-Latelies trying to make a fast buck," he said. "I was born here, and so was my father, and I wouldn't do anything I thought would hurt this area.

"Unless we fill some of these mangrove river swamps — which will also be of great aid to mosquito control — we are out of waterfront property for residents of average means. These islands have been privately owned for many years, and unless they can be bulkheaded and fills they are useless."

Bennett's committee, which includes the nationally known wild life photographer, Allen D. Cruikshank, base much of their opposition on the effects of the fill on wildlife.

"Fishing is still the number one attraction here, and it always will be. Any fish biologist will tell you that when they fill in all of these islands, the main breeding ground of some of our best species — both sports fish and commercial fish — will be gone. That island group is now one of the finest duck hunting and fishing grounds in America.

"There is also the scenic value of the river. It is to us what Biscayne Bay is to Miami. It's our front door, and we don't want it filled up."

Cruikshank pointed out that the big and protected bird colony on Big Island is in the path of the proposed development, and the state bird sanctuary of Hall Island is just to the north.

"There's more to be considered than the bird watchers in developing a growing county," said Commissioner Parish.

Cocoa Beach is now finishing a sewage disposal plant on one of the outer islands in the effected group. The owners have also given that community a hospital and school site — thereby hurting the strength of their hand not at all.

Inlet Bridge Plan Readied

By BILL BUNGE
Melbourne Bureau Chief

MELBOURNE — The Brevard delegation is expected to present an Indian River group a deal that would push construction of a Sebastian Inlet bridge when top officials of the two counties meet at Sebastian Thursday night.

According to reliable sources, Brevard would like Indian River to join in creation of a special road and bridge tax district. Brevard has already made plans to create one.

In return, Indian River would get the three miles of Brevard's island beach, between the south shore of the inlet and the county's northern line.

This would bring the Indian River boundry to the shore of the inlet, and Brevard's limits on the north side.

The purpose of both counties joining hands in a single tax district is that if two districts were formed and a bond issue referendum failed in either, the project would be doomed.

Construction of a toll bridge, linking the two counties by State Rd. A1A, would be more feasilbe if a tax district was created, backers say. Revenue bonds would be more attractive to buyers if backed by taxes, as well as tolls.

Brevard's approach road is completed to the inlet. Indian River county is pushing A1A northward, and now is at Wabasso.

However, the neighboring county has all right-of-way purchased to its northern boundry. If it gets the three miles in Brevard, additional right-of-way would have to be bought.

Weekend Highway Toll 18

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Accidents on Florida's highways accounted for 18 deaths during the weekend, which Monday boosted the rising fatality toll to 104 for the year.

There were three non-traffic deaths which pushed the overall weekend toll to 21. Nineteen-month-old George Henson of Samoset was electrocuted Friday when he touched a faulty stove in a vacant apartment near his home.

Edward Hobard Jr., 19, and James Hobard, 18, both Pensacola brothers, were electrocuted Sunday when a water pipe they were lifting from the ground touched a high tension wire.

A car-truck collision north of Pensacola early Monday took the lives of three sailors stationed at a nearby Naval air base. Authorities said the sailor's car, traveling at high speed, passed another vehicle and plowed into a truck on U.S. 90.

The dead were identified as Donald Tullis, 19, Racine, Wis.; Lawrence H. Geis, 22, Milwaukee, and Jerry Robert Driscoll, 23, Gafney, S.C.

Mrs. Ida Gottlieb, 65-year-old Sarasota resident, died Sunday from injuries received Saturday night when she was struck by a car on the Tamiami Trail.

A flaming wreck on Miami's MacArthur Causeway killed four men Saturday. The speeding car smashed into a post, bursting into flames and trapping the occupants.

They were identified as Edward Richard Bougoin, 30, Louis R. Dees, Harold Linwind, 21, a Coast Guardsman, and Donald L. Farrington, 21.

William Charles Ganci, 16, was killed Sunday in Redington Beach when the car in which he was riding went out of control and swerved off the road.

Herbert Blackstone, 29, Homestead Air Force Base, died Sunday in Miami when his car ran a red light and crashed into another vehicle.

A 52-year-old Hialeah man drowned Saturday when his car ran off a road in Hialeah and into a canal. He was identified as Ralph Christopher Knowles.

Oran Toomey, 37, of Miami, was killed in an accident in Miami Saturday.

Zone Plan Hearing Is Today

INDIALANTIC — City council will hold a public hearing on a new master zoning program at 8 p.m. today, before the start of the regular council session at town hall.

Russell and Axon, Daytona Beach planning engineers, and the council conducted an educational program a month ago on the zoning ordinance. A number of persons heatedly contested some of the suggested changes.

However, the purpose of the previous session was to draw expressions from citizens. Some of these may be incorporated in the new ordinance.

Flu Also on Wane

Common Cold Not Common This Year

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — The common cold is not so common this year.

Dr. C. L. Brumback, Palm Beach County health director, said Monday colds and influenza are way down this winter.

He gives Florida's mild weather part of the credit.

"Unquestionably," he said "last year's severe winter increased the cases of upper respiratory diseases including pneumonia."

There have been no full-scale outbreaks of flu only "sporadic reports of cases varying in severity." He predicted it will be several years before the world witnesses another epidemic like last year's Asian flu wave.

"Many people," he said, "are now immune to Asian flu either because they had it last year or they took the flu shots."

The common cold, like the flu, is down to "pretty average" this year. Getting sufficient rest, eating a balanced diet, and avoiding exposure are the best means to combat a common cold.

As for a cure for the common cold, he holds out hope for it in the future.

"There is an awful lot or research and some vaccine has been developed which is effective to some degree. Eventually with increased knowledge of virus, we will find a cure for many cases of the common cold."

'Fins and Float' Lifeguards Mark Up Top Rescue Record

By THELMA FROSCHER
Herald Correspondent

VERO BEACH — The "float-and-fins" rescue system is making it easier and easier to save a surf swimmer in trouble.

"And we get lazier and lazier," says Charles Gollnick, chief lifeguard for Indian River County. "Sometimes we pull somebody in without getting wet above the waist."

Since he and his assistants pull about 300 frightened bathers from the ocean each year it's fine that they've found an easy way to do it.

The word "push" would be more accurate than "pull." They literally push them to the beach on floats. The same waterproof canvas floats rented to bathers by the lifeguards are used for rescues.

Ninety per cent of the persons who need help are those caught in "runouts," Gollnick said. The lifeguard used the same runout to ride to the rescuse, propelling with swim fins.

When he reaches the "victim" he places them on the float and, steering from behind rides a wave at 30 to 40 miles per hour to shore.

On summer day 17 persons were rescued, with seven needing help at the same time. It took exactly three minutes to rescue all seven, Gollnick said.

In the nien years Gollnick has been head lifeguard, there have been no downings along the guarded beaches, or within sight of them. It hasn't even been necesseary to give anyone artificial respiration.

Until recently, Gollnick, whose headquarters are at Humiston Park Beach, was the only paid lifeguard.

During the year another fulltime lifeguard has been added to protect the Jaycees Beach farther north. Anoher fulltime guard will be at a beach near the south city limits after June 1.

Volunteers, most of them high school students, make up the rest of the force. About 20 of them worked most days last summer.

The entire Atlantic shoreline, about three miles of it, in Vero Beach is public beach. By ordinance there are no private beaches, Gollnick said.

While watching the surf for those needing help, Gollnick gives free lessons in skin diving, swimming, riding the rubberized rafts, long-distance running, body-building and weight-lifting.

He also gives fencing lessons one night a week, under the city recreation program.

Brevard Bust Out?

Growing Brevard County, the nation's missile center, stretches more than 70 miles along the coast. Titusville, near the northern line, is the county seat.

Bill Bunge, chief of the Melbourne bureau of The Herald has made a study on government problems of the area. Do the matters that affect South Brevard get enough attention at the distant county seat? Is the county outgrowing its government? What can be done about it?

A series of articles, covering these and other points, will start in The Herald Wednesday.

Stuart Holds Special Meet

STUART — A special meeting of the Stuart City Commission will be held today at 2 p.m. at the city hall, said City Manager Joe Crowder.

Discussion and consideration will be given regulating subdivisions in the city limits.

Sixteen real estate companies, the Florida Power and Light Co., and the two engineering firms in the city as well as the press are invited to the conference.

Road Loan Rejected In Martin

Herald Service

STUART — Martin County apparently is no longer interested in accepting funds from property owners for building roads, then repaying the debt over several years.

They flatly refused such an offer by A. H. Harvey of Sylvan Shores. He offered to put up cost of paving a half mile road stretch to connect with North Shores Drive.

Estimated cost of the road is from $10,000 to $14,000. Harvey offered a loan for three to five years. "I want the same consideration you gave C. Arbogast," said Harvey. "You promised a year ago that you would complete the stretch."

This, Commissioner Seymour Gideon denied. Gideon said that he would authorize a "mix-in-place" surface only.

The commission, several weeks ago, rejected a request by a Palm Beach real estate broker to loan funds to pave a road in the southern part of the county.

Sharpe Service Set For Today

COCOA — Services will be at the Wylie Funeral Home at 2 p.m. today for William A. Sharpe, 79, who died Sunday. Burial will be in Brevard Memorial Park.

Mr. Sharpe, a 10-year resident of Sharpes, was a retired building contractor. Survivors include his wife, Ruth; a daughter, Mrs. James E. Reedy of Sharpes; a brother, and two sisters.

Brevard Opens $300,000 Jail

TITUSVILLE — The Brevard County Sheriff's Department will throw its new jail open for public inspection at 9 a.m. today.

The 125-prisoner jail cost the county $300,000. It was completed more than a month ago, but hasn't been opened because of delays in furniture deliveries.

Taxpayers Group Sets Election

Herald Service

STUART — The annual meeting of the Martin County Taxpayer's Association will be Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the court house. Officers and direcotrs will be elected and a report on the county budget heard.

The association, in the past, has worked with and studied the Martin county commission budget.

This year the association is conducting an investigation of the need for school expansion. A study of project priority and a sound method of financing the projects will be recommended.

Old Fleece Game Used For Profit

Herald Service

FORT PIERCE — The St. Lucie County Sheriff's office reported Monday the old "pigeon drop" game had been worked here this weekend, and Alphonso Rogers of 1117 Ave. D fleeced of $180.

Rogers told the sheriff's office a Negro couple told him they "found" a pocketbook containing $1,900 and a diamond — and would divide with him if he would put up some "good faith" money.

Rogers drew $150 from the bank, added $30 and handed it to the couple. He waited at the railroad station for the couple to come and share the contents in vain.

Deputy Sheriff Richard Waugh, who investigated, said the description of the couple indicated it was a pair who had worked a similar game here at least twice in the past 12 months.

Home Show Ready For Opening Day

By ANNE WILDER
Herald Correspondent

FORT PIERCE — The Second Annual St. Luice County Home Show, sponsored by the Fort Pierce Pilots Club, will open Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on S. 29th St.

The show will be run through Sunday. It will be open from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

Taking part in the opening ceremonies will be State Sen. Harry J. Kicliter, Calvin Poppell, president of the St. Lucie County Children's Health Council; Mrs. Gordon Lollar, president of the Pilot Club, and Mrs. Joseph Yates and Mrs. F. Lawson Taylor, co-chairmen of the home show committee.

The chairmen report all available space is taken for by exhibits, which include furniture, interior decoration, air conditioning equipment, tile and terrazzo, electrical fixtures and appliances, plus special home services.

There will be special entertainment each day. Admission to the show is free.

Zoning Area Expanding

STUART — Martin County Commissioner Charles Leighton has expanded the Palm City zoning area to include the areas north and west of the St. Lucie Canal.

He named Donald Ward to succeed Herbert Sudoff, Floyd Tracey to replace Lawton Wall, and Loren Spiller to replace John S. Leighton of the zoning committee.

Commissioner E. J. Arnold named Robert F. McRoberts Jr., of Salerno to replace McRoberts Sr., on the Rocky Point Zoning Committee.

County Attorney William R. Scott was instructed to file an injunction suit against Stephen Kuceia for voilating the zoning code in Rocky Point, which prohibits trailer parks.

Joke Backfires

He Called 'Collect' And Got Charged

Herald Bureau

NAPLES — Calling the Naples police "long distance collect" — even as a joke — can be costly, but not to the police.

Chief S. B. Caruthers said John Broxton, 72, Negro laborer, tried the stunt Saturday. The chief said Broxton called the station with the word he was talking long distance "collect" from New Jersey and "The police can't do anything about it."

They did though, and located Broxton in McDonald's Quarters, Negro section. Lt. Sam Bass and Officer Fred Scott charged the man with being drunk and disorderly.

The chief said Broxton was also believed to be the person who lectured a telephone operator at great length and ended his diatribe with the claim she was "a southern white hypocrite."

Florida's Stake in the Jet Age

Why Drive to Westchester? Fly to Miami

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

NEW YORK — "Why," asked an Eastern Air Lines vice president, "would a New Yorker spend two hours driving to a Westchester County golf course on a weekend when he could get to Miami in the same time?"

In the answer to that question lies the key to Florida's stake in the rapidly developing age of jet air travel.

And in anticipation of a growing demand for more and more space on southbound flights (and the northbound return), Eastern is planning now to handle twice its current New York-Miami passenger load by 1962.

THE BENEFIT to Miami and all of Florida in such a projection is obvious. Every new arrival at a Florida airport, whether the traveler is planning to stay for a weekend or a lifetime, means an added boost to our economy.

Where will all this increased airline business come from?

"From tourists, businessmen, convention-goers — from the same people who ride the airlines now and many more who don't," said one EAL official here.

"We expect the passenger totals to grow almost in proportion to the increase in speed and convenience of the airliners."

For the time being, Eastern is banking on its new fleet of prop-jet Lockheed Electras —which make the Miami-New York run in a little more than three hours—to bear the brunt of the transition between the piston age and the jet age.

PURE JETS, already in service on some of National Air Lines' New York-Miami trips, will begin carrying Eastern passengers on long hauls by early next year.

And even as plans are made for broad-scale use of the 600-mile-an-hour pure jets (which will be Douglas DC-8s in Eastern's case), the plane makers are already talking of 2,000 mile-an-hour supersonic jets as passenger carriers by 1970.

Such an airliner could put a New Yorker in Miami before he hardly had time to buckle his seat belt.

"WE'RE THINKING of things like that," said Eastern Vice President William Van Dusen, "but we're primarily concerned now with the present. There's a need for a jet-speed plane that can use existing airports and we think the Electra fills it.

"It's fast (400 miles an hour) maneuverable (climbs to 10,000 feet in six minutes), and can use almost every airport in our system. It's going to be our workhorse plane in the next few years, even after the DC-8s are in service."

Eastern's officials are not waiting for business to come to them. They have a 20-man sales staff here drumming up business, much of it directed toward the busy and lucrative New York-Miami run.

To compensate for the losses suffered in the recent 38-day strike and to gear for the jet age at the same time, the airline is keeping its sales staff on the go.

"IN A WAY," said one sales representative, "we're working for Miami as well as for Eastern. Business for us means business for you."

The jet age itself is working for Miami, too.

"It's boosting Miami and all of Florida as an appealing resort area because the state is getting closer to northern cities all the time," said Van Dusen.

"From a time standpoint, Miami became as close as Atlantic City when you could make the flight in four hours. Now, the people who used to think of making a Miami trip once a year are going several times. They can afford the time because of speedy air travel."

NEW YORK businessmen, Van Dusen pointed out, can whiz down to Miami in the morning on a rush assignment and get back that night. Some of them are doing exactly that, just as many Miami businessmen do the same thing in reverse.

Convention-goers who once regarded Miami as too distant from the nation's geographical center can eliminate that factor as a consideration now.

"In every way," said one Eastern spokesman, "Miami—perhaps more than any other city—is going to be the big gainer in this age of faster air travel."

New Businesses Are Being Born At Record Pace

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

Not ever has the business birthrate in our land been as high as it is right now—a superlative confirmation that our economy is really growing again, that we're back into a major phase of expansion.

In December alone, over 16,400 new businesses were incorporated—the highest number of births ever recorded for a single month, up a fabulous 55.5 per cent over the total in the same month a year ago, up 20.6 per cent over the previous monthly peak.

SYLVIA PORTER

While Dun & Bradstreet has not yet released the figures for the first month of 1959, it's a virtual certainty that new charters substantially topped the 13,000 in January of 1958, and the total probably set a new record for the month.

What's more, the trend is nationwide, with every region, every state feeling the new upsurge in business births. Although New York is properly worrying about the pace of its business growth, the fact is that in December New York led all others in the number of new incorporations—2,770 against 1,976 a year ago.

California was second with 1,468 new babies against 974 a year ago. And in such sparsely settled states as South Dakota, Utah, Nebraska, the year-to-year percentage gains have been spectacular, running over 100 and 200 per cent.

The Big Are Still Getting Bigger

The forces working for giantism in industry in our nation are still powerful. Through mergers, consolidations, outright purchases the big are getting bigger every year.

The forces working for business bankruptcies also are still deplorably strong. Because of inexperience, ignorance, lack of money and credit sources, business failures are running over 260 a week, and this covers only those which fail with losses to creditors. Dun & Bradstreet calculates that the total disappearing each year through voluntary liquidation, merger and bankruptcy, approaches 400,000.

But the other side of the coin—and today, this side is shiny—is the rising number of businesses coming into being. The total of individual enterprises in the United States today is estimated at above 4,200,000—a rather wondrous statistic to contemplate in this era.

This is not just a simple story about the renewed boom in business births, fascinating as it is. For behind this tale are profound implications.

Birth Upsurge Precedes a Revival

FIRST, THE UP OR downtrend in business births is one of the most sensitive clues we have to where business in general is heading. This index usually turns down long before a business decline becomes perceptible, turns up long before a business revival is clear to the majority.

SECOND, THE FACT that hundreds of thousands of individuals do go into new businesses each year against all the known odds is a significant reflection of the broadening, basic growth of our economy.

AND THIRD AND MOST important, the healthy birthrate testifies to the fact that the American dream of owning your own business, of being your own boss—no matter what the hardships, the long hours, the risks, the lack of security, the heartbreaks—is far, far from dead.

The little, independent businessman is our greatest safeguard against the monopolistic, corporate state. His birth must be encouraged and his survival must be assured, for he is, in effect, a protector of our whole way of life.

The vitality implied by the booming business birthrate today should warm the heart of any American who honestly believes in our system.

Floridians Testify For Barge Service

TAMPA, Fla. —(AP)— The Interstate Commerce Commission Monday wound up the Tampa phase of a hearing on a petition for expansion of service by A. L. Mechling Barge Lines, Inc.

Among the witnesses at the final session here were chamber of commerce officials from Tampa and Fort Myers and John N. Gibson, director of development for Dade County.

All testified in favor of the expansion, citing the advantages it would bring their communities as well as the state.

Mechling, whose barges serve the Mississippi River area to Tampa, seeks to extend its service south to Miami, Fort Myers and Port Everglades and up to Minneapolis, Chicago and Pittsburgh. It also is asking ICC permission to extend its hauling privileges to cover general commodities.

Gibson told Commission Examiner James I. Carr that expansion of Mechling service would help bring Miami more industry of the type that "moves in and out." He explained this type of industry brings raw material into a city and moves out a finished product to markets elsewhere.

South's Textile Pay Rising

Dow Jones, AP, UPI

A wave of wage increases is spreading through the South's textile industry, with 35,000 workers affected so far.

Cannon Mills started it late last week by notifying its 16,500 employes that their wages will go up in mid-February, with minimums rising to $1.25 an hour. Higher paid workers are getting 10 cents an hour boosts.

Now, Springs Cotton Mills has posted wage hike notices in its South Carolina plants but the amounts have not been announced.

Over the weekend, Pacolet Manufacturing Co., Spartan Mills, Arkwright Mills, Judson Mills and Drayton Mills — all in South Carolina — said they plan to join in raising wages.

Textile men expect the increases to become general among the South's 550,000 textile workers.

The current wage average in the mills is $1.52 an hour but that includes overtime.

Ford's Profits Tumble

NEW YORK —(AP)— Ford Motor Co. Monday reported a 1958 profit of $95,700,000, equal to $1.75 a share.

This compared with $282,800,000, or $5.20 a share, in 1957.

Net sales during 1958 came to $4,130,300,000 against $5,771,300,000 the year before.

The company announced a month ago that 1958 production of cars and trucks slumped to 1,462,312 units from the 2,226,828 turned out in 1957.

Ford was the first of the auto industry's big three to report 1958 earnings. General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. are expected to announce theirs shortly.

All three saw sales, profits and production sag in recession 1958.

Brevard Spending To Hold Buyers

By BILL BUNGE
Melbourne Bureau Chief

MELBOURNE — An untold number of dollars are being spent to help South Brevard County keep pace with the commercial needs of the Air Force Missile Test Center — and help keep thousands of dollars in sales at home.

As predicted by area leaders, the boom here has switched to the civilian side of the missile business. The emphasis now is on department stores, grocery stores and similar businesses, and a better road system.

Military people have said many times that more civilian supporting facilities are needed, and the key to civilian expansion is a better highway system.

The missile base is holding its own, but the fast expansion experienced several years ago — when hundreds of people were dumped into the area over-night—appears to be over for the present.

In place of this Gold Rush type of growth is the commercial construction boom. Melbourne has a two million dollar Publix shopping center, eventually to contain 22 stores offering many types of merchandise.

Food Fair plans a similar facility in neighboring Eau Gallie, with construction expected to begin there soon. Private sources, too, are pouring thousands of dollars into commercial building. Two Eau Gallie businessmen alone are putting up 15 new store buildings on Babcock St.

West Melbourne now has a good start on a modern shopping area. Only a few years back this area had only a handful of business places — mostly small groceries and service stations.

Indialantic's business section has experienced rapid development during the last year. Stores there are adding variety to the merchandise available locally. This alone is drawing customers from many sections of South Brevard.

A lot of money also is going for roads to make it easier for shoppers. Downtown merchants are working with their city governments to break traffic bottlenecks and improve parking facilities in both Melbourne and Eau Gallie.

All this is aimed at keeping more of the 88 million dollars paid annually to Brevard missile workers here at home. Estimates run as high as 65 per cent on the number of local people who shop out-of-town.

Key West Council Of Navy League Nicely Launched

By FLORENCE RABON
Herald Correspondent

KEY WEST—The Key West Council Navy League of the U.S. was officially launched at the Key West Yacht Club by a brilliant gathering of top military and civilian dignitaries and their ladies.

MRS. RABON

Howard E. Wilson, vice president of the Key West Council conducted the ceremonies in the absence of the president, Judge Aquilino Lopez Jr. Charlotte, looking stunning in black lace, was busy helping to receive the more than 200 guests who attended.

Judge Lopez and Lillian were in Panama City attending the Florida conference of Circuit Court judges.

National Vice President John L. Conner, down from Atlanta presented the charter to the local group. Mrs. Conner was also here.

Rear Admiral J. C. Daniel, Commandant Sixth Naval District, Charleston, S. C. was introduced by Rear Adm. Francis D. McCorkle. Other distinguished guests at the speakers table included Mrs. McCorkle, Under Secretary of the Army, George H. Roderick and Mrs. Roderick, W. Merrill Whitman, secretary of the Panama Canal Co. and Mrs. Whitman from Washington, D. C.

As principal speaker, Admiral McCorkle chose "The U.S. Navy—An International Tranquilizer" as his topic.

Among the officers and wives of the local council attending were Mr. and Mrs. James A. Flenner, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Esquinaldo, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lester, Mr. and Mrs. William V. Albury, Mr. and Mrs. William Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Knowles, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Pinder, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Sher. Jim Flenner was in charge of arrangements with Betty giving a helping hand.

Here from Havana were members of the Havana Council, the only Navy League affiliate outside the continental limits of the U.S. In the group were Hugh Blake, president and Bill Potts, treasurer. Another member attending was Kenneth Crosby, its first president, and a nephew of Adm. McCorkle.

Navy captains and their wives were the Henry Wiers, Richard O. Greenes, Charles Stephans, the John Hydes, F. J. Harlfingers, Sam Loomises, Bryan H. Smiths', Stephen S. Manns, David L. Harrises, the Willard Michaels, W. C. Moores, and the Harold Cokleys. Dr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Lane of Great Neck, N.Y., were in the throng. They are houseguests of the Cokleys. Dr. Lane is a consultant to the St. Albans Naval Hospital, St. Albans, Long Island.

From the Marine Corps were Major and Mrs. John B. Sims.

The Royal Navy was represented by Commodore W. J. Parker, senior British Naval Officer, West Indies who is here aboard HMS Ulster.

Others seen included State Rep. and Mrs. Bernie C. Papy, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Rosam, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Signorelli, Mr. and Mrs. William Neblett, Judge and Mrs. Enrique Esquinaldo, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore Parks and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith, Jr.

More than 300 persons thronged the B'ani Zion social hall to honor Steven Cohen on the occasion of his Bar Mitzvah. Steven's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Max Cohen. Also there to help him with the important celebration was sister, Pat, and her husband A. D. Delman.

Host to District Meeting

IT WILL BE an exciting week-end for the local Business and Professional Women's Club District 12 meeting is held at the Casa Marina Hotel.

Miss Adrienne Waits, State Federation president of Orlando will be the guest of honor. Mrs. C. B. Harvey, a past state president, is general chairman with Mrs. Grace Crosby serving as co-chairman. Mrs. Paul Newhouse is club president.

On Saturday there will be a garden party at the home of Mrs. Newhouse starting at 8:00 p.m. The agenda for Sunday includes a District Board meeting and a workshop on International relations. Marge Toner, Upper Keys Club, and Margaret Cusick, Key West Club, will conduct the workshop. Miss Waits will be guest speaker at the luncheon to be held at 1:15.

Late Sunday afternoon Marge Toner will be hostess at her home on Plantation Key at a buffet coffee.

Familiar Scenes Featured

OILS, CASEINS, water colors, and sculpture are featured in the collection of Dorthe (Mrs. Booth) Chilcutt now on exhibition at the Little Gallery on Simonton St. Particularly interesting is the study on matchstick bamboo, "El Mexicano." Among the most beautiful studies in oil are "Day Lilies" and "Spring Bouquet."

Familiar Key West scenes appear in water colors which are executed with feeling and understanding of the subject.

The guest list attending the formal opening of the show was large. Dorthe was assisted, in receiving the viewers, by her mother Mrs. Pearl Trummer, daughter Karen, and her sister Gula Mae Trummer. Mrs. Trummer lives in Madison, Wis. and Gula Mae is from Denver, Colo.

A Good Old Custom

"WETTING DOWN" a good old Navy custom to celebrate a promotion was literally that with even the weather co-operating to congratulate Cmdr. Murray Draper on his new title.

Echoasis, where the party was held, was bulging with the crowd who came to wish Murray well. Mari was greeting guests in a strikng black sheath cocktail dress with whispy flamingo pink panels draped at the throat.

Among those seen chatting in the throng were Capt. and Mrs. Lewis M. Smith and Lt. Cdr. and Mrs. Andrew McClure. Ginny Truesdell was introducing her houseguest down from Atlanta, Myrtle Mosher.

Cmdr. and Mrs. J. D. Groesbeck, Cmdr. and Mrs. Newman Hoopingarner, and Cmdr. and Mrs. Robert Cook were also seen.

With Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Barnwell was Mrs. Winifred Moorehead, Mrs. Barnwell's mother.

Consul and Mrs. Oscar Morales, Mr. and Mrs. Maurey Kornick, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hall, Dorothy Raymer, Maj. Win Graves, Mrs. Carl H. Hilton, Mayor and Mrs. Delio Cobo, were among those glimpsed as were Lt. and Mrs. John Sapp, Jr., Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Frank O'Rourke, Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Jesse Durham, and Lt. and Mrs. Robert Boyd.

UPPER KEYS

Founders Night's Tonight

By CAROLYN V. COHEN
Herald Correspondent

UPPER KEYS: Looks like a short but busy month for everyone. Dates are increasing so mark them down. You won't want to miss any of the fun.

MRS. COHEN

Hope you'll attend Coral Shores PGA meeting tonight. It's Founders Night, and there will be a tour of rooms and facilities added this year.

By popular request there will be another chicken and ribs barbecue at Tavernier Fire House Saturday. Get in line early.

There has been a change in Sketch Book dates. Originally set for this weekend, it will be presented instead on Feb. 13 and 14.

So, on Friday the 13th you can go to the Kiwanis fish fry at the Elks Club, then to the annual Sketch Book at Coral Shores. If you don't do this you can still attend the Sketch Book on Saturday night.

Ladies of Burton Memorial Methodist Church WSCS hope you'll attend their bake sale in front of Tavernier post office on Saturday morning, Feb. 14.

An important reminder for Sunday, Feb. 15 is San Pedro Bazaar on the church grounds, Plantation Key. Men and women are working long hours to make it successful and they hope everyone will be there to enjoy many features.

Upper Keys Flower Show dates are Feb. 21 and 22 at Coral Shores School auditorium. Get your entrance blanks now so everyone can see those beautiful flowers and plants you grow . . . and there are many awards too.

On Saturday, Feb. 21 you can have a luscious dinner at the Legion Home in Islamorada when the auxiliary serves a barbecued dinner of chicken or ribs. Marie Price of Tavernier, who has no equal in preparing these popular dinners, will be in charge and that's your guarantee of something special.

Yvonne Broomfield is chairman of the dinner, and, since it is the first offered by the auxiliary in many months, she wants it to be a bang-up success for the benefit of the building fund.

Donald Chrzan, Key Largo, paid an all too brief visit to his parents Mary and Stan while on leave from the Navy. He left for his new assignment at Camp Magu Missile Center, Calif.

Another of our young servicemen should be headed for home soon, much to the delight of parents Annie and Ray Maloney. Freddie is due for discharge from the Army, with which he has been serving in Germany. You can be sure he'll be welcomed to his Plantation Key home.

Belated congratulations to Doc and Viola Sherlock, Plantation Key. They celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently and we failed to note this important and happy date. It couldn't happen to nicer folks.

Our best wishes for happy days to Buck and Emily Grundy who will soon move into their recently purchased Lower Matecumbe Key home. Wonder how Buck will keep all of his keys straight for you know he has them from several cities.

Herb Alley, Keys Audubon representative, says he saw two flamingos in Florida Bay recently. He thought they might be visitors from the Bahamas as their bright colors showed they were of the non-Hialeah variety.

'Girls in 509' Pokes Fun At Just About Everything

By HELEN VAN HOY SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

PALM BEACH — Thanks, youall — Frank Hale, Paul Crabtree, et al — for another terrific show at the Royal Poinciana Playhouse. "The Girls in 509," opened Monday night for a week's run with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Stars are Fay Bainter, a great lady of the American theater, and that radiant red head with the restless feet, Dody Goodman, who should always be seen in color TV.

Also in the cast are Nydia Westman, familiar to film fans, Parker Fennelly (the Titus Moody of the old Fred Allen Show) Walter Klavun and William Lanteau. Remainder of the star-caliber cast also includes G. Wood of the Yul Brynner hair cut, a favorite of last season who gives a grand performance; Bert Bertram, another former playhouse stalwart; John Hallow, Chet London and Gaylord Mason.

DODY FAY

The play by Howard Teichmann is a happy spoof on various sacred American traditions — newspapering, big business and especially politics, all delivered with taste, punch, and pungency.

Home and mother are about the only institutions left unscathed. Romance, too, runs through the plot but nobody gets kissed.

Fay Bainter is a disillusioned Republican Party worker who took her young niece, Dody Goodman, and dropped out of sight when the Democrats came into power. The two had lived in a hotel suite under an assumed name ever since. They never went out, never saw a newspaper, and had neither radio nor TV. They had a most remarkable booby trap rigged up for anyone who might inadvertently cross their threshold.

But at long last the girls were to be dispossessed, and how they were discovered by a bungling would-be reporter and the manner in which they finally awake from their Rip Van Winkle nap constitute a play that is fast, furious, and good fun.

So don't cough or rustle your program. Be so quiet you could hear a diamond pin drop, as you won't want to miss a word.

The mouldy looking hotel suite is designed by Jim Riley. Elaine Perry came from New York to direct the play.

Printers Say Collins Plan Would Be Costly

By Herald Wire Services

BOCA RATON — Florida's printers Monday called on Gov. LeRoy Collins to reconsider his recommendation that all state printing contracts be put under a central purchasing system to save money.

The printers, meeting here, wired Collins that a central purchasing agency would drive competition out of the state and in the long run boost Florida's printing bill.

They also claimed that the state, counties and cities would lose thousands of dollars annually in taxes and wages.

Collins told his news conference last Friday he would press agin in the 1959 Legislature for an effective centralized purchasing setup to save the state money on printing and other services.

The governor also said he had ordered a study of printing purchases by agencies under his jurisdiction and would direct immediate reforms in cases of "loose, careless and improper procedures."

But Charles G. McMullen Jr., president of the Printing Industries of Florida, told Collins such a plan would open the door to big out-of-state printers "to come in and cut prices and run competition out of the printing business."

There have been complaints of a lack of competition in bidding for printing contracts for the huge Florida Development Commission. It has been charged the commission discriminates aaginst out-of-town companies, prefering two or three Tallahassee concerns including the Rose Printing Co.

Collins said it was a policy of his administration to encourage out-of-town bids, and his office called for a complete report from the development agency.

McMullen said the some 700 Florida printing companies were able to ask low prices for their work because they have invested a great deal of money in machinery and equipment and can provide all kinds of printing within the state.

This savings is passed on the customer, he said, in this case the taxpayer.

But he added if local companies have to compete with out-of-state concerns, then they will no longer be able to make improvements, and instead of going down, the state's printing bill will go up.

"And the state, counties and cities will lose untold amounts of money in tax revenue and employes thousands upon thousands of dollars in wages," he said.

McMullen pledged the "fullest support" of his organization in the governor's investigation of state printing. He said he thought printing laws were now stricter than other state purchasing acts, and if they were changed "the public will be the loser."

11 Days At Tampa

Shrine March Today To Open State Fair

TAMPA —(AP)— Display builders and exhibitors worked at top speed Monday to put everything in readiness for the 54th annual Florida State Fair, which opens an 11-day run here today.

A downtown Shrine parade, with more than 1,000 marchers from four states, will kick off fair festivities today. George E. Stringfellow of East Orange, N. J., imperial potentate of the Shrine, will cut a ribbon at one of the gates to officially open the fair.

Shriners from Florida, Georgia, Alabama, and Tennessee will participate in the procession, the first of four during the fair. The Gasparilla Invasion day parade is next Monday.

Livestock barns filled rapidly with dairy cattle, which will figure in the first week's competition. The annual Youth Livestock Show will be later this week and beef breed judging starts next Monday.

More than 600 head of cattle have been entered in the various divisions.

Exhibits and displays will cover virtually every facet of the state's agricultural and industrial economy.

Non-commercial exhibits include shows by the Atomic Energy Commission, State Conservation Board, Florida Dental Society, Army and Navy.

Heading the entertainment will be 14 performances by Cowboy Roy Rogers, his wife, Dale Evans, and their western show. There also will be auto races, thrill shows, teen-age dances, fashion and science shows.

Panama City Killer Goes To Chair

RAIFORD —(UPI)— Callas E. Withers, 35, walked calmly to death at the state prison Monday for slaying two Panama City children in May, 1956.

Withers, a Panama City electrician and father of seven children, made no statement. Prison Superintendent DeWitt Sinclair said the switch of the electric chair was thrown at 8:36 a.m. and the chief medical officer, Dr. Rex. E. Ramsey, pronounced the condemned man dead at 8:40 a.m.

The convicted murderer was accompanied by the Rev. Adolph Bedsole, Baptist minister of Panama City, and the prison chaplain, the Rev. J. T. Tompkins.

Withers had been convicted of murdering four-year-old Douglas Cecil Wilson of Panama City and also was charged with killing David Wilson, the little boy's seven-year-old brother, the same day, but never tried on that count.

Withers was accused of taking the youngsters "joy riding" in his motor boat and throwing them overboard after sexually molesting the older boy. He contended he was drunk and "unaccountable" for his action.

Guns Kill 5 Persons In Florida

Herald Service

Blazing guns brought death to five persons in Florida over the weekend.

Maurice M. Finman, Pensacola businessman and civic leader, was found beside his parked auto on the Pensacola waterfront Saturday night. He had been fatally wounded and died a short time later. A suspect is being held.

Earl Gainey, 21, of Vernon, died in a Port St. Joe hospital Sunday form two wounds received in a gun battle with Trooper T. O. Alpin of the Florida Highway Patrol.

Gainey, a passenger in an auto that had been halted by Alpin, pulled a pistol and started firing. Alpin, slightly wounded, returned the fire.

Paul Hutchins, 36, of Chipley, was shot to death Saturday night in a family argument. A coroner's jury ruled his stepson, Calvin Hamm, fired in self defense.

At Haines City, also Saturday night, Jack Sorrells, 47, shot and killed his wife, Helen, also 47, as the result of a domestic squabble, and then committed suicide.

12 Groups Get United Funds

JENSEN BEACH — A total of $6,150 was divided, according to need, among 12 agencies or civic groups by directors of the Jensen Beach-Rio United Funds Association Sunday.

The board accepted recommendations of the finance committee, composed of the president Mrs. Frank Wacha; vice president, Mrs. Zola Swarthout and secretary-treasurer Martin Wahl.

Residents of the Jensen Beach-Rio area, for the second successive year, went over the top in the drive. The goal was $6,000, or $1,500 more than last year.

Contributions are still coming in. The extra funds will be placed in an emergency account.

Distribution includes American Red Cross, Martin County chapter, $1,200; Jensen Beach Community Center, $1,300.

Martin County Retarded Children, $700; Jensen Beach-Rio Boy Scouts, $500.

Polio Fund, $300; Mental Health Committee, $300; Teacher's salary for six months for a retarded child, $125.

The Explorer's Club, $25; sight, $25; one half cost of a stone for the late Capt. Louis Bartling, $25; printing expenses, $50; emergency fund, $150.

More than 50 volunteer workers canvassed Jensen Beach and Rio, and a part of Indian River Dr. in a four-day campaign.

Drive co-chairman were Mrs. Warren Shipes, Jr., of Jensen Beach and Robert Larsen of Rio.

Mrs. Wacha named the Rev. Allan Purdom, Martin Wahl both of Jensen Beach, and Mrs. H. B. Spencer of Rio to the nominating committee. The annual meeting will be in November.

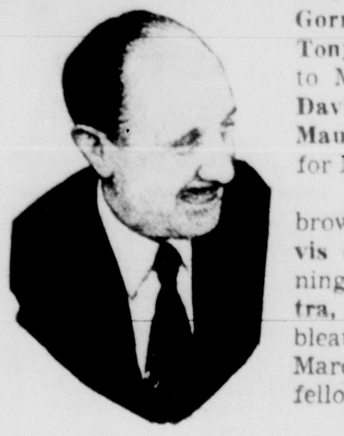
Nightlife with George Bourke

Eartha Kitt, Lewis, Martin to Make Eden Roc Glitter



HARRY MUFSON waited a long time to fill his Cafe Pompeii season hand but it should be a winning one. Eartha Kitt opens there on Feb. 6 with Rowan and Martin a pair of Walter Winchell favorities; Joe E. Lewis will move in on Feb. 11 with Edie Gorme for a two week stand; Tony Martin is down for a Feb. 25 to March 3 run-delay; Sammy Davis, Jr., opens March 4, and Maurice Chavalier is scheduled for March 20 through the 26.

There will be a lot of eyebrow lifting over the Sammy Davis engagement. He will be running in opposition to Frank Sinatra, who opens at the Fontainebleau Hotel La Ronde Room on March 3. Up to now they were fellow scamps!

Irv Tunick has taken off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and is working on the scripts for two NBC TV shows during a vacation at the Diplomat. Tunick wrote the teleplay for "The Dead Sea Scrolls" . . . Boxer Vince Martinez, at the Aristocrat Dubonnet Lounge, revealing that he's a landowner aristocrat himself — he owns the Harding Court Apartments.

They Play 12 Instruments

THE VO-CALIANS, for years a popular feature at the MacFadden-Deauville Hotel, are on Easy Street now. At least they are currently at the Easy Street Lounge of the Florida Shores Hotel. The trio — Eddie Paisley, Frank Wantuck and Bill Mango — play a total of 12 instruments! . . . Diplomat Cafe Cristal maitre de Domenic and his wife, Bunny, expect a stork dividend in April.

Eddie Lieberman, the expert on Indian affairs who was "bumped" off the $64,000 TV Challenge quiz when it was cancelled, is now employed as a designer for Donald S. Lavigne here in Miami. Writing of "Tonka," Eddie says that it is a "better attempt at depicting the Custer battle than some of the previous ones." "Tonka" sort of debunks the legend of a heroic Gen. George Custer.

Nancy Greene

He is pictured as vain and wrong in his military decisions. Eddie, who has read the report of the Reno trials and other data on the fight at Little Big Horn concludes that "Custer's luck held out even in death. If he had survived there is no doubt that he would have been court-martialed and shot."

Hackett, Krupa, Teagarden Shift

GEORGE ADE once said: "Every man thinks he could do three things — write a play, edit a newspaper and run a hotel." Gosh! Wonder if WE could run a hotel! . . . Porky's Hideaway seems to be alternating with Rocking MB Lounge in using those jazz stars — Dizzy Gillespie, Cozy Cole and Earl Bostic. Dizzy gave way at Rocking MB to follow Cozy into the Hideway — and Cozy takes over at Rocking MB . . . Bobby Hackett goes from Miami Springs Villas to Monte Cristo in Fort Lauderdale on Saturday and Gene Krupa, who was at Porky's will be at Miami Springs Villas Friday and at Monte Cristo on Feb. 24. Jack Teagarden, due at Miami Springs Villas Feb. 27 will warm up at Porky's Feb. 16.

The mink and honeys will pour into La Bastille like wine tonight. It's the night for the 13th annual Polio Ball and Mrs. Robert (Nancy) Greene hasn't lessened in her efforts to make it better than last year's $30,000 profit attained for polio research just because progress has been made in conquering infantile paralysis. It is our guess that it will be one of the best-dressed affairs of the year.

Shawn-Robin-Van Bill Clicks

IT ISN'T just diplomatic courtesy which prompts us to state that the current Dick Shawn-Bobby Van-Tina Robin bill at the Diplomat Cafe Cristal is one that presents an ideal Triple Entente which received much more than a mere vote of confidence from its opening night audience. From Tina's opening rhythmic tinnabulations to Shawn's satirical savvy (you should pardon our chauvinism but he is a local boy who made good), there isn't a moment that is dull.

Shawn is probably better known in our smallest hamlet (Misery Gore, Maine?) than he is at the University of Miami, but it was from that seat of education that he embarked on his trip to stardom in almost every show medium. You must remember him for his blistering but highly humorous take-off at the Rock Age and his trademark "Massa Richard" teaser bit. Something new has been added too—a satirical bit in which Dick deplores the way exposure has become the order of the day in Las Vegas' shows.

Miss Robin is a thrush of great vocal vigor. A pretty good stylist on her own, she is more the performer than straight song stylist here, hitting the peak of her crowd pleasing with excellent impressions of the styles of Kay Starr, Roberta Sherwood and Teresa Brewer. On her own, a nice styling of "Melancholy Baby" and "I've Got a Crush on You" were superb.

Film star Bobby Van, of "Kiss Me Kate" and other MGM musicals holds over in a delightful bit of hoofing and spoofing.

Ekberg, Gypsy Rose in 'Mimi'-drama

Stark Murder Invades Strip Joint

IN BRIEF — A columnist strips the mystery off a "ripper" murder, plus a fair war drama.

Movie Review

"The Screaming Mimi," at the Town Theater, is one of those murder melodramas wherein columnists are meeting the most interesting people and having a heck of a time freeloading and visiting showgirls in dressing rooms from beginning to end. You wonder when they settle down to write a column.

This version stars Phil Carey, on a bill co-featuring "The Last Blitzkreig," a tight little tale of a World War II incident which was reviewed here last week when it opened at the Lincoln Theater. Together they make a fair two hours of entertainment.

Situation in "The Screaming Mimi" concerns a lass of questionable mentality who is being befriended by a psychologist.

His intentions are open to suspicion — especially when his charge, who has been installed as a dancer in Gypsy Rose Lee's strip joint, is found stabbed under circumstances which indicate the attack was made by a "ripper" who had been more successful in an earlier case.

Phil runs down the killer although he isn't particularly happy about it. An effort is made to make you suspicious of Phil—but nobody is going to fall for the line so we aren't violating any rules in tipping you off to keep an eye on the butler or anybody else—but scrub Carey.

Red Norvo and Miss Lee do specialty numbers, with Anita Ekberg, who is the slashing "victim" also attempting a go at Miss Lee's specialty.

Story has more loopholes than a cheese but then this IS supposed to be a mystery.

London Wants Change

Dulles May Be Balm to Rift

See Stories on Page 7A

LONDON — (AP) — Expectations of a break in Western strategy on Germany pervaded London's diplomatic colony Monday — 48 hours in advance of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' flying trip to Europe.

Informats said one reason for the Dulles trip is to heal a cleavage between the Western Allies that could pave the way for a new Western Approach to the German problem.

The cleavage was reported between Britain and the U.S. on one side and France and West Germany on the other.

In the meantime, in Washington, Sen. J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) said Monday night Dulles is seriously considering a counterproposal to Russia on the German issue.

Fulbright, soon to become chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen after an hour-long conference with Dulles at the secretary's home that Dulles spoke frankly in a review of foreign policy issues, particularly what to do about Russia's new demands on Germany.

Dulles arranged the session with Fulbright on the eve of his departure for talks with Allied leaders in London, Paris and Boon.

Both Britain and the U.S. favor a reexamination of previous fixed positions on the German question. West Germany and France are less inclined to support a "new look" at the Allied position, it is felt here.

Informants said this still is the impression in London of the West Germany attitude despite a suggestion in Bonn Monday by a government spokesman for a Western foreign ministers meeting on Germany in April to be followed late in May by an East-West foreign ministers' meeting.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan are expected to spell out British ideas on a possible association of East and West Germany in talks with Dulles Wednesday.

Foreign Office spokesmen say these are only ideas and that no set British formula for German reunification exists.

The Foreign Office, moreover, emphasizes that any association of East and West Germany would have to be voluntary and carried out in Freedom.

It is felt here that if such a plan could be worked out and presented to the Russians it would provide an opportunity for demonstrating Western flexibility.

Liberal Unit Gains in Luxembourg

LUXEMBOURG —(AP)— The leading Social Christian Party apparently lost five seats to the Conservative Liberal Party in Luxembourg's parliamentary elections.

Final unofficial figures for the 52-seat Parliament gave the Liberals 11 seats, against six in the 1954 election. The Social Christians went down from 26 to 21 seats. Unchanged were the Socialists with 17 seats and the Communists with three.

The results still leave the Social Christians and the Socialists, who formed the last government, the strongest parties in the grand duchy.

About 180,000 Luxembourgers went to the polls. Voting is compulsory here.

Pope Receives Ornate Candles

Candlemas, officially termed the Feast of the Purification, commemorates the day in which the Virgin Mary went to the temple of Jerusalem for ritual purification 40 days after childbirth, according to ancient Hebrew law.

'Tuckered Out, Hug Weary' Cliburn Skips Miami Date

By DORIS RENO
Herald Music Critic

Piano virtuoso Van Cliburn is "so tuckered out with being hugged, kissed and cocktail-partied clear across the U. S." that he canceled two South Florida dates Monday.

The young bachelor was to have appeared in Fort Lauderdale's War Memorial Auditorium tonight, and in Miami Thursday night.

Charles H. Crandon, whose Miami Civic Music Association was to have presented the young pianist in recital Thursday evening, said Cliburn "suddenly canceled his entire February tour."

CLIBURN

Cliburn is the 24-year-old Texan who shot to world prominence last April when he won the big Tchaikovsky prize in Moscow.

"I'm not mad at him," said Crandon, who's exhausted himself with telling Miamians over the phone of the cancellation.

Crandon said Cliburn probably will fulfill his contract here the week of March 29.

"We'll let our members know the new date as soon as we clear it with New York," he sighed. "If I'm tired trying to put on a Cliburn concert here, I know Cliburn is even more tired. I sympathize with him."

Cliburn's New York manager, William Judd, the president of Columbia Concerts, said the 24-year-old pianist can't go on any longer without a rest.

"He'll have a breakdown. He's got to have Feburary off," Judd said.

The pianist canceled two Texas appearances during January because he could not otherwise get time to have his teeth fixed.

As Would-Be Assassin

Cuban Police Hold Coral Gables Pilot

A Coral Gables pilot has been held in Cuba since the day after Christmas on suspicion of trying to assassinate Fidel Castro for $10,000, Havana police reported Monday.

But Alan Robert Nye, who gave his address as 107 Calabria Ave., Coral Gables, told newsmen he went to Cuba to aid the rebels and to bomb planes of the Batista government in its final days before Castro's revolution succeeded.

The telephone at Nye's address was no longer working Monday and the American Airmotive Corp. at Miami International Airport reported that Nye stopped working as a pilot-salesman for the cargo-flying firm on Oct. 1, 1958.

Lt. Manuel Carbonelli of the police told newsmen in Havana that Nye, a former Navy pilot, was being held in Havana on suspicion that he tried to infiltrate rebel forces to kill Castro. Carbonelli said Nye was jailed Dec. 26 pending an investigation.

Police said Nye was arrested walking along a road near Santa Rita in the Bayamo sector of Oriente Province a few days before the Batista regime collapsed on New Year's Day.

Nye said he was unarmed when he was seized, but police said they believed he had hidden a rifle with a telescopic sight and a pistol after landing in a plane.

Castro's police suspect Nye of trying to kill their leader for a $10,000 fee, but did not say who offered the money to Nye.

Nye denied all of the suspicions to newsmen.

He said that since leaving the Navy and becoming a reservist in 1954 he had worked for the Douglas Aircraft Co. at Patuxent River, Md., and for an Agricultural Air Service spraying outfit in Florida. He was listed in a 1958 Miami suburban directory as an employe of American Airmotive.

Jobless Drop To Be Later

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, predicts that unemployment will not drop back to its pre-recession level until the end of this year.

Clague also predicted there would be a "substantial increase" in personal income in 1959. He said lower prices for meat, especially pork, and possibly lower prices for fruits and vegetables might hold the cost of living steady.

Addressing the convention of the Potato Chip Institute, the commissioner said, "Employment will continue to gain as business recovery proceeds but . . . unemployment will not be reduced to prosperity levels until the end of the year."

COCOA —The USS Observation Island, a floating laboratory and launching pad for the Navy Polaris Missile, docked at Port Canaveral Monday afternoon, and opened the port as a Naval base.

The 563-foot ship, stationed here permanently, carries a crew of 360 officers and men. It will have more than 400 when it fires its first missile.

Missiles won't be fired from the ship for several months, but its crew will spend that time tying the ship into complex communication and instrument networks of Cape Canaveral and the Atlantic Missile Range.

The Observation Island, which was commissioned Dec. 5, is a converted Mariner cargo ship. Its super-structure has been altered to serve as a missile-firing blockhouse, and the after deck converted into a launching pad.

Its hull and engines weren't altered in conversion, but retractable stabilizing fins were placed along the vessel's sides, below the waterline.

Capt. Leslie M. Slack is the commanding officer of the ship.

Integration 'Escape' Plan Wins Backing Of Florida Officials

Arctic Chill Gripping Northland

Tain't Even Fit For a Groundhog

By Herald Wire Services

CHICAGO—Groundhogs and the weather bureau agreed on one thing Monday—the nation is in the grip of one of the severest cold waves of the winter.

Shadow or no shadow, any groundhog which didn't jump back into its warm burrow after sampling the air risked a case of frostbite.

An Arctic air mass which invaded the nation during the weekend spread from the Rockies to the Atlantic. The severe cold pressed as far south as Missouri where Kirksville registered three below zero Monday.

A high-pressure weather pattern responsible for the bitter cold in the East also brought clear skies throughout much of the area. This permitted venturesome groundhogs to see their shadows. Based on legend, though not the science of weather forecasting, it foreshadows six more weeks of winter weather.

The Arctic air, which dropped temperatures to 40 below zero in Minnesota over the weekend, spread eastward and headed slowly into the southland.

Sub-zero temperatures were general north of an imaginary line from the Missouri-Iowa border to the Central Appalachians and into Connecticut.

The cold air advance touched off a band of snow and freezing drizzle in the southern plains through western Oklahoma and most of Texas. Roads were open in the storm area, but extremely hazardous.

The weather bureau issued a special warning of freezing weather and hazardous road conditions across a six-state area.

The advisory warned of freezing rain or snow in parts of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

How It Works

Here is how the plan would work:

In the event the child is withdrawn from a school faced with integration, the state would give to the parent, possibly in monthly payments, his share of school operating funds. This money would be turned over only upon receipt of sufficient evidence of attendance at an acceptable school.

The next step would be to determine what is an acceptable school which a withdrawn student may attend and receive aid. This could be done by requiring they be approved by a private non-state authority, such as the Southern Association for Colleges and Secondary Schools, or the law could require that all teachers instructing any school be certified or licensed by the State Department of Education.

Virginia Schools Integrate Quietly

NORFOLK, Va. —(UPI)— Twenty-one Negroes went to public schools with white pupils for the first time in Virginia Monday in a momentous transition to integration that went off without a single incident.

Seventeen Negro boys and girls in this bustling seaport city walked into six high and junior high schools which had been closed since last summer in the state's effort at "massive resistance" to federal court orders.

Four other Negroes entered Stratford Junior High School in Arlington, just across the Potomac River from Washington.

There were no pickets, no crowds of grownups, no violence, no shouting, no catcalls. White pupils clustered curiously around the Negroes as they were being interviewed before school, but there was not a threatening move.

This was the first major test of whether the South would accept integration in the classrooms since violence erupted in Little Rock, Ark., in September 1957. Virginia's smooth transition was in marked contrast to the explosion that led President Eisenhower to send paratroopers to the Arkansas capital.

Reports and rumors of planned trouble and demonstrations never materialized. Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, who fought down to the wire to get around a succession of federal court orders that punctured state segregation barriers, promised that no violence would be tolerated.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Montgomery, Ala., Negro leader, urged other Southern states to follow Almond's lead. He called the Virginia integration "the most significant development in the area of race relations since the 1954 Su-

She Isn't Bothered By Color

NORFOLK, Va. —(UPI)— Karen Gearreald, a ninth grader, is one of 10,000 Norfolk teenagers for whom the end of Virginia's long fight against integration means a chance to return to school.

Karen, a 14-year-old A student, won't be able to detect a difference in her two new classmates — a Negro boy and girl — whose enrollment caused Blair Junior High to close last September.

Karen is blind.

After learning the halls, the classrooms and the stairs at Blair through two years, Karen was told in September she couldn't go back this year because two children there were a different color.

She enrolled in a tutoring class, one of many which sprang up in Norfolk, at a Methodist Church. She learned her way around the buildings, and she maintained her average.

Monday, she happily went back to her school.

"I'm overjoyed," she said. "I'm so glad things will be stable for the rest of the year. I wanted the school to be open all along."

Bailey And Ervin In Accord

Grants Suggested Private Tuition

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Attorney General Richard W. Ervin and State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey reached agreement Monday on a "parent option tuition school plan" they said would offer every parent an opportunity for escape from forced integration.

In a joint statement, these two high ranking state cabinet officers said that in their opinion the plan seemed to be the least imperfect of any legal proposal advanced to date to prevent forced race mixing in the classrooms.

The plan, in brief, authorizes parents of children faced with forced integration to withdraw them from the public schools. It authorizes payment of tuition grants amounting to the child's share of state and county school operating funds to allow the parents to send their child to non-sectarian private schools.

The amount of the grant will vary from county to county. The average for the state now would be about $240 a year.

They said the parent option plan was drawn up in the light of all recent court decisions dealing with integration and in the light of the consideration that there is no community in Florida where the climate of public opinion is such as to allow even "token" integration of schools.

By leaving it to the individual parent to decide whether his child should attend a segregated or integrated school, they said the element of "force" is removed and there is a lesser invitation to extremists.

"It will ease tensions and give people a choice," they continued.

"We do not want to do anything that will destroy the public schools. If we do not do anything, there will be turmoil and a breakdown in the schools."

Bailey said he believes school people will support the plan when they understand it, since it provides for most things school people are interested in — retaining the free public schools and retaining contractual rights and retirement rights of teachers.

To clear the way legally for operation of such a plan, the state officials said the 1959 Legislature would be asked to write an addition to the state constitution authorizing the tuition subsidies and to enact a law authorizing payment of these subsidies to the parents.

Bailey and Ervin said the plan they have agreed upon can be financed with existing school revenues.

While acknowledging that the plan is imperfect, the two state officials said that it had these important consideration:

1 — Florida's system of free public schools will be retained.

2 — No parent would be

U.S. Told It Must 'Roll Up Sleeves' For Space Battle

—Associated Press Wirephoto

Glennan Shows Space Capsule Model
. . . to Rep. Overton Brooks (D., La.)

Or Watch Russia by Telescope

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The nation's civilian space chief warned Monday that Americans either must "roll up our sleeves" for a long expensive space conquest program or spend money buying telescopes to watch Russia's triumphs.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the House Space Committee that Russia is 18 months to two years ahead in developing the powerful rockets needed for exploration of deep space.

He also said under questioning that he "wouldn't put it past" the Russians to succeed in placing a man in space this year. The U.S. does not expect to put a man into an orbit around earth for about two years.

Glennan's chief assistant, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, injected a surprise note into the hearings by predicting the U.S. would need 10 to 15 years to put a man on the moon — some five years more than estimated by some experts.

Rep. James G. Fulton (R., Pa.) snapped that if the first American did not reach the moon before 10 to 15 years, "there'll be a man there saying 'nyet' when he arrives."

The House committee only last week released a series of statements by space experts predicting that with enough money and effort an American could reach the moon within a decade. The experts included Dr. Herbert York, chief scientist for the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

Glennan said he had "no hesitancy in predicting we will close the gap" in the overall race into space against Russia. But under repeated questions he declined to say when.

He said merely pouring more money into the U.S. program would not appreciably speed it up, but only give greater guarantees of success.

HURL a 10-ton space craft into orbit around the earth by 1962.

FIRE a two-ton space craft "into deep space — far beyond the moon" by the same year.

ORBIT a 75-ton space craft around the earth by 1965.

Glennan said the U.S. had the resources, the intelligence, the technical skills and certainly the necessary wealth to conquer space. What it needs, he edded, is "determination — the willingness to roll up our sleeves and get the job done."

No Crowds and No Fuss

Virginia Integration Of Schools Is Quiet

preme Court decision was rendered."

Negro pupils here agreed there had been no incidents in class on the first day, although some animosity was shown.

"On the whole, it went pretty good," Alvarez Gounsouland, 16-year-old Negro, said.

He was asked if he made any friends.

"I think I made a friend with my homeroom teacher— at least, I hope so," he replied.

Charles Perdue, former Duke University football star who is now principal of the big Norview High School at Norfolk, went on the school's loud-speaker system at the close of the day and said:

"Continue the wonderful conduct you have shown today. Don't hang around the school. See you tomorrow."

In Norfolk, where 10,000 whites have been without public schools, city officials were highly pleased.

"I am quite proud of the people of Norfolk, the way they have faced up to this," said School Superintendent J. J. Brewbaker.

Total enrollment in the six Norfolk schools, however, was far below normal.

Maury High School, for example, which last year had more than 1,950 students, enrolled only 1,185. Blair Junior High admitted 800, compared to 1,200 last year.

Final enrollment figures for the day at Norfolk showed that 6,370 pupils attended the six affected schools compared to 9,398 in attendance last June. This was a decline of about 33 per cent.

Many parents kept their children home to see if any trouble developed.

Norfolk's Norview High School had been the place where trouble was mainly feared, but there was not the slightest incident. No adults appeared except parents driving their children to school and only four uniformed police officers were on hand.

Perhaps 1,000 whites were waiting for the doors to open when the first two Negroes appeared at 8:40 a.m. They were two girls, Carol Wellington and Johnnie Rouse, who had walked from their home nearby.

The white children formed a human corridor down the main walkway as the Negroes came to the front door.

A few white students told reporters they believed violence against the Negroes would still come.

June Davis, 14, sophomore, said:

"There is going to be trouble, I just know. Some of the boys are going to gang up on them. They say maybe the parents have given up, but the teenagers haven't."

Newspapers Print Again In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — Newspapers were back on the street here Monday after pressmen returned to work ending a work stoppage that left Columbus without two Sunday newspapers.

Still unresolved, however, is the contract dispute that triggered the work stoppage. Negotiations are continuing.

The Dispatch and The Citizen were unable to publish Sunday because pressmen, members of Web Pressmen's Union No. 15, did not show up for work.

A union spokesman said the men were reluctant to work without a contract, which expired Dec. 31. Negotiations began Dec. 10 for a new agreement.

The third daily newspaper, The Ohio State Journal, also was affected, but the pressmen returned to work in time for The Journal to publish its final home edition.

Defenses Called Adequate

Hiding Nothing, Says McElroy

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Defense Secretary Neil McElroy said Monday the defenses of the U.S. are "prepared to meet the threat it faces today."

McElroy sought to assure congressmen who have been openly suspicious that President Eisenhower's administration is dangerously cutting armed forces strength in the name of economy.

"There is nothing under the rug" in the nearly 41-billion-dollar defense budget request Eisenhower sent Congress for the armed services, McElroy told the House Armed Services Committee.

Some members of the committee have fumed over a reduction of the Army by 30,000 men under the level set by Congress last year. McElroy assured them no further significant cuts are planned.

McElroy also dealt directly with a statement last week by Committee Chairman Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), who said Eisenhower is asking Congress to surrender its control over the relative strengths of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

The secretary said a new system in the budget request of identifying funds by categories cutting across the services has "no intent or likelihood" of changing the actual method of appropriating to the separate services. Nor, he said, would it give the secretary of defense any important new authority to switch funds around.

The only purpose of the change, McElroy said, is to make the money needs of the military clearer to Congress and to the public.

He conceded that each service chief had some reservations about the amount of funds provided for his service. But McElroy said they joined in calling the budget adequate and "also included a statement they saw no important gaps in the 1960 defense program."

In a review of major defense programs and decisions, McElroy conceded that early warning and counter-weapons do not provide an absolute defense against enemy missile attack.

"We cannot expect to counter an all-out attack so completely that no hostile weapons will penetrate," he said.

But the defense secretary said any potential attacker would recognize U.S. defenses and strike-back capacity as formidable. The military's first responsibility, he said, is still "to retaliate with large weapons in case of an outbreak of general war."

McElroy said the Atlas missile, a prospect for intercontinental fighting, "is moving ahead even faster than originally expected." Some operational Atlases are expected to be in place and attended by trained personnel this summer, he told the congressmen.

The first "fully operational Polaris submarine, at sea ready to fire" its 1,500-mile range missile, is expected for the latter part of 1960, McElroy said.

4 — School people would be protected in their contractual and retirement rights.

Agreement of these two cabinet officers on details of the parent option tuition plan is significant since it brings together the state's No. 1 legal officers and the state's No. 1 school officer.

The two chiefs of the 1959 Legislature endorsed the proposal. House Speaker-Designate Thomas Beasley of Defuniak Springs said the plan looks "mighty good" to him. "With some few exceptions it sounds like something I can support," he added.

Senate President-Designate Dewey Johnson of Quincy said he will back the proposal and predicted it will pass the Legislature easily.

Gov. LeRoy Collins could not be reached immediately for comment. But at his news conference last week, the governor stated emphatically he will have nothing to say about such proposals until he has received the report of his special racial advisory committee.

In past legislative sessions Ervin and Bailey were on opposite sides of the fence on the "last resort" private school law and some other proposals designed to preserve segregation, although they were agreed on the need for preserving public schools.

Earlier, Ervin had suggested that the word "uniform" be stricken from the present constitutional requirement for a uniform system of public free schools.

However, on reconsideration, he said he had decided to leave the word in with this phrase added to the present constitution:

"Provided it (the Legislature) may alternately provide assistance to any of the state's inhabitants for their education by such other reasonable means, including education in private schools and institutions, as it may determine to be in the best interest of the state."

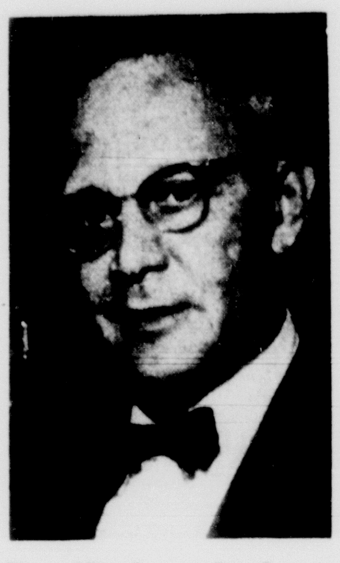
A Turn in Fog... Dr. Eichert Dies

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

He was a brilliant heart specialist, well-to-do, and socially prominent.

But early Monday, his speeding car failed to make the turn at Old Cutler Rd. and SW 128th St., leaving him pinned upside down just two feet away from his physician's bag.



Dr. Herbert Eichert
. . . his instruments nearby

An hour later, at 3 a.m., as an ambulance rushed him toward Doctors Hospital, Dr. Herbert Eichert's heart stopped beating. The 51-year-old cardiologist became Dade County's 22nd traffic fatality for 1959.

No one can say for certain just where Dr. Eichert was going at 2 p.m. when his car sped off the fog - shrouded road and slammed into one tree, flipped over and lodged against another tree.

Metro Accident Investigator John Nelson said Dr. Eichert's answering service had no calls for him during the night. But the doctor could have received an emergency call at his Coconut Grove home.

"Sometimes he would go for a drive late at night if he couldn't sleep," said his widow, Mrs. Mary Ruth Warfield Eichert. She is in Glyndon, Md., visiting relatives since December.

There were no skid marks to indicate that Dr. Eichert tried to avoid the crash. But it appeared that the doctor was speeding, Nelson said. The speedometer of his car was frozen at 70.

"It was so foggy I couldn't see 20 feet in front of me — you sort of had to creep along to stay on the road," said 17-year-old Sam Mathes, of 6391 Snapper Creek Dr., who discovered the wreck minutes after it occurred.

An autopsy showed Dr. Eichert had not been drinking and did not suffer a heart attack.

His death came just a few hours after the official opening of National Heart Month, a project of special interest to him as publicity chairman of the Greater Miami Heart Association.

He was many things: chief of staff of the National Children's Cardiac Home in Miami, chief of staff of medicine at the University of Miami, past vice president of the American College of Cardiology, former president and trustee of the Greater Miami Heart Association, member of the Scientific Assembly of the American Heart Association.

He was a diplomat of the American Board of Internal Medicine, a diplomat of the American Board of Cardiology, chief cardiologist for Mercy Hospital, a board member of the Dade County Medical Association, member of the Florida Medical Association, member of the American Medical Association, member of the Florida Heart Association, and attending cardiologist at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

He received his degree in medicine in 1932 from the University of Maryland and did post-graduate work at the Union Memorial Hospital, Johns Hopkins Hospital, and the American Hospital in Paris.

He came to Miami in 1937, married the same year and lived at 4000 Ensenada, Coconut Grove.

Well known in medical circles throughout America, he also made trips to Canada, Europe, and South America to treat patients.

He was a pilot and was co-chairman of the Florida Flying Physicians Association and a member of the Dade County Sheriff's Air Patrol.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mary Ruth, 17, in school in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., and a brother, Dr. Arnold H. Eichert, administrator of the South Florida Mental Hospital in West Hollywood.

The family has requested that no flowers be sent but that donation be made to the National Children's Cardiac Home, 4250 W. Flagler St.

$550,000 Bond 'Bails' Naples Debt

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES — Approval of a $550,000 refunding sewer certificate issue to "bail out" the city budget's $136,000 debt and give more sewer construction money was voted Monday by City Counil.

A three hour special session voted the issue unanimously despite protests by Dr. Francis Ford that "there's too much haste" and "This is a red herring; there are other reasons for the action."

The new issue will actually yield "about $200,000" towards the first $285,000 section of an overall $1.2 million sewer improvement. The rest of the cost will be met by $4 a front-foot property assessments along the routes served.

About $136,000 of the new issue will repay money borrowed from the city budget, or general fund, in the past year for sewer work and $200,000 will refund the first sewer revenue certificate issue.

Dr. Fred S. Eidsnes, of Black and Associates, Gainesville water and sewer consultants, said the first $285,000 construction could serve Lake Forest Subdivision, the Fifth Ave. business section, Eighth St. south to Crayton Cove, and the apartment area around East Lake Dr.

ONE MAIN would go along Broad Ave. to serve the proposed Dudley Gallahue shopping center on which construction is set to start May 1.

Dr. Eidsness said these locations would yield about $20,000 gross and $10,000 net annual revenue. He did not advocate any means of supplying the needed extra construction money.

Prices of the five areas on which figures were supplied were: (1) Third St., $144,000; (2) Eighth St., $198,000; (3) Fourth Ave. and present high school, $180,000; (4) Fifth Ave., $225,000; and (5) Lake Forest, $225,000.

Mayor W. Roy Smith
. . . 'bail out sewers'

"You'll have to find other ways to raise money" said Dr. Eidsness. "You'll never catch up with sufficient revenue to build everything you want."

Dr. Eidsness said assessments are the most equitable method of raising money and there should be no discrimination between commercial and residential property "because the pipe doesn't know where it's going."

Archie Turner stressed "Property assessments are not a part of the bond issue as it said in The Miami Herald" but would not answer when asked where other necessary funds will be found.

Mayor W. Roy Smith insisted repeatedly that the bond action is "to bail out the sewers and recall the present bonds, then we can decide where the sewers will go."

Carl O. Hoffman, new president of Collier County Citizen's Research, joined Dr. Francis Ford in questioning the need for haste in the refinancing. Hoffman also questioned Turner's right, as a vice president of the Gallahue realty firm, to vote on a bond issue which might benefit the firm's proposed shopping center.

Turner said he was willing to disqualify himself from any vote on sewers to serve the shopping center. The mayor joined him in asking why CCCR didn't offer a solution to the city's problems.

"We're not suggesting to you how to get out," said Hoffman, "because we didn't suggest to you how to get in."

The mayor said future problems could be avoided by a strict promise not to borrow any more money from the general funds.

Bill Berry argued Hoffman's statement was "excellent but it draws the wrong conclusions."

"I drew no conclusions expect you're moving too fast," said Hoffman.

COUNCILMEN SAID the reason for fast action is an April 1 deadline for refunding the present issue. If not done then, the issue would have to wait until Oct. 1.

Ford questioned the haste and the dangers of working in the rainy season as being too expensive. He added that the reasons given are "red herrings, there are other reasons for the haste."

Ford, a long-time supporter of sewers, joined in the unanimous final vote.

"It's political suicide to mention a utility tax," said Ford. "You gentlemen know if you talked about a utility tax you wouldn't be voted back in office."

Ernest E. Stevens, fiscal agent with Chester A. Lucas, said such a tax isn't equitable.

"That's a switch," said Ford, when Stevens explained he now felt people south of 14th Ave., South, would pay 30 per cent of the tax and get no benefits. No sewers are considered needed in that area, although it is the site of the city's richest property and biggest homes.

THE MAYOR declared study of details and costs could come later but added that the important thing — and the urgent factor — is to repay the general fund debt.

"I'm opposed to doing this in five days when we could take five months," said Ford. "The primary thing is the haste to do this."

"I love haste," said Arnie Haynes. "I hate to waste my time."

Water Expert Says

Naples 'Obligated' To Extend Service

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES — The City of Naples should supply water to East Naples and other areas contiguous to it the council was told Monday by Dr. Fred S. Eidsness, water consultant.

"It is sound, necessary and you have moral obligation to survey and lay out a system in East Naples," Eidsness said.

The School Bond Advisory Committee had asked city consideration of a supply to the proposed Shadowlawn Elementary School in East Naples but Mayor W. Roy Smith said he did not think the city could legally do more than carry water to its limits.

However, a charter provision allows the city to build such a system "within or without the city limits."

Eidsness argued that the water system is a utility like any other and needs customers.

"If you don't supply the water, somebody else will," he said.

A survey is being made under city-county sponsorship to locate new water sources which the doctor said he feels sure will be found.

Shift Made To Foster Indian Aid

ATLANTA — (UPI) — The U.S. Public Health Service announced Monday a shift in administration of health and medical care for approximately 700 Seminole Indians in Florida.

Dr. Will H. Aufranc, the service's regional medical director in region 4 office of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Atlanta, has taken over the responsibilities formerly held by the service's Indian Health area office in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Dr. Herbert A. Hudgins, medical officer in charge of the Oklahoma City area office, said the change was made to improve the administration of services for the Seminoles.

He gave the closer proximity of the Atlanta regional office as the main reason for the shift. Seminoles served by the Indian health program of the Public Health Service live on Dania, Big Cypress and Brighton reservations in or adjacent to the Everglades.

The service provides medical care for the Seminoles through a contract with the Florida State Board of Health and dental care through contracts with private dentists in the area.

Morales Out As Cuba's KW Consul

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — Raul C. Vianello Monday took charge of the Cuban Consulate here replacing Oscar Morales.

Vianello, an inspector general of the Cuban consular corps, said he would head the consulate temporarily until the new Cuban government appoints a permanent consul to Key West.

Key West Girl, 15, Dies in Cycle Crash

Boy Loses Control in Hitting Car

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST —A 15-year-old girl died Monday night of head injuries suffered when a motorcycle she was riding on as a passenger collided into the rear of a car on Stock Island, just north of Key West.

Dead was Rosailand Louise Grooms, of 719 Washington St., Key West.

Florida Highway Trooper Robert G. Young said the girl was riding on a motorcycle driven by Lynn Joseph Akins, of 43 Rest Beach, at 5:45 p.m. They were heading toward Key West.

Young said the motorcycle smashed into the left rear of a car driven by Theodore Eugene Branch, a Navy man stationed at the Fleet Sonar School, who was also heading into Key West.

After the collision, Akins lost control of the motorcycle and he and his passenger were thrown on the pavement.

The Grooms girl was taken to Monroe General Hospital for emergency treatment. She died at 8:30 p.m. of a fractured skull.

Akins was taken to Key West Naval Hospital where doctors said his condition was good. He suffered lacerations of the hand and leg.

Trooper Young said Akins will be charged with failure to have his motor vehicle under control. Branch was not charged.

Fish and Wildlife Paradise to Disappear
. . . Brevard residents protest planned Banana River fill here

'Banana Split' Opposed; Cocoa Group Maps Battle

By STEPHEN TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

COCOA — Taking a leaf from Miami — where an aroused public finally stopped private filling in Biscayne Bay — a militant group here is battling a proposed gigantic fill in the Banana river.

The fill, which would pinch the big river to less than half its present shore-to-shore width off Cocoa Beach, was approved by the county commission Dec. 18. It still must be passed upon by the State Internal Improvement Board (the Cabinet) — which is where the protesting group hopes to stop it.

Charges that a "closed door" session of the commission preceeded their approval preface the petition of protest, which some 2,500 persons here have signed.

Dan Brown, Miami Herald bureau chief here, and Gene Burnett, of the Titusville Star Advocate, turned in the reports on which the "closed door" charges are based. They said that at a commission session three days before the formal approval they were asked to regard as "off the record" a then-upcoming discussion of the bulkhead line.

When they refused, they reported, three members of the commission went into the sheriff's office with W. Turner Wallis, consulting engineer retained by the county, and the door was closed.

S. Gary Bennett, mayor of Cocoa, who, as a private citizen, heads up the protesting Brevard Bulkhead committee, has other views.

He said these will be thoroughly aired at 8 p.m. Thursday when his group will hold a public protest meeting in the old city hall at Cocoa.

Commissioner Parrish said: "This (the approved bulkhead line) is not typical of what will be done in the remainder of Brevard County."

Said Bennett: "That's a lot of stuff. If this project, sticking 6,020 feet out in the river and covering 3,200 acres, is allowed to go through — how can they say 'no' to others who want to come out that same distance?

"You people in Miami saw that happen, until the public was sufficiently aroused to stop it. Over in Pinellas county (St. Petersburg) they didn't get aroused fast enough and their once-beautiful Boca Ceiga bay is ruined."

Al Trafford, head of the Trafford Realty company, sales agency for Cocoa Isles, staunchly defended the project.

"Unless we fill some of these mangrove river swamps — which will also be of great aid to mosquito control — we are out of waterfront property for residents of average means. These islands have been privately owned for many years, and unless they can be bulkheaded and fills they are useless."

* * *

Bennett's committee, which includes the nationally known wild life photographer, Allen D. Cruikshank, base much of their opposition on the effects of the fill on wildlife.

"There is also the scenic value of the river. It is to us what Biscayne Bay is to Miami. It's our front door, and we don't want it filled up."

Cruikshank pointed out that the big and protected bird colony on Big Island is in the path of the proposed development.

'Much Talk . . . Good Talk'

'The Traitor' Offers Timely Message

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — An atomic-age thriller, "The Traitor," engrossed a first-night audience Monday with ideological discussions of urgent issues as timely as today's headlines.

The drama, 64th production of The Key West Players, deals with naval intelligence tracing radioactive material. One-half of the cast, directed by Mrs. Emily Wooley Goddard, portrays Navy roles — in come cases duplicating their real-life careers.

Herman Wouk's play recalls what was once said of Bernard Shaw's stagecraft: "There is much talk — but good talk."

Capt. Willard de L. Michael, commanding officer of the USS Gilmore, enacts the skipper of an intelligence team in conflict with Communist espionage. His taut delivery of lines makes much of the meaty role.

In the role of a patriotic, idealistic philosophy professor Jack Clarke, a civilian employe at the Naval Air Station, again demonstrates professional caliber. Heis also president of The Players and helped build the handsome, book-lined New York apartment set.

Others who acquit themselves creditably are Grace Sinclair, Gertrude Splaine, Ted Paul, Chief William Dickerson, Raymond W. Moran, Lt. Cmdr. David Draz, and Edwin Ek — as a pharmacitst mate, which he actually is in the Navy.

The play has performances scheduled at 8:30 p.m. through Feb. 7 at the Barn Theater.

Day Says Firing Was Not Legal

By HARRY CAICEDO
Key West Bureau Chief

KEY WEST — Hank E. Day, discharged secretary of the Key West Civil Service Board, Monday sued to have the board return him to his post.

Day complains in his lawsuit that the board's action in firing him, without a stated cause or a hearing, was contrary to the City Charter, the Florida Constitution and the 14th Amendment of the U. S. Constitution.

A joint defendent in the lawsuit is John L. Day, city finance director, and Hank Day's own son.

The elder Day asks the court to enjoin the board from interfering with his duties as secretary. He also asks that the finance director be enjoined from paying the secretary's $238.50 salary to anyone but himself.

Day has been secretary of the board since March 3, 1955, when he was appointed by then City Manager V. A. Lang.

Joke Backfires

He Called 'Collect' And Got Charged

Herald Bureau

NAPLES — Calling the Naples police "long distance collect" — even as a joke — can be costly, but not to the police.

Chief S. B. Caruthers said John Broxton, 72, Negro laborer, tried the stunt Saturday. The chief said Broxton called the station with the word he was talking long distance "collect" from New Jersey and "The police can't do anything about it."

They did though, and located Broxton in McDonald's Quarters, Negro section. Lt. Sam Bass and Officer Fred Scott charged the man with being drunk and disorderly.

The chief said Broxton was also believed to be the person who lectured a telephone operator at great length and ended his diatribe with the claim she was "a southern white hypocrite."

Florida's Stake in the Jet Age

Why Drive to Westchester? Fly to Miami

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

NEW YORK — "Why," asked an Eastern Air Lines vice president, "would a New Yorker spend two hours driving to a Westchester County golf course on a weekend when he could get to Miami in the same time?"

In the answer to that question lies the key to Florida's stake in the rapidly developing age of jet air travel.

And in anticipation of a growing demand for more and more space on southbound flights (and the northbound return), Eastern is planning now to handle twice its current New York-Miami passenger load by 1962.

THE BENEFIT to Miami and all of Florida in such a projection is obvious. Every new arrival at a Florida airport, whether the traveler is planning to stay for a weekend or a lifetime, means an added boost to our economy.

Where will all this increased airline business come from?

"From tourists, businessmen, convention-goers — from the same people who ride the airlines now and many more who don't," said one EAL official here.

"We expect the passenger totals to grow almost in proportion to the increase in speed and convenience of the airliners."

For the time being, Eastern is banking on its new fleet of prop-jet Lockheed Electras —which make the Miami-New York run in a little more than three hours—to bear the brunt of the transition between the piston age and the jet age.

PURE JETS, already in service on some of National Air Lines' New York-Miami trips, will begin carrying Eastern passengers on long hauls by early next year.

And even as plans are made for broad-scale use of the 600-mile-an-hour pure jets (which will be Douglas DC-8s in Eastern's case), the plane makers are already talking of 2,000 mile-an-hour supersonic jets as passenger carriers by 1970.

Such an airliner could put a New Yorker in Miami before he hardly had time to buckle his seat belt.

"WE'RE THINKING of things like that," said Eastern Vice President William Van Dusen, "but we're primarily concerned now with the present. There's a need for a jet-speed plane that can use existing airports and we think the Electra fills it.

"It's fast (400 miles an hour) maneuverable (climbs to 10,000 feet in six minutes), and can use almost every airport in our system. It's going to be our workhorse plane in the next few years, even after the DC-8s are in service."

Eastern's officials are not waiting for business to come to them. They have a 20-man sales staff here drumming up business, much of it directed toward the busy and lucrative New York-Miami run.

To compensate for the losses suffered in the recent 38-day strike and to gear for the jet age at the same time, the airline is keeping its sales staff on the go.

"IN A WAY," said one sales representative, "we're working for Miami as well as for Eastern. Business for us means business for you."

The jet age itself is working for Miami, too.

"It's boosting Miami and all of Florida as an appealing resort area because the state is getting closer to northern cities all the time," said Van Dusen.

"From a time standpoint, Miami became as close as Atlantic City when you could make the flight in four hours. Now, the people who used to think of making a Miami trip once a year are going several times. They can afford the time because of speedy air travel."

NEW YORK businessmen, Van Dusen pointed out, can whiz down to Miami in the morning on a rush assignment and get back that night. Some of them are doing exactly that, just as many Miami businessmen do the same thing in reverse.

Convention-goers who once regarded Miami as too distant from the nation's geographical center can eliminate that factor as a consideration now.

"In every way," said one Eastern spokesman, "Miami—perhaps more than any other city—is going to be the big gainer in this age of faster air travel."

New Businesses Are Being Born At Record Pace

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

Not ever has the business birthrate in our land been as high as it is right now—a superlative confirmation that our economy is really growing again, that we're back into a major phase of expansion.

In December alone, over 16,400 new businesses were incorporated—the highest number of births ever recorded for a single month, up a fabulous 55.5 per cent over the total in the same month a year ago, up 20.6 per cent over the previous monthly peak.

SYLVIA PORTER

While Dun & Bradstreet has not yet released the figures for the first month of 1959, it's a virtual certainty that new charters substantially topped the 13,000 in January of 1958, and the total probably set a new record for the month.

What's more, the trend is nationwide, with every region, every state feeling the new upsurge in business births. Although New York is properly worrying about the pace of its business growth, the fact is that in December New York led all others in the number of new incorporations—2,770 against 1,976 a year ago.

California was second with 1,468 new babies against 974 a year ago. And in such sparsely settled states as South Dakota, Utah, Nebraska, the year-to-year percentage gains have been spectacular, running over 100 and 200 per cent.

The Big Are Still Getting Bigger

The forces working for giantism in industry in our nation are still powerful. Through mergers, consolidations, outright purchases the big are getting bigger every year.

The forces working for business bankruptcies also are still deplorably strong. Because of inexperience, ignorance, lack of money and credit sources, business failures are running over 260 a week, and this covers only those which fail with losses to creditors. Dun & Bradstreet calculates that the total disappearing each year through voluntary liquidation, merger and bankruptcy, approaches 400,000.

But the other side of the coin—and today, this side is shiny—is the rising number of businesses coming into being. The total of individual enterprises in the United States today is estimated at above 4,200,000—a rather wondrous statistic to contemplate in this era.

This is not just a simple story about the renewed boom in business births, fascinating as it is. For behind this tale are profound implications.

Birth Upsurge Precedes a Revival

FIRST, THE UP OR downtrend in business births is one of the most sensitive clues we have to where business in general is heading. This index usually turns down long before a business decline becomes perceptible, turns up long before a business revival is clear to the majority.

SECOND, THE FACT that hundreds of thousands of individuals do go into new businesses each year against all the known odds is a significant reflection of the broadening, basic growth of our economy.

AND THIRD AND MOST important, the healthy birthrate testifies to the fact that the American dream of owning your own business, of being your own boss—no matter what the hardships, the long hours, the risks, the lack of security, the heartbreaks—is far, far from dead.

The little, independent businessman is our greatest safeguard against the monopolistic, corporate state. His birth must be encouraged and his survival must be assured, for he is, in effect, a protector of our whole way of life.

The vitality implied by the booming business birthrate today should warm the heart of any American who honestly believes in our system.

Floridians Testify For Barge Service

TAMPA, Fla. —(P)— The Interstate Commerce Commission Monday wound up the Tampa phase of a hearing on a petition for expansion of service by A. L. Mechling Barge Lines, Inc.

Among the witnesses at the final session here were chamber of commerce officials from Tampa and Fort Myers and John N. Gibson, director of development for Dade County.

All testified in favor of the expansion, citing the advantages it would bring their communities as well as the state.

Mechling, whose barges area to Tampa, seeks to extend its service south to Miami, Fort Myers and Port Everglades and up to Minneapolis, Chicago and Pittsburgh. It also is asking ICC permission to extend its hauling privileges to cover general commodities.

Gibson told Commission Examiner James L. Carr that expansion of Mechling service would help bring Miami more industry of the type that "moves in and out." He explained this type of industry brings raw material into a city and moves out a finished product

South's Textile Pay Rising

Dow Jones, AP, UPI

A wave of wage increases is spreading through the South's textile industry, with 35,000 workers affected so far.

Cannon Mills started it late last week by notifying its 16,500 employes that their wages will go up in mid-February, with minimums rising to $1.25 an hour. Higher paid workers are getting 10 cents an hour boosts.

Now, Springs Cotton Mills has posted wage hike notices in its South Carolina plants but the amounts have not been announced.

Over the weekend, Pacolet Manufacturing Co., Spartan Mills, Arkwright Mills, Judson Mills and Drayton Mills — all in South Carolina — said they plan to join in raising wages.

Textile men expect the increases to become general among the South's 550,000 textile workers.

The current wage average in the mills is $1.52 an hour but that includes overtime.

Ford's Profits Tumble

NEW YORK —(P)— Ford Motor Co. Monday reported a 1958 profit of $95,700,000, equal to $1.75 a share.

This compared with $282,800,000, or $5.20 a share, in 1957.

Net sales during 1958 came to $4,130,300,000 against $5,771,300,000 the year before.

The company announced a month ago that 1958 production of cars and trucks slumped to 1,462,312 units from the 2,226,828 turned out in 1957.

Ford was the first of the auto industry's big three to report 1958 earnings. General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. are expected to announce theirs shortly.

All three saw sales, profits and production sag in recession 1958.

London Wants Change

Dulles May Be Balm to Rift

See Stories on Page 7A

LONDON — (AP) — Expectations of a break in Western strategy on Germany pervaded London's diplomatic colony Monday — 48 hours in advance of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' flying trip to Europe.

Informats said one reason for the Dulles trip is to heal a cleavage between the Western Allies that could pave the way for a new Western Approach to the German problem.

The cleavage was reported between Britain and the U.S. on one side and France and West Germany on the other.

In the meantime, in Washington, Sen. J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) said Monday night Dulles is seriously considering a counterproposal to Russia on the German issue.

Fulbright, soon to become chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen after an hour-long conference with Dulles at the secretary's home that Dulles spoke frankly in a review of foreign policy issues, particularly what to do about Russia's new demands on Germany.

Dulles arranged the session with Fulbright on the eve of his departure for talks with Allied leaders in London, Paris and Boon.

Both Britain and the U.S. favor a reexamination of previous fixed positions on the German question. West Germany and France are less inclined to support a "new look" at the Allied position, it is felt here.

Informants said this still is the impression in London of the West Germany attitude despite a suggestion in Bonn Monday by a government spokesman for a Western foreign ministers meeting on Germany in April to be followed late in May by an East-West foreign ministers' meeting.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan are expected to spell out British ideas on a possible association of East and West Germany, in talks with Dulles Wednesday.

Foreign Office spokesmen say these are only ideas and that no set British formula for German reunification exists.

The Foreign Office, moreover, emphasizes that any association of East and West Germany would have to be voluntary and carried out in Freedom.

It is felt here that if such a plan could be worked out and presented to the Russians it would provide an opportunity for demonstrating Western flexibility.

Liberal Unit Gains in Luxembourg

LUXEMBOURG — (AP) — The leading Social Christian Party apparently lost five seats to the Conservative Liberal Party in Luxembourg's parliamentary elections.

Final unofficial figures for the 52-seat Parliament gave the Liberals 11 seats, against six in the 1954 election. The Social Christians went down from 26 to 21 seats. Unchanged were the Socialists with 17 seats and the Communists with three.

The results still leave the Social Christians and the Socialists, who formed the last government, the strongest parties in the grand duchy.

About 180,000 Luxembourgers went to the polls. Voting is compulsory here.

Pope Receives Ornate Candles

Candlemas, officially termed the Feast of the Purification, commemorates the day in which the Virgin Mary went to the temple of Jerusalem for ritual purification 40 days after childbirth, according to ancient Hebrew law.

International Search Goes On

Feeble Radio Signals Stir New Hopes for Missing Ship

HALIFAX, N. S. — (UPI) — Feeble radio signals were picked up in Denmark Monday night on the regular emergency frequency for ships, stirring new hopes there would be some survivors among the 95 persons who were aboard the Danish ship Hans Hedtoft when it crashed into an iceberg Friday.

Word came from the Danish commercial radio station, Lyngby Radio, north of Copenhagen, that intermittent and faint signals had been heard between 3:30 and 3:55 p.m.

The radio reported there were intermittent long signals with irregular intervals between.

Officials said the emergency radio transmitters on the lifeboats and rubber dinghies aboard the missing ship had been set to operate on a frequency of 8.354 megacycles, the frequency of the signals reported.

The fourth straight day of the international search for the 2,857-ton ship failed to turn up a single trace of the vessel, which vanished on the homeward leg of its maiden voyage between Denmark and Greenland.

Aboard the brilliant orange-colored ship were 40 crewmen and 55 passengers, including 19 women and six children. All were Scandinavians.

The last word received from them was an urgent radio appeal for help at 3:35 p.m. Friday.

Since then, there has been nothing except reports that could not be checked out — a piece of floating timber, possibly from the ship; what appeared to be a lifeboat bobbing upside down on storm seas, and a faint radio message believed more likely to have come from an airplane somewhere over the Atlantic.

In Copenhagen, home port of the flagship of the Royal Danish Greenland Trading Co., Danes were plunged into gloom over what appeared to be one of the worst maritime disasters of modern times.

Hans Christiansen, managing director of the company, said he harbored growing fears for the passengers and crew of the ship.

"We deeply regret we have to admit that . . . we have had no result at all from the search operations," Christiansen said.

"All unfavorable conditions seem to have conspired against us. The weather is still rough despite a certain easing. The U. S. planes are still over the area, and the surface operations will be continued, of course.

"We have no right to abandon hope, but so far we can offer the relatives nothing but our heartfelt sympathy."

Christiansen said faint radio signals heard Sunday night and early Monday might have come from a land-operated portable radio transmitter in a lifeboat.

But U. S. Air Force and Royal Canadian Air Force search officials in Halifax said they were convinced the signals, picked up by two Newfoundland radio stations, must have been faint aircraft signals.

As Would-Be Assassin

Cuban Police Hold Coral Gables Pilot

A Coral Gables pilot has been held in Cuba since the day after Christmas on suspicion of trying to assassinate Fidel Castro for $10,000, Havana police reported Monday.

But Alan Robert Nye, who gave his address as 107 Calabria Ave., Coral Gables, told newsmen he went to Cuba to aid the rebels and to bomb planes of the Batista government in its final days before Castro's revolution succeeded.

The telephone at Nye's address was no longer working Monday and the American Airmotive Corp. at Miami International Airport reported that Nye stopped working as a pilot-salesman for the cargo-flying firm on Oct. 1, 1958.

Lt. Manuel Carbonelli of the police told newsmen in Havana that Nye, a former Navy pilot, was being held in Havana on suspicion that he tried to infiltrate rebel forces to kill Castro. Carbonelli said Nye was jailed Dec. 26 pending an investigation.

Police said Nye was arrested walking along a road near Santa Rita in the Bayamo sector of Oriente Province a few days before the Batista regime collapsed on New Year's Day.

Nye said he was unarmed when he was seized, but police said they believed he had hidden a rifle with a telescopic sight and a pistol after landing in a plane.

Castro's police suspect Nye of trying to kill their leader for a $10,000 fee, but did not say who offered the money to Nye.

Nye denied all of the suspicions to newsmen.

He said that since leaving the Navy and becoming a reservist in 1954 he had worked for the Douglas Aircraft Co. at Patuxent River, Md., and for an Agricultural Air Service spraying outfit in Florida. He was listed in a 1958 Miami suburban directory as an employe of American Airmotive.

Why Not U.S. Loans For Building Schools?

More Broward News, 1B, 8C, 5D

By ART ROBINSON
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — A School Board member can't understand why the government doesn't guarantee loans to school systems for construction of schools.

John Calvin, Hollywood, said Monday he can see no reason why the government can't adopt the same kind of program for construction of schools that it does for homes with the FHA.

"I've talked with Congressman Paul Rogers and he's interested in the idea," Calvin said.

Calvin said long-term, low-interest loans would solve the problem of obtaining construction funds for a school system like Broward's. Financing of bond issues would be unnecessary.

"If a state survey team came in and certified the need for a certain number of schools and cost estimates were prepared, it would seem to me the government could guarantee loans for their construction."

Integration 'Escape' Plan Wins Backing Of Florida Officials

Arctic Chill Gripping Northland

Tain't Even Fit For a Groundhog

By Herald Wire Services

CHICAGO—Groundhogs and the weather bureau agreed on one thing Monday—the nation is in the grip of one of the severest cold waves of the winter.

Shadow or no shadow, any groundhog which didn't jump back into its warm burrow after sampling the air risked a case of frostbite.

An Arctic air mass which invaded the nation during the weekend spread from the Rockies to the Atlantic. The severe cold pressed as far south as Missouri where Kirksville registered three below zero Monday.

A high-pressure weather pattern responsible for the bitter cold in the East also brought clear skies throughout much of the area. This permitted venturesome groundhogs to see their shadows. Based on legend, though not the science of weather forecasting, it foreshadows six more weeks of winter weather.

The Arctic air, which dropped temperatures to 40 below zero in Minnesota over the weekend, spread eastward and headed slowly into the southland.

Sub-zero temperatures were general north of an imaginary line from the Missouri-Iowa border to the Central Appalachians and into Connecticut.

The cold air advance touched off a band of snow and freezing drizzle in the southern plains through western Oklahoma and most of Texas. Roads were open in the storm area, but extremely hazardous.

The weather bureau issued a special warning of freezing weather and hazardous road conditions across a six-state area.

The advisory warned of freezing rain or snow in parts of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

How It Works

Here is how the plan would work:

In the event the child is withdrawn from a school faced with integration, the state would give to the parent, possibly in monthly payments, his share of school operating funds. This money would be turned over only upon receipt of sufficient evidence of attendance at an acceptable school.

The next step would be to determine what is an acceptable school which a withdrawn student may attend and receive aid. This could be done by requiring they be approved by a private non-state authority, such as the Southern Association for Colleges and Secondary Schools, or the law could require that all teachers instructing any school be certified or licensed by the State Department of Education.

Virginia Schools Integrate Quietly

NORFOLK, Va. —(UPI)— Twenty-one Negroes went to public schools with white pupils for the first time in Virginia Monday in a momentous transition to integration that went off without a single incident.

Seventeen Negro boys and girls in this bustling seaport city walked into six high and junior high schools which had been closed since last summer in the state's effort at "massive resistance" to federal court orders.

Four other Negroes entered Stratford Junior High School in Arlington, just across the Potomac River from Washington.

There were no pickets, no crowds of grownups, no violence, no shouting, no catcalls. White pupils clustered curiously around the Negroes as they were being interviewed before school, but there was not a threatening move.

This was the first major test of whether the South would accept integration in the classrooms since violence erupted in Little Rock, Ark., in September 1957. Virginia's smooth transition was in marked contrast to the explosion that led President Eisenhower to send paratroopers to the Arkansas capital.

Reports and rumors of planned trouble and demonstrations never materialized. Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, who fought down to the wire to get around a succession of federal court orders that punctured state segregation barriers, promised that no violence would be tolerated.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Montgomery, Ala., Negro leader, urged other Southern states to follow Almond's lead. He called the Virginia integration "the most significant development in the area of race relations since the 1954 Su-

She Isn't Bothered By Color

NORFOLK, Va. —(UPI)— Karen Gearreald, a ninth grader, is one of 10,000 Norfolk teenagers for whom the end of Virginia's long fight against integration means a chance to return to school.

Karen, a 14-year-old A student, won't be able to detect a difference in her two new classmates — a Negro boy and girl — whose enrollment caused Blair Junior High to close last September.

Karen is blind.

After learning the halls, the classrooms and the stairs at Blair through two years, Karen was told in September she couldn't go back this year because two children there were a different color.

She enrolled in a tutoring class, one of many which sprang up in Norfolk, at a Methodist Church. She learned her way around the buildings, and she maintained her average.

Monday, she happily went back to her school.

"I'm overjoyed," she said. "I'm so glad things will be stable for the rest of the year. I wanted the school to be open all along."

Bailey And Ervin In Accord

Grants Suggested Private Tuition

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Attorney General Richard W. Ervin and State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey reached agreement Monday on a "parent option tuition school plan" they said would offer every parent an opportunity for escape from forced integration.

In a joint statement, these two high ranking state cabinet officers said that in their opinion the plan seemed to be the least imperfect of any legal proposal advanced to date to prevent forced race mixing in the classrooms.

The plan, in brief, authorizes parents of children faced with forced integration to withdraw them from the public schools. It authorizes payment of tuition grants amounting to the child's share of state and county school operating funds to allow the parents to send their child to non-sectarian private schools.

The amount of the grant will vary from county to county. The average for the state now would be about $240 a year.

They said the parent option plan was drawn up in the light of all recent court decisions dealing with integration and in the light of the consideration that there is no community in Florida where the climate of public opinion is such as to allow even "token" integration of schools.

By leaving it to the individual parent to decide whether his child should attend a segregated or integrated school, they said the element of "force" is removed and there is a lesser invitation to extremists.

"It will ease tensions and give people a choice," they continued.

"We do not want to do anything that will destroy the public schools. If we do not do anything, there will be turmoil and a breakdown in the schools."

Bailey said he believes school people will support the plan when they understand it, since it provides for most things school people are interested in — retaining the free public schools and retaining contractual rights and retirement rights of teachers.

To clear the way legally for operation of such a plan, the state officials said the 1959 Legislature would be asked to write an addition to the state constitution authorizing the tuition subsidies and to enact a law authorizing payment of these subsidies to the parents.

Bailey and Ervin said the plan they have agreed upon can be financed with existing school revenues.

While acknowledging that the plan is imperfect, the two state officials said that it had these important consideration:

1 — Florida's system of free public schools will be retained.

2 — No parent would be

U.S. Told It Must 'Roll Up Sleeves' For Space Battle

Glennan Shows Space Capsule Model
. . . to Rep. Overton Brooks (D., La.)

Or Watch Russia by Telescope

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The nation's civilian space chief warned Monday that Americans either must "roll up our sleeves" for a long expensive space conquest program or spend money buying telescopes to watch Russia's triumphs.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the House Space Committee that Russia is 18 months to two years ahead in developing the powerful rockets needed for exploration of deep space.

He also said under questioning that he "wouldn't put it past" the Russians to succeed in placing a man in space this year. The U.S. does not expect to put a man into an orbit around earth for about two years.

Glennan's chief assistant, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, injected a surprise note into the hearings by predicting the U.S. would need 10 to 15 years to put a man on the moon — some five years more than estimated by some experts.

Rep. James G. Fulton (R., Pa.) snapped that if the first American did not reach the moon before 10 to 15 years, "there'll be a man there saying 'nyet' when he arrives."

The House committee only last week released a series of statements by space experts predicting that with enough money and effort an American could reach the moon within a decade. The experts included Dr. Herbert York, chief scientist for the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

Glennan said he had "no hesitancy in predicting we will close the gap" in the overall race into space against Russia. But under repeated questions he declined to say when.

He said merely pouring more money into the U.S. program would not appreciably speed it up, but only give greater guarantees of success.

Glennan gave this resume of U.S. space plans for the immediate future:

HURL a 10-ton space craft into orbit around the earth by 1962.

FIRE a two-ton space craft "into deep space — far beyond the moon" by the same year.

ORBIT a 75-ton space craft around the earth by 1965.

Glennan said the U.S. had the resources, the intelligence, the technical skills and certainly the necessary wealth to conquer space. What it needs, he edded, is "determination — the willingness to roll up our sleeves and get the job done."

Defenses Called Adequate

Hiding Nothing, Says McElroy

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Defense Secretary Neil McElroy said Monday the defenses of the U.S. are "prepared to meet the threat it faces today."

McElroy sought to assure congressmen who have been openly suspicious that President Eisenhower's administration is dangerously cutting armed forces strength in the name of economy.

"There is nothing under the rug" in the nearly 41-billion-dollar defense budget request Eisenhower sent Congress for the armed services, McElroy told the House Armed Services Committee.

Some members of the committee have fumed over a reduction of the Army by 30,000 men under the level set by Congress last year. McElroy assured them no further significant cuts are planned.

McElroy also dealt directly with a statement last week by Committee Chairman Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), who said Eisenhower is asking Congress to surrender its control over the relative strengths of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

The secretary said a new system in the budget request of identifying funds by categories cutting across the services has "no intent or likelihood" of changing the actual method of appropriating to the separate services. Nor, he said, would it give the secretary of defense any important new authority to switch funds around.

The only purpose of the change, McElroy said, is to make the money needs of the military clearer to Congress and to the public.

He conceded that each service chief had some reservations about the amount of funds provided for his service. But McElroy said they joined in calling the budget adequate and "also included a statement they saw no important gaps in the 1960 defense program."

In a review of major defense programs and decisions, McElroy conceded that early warning and counter-weapons do not provide an absolute defense against enemy missile attack.

"We cannot expect to counter an all-out attack so completely that no hostile weapons will penetrate," he said.

But the defense secretary said any potential attacker would recognize U.S. defenses and strike-back capacity as formidable. The military's first responsibility, he said, is still "to retaliate with large weapons in case of an outbreak of general war."

McElroy said the Atlas missile, a prospect for intercontinental fighting, "is moving ahead even faster than originally expected." Some operational Atlases are expected to be in place and attended by trained personnel this summer, he told the congressmen.

The first "fully operational Polaris submarine, at sea ready to fire" its 1,500-mile range missile, is expected for the latter part of 1960; McElroy said.

preme Court decision was rendered."

Negro pupils here agreed there had been no incidents in class on the first day, although some animosity was shown.

"On the whole, it went pretty good," Alvarez Gounsouland, 16-year-old Negro, said.

He was asked if he made any friends.

"I think I made a friend with my homeroom teacher—at least, I hope so," he replied.

Charles Perdue, former Duke University football star who is now principal of the big Norview High School at Norfolk, went on the school's loudspeaker system at the close of the day and said:

"Continue the wonderful conduct you have shown today. Don't hang around the school. See you tomorrow."

In Norfolk, where 10,000 whites have been without public schools, city officials were highly pleased.

"I am quite proud of the people of Norfolk, the way they have faced up to this," said School Superintendent J. J. Brewbaker.

Total enrollment in the six Norfolk schools, however, was far below normal.

Maury High School, for example, which last year had more than 1,950 students, enrolled only 1,185. Blair Junior High admitted 800, compared to 1,200 last year.

Final enrollment figures for the day at Norfolk showed that 6,370 pupils attended the six affected schools compared to 9,398 in attendance last June. This was a decline of about 33 per cent.

Many parents kept their children home to see if any trouble developed.

Norfolk's Norview High School had been the place where trouble was mainly feared, but there was not the slightest incident. No adults appeared except parents driving their children to school and only four uniformed police officers were on hand.

Perhaps 1,000 whites were waiting for the doors to open when the first two Negroes appeared at 8:40 a.m. They were two girls, Carol Wellington and Johnnie Rouse, who had walked from their home nearby.

The white children formed a human corridor down the main walkway as the Negroes came to the front door.

A few white students told reporters they believed violence against the Negroes would still come.

June Davis, 14, sophomore, said:

"There is going to be trouble, I just know. Some of the boys are going to gang up on them. They say maybe the parents have given up, but the teenagers haven't."

Newspapers Print Again In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — Newspapers were back on the street here Monday after pressmen returned to work ending a work stoppage that left Columbus without two Sunday newspapers.

Still unresolved, however, is the contract dispute that triggered the work stoppage. Negotiations are continuing.

The Dispatch and The Citizen were unable to publish Sunday because pressmen, members of Web Pressmen's Union No. 15, did not show up for work.

A union spokesman said the men were reluctant to work without a contract, which expired Dec. 31. Negotiations began Dec. 10 for a new agreement.

The third daily newspaper, The Ohio State Journal, also was affected, but the pressmen returned to work in time for The Journal to publish its final home edition.

Agreement of these two cabinet officers on details of the parent option tuition plan is significant since it brings together the state's No. 1 legal officers and the state's No. 1 school officer.

The two chiefs of the 1959 Legislature endorsed the proposal. House Speaker-Designate Thomas Beasley of Defuniak Springs said the plan looks "mighty good" to him. "With some few exceptions it sounds like something I can support," he added.

Senate President-Designate Dewey Johnson of Quincy said he will back the proposal and predicted it will pass the Legislature easily.

Gov. LeRoy Collins could not be reached immediately for comment. But at his news conference last week, the governor stated emphatically he will have nothing to say about such proposals until he has received the report of his special racial advisory committee.

In past legislative sessions Ervin and Bailey were on opposite sides of the fence on the "last resort" private school law and some other proposals designed to preserve segregation, although they were agreed on the need for preserving public schools.

Earlier, Ervin had suggested that the word "uniform" be stricken from the present constitutional requirement for a uniform system of public free schools.

However, on reconsideration, he said he had decided to leave the word in with this phrase added to the present constitution:

"Provided it (the Legislature) may alternately provide assistance to any of the state's inhabitants for their education by such other reasonable means, including education in private schools and institutions, as it may determine to be in the best interest of the state."

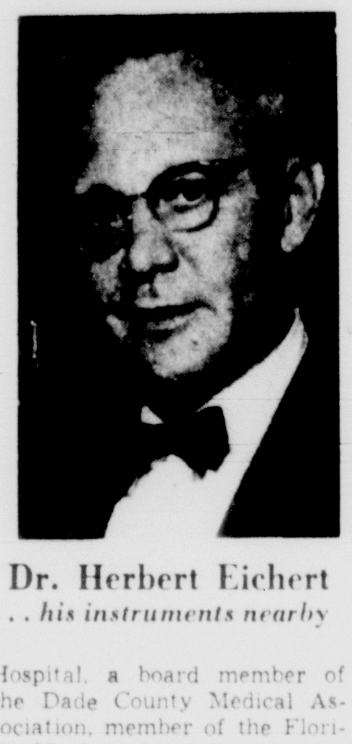
A Turn in Fog... Dr. Eichert Dies

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

He was a brilliant heart specialist, well-to-do, and socially prominent.

But early Monday, his speeding car failed to make the turn at Old Cutler Rd. and SW 128th St., leaving him pinned upside down just two feet away from his physician's bag.



Dr. Herbert Eichert
. . . his instruments nearby

An hour later, at 3 a.m., as an ambulance rushed him toward Doctors Hospital, Dr. Herbert Eichert's heart stopped beating. The 51-year-old cardiologist became Dade County's 22nd traffic fatality for 1959.

No one can say for certain just where Dr. Eichert was going at 2 p.m. when his car sped off the fog-shrouded road and slammed into one tree, flipped over and lodged against another tree.

Metro Accident Investigator John Nelson said Dr. Eichert's answering service had no calls for him during the night. But the doctor could have received an emergency call at his Coconut Grove home.

"Sometimes he would go for a drive late at night if he couldn't sleep," said his widow, Mrs. Mary Ruth Warfield Eichert. She is in Glyndon, Md., visiting relatives since December.

There were no skid marks to indicate that Dr. Eichert tried to avoid the crash. But it appeared that the doctor was speeding, Nelson said. The speedometer of his car was frozen at 70.

"It was so foggy I couldn't see 20 feet in front of me — you sort of had to creep along to stay on the road," said 17-year-old Sam Mathes, of 6391 Snapper Creek Dr., who discovered the wreck minutes after it occurred.

An autopsy showed Dr. Eichert had not been drinking and did not suffer a heart attack.

His death came just a few hours after the official opening of National Heart Month, a project of special interest to him as publicity chairman of the Greater Miami Heart Association.

He was many things: chief of staff of the National Children's Cardiac Home in Miami, chief of staff of medicine at the University of Miami, past vice president of the American College of Cardiology, former president and trustee of the Greater Miami Heart Association, member of the Scientific Assembly of the American Heart Association.

He was a diplomat of the American Board of Internal Medicine, a diplomat of the American Board of Cardiology, chief cardiologist for Mercy Hospital, a board member of the Dade County Medical Association, member of the Florida Medical Association, member of the American Medical Association, member of the Florida Heart Association, and attending cardiologist at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

He received his degree in medicine in 1932 from the University of Maryland and did post-graduate work at the Union Memorial Hospital, Johns Hopkins Hospital, and the American Hospital in Paris.

He came to Miami in 1937, married the same year and lived at 4000 Ensenada, Coconut Grove.

Well known in medical circles throughout America, he also made trips to Canada, Europe, and South America to treat patients.

He was a pilot and was co-chairman of the Florida Flying Physicians Association and a member of the Dade County Sheriff's Air Patrol.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mary Ruth, 17, in school in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., and a brother, Dr. Arnold H. Eichert, administrator of the South Florida Mental Hospital in West Hollywood.

The family has requested that no flowers be sent but that donation be made to the National Children's Cardiac Home, 4250 W. Flagler St.

Apology Due From Cliburn

The action of Pianist Van Cliburn in postponing his concert here tonight indicates a strange attitude toward a serious, established musical organization.

He didn't look too good in slighting the Ten Outstanding Young Men Congress here last month; it's possible, however, that that could have been ascribed to a mix-up or some confusion as to whether he was or was not invited.

To disappoint the Civic Music Association, except for reason of severe illness, seems like inexcusable ban manners. It's a substantial organization which has consistently brought some of the best artists and orchestras available to Fort Lauderdale season after season for many years. It at least deserves a full explanation and apology.

An Unhappy Little Acre

On file in the office of the circuit clerk is a recorded statement reading:

"Let the buyer beware. The person who buys the property at .... has bought a blasphemy to God and the truth. May God have mercy on your soul if you think you can pass a legal title on this property."

That's the strangest development to come about in the matter of land titles and such since the subject of protection of purchasers was first discussed here some days ago. The document is signed by Earl Phillips of Dania, a small builder, who has had numerous troubles with various building and zoning departments. In this case he says he built a house on the property, then stopped making payments on the lot because the interest rate was too high, and the sellers foreclosed . . .

A Defense of Title Companies

THE LATEST DEVELOPMENT is a note from the Broward County Bar Association, through President John Tolar, protesting against the suggestion that no one be permitted to purchase property until he had obtained title insurance.

"It certainly would not appear proper," the letter says. "The word 'title company' implies a check by a corporate entity, whether it be one which merely abstracts or also sells title insurance.

"Such concerns cannot practice law and any opinion given by such companies would be worthless. Corporate title insurors do not state opinions as such, but merely guarantee the title subject to a variety of objections . . ."

And a letter came from a real estate broker, George Wall: "The question now arises, how good is title insurance? How good is the abstract which is used by attorneys and title companies to base their opinions or title commitments? Suppose a stenographer leaves something out of the abstract by error — how liable is the company? Suppose a large area shows a flaw. Could the title company pay off such a large amount if necessary?

"I think the best advice you can give your readers is still to see a good lawyer, the same as we do." . . .

Most Mortgages Sound Ominous

A RETIRED COUPLE who live in Miramar write: "They promised us sod when we bought the house, but we didn't get it, as it was just verbal.

"The place has two mortgages on it, one by a bank which reads if we miss a payment they can demand full immediate payment and sue us for the same, and we must pay their lawyer fees as well as 10 per cent interest. My husband is worried about it."

This is not an unusual mortgage, a little investigation shows. Some mortgages can be foreclosed if payment is even one day late, but usually the buyer is given time to get his money in and is charged additional interest as a penalty.

However, it's possible that this couple could refinance under an FHA loan. It would be worth looking into, at least . . .

A Survey Would Have Helped

NOW IN REGARD to the property on Middle River Dr. which was partially responsible for starting this discussion on titles. It was purchased by Dr. and Mrs. Henri Males in 1952. They discovered later that the carport, which had been added two years before, after the house had been built, projected three feet over the setback line. This has clouded the title to some degree and they have lost a sale on account of it.

The evidence now shows that the Malases did not have a survey of the property made at the time they bought it. A survey presumably would have shown the violation in the setback (a violation of the deed restriction, not the zoning laws) but, not having found surveys necessary on properties which they had previously bought and sold back in Chicago, they did not feel it was necessary here . . .

But Their Cost Is Up

AS AN OFFSHOOT of this development, it turns out that the cost of surveys has gone up. For an ordinary rectangular vacant lot, it's up from $25 to $35, and on an ordinary rectangular lot with a building or other improvements, it's up from $35 to $50.

The raises were made by the Broward Surveyors Association. Fees on other types of survey work were increased proportionately . . .

Qualifying for mayor were commissioner William G. Zinkil, a former mayor, and Walter I. Warensford, chairman of Fiesta Tropicale.

Three qualified for the two commissions seats: Commissioner Jerry Tardiff, William B. Hoffheims, 2423 McKinley St.; and Maynard Abrams, 1515 Madison St.

A mayor will be elected as such this year for the first time. In the past he was selected from among the five commissioners.

A-Bomb Shelter, a Tornado; Even Some Invisible Fish

By PAT MANGAN
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — A tornado, a producing oil well, the moon and even "invisible" fish—they're all at the Parkway Junior High Science Fair.

The exhibit displays the projects of seventh, eighth and ninth graders in astronomy, physical science, biology, botany and, as an added attraction, robot manufacturing.

David Wills' tornado is produced in a glass-fronted metal cylinder by canned heat furnishing the hot air which makes a tornado when it collides with cold air.

George Dickman made the oil well which really spurts oil and shows strata of earth between the surface of the ground and the oil.

Wyane Podell may not get a prize for the exhibit, but he deserves some notice for the originality of his aquarium which apparently contains nothing but snails and seaweed. It's labeled "Invisible Fish from the South Pacific."

Chuck Vessey took advantage of the fair to display his guinea pig with a note: "This guinea pig is for sale." He says that it is subject to eight diseases and theoretically capable of producing 200 offspring a year, facts which might deter potential purchasers.

Third Teacher Sues To Get Back Position

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — The third in a series of lawsuits seeking reinstatement of fired Negro schoolteachers was filed Monday in Circuit Court.

Plaintiff John Morrison, former music teacher at Walker Elementary and Dillard High Schools, asked for his job back plus compensation.

He claimed that he was hired in 1951 and that he served continuously until the end of the last school year.

On May 16, 1958, the suit continued, the School Board wrote Morrison that he would not be reappointed.

Teachers are entitled to a continuing contract after three years probationary service School Supt. Raymond Maxwell has said that a fourth probationary year can be required.

Morrison asked for compensation "as though the termination had not intervened."

The suit paralleled recent actions taken by Claudia Holland, who won reinstatement, and Robert Allen. All three teachers retained Attorney Horace Hill of Daytona Beach.

On Monday, Hill argues against a motion to dismiss Allen's suit. Circuit Judge Lamar Warren denied the motion.

Driver Sought

FORT LAUDERDALE — City Police were searching Monday night for a hit and run driver who smashed down a light post at S. Andrews Ave. and Rose Dr.

Police notified hospitals to watch for a man who may have lacerations of the face and head as a result of the collision.

Big Noise May Bring Reforms

By HENRY KINNEY
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Efforts to have further controls placed on construction in the resort sections of the city during the winter may develop as a result of extensive pile driving scheduled to start today in the heart of Birch Estates on the beach.

Owners of nearby apartment houses are aroused, but will pursue a policy of cooperation with the builder.

The project is the 17-story Terramar Apartments, to be erected on Terramar St. at Breakers Ave. Pile-driving is expected to continue for three to five weeks, and the apartment operators fear it will drive tourists out of the neighborhood.

Donald M. Martin, vice president of the Fort Lauderdale Apartment House Association and owner of the adjacent Ridgeway Apartments, said, "we would like to do something to prevent the same thing from happening again, though, somewhere else in the city."

Martin said the developer, H. D. Remington, had agreed not to start work before 9 a.m. and halt it at 5:30 p.m., as a concession to the owners of nearby apartment buildings. Under city ordinances, he could start at 8 a.m. and continue until 6 p.m.

'Now, Where'd I Get That?'

DANIA—Nathaniel Puryear, Dania bartender stopped by police Monday for having defective headlights on his car, was arrested but not for car troubles.

Officer Henry Dusenbery said a bolita slip popped out of Puryear's wallet while he fumbled for a driver's license.

Puryear, of 608 NW Third St., was charged with possessing bolita and failing to have a driver's license.

Pianist Cliburn Cancels Out of Concert Tonight

Fans Smarting After 2nd 'Slight'

By BEVERLY PAULSON
Herald Staff Writer

Van Cliburn

. . . 'exhausted'

FORT LAUDERDALE — The city was smarting Monday night over the second failure in a month of young Pianist Van Cliburn to fulfill an appearance here.

His concert tonight under the auspices of the Community Concert Association was called off late Monday afternoon.

Association spokesmen in New York said that the pianist was suffering from "extreme exhaustion" after his weekend engagement in Milwaukee. He will appear here on April 1, they said.

Earlier this month Cliburn rejected an Outstanding Young Man of the Year award of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce here.

He said that when he originally accepted the award he was unaware it necessitated a personal appearance.

"I don't believe it," Mrs. Faustine Lasseter, Fort Lauderdale Concert Association president, said when informed of the postponement by The Herald.

Later, in confirming the information, she said, "I feel unhappy about this. I sympathize with the boy. But it seems pretty horrible it had to happen to us."

Richard W. Ward, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was somewhat less sympathetic.

"What has happened to the old slogan, 'The Show Must Go On?'" he asked. "Young performers certainly don't have the stuff old timers were made of.

"I understand that it might have been a misunderstanding the last time, but this certainly shows irresponsibility."

"This doesn't help him any here," said Robert Stephens, Junior Chamber of Commerce president. "I don't know what to say after what happened last time. I do know a lot of people wanted to hear him.

"He should have prolonged the period between engagements so he wouldn't be exhausted instead of messing up a city twice."

Cliburn had been scheduled to arrive in Miami at 4:15 p.m. Monday for concerts here tonight and at Miami on Thursday.

It was afternoon before Miami Concert people received word of the postponement and late afternoon before Cliburn's agents contacted Mrs. Lasseter.

Huge Barge Due Today

FORT LAUDERDALE — One of the biggest barges in the world is due to arrive in Fort Lauderdale early today, with liquid petroleum gas from Houston.

Named the Puerto la Cruz, it is 255 feet long and 48 feet wide. It has a capacity of 893,000 gallons and displaces 2,171 gross tons. It draws up to 17.9 feet.

It is owned by the Warren Petroleum Corp. of Tulsa, Okla. The oceangoing towboat Torrent is towing it.

Miramar Slates Election of Mayor

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

MIRAMAR — The City Council voted Monday night to hold a special mayoralty election instead of appointing a replacement for Charles Knapp who resigned Jan. 22.

The meeting, expected to be a hot one, dropped to a tepid degree after a proposal by Councilman John Ferris that an election be held April 7 was passed on a four to one vote.

In a poll of members, Councilman R. H. Epstein opposed the special election. It was learned that at a secret meeting last Thursday Epstein favored appointing a new mayor.

In rapid order, the council named John Marini as chairman and reappointed most of the old municipal department heads, including Building Inspector Buddy Arbuckle.

The council said it had no choice in accepting Knapp's resignation since he had made no move to withdraw it.

Only appointment made by Knapp and retained by the council was that of Larry Duane, city clerk.

The five-man board debuted before an overflow crowd that spilled out into the hallway of the City Recreation Department meeting room.

Only once did the neutral air threaten to turn hotter.

Midway in the meeting the council announced that a resolution sent them by Samuel Ressner arrived too late to be included on the agenda.

Ressner argued:

"Each of you has a copy of my resolution before you. The people have a right to know what it says."

Chairman Marini replied that the council needed time to study the proposal before discussing it at a public meeting.

"We are going to run this meeting with proper decorum," he said.

Ressner's proposal calls for a civil service commission to be established for municipal employes.

Knapp was not present at the session but one of his supporters, Carl Elliot, said he believes Knapp "will run again for mayor."

Knapp's recommendation that Arbuckle be dismissed as building inspector touched off a near-riot at induction ceremonies of the council Jan. 18.

Electric Drill Kills Carpenter

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — A damp floor and an electrical drill spelled out instant death Monday for a carpenter as he worked at a construction job.

Hollywood police said William Russell Lord, 50, of 270 SW Ninth St., Dania, was electrocuted at about 2 p.m. when he switched on the drill while sitting on a wet terrazzo floor.

The victim and his wife had been making preparations for their 25th wedding anniversary Feb. 24. When told of the tragedy, Mrs. Lord screamed hysterically:

"Oh, God, no. It can't be my husband."

Sympathetic neighbors who gathered quietly in the Lord's living room, described the couple as "extremely devoted."

Their whispered conversations were broken by the shrill barking of a pet dog who danced excitedly around his sobbing mistress.

The victim's boss, and close friend, Richard Wells of Dania told police:

"Lord was working with the electric drill. I heard him yell something — it might have been 'cut it off' — then, he fell over."

Lord was pronounced dead at Memorial Hospital.

The victim was working at an apartment building at 1832 Rodman St., Hollywood.

Lord also is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Sandra Krattiger, of Dania. Wadlington Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Rose Williams, owner of the apartment building, said:

"I heard a lot of noise. I thought the workmen were laughing. Then I saw they were all crying — standing there sobbing.

125 Pounds of Frosting

A Cake You Can Bank On

By RICK TUTTLE
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The solution is here, Grandma.

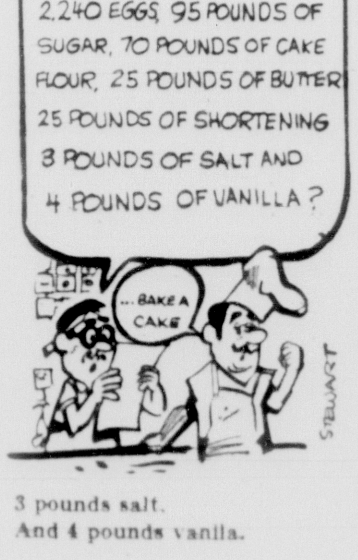
Now you can bake a cake that will keep little Melvin stuffed for weeks.

The first step is to dash off to the market with your pick-up truck.

You'll be shooting for a 200-pound finished product that would feed 2,500 ordinary people. (We all know little Melvin can eat 10 times as much cake as any grownup, so don't worry about the 2,500 figure.)

Here are the ingredients you will need:

2,240 eggs.
95 pounds sugar.
70 pounds cake flour.
25 pounds butter.
25 pounds shortening.
3 pounds salt.
And 4 pounds vanila.



WHAT IN THE WORLD ARE YOU GOING TO DO WITH 2,240 EGGS, 95 POUNDS OF SUGAR, 70 POUNDS OF CAKE FLOUR, 25 POUNDS OF BUTTER 25 POUNDS OF SHORTENING 3 POUNDS OF SALT AND 4 POUNDS OF VANILLA?
... BAKE A CAKE
STEWART

That's just for the cake.

You'll need 125 pounds of icing, too.

These figures came from Jess Quensada, plant superintendent for Grable's Bakery Co., Miami.

He's been making cakes this size for years.

In fact, he just finished one for the First National Bank of Hollywood. It is a replica of the Bank's new drive-in teller system and will be cut Wednesday and Thursday from 3 to 9 p.m. in celebration of the bank's 35th anniversary.

That's about it, Grandma.

One other small item, though: You'll need an oven that is four feet wide, seven feet long and two feet high. That's the size of the bank's cake.

Surely there's one someplace in your neighborhood.

Florida's Stake in the Jet Age

Why Drive to Westchester? Fly to Miami

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

NEW YORK — "Why," asked an Eastern Air Lines vice president, "would a New Yorker spend two hours driving to a Westchester County golf course on a weekend when he could get to Miami in the same time?"

In the answer to that question lies the key to Florida's stake in the rapidly developing age of jet air travel.

And in anticipation of a growing demand for more and more space on southbound flights (and the northbound return), Eastern is planning now to handle twice its current New York-Miami passenger load by 1962.

* * *

THE BENEFIT to Miami and all of Florida in such a projection is obvious. Every new arrival at a Florida airport, whether the traveler is planning to stay for a weekend or a lifetime, means an added boost to our economy.

Where will all this increased airline business come from?

"From tourists, businessmen, convention-goers — from the same people who ride the airlines now and many more who don't," said one EAL official here.

"We expect the passenger totals to grow almost in proportion to the increase in speed and convenience of the airliners."

For the time being, Eastern is banking on its new fleet of prop-jet Lockheed Electras —which make the Miami-New York run in a little more than three hours—to bear the brunt of the transition between the piston age and the jet age.

PURE JETS, already in service on some of National Air Lines' New York-Miami trips, will begin carrying Eastern passengers on long hauls by early next year.

And even as plans are made for broad-scale use of the 600-mile-an-hour pure jets (which will be Douglas DC-8s in Eastern's case), the plane makers are already talking of 2,000 mile-an-hour supersonic jets as passenger carriers by 1970.

Such an airliner could put a New Yorker in Miami before he hardly had time to buckle his seat belt.

"WE'RE THINKING of things like that," said Eastern Vice President William Van Dusen, "but we're primarily concerned now with the present. There's a need for a 'jet-speed plane that can use existing airports and we think the Electra fills it.

"It's fast (400 miles an hour) maneuverable (climbs to 10,000 feet in six minutes), and can use almost every airport in our system. It's going to be our workhorse plane in the next few years, even after the DC-8s are in service."

Eastern's officials are not waiting for business to come to them. They have a 20-man sales staff here drumming up business, much of it directed toward the busy and lucrative New York-Miami run.

To compensate for the losses suffered in the recent 38-day strike and to gear for the jet age at the same time, the airline is keeping its sales staff on the go.

* * *

"IN A WAY," said one sales representative, "we're working for Miami as well as for Eastern. Business for us means business for you."

The jet age itself is working for Miami, too.

"It's boosting Miami and all of Florida as an appealing resort area because the state is getting closer to northern cities all the time," said Van Dusen.

"From a time standpoint, Miami became as close as Atlantic City when you could make the flight in four hours. Now, the people who used to think of making a Miami trip once a year are going several times. They can afford the time because of speedy air travel."

* * *

NEW YORK businessmen, Van Dusen pointed out, can whiz down to Miami in the morning on a rush assignment and get back that night. Some of them are doing exactly that, just as many Miami businessmen do the same thing in reverse.

Convention-goers who once regarded Miami as too distant from the nation's geographical center can eliminate that factor as a consideration now.

"In every way," said one Eastern spokesman, "Miami—perhaps more than any other city—is going to be the big gainer in this age of faster air travel."

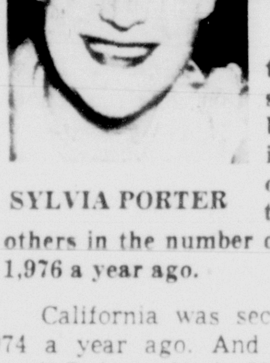
New Businesses Are Being Born At Record Pace

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

Not ever has the business birthrate in our land been as high as it is right now—a superlative confirmation that our economy is really growing again, that we're back into a major phase of expansion.

In December alone, over 16,400 new businesses were incorporated—the highest number of births ever recorded for a single month, up a fabulous 55.5 per cent over the total in the same month a year ago, up 20.6 per cent over the previous monthly peak.



SYLVIA PORTER

While Dun & Bradstreet has not yet released the figures for the first month of 1959, it's a virtual certainty that new charters substantially topped the 13,000 in January of 1958, and the total probably set a new record for the month.

* * *

What's more, the trend is nationwide, with every region, every state feeling the new upsurge in business births. Although New York is properly worrying about the pace of its business growth, the fact is that in December New York led all others in the number of new incorporations—2,770 against 1,976 a year ago.

California was second with 1,468 new babies against 974 a year ago. And in such sparsely settled states as South Dakota, Utah, Nebraska, the year-to-year percentage gains have been spectacular, running over 100 and 200 per cent.

* * *

The Big Are Still Getting Bigger

The forces working for giantism in industry in our nation are still powerful. Through mergers, consolidations, outright purchases the big are getting bigger every year.

The forces working for business bankruptcies also are still deplorably strong. Because of inexperience, ignorance, lack of money and credit sources, business failures are running over 260 a week, and this covers only those which fail with losses to creditors. Dun & Bradstreet calculates that the total disappearing each year through voluntary liquidation, merger and bankruptcy, approaches 400,000.

* * *

But the other side of the coin—and today, this side is shiny—is the rising number of businesses coming into being. The total of individual enterprises in the United States today is estimated at above 4,200,000—a rather wondrous statistic to contemplate in this era.

This is not just a simple story about the renewed boom in business births, fascinating as it is. For behind this tale are profound implications.

Birth Upsurge Precedes a Revival

FIRST, THE UP OR downtrend in business births is one of the most sensitive clues we have to where business in general is heading. This index usually turns down long before a business decline becomes perceptible, turns up long before a business revival is clear to the majority.

SECOND, THE FACT that hundreds of thousands of individuals do go into new businesses each year against all the known odds is a significant reflection of the broadening, basic growth of our economy.

AND THIRD AND MOST important, the healthy birthrate testifies to the fact that the American dream of owning your own business, of being your own boss—no matter what the hardships, the long hours, the risks, the lack of security, the heartbreaks—is far, far from dead.

The little, independent businessman is our greatest safeguard against the monopolistic, corporate state. His birth must be encouraged and his survival must be assured, for he is, in effect, a protector of our whole way of life.

The vitality implied by the booming business birthrate today should warm the heart of any American who honestly believes in our system.

Floridians Testify For Barge Service

TAMPA, Fla. —(P)— The Interstate Commerce Commission Monday wound up the Tampa phase of a hearing on a petition for expansion of service by A. L. Mechling Barge Lines, Inc.

Among the witnesses at the final session here were chamber of commerce officials from Tampa and Fort Myers and John N. Gibson, director of development for Dade County.

All testified in favor of the expansion, citing the advantages it would bring their communities as well as the state.

Mechling, whose barges serve the Mississippi River area to Tampa, seeks to extend its service south to Miami, Fort Myers and Port Everglades and up to Minneapolis, Chicago and Pittsburgh. It also is asking ICC permission to extend its hauling privileges to cover general commodities.

Gibson told Commission Examiner James I. Carr that expansion of Mechling service would help bring Miami more industry of the type that "moves in and out." He explained this type of industry brings raw material into a city and moves out a finished product to markets elsewhere.

South's Textile Pay Rising

Dow Jones, AP, UPI

A wave of wage increases is spreading through the South's textile industry, with 35,000 workers affected so far.

Cannon Mills started it late last week by notifying its 16,500 employes that their wages will go up in mid-February, with minimums rising to $1.25 an hour. Higher paid workers are getting 10 cents an hour boosts.

Now, Springs Cotton Mills has posted wage hike notices in its South Carolina plants but the amounts have not been announced.

Over the weekend, Pacolet Manufacturing Co., Spartan Mills, Arkwright Mills, Judson Mills and Drayton Mills — all in South Carolina — said they plan to join in raising wages.

* * *

Textile men expect the increases to become general among the South's 550,000 textile workers.

The current wage average in the mills is $1.52 an hour but that includes overtime.

Ford's Profits Tumble

NEW YORK —(P)— Ford Motor Co. Monday reported a 1958 profit of $95,700,000, equal to $1.75 a share.

This compared with $282,800,000, or $5.20 a share, in 1957.

Net sales during 1958 came to $4,130,300,000 against $5,771,300,000 the year before.

The company announced a month ago that 1958 production of cars and trucks slumped to 1,462,312 units from the 2,226,828 turned out in 1957.

Ford was the first of the auto industry's big three to report 1958 earnings. General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. are expected to announce theirs shortly.

All three saw sales, profits and production sag in recession 1958.

Voter Interest

If POMPANO BEACH candidates for City Commission can stir up enough interest, chances are more people will vote than ever before. At least there are more active voters.

City Clerk Mrs. Winifred Sharp estimates 2,600 persons are now registered to vote. Registration deadline for the Feb. 10 primary and Feb. 17 general elections was last Friday.

Because of a re-registration ordinance, Mrs. Sharp said the 2,600 figure represents more "active" voters than the more than 3,000 registered at the last election.

Guild's Rigoletto 'Stunning'

By BOB FREUND
Special To The Herald

FORT LAUDERDALE — Verdi's "Rigoletto" was given a stunning production Monday evening at the War Memorial Auditorium.

The visual and physical aspects were handsomely served. Sets, lighting, costuming and, at least partially, the vocal and dramatic contributions carried impact.

The Opera Guild's production is beautiful — no buts. Lending itself to both dazzling court scenes and the somber gloom of a shabby wayside inn, "Rigoletto" is an irresistible piece of theater, both musically and dramatically.

For those who place vocal beauty above dramatic intensity, let us first consider Flaviano Labo, a tenor of brilliance and immense promise, who already has distinguished himself in many of the world's great opera houses.

Sr. Labo has a voice production that reminds one of a young Jan Peerce. He has good stage presence, was at his best in the romantic scenes with Gilda, less effective in the Duke's court intrigues.

Dramatically, the evening belonged to Giuseppe Taddei, whose Rigoletto was at once pitiful and vengeful. At times his voice, a warm and rich instrument, seemed a trifle dulcet and soothing for some of the scorching music he has to sing. However, as the evening progressed, Sr. Taddei's court jester took on dimensions only hinted at in the first act.

Both gentlemen were of invaluable help in their duets with Patricia Cali, the young Miamian who sang Gilda.

Miss Cali, who is said to have much experience in this role, sang a tonally beautiful "Caro Nome." Her stage gestures, also, were of the old, told school, including a persistent frown, arms to breast, wrist to forehead, fingers heavenward.

Thelma Altman delivered an experienced touch to the brief but exciting role of the wanton Maddalena. Norman Scott as the assassin Sparacufile looked threatening and was a bit wooden.

The chorus was splendid. George Gibson as Marulo sang well. Other members of the small featured cast contributed capable bits of singing, restricted by their very minuteness.

Pfeil Rites To Be in Pittsburgh

FORT LAUDERDALE — Burial will be in Pittsburgh for John M. Pfeil Sr., 67, who died Sunday at his home, 2101 N. Ocean Blvd.

An insurance executive, Mr. Pfeil came here 11 years ago from Pittsburgh. He was a director of two hospital boards, Holy Cross and Lauderdale Beach, and was a member of the Coral Ridge and Everglades Yacht Clubs.

Survivors include his wife, Cecilia; and a son and daughter, both of Pittsburgh. Fannin Funeral Home is in charge.

Mrs. Helene McKee

FORT LAUDERDALE — Rosary services will be at 6 p.m. today at Fannin Funeral Home for Mrs. Helene McKee, 43, who died Sunday. Mrs. McKee came here 11 years ago from Buffalo, and lived at 1401 NW Third Ave. Her husband, Dennis, survives. Services will be at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Clement's Catholic Church. Burial will be in Lauderdale Memorial Gardens.

Dr. Norbert Wegmann

POMPANO BEACH — Dr. Norbert John Wegmann, 58, who was visiting at 3204 SE 11th St., died at Holy Cross Hospital Monday. A physician and surgeon from Milwaukee, Mr. Wegmann came here a month ago. Survivors include his wife, Grace, five sons, including Dr. George Williams, Fort Lauderdale, and a daughter. Services and burial will be at Whitefish Bay, Wis., with local arrangements by Kraeer Funeral Home.

Mrs. Myrtle A. Porter

LAUDERDALE BY THE SEA — Mrs. Myrtle A. Porter, 81, of 235 Imperial Way, died Monday afternoon. She was born in Claremont, Md., and is survived by two sons. Arrangements at Kraeer Funeral Home are incomplete.

Port Committee Gets Tough With Big Oil Dealers

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — The Port Everglades Security Committee got tough Monday with petroleum dealers who asked for a 30-day delay on a safety survey of bulk storage tanks.

A recommendation for immediate correction of deficiencies in dikes and capacities of impounded areas is included in the committee's findings. The dikes retain flooding gasoline in an emergency.

A. X. Frey, speaking for the dealers council, asked for a postponement on all points affecting their operation. Their panel would like to decide on the report, he said.

"The panel has nothing to say about it," crackled Port Manager R. T. Spangler. "The requirements are in previous regulations.

"Some dikes have subsided and eroded," he added.

Commissioner Fred Stevens, committee head, said: "We're merely enforcing regulations . . . we're gointo have an efficient business here.

Stevens agreed to a full commission meeting March 4 to discuss the other two points affecting the petroleum dealers—the installation of fixed foam equipment and roof tanks on bulk plants, and provision of 10,000 gallons of foam at the port.

Spangler estimated that the full report can be put into práctice at a cost of not more than $100,000.

John Hines, Broward County Taxpayers League president, flared up when Spangler answered his question on financing methods with: "What difference does it make? It's not taxpayers' money."

Spangler explained that the port has more than $1,000,000 in hand, including funds for new buildings, and that the surplus account can only be used for improvements.

A requirement for all port business to start nightwatchman service will be deleted if the suggested control observation tower is built, Stevens said.

The report is to get further study by the full commission Wednesday. Chairman Ed Crowells said that purchase of a fireboat will be considered by another committee at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Big River Filling Job Brings Howls

By STEPHEN TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

COCOA — Taking a leaf from Miami — where an aroused public finally stopped private filling in Biscayne Bay — a militant group here is battling a proposed gigantic fill in the Banana river.

The fill, which would pinch the big river to less than half its present shore-to-shore width off Cocoa Beach, was approved by the county commission Dec. 18. It still must be passed upon by the State Internal Improvement Board (the Cabinet) — which is where the protesting group hopes to stop it.

Charges that a "closed door" session of the commission preceeded their approval preface the petition of protest, which some 2,500 persons here have signed.

S. Gary Bennett, mayor of Cocoa, who, as a private citizen, heads up the protesting Brevard Bulkhead committee, has other views.

He said these will be thoroughly aired at 8 p.m. Thursday when his group will hold a public protest meeting in the old city hall at Cocoa.

Commissioner Parrish said: "This (the approved bulkhead line) is not typical of what will be done in the remainder of Brevard County."

Said Bennett: "That's a lot of stuff. If this project, sticking 6,020 feet out in the river and covering 3,200 acres, is allowed to go through — how can they say 'no' to others who want to come out that same distance?

"You people in Miami saw that happen, until the public was sufficiently aroused to stop it. Over in Pinellas county (St. Petersburg) they didn't get aroused fast enough and their once-beautiful Boca Ceiga bay is ruined."

Al Trafford, head of the Trafford Realty company, sales agency for Cocoa Isles, staunchly defended the project.

"Unless we fill some of these mangrove river swamps — which will also be of great aid to mosquito control — we are out of waterfront property for residents of average means. These islands have been privately owned for many years, and unless they can be bulkheaded and fills they are useless."

Bennett's committee, which includes the nationally known wild life photographer, Allen D. Cruikshank, base much of their opposition on the effects of the fill on wildlife.

"There is also the scenic value of the river. It is to us what Biscayne Bay is to Miami. It's our front door, and we don't want it filled up."

Cruikshank pointed out that the big and protected bird colony on Big Island is in the path of the proposed development.

Developer Named in Big Suit

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — The developer of a subdivision in the wilds west of State Rd. 7 faced a $230,000 suit Monday filed by his former associates who accused him of using misleading advertising.

Leon J. Grappell, Great Neck Estates, N.Y., was the developer of Lauderdale Park Estates seven miles west of State Rd. 7 on State Rd. 84. Last March, The Herald disclosed he was advertising "FHA mortgages, parks, schools, sewers" on a billboard on State Rd. 84.

Newspaper advertising claimed the subdivision was only "15 minutes from the beach," although it would be impossible to drive 15 miles to the beach through traffic in that time.

The developer accepted deposits on the lots before a plot was recorded, and he was unable to give a deed.

Lauderdale River Park Estates Inc. brought the suit against Grappell. It accused him of spending $30,000 more than he was authorized to for dredging canals and other work.

His conduct in selling homesites and homes "proved disastrous to the name, face, credit and business reputation of the plaintiff," the complaint states.

Grappell was vice president of the company.

Kiwanis President Due Here

Herald Bureau

HOLLYWOOD — Kiwanis Club members representing Florida East Coast cities from Key West to Melbourne will gather here Friday for a dinner honoring the organization's international president, Kenneth B. Loheed of Toronto.

About 1,000 of them are expected for the affair at the Hollywood Beach Hotel starting at 7 p.m.

Loheed, a shoe merchant, is to arrive at 3:15 p.m. at the Hollywood exit of the Florida Turnpike and be escorted to City Hall. There he will meet Mayor E. L. McMorrough and other city officials, and dedicate 10 palm trees planted for the provinces of Canada in the circle of states, maintained by the Hollywood Kiwanis Club.

A brief reception will be held at the hotel at 6:45 p.m. Dr. Gordon Carver, president of the Hollywood Club, will preside at the dinner. Chester W. McDonald of Lakeland, Kiwanis governor for Florida, and Lt. Gov. Joe Jolley of Fort Lauderdale will be in Loheed's party.

Loheed became the international president last August at the 43rd Kiwanis convention in Chicago.

Shift Made To Foster Indian Aid

ATLANTA — (UPI) — The U.S. Public Health Service announced Monday a shift in administration of health and medical care for approximately 700 Seminole Indians in Florida.

Dr. Will H. Aufranc, the service's regional medical director in region 4 office of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Atlanta, has taken over the responsibilities formerly held by the service's Indian Health area office in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Dr. Herbert A. Hudgins, medical officer in charge of the Oklahoma City area office, said the change was made to improve the administration of services for the Seminoles.

He gave the closer proximity of the Atlanta regional office as the main reason for the shift. Seminoles served by the Indian health program of the Public Health Service live on Dania, Big Cypress and Brighton reservations in or adjacent to the Everglades.

The service provides medical care for the Seminoles through a contract with the Florida State Board of Health and dental care through contracts with private dentists in the area.

Preventative health services are provided directly by the Public Health Service through a nurse and a sanitarian aid with offices at Clewiston.

Legislators to 'Talk It Over'

Annexation Plan Studied

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — Broward County's legislative delegation Monday took Fort Lauderdale's annexation plans under advisement.

Sen. George Tedder told commissioners the delegation would have to talk over the city's plan to annex land west of the city before deciding whether to support it.

Assistant City Attorney Robert O'Toole told the delegation he thought they could "satisfy everybody" by endorsing the plan which provides opportunities for residents in the city and in the annexation area to vote on it.

Rep. Emerson Allsworth said it would be necessary to have the elections over within ample time for communities in the annexation area to incorporate if they vote against annexation.

The city's plan calls for an annexation election in the city April 14. If the results are favorable, the election would be followed by submission of a local bill annexing the area in question, with a provision that the bill become law only if it is approved in a vote in the area concerned.

Easter Gates, supervisor of registration, has informed city officials it will take about six weeks to set up the election in the county, which would mean it could not be held until the latter part of May.

The Legislature is expected to close its session June 7.

Mayor John V. Russell said he believes a vote is the only way to determine majority sentiment on the annexation question.

Nightlife with George Bourke

Eartha Kitt, Lewis, Martin to Make Eden Roc Glitter

HARRY MUFSON waited a long time to fill his Cafe Pompeii season hand but it should be a winning one. Eartha Kitt opens there on Feb. 6 with Rowan and Martin a pair of Walter Winchell favorities; Joe E. Lewis will move in on Feb. 11 with Edie Gorme for a two week stand; Tony Martin is down for a Feb. 25 to March 3 run-delay; Sammy Davis, Jr., opens March 4, and Maurice Chavalier is scheduled for March 20 through the 26.

There will be a lot of eyebrow lifting over the Sammy Davis engagement. He will be running in opposition to Frank Sinatra, who opens at the Fontainebleau Hotel La Ronde Room on March 3. Up to now they were fellow scamps!

Irv Tunick has taken off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and is working on the scripts for two NBC TV shows during a vacation at the Diplomat. Tunick wrote the teleplay for "The Dead Sea Scrolls" . . . Boxer Vince Martinez, at the Aristocrat Dubonnet Lounge, revealing that he's a landowner aristocrat himself — he owns the Harding Court Apartments.

They Play 12 Instruments

THE VO-CALIANS, for years a popular feature at the MacFadden-Deauville Hotel, are on Easy Street now. At least they are currently at the Easy Street Lounge of the Florida Shores Hotel. The trio — Eddie Paisley, Frank Wantuck and Bill Mango — play a total of 12 instruments! . . . Diplomat Cafe Cristal maitre de Domenic and his wife, Bunny, expect a stork dividend in April.

Eddie Lieberman, the expert on Indian affairs who was "bumped" off the $64,000 TV Challenge quiz when it was cancelled, is now employed as a designer for Donald S. Lavigne here in Miami. Writing of "Tonka," Eddie says that it is a "better attempt at depicting the Custer battle than some of the previous ones." "Tonka" sort of debunks the legend of a heroic Gen. George Custer.

Harry Mufson . . . winners

Frank Wantuck . . . versatile

Nancy Greene . . . 13th

He is pictured as vain and wrong in his military decisions. Eddie, who has read the report of the Reno trials and other data on the fight at Little Big Horn concludes that "Custer's luck held out even in death. If he had survived there is no doubt that he would have been court-martialed and shot."

Hackett, Krupa, Teagarden Shift

GEORGE ADE once said: "Every man thinks he could do three things — write a play, edit a newspaper and run a hotel." Gosh! Wonder if WE could run a hotel! . . . Porky's Hideaway seems to be alternating with Rocking MB Lounge in using those jazz stars — Dizzy Gillespie, Cozy Cole and Earl Bostic. Dizzy gave way at Rocking MB to follow Cozy into the Hideway — and Cozy takes over at Rocking MB . . . Bobby Hackett goes from Miami Springs Villas to Monte Cristo in Fort Lauderdale on Saturday and Gene Krupa, who was at Porky's will be at Miami Springs Villas Friday and at Monte Cristo on Feb. 24. Jack Teagarden, due at Miami Springs Villas Feb. 27 will warm up at Porky's Feb. 16.

The mink and honeys will pour into La Bastille like wine tonight. It's the night for the 13th annual Polio Ball and Mrs. Robert (Nancy) Greene hasn't lessened in her efforts to make it better than last year's $30,000 profit attained for polio research just because progress has been made in conquering infantile paralysis. It is our guess that it will be one of the best-dressed affairs of the year.

Shawn-Robin-Van Bill Clicks

IT ISN'T just diplomatic courtesy which prompts us to state that the current Dick Shawn-Bobby Van-Tina Robin bill at the Diplomat Cafe Cristal is one that presents an ideal Triple Entente which received much more than a mere vote of confidence from its opening night audience. From Tina's opening rhythmic tinnabulations to Shawn's satirical savvy (you should pardon our chauvinism but he is a local boy who made good), there isn't a moment that is dull.

Shawn is probably better known in our smallest hamlet (Misery Gore, Maine?) than he is at the University of Miami, but it was from that seat of education that he embarked on his trip to stardom in almost every show medium. You must remember him for his blistering but highly humorous take-off at the Rock Age and his trademark "Massa Richard" teaser bit. Something new has been added too—a satirical bit in which Dick deplores the way exposure has become the order of the day in Las Vegas' shows.

Miss Robin is a thrush of great vocal vigor. A pretty good stylist on her own, she is more the performer than straight song stylist here, hitting the peak of her crowd pleasing with excellent impressions of the styles of Kay Starr, Roberta Sherwood and Teresa Brewer. On her own, a nice styling of "Melancholy Baby" and "I've Got a Crush on You" were superb.

Film star Bobby Van, of "Kiss Me Kate" and other MGM musicals holds over in a delightful bit of hoofing and spoofing.

Ekberg, Gypsy Rose in 'Mimi'-drama

Stark Murder Invades Strip Joint

Movie Review

IN BRIEF — A columnist strips the mystery off a "ripper" murder, plus a fair war drama.

"The Screaming Mimi," at the Town Theater, is one of those murder melodramas wherein columnists are meeting the most interesting people and having a heck of a time freeloading and visiting showgirls in dressing rooms from beginning to end. You wonder when they settle down to write a column.

This version stars Phil Carey, on a bill co-featuring "The Last Blitzkreig," a tight little tale of a World War II incident which was reviewed here last week when it opened at the Lincoln Theater. Together they make a fair two hours of entertainment.

Situation in "The Screaming Mimi" concerns a lass of questionable mentality who is being befriended by a psychologist.

His intentions are open to suspicion — especially when his charge, who has been installed as a dancer in Gypsy Rose Lee's strip joint, is found stabbed under circumstances which indicate the attack was made by a "ripper" who had been more successful in an earlier case.

Phil runs down the killer although he isn't particularly happy about it. An effort is made to make you suspicious of Phil—but nobody is going to fall for the line so we aren't violating any rules in tipping you off to keep an eye on the butler or anybody else—but scrub Carey.

Red Norvo and Miss Lee do specialty numbers, with Anita Ekberg, who is the slashing "victim" also attempting a go at Miss Lee's specialty.

Story has more loopholes than a cheese but then this IS supposed to be a mystery.

London Wants Change

Dulles May Be Balm to Rift

See Stories on Page 7A

LONDON — (AP) — Expectations of a break in Western strategy on Germany pervaded London's diplomatic colony Monday — 48 hours in advance of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' flying trip to Europe.

Informats said one reason for the Dulles trip is to heal a cleavage between the Western Allies that could pave the way for a new Western Approach to the German problem.

The cleavage was reported between Britain and the U.S. on one side and France and West Germany on the other.

In the meantime, in Washington, Sen. J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) said Monday night Dulles is seriously considering a counterproposal to Russia on the German issue.

Fulbright, soon to become chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen after an hour-long conference with Dulles at the secretary's home that Dulles spoke frankly in a review of foreign policy issues, particularly what to do about Russia's new demands on Germany.

Dulles arranged the session with Fulbright on the eve of his departure for talks with Allied leaders in London, Paris and Boon.

Both Britain and the U.S. favor a reexamination of previous fixed positions on the German question. West Germany and France are less inclined to support a "new look" at the Allied position, it is felt here.

Informants said this still is the impression in London of the West Germany attitude despite a suggestion in Bonn Monday by a government spokesman for a Western foreign ministers meeting on Germany in April to be followed late in May by an East-West foreign ministers' meeting.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan are expected to spell out British ideas on a possible association of East and West Germany in talks with Dulles Wednesday.

Foreign Office spokesmen say these are only ideas and that no set British formula for German reunification exists.

The Foreign Office, moreover, emphasizes that any association of East and West Germany would have to be voluntary and carried out in Freedom.

It is felt here that if such a plan could be worked out and presented to the Russians it would provide an opportunity for demonstrating Western flexibility.

Liberal Unit Gains in Luxembourg

LUXEMBOURG —(AP)— The leading Social Christian Party apparently lost five seats to the Conservative Liberal Party in Luxembourg's parliamentary elections.

Final unofficial figures for the 52-seat Parliament gave the Liberals 11 seats, against six in the 1954 election. The Social Christians went down from 26 to 21 seats. Unchanged were the Socialists with 17 seats and the Communists with three.

The results still leave the Social Christians and the Socialists, who formed the last government, the strongest parties in the grand duchy.

About 180,000 Luxembourgers went to the polls. Voting is compulsory here.

Pope Receives Ornate Candles

VATICAN CITY — (UPI)— Pope John received 260 richly-decorated candles Monday from heads of religious orders, institutes and churches in observance of Candlemas Day.

Candlemas, officially termed the Feast of the Purification, commemorates the day in which the Virgin Mary went to the temple of Jerusalem for ritual purification 40 days after childbirth, according to ancient Hebrew law.

'Tuckered Out, Hug Weary' Cliburn Skips Miami Date

By DORIS RENO
Herald Music Critic

Piano virtuoso Van Cliburn is "so tuckered out with being hugged, kissed and cocktail-partied clear across the U. S." that he canceled two South Florida dates Monday.

The young bachelor was to have appeared in Fort Lauderdale's War Memorial Auditorium tonight, and in Miami Thursday night.

Charles H. Crandon, whose Miami Civic Music Association was to have presented the young pianist in recital Thursday evening, said Cliburn "suddenly canceled his entire February tour."

CLIBURN

Cliburn is the 24-year-old Texan who shot to world prominence last April when he won the big Tchaikovsky prize in Moscow.

"I'm not mad at him," said Crandon, who's exhausted himself with telling Miamians over the phone of the cancellation.

Crandon said Cliburn probably will fulfill his contract here the week of March 29.

"We'll let our members know the new date as soon as we clear it with New York," he sighed. "If I'm tired trying to put on a Cliburn concert here, I know Cliburn is even more tired. I sympathize with him."

Cliburn's New York manager, William Judd, the president of Columbia Concerts, said the 24-year-old pianist can't go on any longer without a rest.

"He'll have a breakdown. He's got to have Feburary off," Judd said.

The pianist canceled two Texas appearances during January because he could not otherwise get time to have his teeth fixed.

As Would-Be Assassin

Cuban Police Hold Coral Gables Pilot

A Coral Gables pilot has been held in Cuba since the day after Christmas on suspicion of trying to assassinate Fidel Castro for $10,000, Havana police reported Monday.

But Alan Robert Nye, who gave his address as 107 Calabria Ave., Coral Gables, told newsmen he went to Cuba to aid the rebels and to bomb planes of the Batista government in its final days before Castro's revolution succeeded.

The telephone at Nye's address was no longer working Monday and the American Airmotive Corp. at Miami International Airport reported that Nye stopped working as a pilot-salesman for the cargo-flying firm on Oct. 1, 1958.

Lt. Manuel Carbonelli of the police told newsmen in Havana that Nye, a former Navy pilot, was being held in Havana on suspicion that he tried to infiltrate rebel forces to kill Castro. Carbonelli said Nye was jailed Dec. 26 pending an investigation.

Police said Nye was arrested walking along a road near Santa Rita in the Bayamo sector of Oriente Province a few days before the Batista regime collapsed on New Year's Day.

Nye said he was unarmed when he was seized, but police said they believed he had hidden a rifle with a telescopic sight and a pistol after landing in a plane.

Castro's police suspect Nye of trying to kill their leader for a $10,000 fee, but did not say who offered the money to Nye.

Nye denied all of the suspicions to newsmen.

He said that since leaving the Navy and becoming a reservist in 1954 he had worked for the Douglas Aircraft Co. at Patuxent River, Md., and for an Agricultural Air Service spraying outfit in Florida. He was listed in a 1958 Miami suburban directory as an employe of American Airmotive.

Jobless Drop To Be Later

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, predicts that unemployment will not drop back to its pre-recession level until the end of this year.

Clague also predicted there would be a "substantial increase" in personal income in 1959. He said lower prices for meat, especially pork, and possibly lower prices for fruits and vegetables might hold the cost of living steady.

Addressing the convention of the Potato Chip Institute, the commissioner said, "Employment will continue to gain as business recovery proceeds but . . . unemployment will not be reduced to prosperity levels until the end of the year."

Evans in Lead for Job In Solicitor's Office

More Palm Beach News, 1B, 8C, 3D, 5D

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — A recent temporary appointment as an assistant in the county solicitor's office may lead to a permanent berth there for Attorney John H. Evans.

County Solicitor Charles A. Nugent said Monday that Evans is one of three candidates for the position of third assistant solicitor.

He indicated Evans probably will get the $7,000-a-year job.

Ralph J. Mabie, third assistant at present, resigned late in December, effective Jan. 1, to enter private law practice. He agreed to stay on, however, while Nugent was in Bartow.

The solicitor returned Friday from that city, where he won a conviction in the perjury trial of former State Sen. Harry King. Nugent said Mabie definitely will leave at the end of this week. Evans filled in at the office while Nugent while Nugent was away.

Because Nugent is expected to return to Polk County to act as special prosecutor in other cases stemming from the King trial, he said he probably will make the appointment before he leaves.

Nugent said the date for his return to Bartow hinges on the outcome of second district appellate court action on a motion filed by Pat Gordon, who also was charged in the King case.

Integration 'Escape' Plan Wins Backing Of Florida Officials

Arctic Chill Gripping Northland

Tain't Even Fit For a Groundhog

By Herald Wire Services

CHICAGO—Groundhogs and the weather bureau agreed on one thing Monday—the nation is in the grip of one of the severest cold waves of the winter.

Shadow or no shadow, any groundhog which didn't jump back into its warm burrow after sampling the air risked a case of frostbite.

An Arctic air mass which invaded the nation during the weekend spread from the Rockies to the Atlantic. The severe cold pressed as far south as Missouri where Kirksville registered three below zero Monday.

A high-pressure weather pattern responsible for the bitter cold in the East also brought clear skies throughout much of the area. This permitted venturesome groundhogs to see their shadows. Based on legend, though not the science of weather forecasting, it foreshadows six more weeks of winter weather.

The Arctic air, which dropped temperatures to 40 below zero in Minnesota over the weekend, spread eastward and headed slowly into the southland.

Sub - zero temperatures were general north of an imaginary line from the Missouri-Iowa border to the Central Appalachians and into Connecticut.

The cold air advance touched off a band of snow and freezing drizzle in the southern plains through western Oklahoma and most of Texas. Roads were open in the storm area, but extremely hazardous.

The weather bureau issued a special warning of freezing weather and hazardous road conditions across a six-state area.

The advisory warned of freezing rain or snow in parts of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

How It Works

Here is how the plan would work:

In the event the child is withdrawn from a school faced with integration, the state would give to the parent, possibly in monthly payments, his share of school operating funds. This money would be turned over only upon receipt of sufficient evidence of attendance at an acceptable school.

The next step would be to determine what is an acceptable school which a withdrawn student may attend and receive aid. This could be done by requiring they be approved by a private non-state authority, such as the Southern Association for Colleges and Secondary Schools, or the law could require that all teachers instructing any school be certified or licensed by the State Department of Education.

Virginia Schools Integrate Quietly

NORFOLK, Va. —(UPI)— Twenty - one Negroes went to public schools with white pupils for the first time in Virginia Monday in a momentous transition to integration that went off without a single incident.

Seventeen Negro boys and girls in this bustling seaport city walked into six high and junior high schools which had been closed since last summer in the state's effort at "massive resistance" to federal court orders.

Four other Negroes entered Stratford Junior High School in Arlington, just across the Potomac River from Washington.

There were no pickets, no crowds of grownups, no violence, no shouting, no catcalls. White pupils clustered curiously around the Negroes as they were being interviewed before school, but there was not a threatening move.

This was the first major test of whether the South would accept integration in the classrooms since violence erupted in Little Rock, Ark., in September 1957. Virginia's smooth transition was in marked contrast to the explosion that led President Eisenhower to send paratroopers to the Arkansas capital.

Reports and rumors of planned trouble and demonstrations never materialized. Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, who fought down to the wire to get around a succession of federal court orders that punctured state segregation barriers, promised that no violence would be tolerated.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Montgomery, Ala., Negro leader, urged other Southern states to follow Almond's lead. He called the Virginia integration "the most significant development in the area of race relations since the 1954 Su-

She Isn't Bothered By Color

NORFOLK, Va. —(UPI)— Karen Gearreald, a ninth grader, is one of 10,000 Norfolk teenagers for whom the end of Virginia's long fight against integration means a chance to return to school.

Karen, a 14-year-old A student, won't be able to detect a difference in her two new classmates — a Negro boy and girl — whose enrollment caused Blair Junior High to close last September.

Karen is blind.

After learning the halls, the classrooms and the stairs at Blair through two years, Karen was told in September she couldn't go back this year because two children there were a different color.

She enrolled in a tutoring class, one of many which sprang up in Norfolk, at a Methodist Church. She learned her way around the buildings, and she maintained her average.

Monday, she happily went back to her school.

"I'm overjoyed," she said. "I'm so glad things will be stable for the rest of the year. I wanted the school to be open all along."

Bailey And Ervin In Accord

Grants Suggested Private Tuition

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Attorney General Richard W. Ervin and State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey reached agreement Monday on a "parent option tuition school plan" they said would offer every parent an opportunity for escape from forced integration.

In a joint statement, these two high ranking state cabinet officers said that in their opinion the plan seemed to be the least imperfect of any legal proposal advanced to date to prevent forced race mixing in the classrooms.

The plan, in brief, authorizes parents of children faced with forced integration to withdraw them from the public schools. It authorizes payment of tuition grants amounting to the child's share of state and county school operating funds to allow the parents to send their child to non-sectarian private schools.

The amount of the grant will vary from county to county. The average for the state now would be about $240 a year.

They said the parent option plan was drawn up in the light of all recent court decisions dealing with integration and in the light of the consideration that there is no community in Florida where the climate of public opinion is such as to allow even "token" integration of schools.

By leaving it to the individual parent to decide whether his child should attend a segregated or integrated school, they said the element of "force" is removed and there is a lesser invitation to extremists.

"It will ease tensions and give people a choice," they continued.

"We do not want to do anything that will destroy the public schools. If we do not do anything, there will be turmoil and a breakdown in the schools."

Bailey said he believes school people will support the plan when they understand it, since it provides for most things school people are interested in — retaining the free public schools and retaining contractual rights and retirement rights of teachers.

To clear the way legally for operation of such a plan, the state officials said the 1959 Legislature would be asked to write an addition to the state constitution authorizing the tuition subsidies and to enact a law authorizing payment of these subsidies to the parents.

Bailey and Ervin said the plan they have agreed upon can be financed with existing school revenues.

While acknowledging that the plan is imperfect, the two state officials said that it had these important consideration:

1 — Florida's system of free public schools will be retained.

2 — No parent would be

U.S. Told It Must 'Roll Up Sleeves' For Space Battle

Glennan Shows Space Capsule Model
. . . to Rep. Overton Brooks (D., La.)

Or Watch Russia by Telescope

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The nation's civilian space chief warned Monday that Americans either must "roll up our sleeves" for a long expensive space conquest program or spend money buying telescopes to watch Russia's triumphs.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the House Space Committee that Russia is 18 months to two years ahead in developing the powerful rockets needed for exploration of deep space.

He also said under questioning that he "wouldn't put it past" the Russians to succeed in placing a man in space this year. The U.S. does not expect to put a man into an orbit around earth for about two years.

Glennan's chief assistant, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, injected a surprise note into the hearings by predicting the U.S. would need 10 to 15 years to put a man on the moon — some five years more than estimated by some experts.

Rep. James G. Fulton (R., Pa.) snapped that if the first American did not reach the moon before 10 to 15 years, "there'll be a man there saying 'nyet' when he arrives."

The House committee only last week released a series of statements by space experts predicting that with enough money and effort an American could reach the moon within a decade. The experts included Dr. Herbert York, chief scientist for the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

Glennan said he had "no hesitancy in predicting we will close the gap" in the overall race into space against Russia. But under repeated questions he declined to say when.

He said merely pouring more money into the U.S. program would not appreciably speed it up, but only give greater guarantees of success.

Glennan gave this resume of U.S. space plans for the immediate future:

HURL a 10-ton space craft into orbit around the earth by 1962.

FIRE a two-ton space craft "into deep space — far beyond the moon" by the same year.

ORBIT a 75-ton space craft around the earth by 1965.

Glennan said the U.S. had the resources, the intelligence, the technical skills and certainly the necessary wealth to conquer space. What it needs, he edded, is "determination — the willingness to roll up our sleeves and get the job done."

preme Court decision was rendered."

Negro pupils here agreed there had been no incidents in class on the first day, although some animosity was shown.

"On the whole, it went pretty good," Alvarez Gounsouland, 16-year-old Negro, said.

He was asked if he made any friends.

"I think I made a friend with my homeroom teacher— at least, I hope so," he replied.

Charles Perdue, former Duke University football star who is now principal of the big Norview High School at Norfolk, went on the school's loudspeaker system at the close of the day and said:

"Continue the wonderful conduct you have shown today. Don't hang around the school. See you tomorrow."

In Norfolk, where 10,000 whites have been without public schools, city officials were highly pleased.

"I am quite proud of the people of Norfolk, the way they have faced up to this," said School Superintendent J. J. Brewbaker.

Total enrollment in the six Norfolk schools, however, was far below normal.

Maury High School, for example, which last year had more than 1,950 students, enrolled only 1,185. Blair Junior High admitted 800, compared to 1,200 last year.

Final enrollment figures for the day at Norfolk showed that 6,370 pupils attended the six affected schools compared to 9,398 in attendance last June. This was a decline of about 33 per cent.

Many parents kept their children home to see if any trouble developed.

Norfolk's Norview High School had been the place where trouble was mainly feared, but there was not the slightest incident. No adults appeared except parents driving their children to school and only four uniformed police officers were on hand.

Perhaps 1,000 whites were waiting for the doors to open when the first two Negroes appeared at 8:40 a.m. They were two girls, Carol Wellington and Johnnie Rouse, who had walked from their home nearby.

The white children formed a human corridor down the main walkway as the Negroes came to the front door.

A few white students told reporters they believed violence against the Negroes would still come.

June Davis, 14, sophomore, said:

"There is going to be trouble, I just know. Some of the boys are going to gang up on them. They say maybe the parents have given up, but the teenagers haven't."

Newspapers Print Again In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — Newspapers were back on the street here Monday after pressmen returned to work ending a work stoppage that left Columbus without two Sunday newspapers.

Still unresolved, however, is the contract dispute that triggered the work stoppage. Negotiations are continuing.

The Dispatch and The Citizen were unable to publish Sunday because pressmen, members of Web Pressmen's Union No. 15, did not show up for work.

A union spokesman said the men were reluctant to work without a contract, which expired Dec. 31. Negotiations began Dec. 10 for a new agreement.

The third daily newspaper, The Ohio State Journal, also was affected, but the pressmen returned to work in time for The Journal to publish its final home edition.

Defenses Called Adequate

Hiding Nothing, Says McElroy

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Defense Secretary Neil McElroy said Monday the defenses of the U.S. are "prepared to meet the threat it faces today."

McElroy sought to assure congressmen who have been openly suspicious that President Eisenhower's administration is dangerously cutting armed forces strength in the name of economy.

"There is nothing under the rug" in the nearly 41-billion-dollar defense budget request Eisenhower sent Congress for the armed services, McElroy told the House Armed Services Committee.

Some members of the committee have fumed over a reduction of the Army by 30,000 men under the level set by Congress last year. McElroy assured them no further significant cuts are planned.

McElroy also dealt directly with a statement last week by Committee Chairman Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), who said Eisenhower is asking Congress to surrender its control over the relative strengths of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

The secretary said a new system in the budget request of identifying funds by categories cutting across the services has "no intent or likelihood" of changing the actual method of appropriating to the separate services. Nor, he said, would it give the secretary of defense any important new authority to switch funds around.

The only purpose of the change, McElroy said, is to make the money needs of the military clearer to Congress and to the public.

He conceded that each service chief had some reservations about the amount of funds provided for his service. But McElroy said they joined in calling the budget adequate and "also included a statement they saw no important gaps in the 1960 defense program."

In a review of major defense programs and decisions, McElroy conceded that early warning and counter-weapons do not provide an absolute defense against enemy missile attack.

"We cannot expect to counter an all-out attack so completely that no hostile weapons will penetrate," he said.

But the defense secretary said any potential attacker would recognize U.S. defenses and strike-back capacity as formidable. The military's first responsibility, he said, is still "to retaliate with large weapons in case of an outbreak of general war."

McElroy said the Atlas missile, a prospect for intercontinental fighting, "is moving ahead even faster than originally expected." Some operational Atlases are expected to be in place and attended by trained personnel this summer, he told the congressmen.

The first "fully operational Polaris submarine, at sea ready to fire" its 1,500-mile range missile, is expected for the latter part of 1960, McElroy said.

3 — The fundamental American concept of the separation o. church and state would be retained.

4 — School people would be protected in their contractual and retirement rights.

Agreement of these two cabinet officers on details of the parent option tuition plan is significant since it brings together the state's No. 1 legal officers and the state's No. 1 school officer.

The two chiefs of the 1959 Legislature endorsed the proposal. House Speaker-Designate Thomas Beasley of Defuniak Springs said the plan looks "mighty good" to him. "With some few exceptions it sounds like something I can support," he added.

Senate President-Designate Dewey Johnson of Quincy said he will back the proposal and predicted it will pass the Legislature easily.

Gov. LeRoy Collins could not be reached immediately for comment. But at his news conference last week, the governor stated emphatically he will have nothing to say about such proposals until he has received the report of his special racial advisory committee.

In past legislative sessions Ervin and Bailey were on opposite sides of the fence on the "last resort" private school law and some other proposals designed to preserve segregation, although they were agreed on the need for preserving public schools.

Earlier, Ervin had suggested that the word "uniform" be stricken from the present constitutional requirement for a uniform system of public free schools.

However, on reconsideration, he said he had decided to leave the word in with this phrase added to the present constitution:

"Provided it (the Legislature) may alternately provide assistance to any of the state's inhabitants for their education by such other reasonable means, including education in private schools and institutions, as it may determine to be in the best interest of the state."

A Turn in Fog... Dr. Eichert Dies

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

He was a brilliant heart specialist, well-to-do, and socially prominent.

But early Monday, his speeding car failed to make the turn at Old Cutler Rd. and SW 128th St., leaving him pinned upside down just two feet away from his physician's bag.

An hour later, at 3 a.m., as an ambulance rushed him toward Doctors Hospital, Dr. Herbert Eichert's heart stopped beating. The 51-year-old cardiologist became Dade County's 22nd traffic fatality for 1959.

No one can say for certain just where Dr. Eichert was going at 2 p.m. when his car sped off the fog - shrouded road and slammed into one tree, flipped over and lodged against another tree.

Metro Accident Investigator John Nelson said Dr. Eichert's answering service had no calls for him during the night. But the doctor could have received an emergency call at his Coconut Grove home.

"Sometimes he would go for a drive late at night if he couldn't sleep," said his widow, Mrs. Mary Ruth Warfield Eichert. She is in Glyndon, Md., visiting relatives since December.

There were no skid marks to indicate that Dr. Eichert tried to avoid the crash. But it appeared that the doctor was speeding, Nelson said. The speedometer of his car was frozen at 70.

"It was so foggy I couldn't see 20 feet in front of me — you sort of had to creep along to stay on the road," said 17-year-old Sam Mathes, of 6391 Snapper Creek Dr., who discovered the wreck minutes after it occurred.

An autopsy showed Dr. Eichert had not been drinking and did not suffer a heart attack.

His death came just a few hours after the official opening of National Heart Month, a project of special interest to him as publicity chairman of the Greater Miami Heart Association.

He was many things: chief of staff of the National Children's Cardiac Home in Miami, chief of staff of medicine at the University of Miami, past vice president of the American College of Cardiology, former president and trustee of the Greater Miami Heart Association, member of the Scientific Assembly of the American Heart Association.

He was a diplomat of the American Board of Internal Medicine, a diplomat of the American Board of Cardiology, chief cardiologist for Mercy Hospital, a board member of the Dade County Medical Association, member of the Florida Medical Association, member of the American Medical Association, member of the Florida Heart Association, and attending cardiologist at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Herbert Eichert
. . . his instruments nearby

He received his degree in medicine in 1932 from the University of Maryland and did post-graduate work at the Union Memorial Hospital, Johns Hopkins Hospital, and the American Hospital in Paris.

He came to Miami in 1937, married the same year and lived at 4000 Ensenada, Coconut Grove.

Well known in medical circles throughout America, he also made trips to Canada, Europe, and South America to treat patients.

He was a pilot and was co-chairman of the Florida Flying Physicians Association and a member of the Dade County Sheriff's Air Patrol.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mary Ruth, 17, in school in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., and a brother, Dr. Arnold H. Eichert, administrator of the South Florida Mental Hospital in West Hollywood.

The family has requested that no flowers be sent but that donation be made to the National Children's Cardiac Home, 4250 W. Flagler St.

At the doctor's own request, his ashes will be scattered over Biscayne Bay after a private family funeral.

2.500 Protest Banana Project

Big River Filling Job Under Fire at Cocoa

By STEPHEN TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

COCOA — Taking a leaf from Miami — where an aroused public finally stopped private filling in Biscayne Bay — a militant group here is battling a proposed gigantic fill in the Banana river.

The fill, which would pinch the big river to less than half its present shore-to-shore width off Cocoa Beach, was approved by the county commission Dec. 18. It still must be passed upon by the State Internal Improvement Board (the Cabinet) — which is where the protesting group hopes to stop it.

Charges that a "closed door" session of the commission preceeded their approval preface the petition of protest, which some 2,500 persons here have signed.

S. Gary Bennett, mayor of Cocoa, who, as a private citizen, heads up the protesting Brevard Bulkhead committee, has other views.

He said these will be thoroughly aired at 8 p.m. Thursday when his group will hold a public protest meeting in the old city hall at Cocoa.

Commissioner Parrish said: "This (the approved bulkhead line) is not typical of what will be done in the remainder of Brevard County."

Said Bennett: "That's a lot of stuff. If this project, sticking 6,020 feet out in the river and covering 3,200 acres, is allowed to go through — how can they say 'no' to others who want to come out that same distance?

"You people in Miami saw that happen, until the public was sufficiently aroused to stop it. Over in Pinellas county (St. Petersburg) they didn't get aroused fast enough and their once-beautiful Boca Ceiga bay is ruined."

Al Trafford, head of the Trafford Realty company, sales agency for Cocoa Isles, staunchly defended the project.

"Unless we fill some of these mangrove river swamps — which will also be of great aid to mosquito control — we are out of waterfront property for residents of average means. These islands have been privately owned for many years, and unless they can be bulkheaded and fills they are useless."

Bennett's committee, which includes the nationally known wild life photographer, Allen D. Cruikshank, base much of their opposition on the effects of the fill on wildlife.

"There is also the scenic value of the river. It is to us what Biscayne Bay is to Miami. It's our front door, and we don't want it filled up."

Cruikshank pointed out that the big and protected bird colony on Big Island is in the path of the proposed development.

Kelloway Predicts Trouble

West Palm Board Votes 4-1 for Morality Law

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — City commissioners passed a morality law Monday over the opposition of Commissioner L. W. Kelloway, who contended a "closed" city would drive tourists away.

The law, originally proposed to curb an alleged cabbie-call girl operation, was broadened to make an "act of moral perversion" by any person unlawful. The transporting of "any person for such purposes" or the "aiding or abetting of such acts" was also outlawed.

The vote was 4-to-1.

Kelloway claimed the new law "is going to get us into trouble. If you want to close it up tightly, you should include hotel and boarding houses."

City Attorney Egbert Beall pointed out that the ordinance did not apply only to cab drivers.

The charge of a cabbie-call girl racket cropped up last week and Commissioner Sylvan Burdick proposed the morality measure. The vote then was 3 to 2, with Commissioner Perry McCampbell casting his lot with Kelloway.

When the bill came up for first reading Monday, however, McCampbell voted with Mayor Horace Miller, Commissioner W. P. Holland, and Burdick.

Burdick contended, "If it is a question between an open town or a closed town, I would choose a closed town. I can see nothing wrong with an ordinance against immoral acts."

Kelloway argued, "A man over 21 should know what he's doing. I don't believe in immoral action. But I can only see tremendous growth in the islands. People go to Cuba for two things and one of them is to gamble. Let's not kid ourselves."

Burdick conceded, "Many resort towns depend on a red light district" but contended West Palm Beach should not tolerate it.

Kelloway retorted, "We had seven rape cases last year. We didn't have that when we had a red light district."

In other action, the Commission unanimously denied Ace Taxi Co.'s request for two more cab permits. The request had been opposed by Yellow Cab Co.

The commission accepted City Manager James J. Mott's recommendation that the extra permits were not necessary. Ace now has five permits. Yellow has 46.

The commission Monday also:

ADOPTED an ordinance making it unlawful to scatter rubbish on streets and in public places.

PUT OFF action on a measure calling for changes in the employes pension plan.

REFERRED for study a request from the Palm Beach County freight rate bureau for a $5,250 appropriation.

Lake Worth Gets Interim Mayor

Herald Bureau

LAKE WORTH — Carl Leverenz, hardware dealer and a resident of this city for the last ten years, took office Monday night as interim mayor, succeeding Robert T. O'Connor.

Leverenz took over the gavel immediately after his induction and conducted the regular meeting.

He will serve until the spring elections, when a mayor will be elected.

Leverenz was selected last week by commission agreement after Mahlon Hall, former Chamber of Commerce president and civic leader declined to accept the appointment, which expires in April.

Mrs. Ruth U. Fales, city clerk, administered the oath while vice mayor Lynn F. Myers Jr. presided as the meeting opened. Commissioner Zell Altman made the motion to appoint Leverenz. It was seconded by Commissioner James Stafford and won unanimous approval.

The board turned down a request by B. J. Van Ingen and Co. its fiscal agent, to be permitted to bid on the sewer revenue bonds when they go on sale Feb. 17.

The company asked specifically that a provision in its contract with the city prohibiting it from bidding on the bonds be stricken. The commission denied the request as not in keeping with statutes.

Initial steps were taken to make Lake Worth's regulations on absentee voting conform with the state regulations.

TALLAHASSEE — Comment on the proposed parent option tuition school plan concerning integration included:

Rep. Frank Blank Jr., West Palm Beach: It appears to be the best solution to the forced integration problem so far, and appears to have the best chance of standing up legally. Unless something better is offered I shall support it.

Rep. Emmett S. Roberts, Belle Glade: In my opinion the plan offers an alternative to continuance or abolition of public schools. There is no one in the Legislature that favors integration and the plan will do much to prevent it.

(Both Blank and Roberts said complications might arise in applying the state grant of $240 against private school tuition.)

Common Cold Not Common This Year

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — The common cold is not so common this year.

Dr. C. L. Brumback, Palm Beach County health director, said Monday colds and influenza are way down this winter.

He gives Florida's mild weather part of the credit.

"Unquestionably," he said "last year's severe winter increased the cases of upper respiratory diseases including pneumonia."

There have been no full-scale outbreaks of flu only "sporadic reports of cases varying in severity." He predicted it will be several years before the world witnesses another epidemic like last year's Asian flu wave.

"Many people," he said, "are now immune to Asian flu either because they had it last year or they took the flu shots."

The common cold, like the flu, is down to "pretty average" this year. Getting sufficient rest, eating a balanced diet, and avoiding exposure are the best means to combat a common cold.

As for a cure for the common cold, he holds out hope for it in the future.

"There is an awful lot or research and some vaccine has been developed which is effective to some degree. Eventually with increased knowledge of virus, we will find a cure for many cases of the common cold."

Phone Policy Put Off

Mott to Study Bill Practice

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — The question of whether the city will continue to foot the telephone bills of about 15 city employes was left unanswered Monday.

City commissioners postponed action on establishing a "firm policy" and instructed City Manager James J. Mott to study the procedure used in other cities and in private business.

In bringing the matter before the City Commission, Mott said that present practise was a "custom of long standing."

He added that "in all fairness to city employes," the issued should not be considered a reflection on them.

Commissioner L. W. Kelloway countered "How do these customs start? A good Ivory soap percentage of them should not be paid by the city."

Commissioners also put off action on three Advertising Commission items, including the approval of the group's contract with George Evans Co.

A controversy over the Advertising Commission flared anew last week. The right of the commission to spend $150,000 in city funds was verbally challenged.

The advertising issue is expected to come in for more discussion at a City Commission workshop meeting Thursday night.

Commissioners rejected two bids on police cars after a blast from Kelloway that "politics enter too much." Mott had recommended the contract be awarded to Rev. Smith, high bidder by $10.

Commissioners also adopted 4 to 1 a purchasing manual subject to revision. Kelloway dissented. Burdick suggested Mott draft provisions giving local bidders a percentage advantage over non-local bidders.

Lake Worth Herald's Editor Dies

LAKE WORTH — Carl A. Schaefer, 70, of 132 N. L St., editor of the twice weekly Lake Worth Herald and former news editor of The Palm Beach News, died in a nursing home Monday.

Schaefer came to this city in 1941 from Tampa. For 30 years he was secretary-treasurer of the Meigs Publishing Co. in Pomeroy, Ohio, and for 12 years editor and publisher of weekly papers there. He had been editor of The Herald here for six years.

High in Masonic circles, he was a 32nd degree member of the Scottish rite, a Shriner of Alla-Idn Temple at Columbus, Ohio, and a member of Gulfstream Lodge 245, Lake Worth, and a member and monarch of Semi-I-No Grotto.

He was also a life member of the Wardens and Masters Association of District 26, Florida.

He is survived by his wife, Helen; three daughters, Mrs. Helen K. Gibson, Chesterton, Me.; Mary E. Gregory, San Antonio, Tex., and Nancy A. Powell, Lake Worth; a brother, Don, and a sister, Lily Coates.

Funeral rites will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the Barton Memorial Chapel with Rev. N. A. Frazell officiating. Graveside services in Hillcrest Cemetery in West Palm Beach will be conducted by Sem-I-No Grotto, and members of the monarchs will act as pallbearers.

Car Plunge Kills Delray Waiter

Herald Bureau

BOCA RATON — At least one man was killed before dawn Monday when a car crashed through the inlet bridge into 20 feet of tide-swept water.

Police do not know how many passengers the southbound automobile carried when it slammed through the railing.

The body of William Phillips, a Delray Beach Negro, was found floating in Lake Boca Raton at 8:30 a.m., about six hours after the accident.

Police Chief Hugh Brown said late Monday his men were still searching for "at least one more man and possibly a woman."

Brown's grisly prediction was based on information that Phillips did not know how to drive, and that the car had been borrowed by a man known as Spately from Delray Beach, who had not been found.

The owner of the car, Jimmy White of Delray Beach, had not been located, Brown said. Phillips, about 42, was employed as a waiter in a Delray Beach restaurant.

Brown, who has utilized dragging crews and a helicopter in an effort to find the possible victims, said the bodies "could have been carried up the waterway or out to sea. We hope to clear this up by Tuesday."

Strict Building Regulations Hit

By BILL BECK
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — Florida's biggest land developers are shunning Palm Beach County because of "strangling" building regulations, R. F. Raidle told the County Commission Monday.

Raidle, whose Palm Beach realty firm holds thousands of acres in this and other nearby counties, said, "We're getting so damn protective that we aren't going to have anything to eat."

In calling for fewer and less stringent regulations, Raidle urged the commission to take all possible steps to encourage developers to come to Palm Beach County.

"We need men here like Mackle, who is spending $2,000,000 on advertising alone at his project between Stuart and Fort Pierce," Raidle said.

The successful realtor was one of some 150 'developers, realtors, engineers and contractors who appeared at a public meeting at the Mounts Agriculture Bldg. to discuss the county's plat regulations.

No one was as outspoken as Raidle. However, the consensus was that the plat regulations, drawn up June 1955, needed some updating if builders and developers are to get a fair shake in Palm Beach County.

The "discussion" boiled down to two major complaints: bonding requirements and the length of time it takes to have plats recorded.

A recommendation that the commission authorize a revolving bond fund won immediate and wide-spread approval among both commissioners and developers.

At present, a developer who is constructing, for example, a $100,000 subdivision must be bonded for $100,000 to guarantee completion of the project. The bonding company requires that the developer put up $100,000 in collateral. Should the developer start a second $100,000 project he must put up another $100,000 collateral — even though the first project may be 90 per cent finished.

The revolving fund would allow developers or builders to get credit for the portions of jobs that have been completed. It would also mean they would tie up much less of their working capital as collateral for bonds.

The commission was informed that such a plan is being successfully sued in Dade County and by the City of West Palm Beach in its Westward Expansion development.

Plats are drawings showing the layout of streets, blocks, drainage, utilities and land elevation in a proposed subdivision. Plats must be approved by the county engineer and recorded before construction can commence.

Developers testified it now takes about six months from the time a preliminary sketch is presented to the county engineer until final approval is obtained. This was contrasted with six weeks in Fort Pierce and other Florida cities.

A mortgage company official said builders stand to lose thousands of dollars should there be a change in the mortgage market while they are waiting for final approval of plats.

$70,000 Budgeted For Road

By ED PFISTER
Herald Bureau Chief

WEST PALM BEACH — County commissioners Monday told Mayor George Talbot and Delray Beach City Commissioners the county has $70,000 budgeted for rebuilding Swinton Ave., a county road in that city.

They said no date for construction had been fixed as yet and that a study would be required before a starting time is set.

But Chairman Lake Lytal and other members of the County Board were unable to make defninte commitments on four other questions posed by the Delray Beach officials.

Through City Manager William Lawson Jr. the city asked:

THAT the county turn over lands it owns near Lake Idea so Delray Beach could develop it as a recreation area — a move that drew opposition from attorney Neil MacMillan of Delray Beach, representing residents there.

THAT access to Fourth Ave. in that city be limited.

THAT 10th Ave. be ultimately extended to Military Tr. with the required railroad overpasses.

FOR A DATE when construction of the divided U. S. 1 through the heart of Delray Beach would be launched.

Poachers Real, Though

PB Coast Guard Scuttles 'Flying Dutchman' Tale

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — There wasn't any ghost ship — any "Flying Dutchman" after all.

And everybody involved in the case of the five illegal netters, in the dark hours before dawn last Friday, knew what they were talking about.

Admittedly there was a bit of confusion.

What happened was that Ronald Purdom, salt water conservation agent, spied five poachers starting to unload illegally netted fish near Peanut Island and ordered them to halt.

They ditched their boat and fled, diving into the channel. That's where the confusion came in.

Purdom saw the five in a Coast Guard boat later and it looked as if they had been dredged out of the channel by the Coast Guard craft.

He also asked a Riviera Beach policeman to call the Coast Guard about the case. The cop did tell the desk to make the call, but it wasn't recorded by the dispatcher as from Purdom.

Cmdr. William Bellow of the Coast Guard said actually what happened was five very wet young men came to the station and asked to be taken to the mainland.

The commander said it's not unusual to send a boat across the waterway, and because the five were very wet, a boat was dispatched to take them to a mainland dock.

The commander said the Coast Guard had no idea at that time that the state conservation department was after the men.

And Riviera Beach's police dispatcher had no record that Purdom had called directly. But Purdom had chased the poachers, did try to intercept them, they were in a Coast Guard boat, he did seize all their equipment, and has taken steps to learn the identity of the men.

There goes another good story about that "Flying Dutchman." Nobody has ever actually seen it here yet.

Florida's Stake in the Jet Age

Why Drive to Westchester? Fly to Miami

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

NEW YORK — "Why," asked an Eastern Air Lines vice president, "would a New Yorker spend two hours driving to a Westchester County golf course on a weekend when he could get to Miami in the same time?"

In the answer to that question lies the key to Florida's stake in the rapidly developing age of jet air travel.

And in anticipation of a growing demand for more and more space on southbound flights (and the northbound return), Eastern is planning now to handle twice its current New York-Miami passenger load by 1962.

* * *

THE BENEFIT to Miami and all of Florida in such a projection is obvious. Every new arrival at a Florida airport, whether the traveler is planning to stay for a weekend or a lifetime, means an added boost to our economy.

Where will all this increased airline business come from?

"From tourists, businessmen, convention-goers — from the same people who ride the airlines now and many more who don't," said one EAL official here.

"We expect the passenger totals to grow almost in proportion to the increase in speed and convenience of the airliners."

For the time being, Eastern is banking on its new fleet of prop-jet Lockheed Electras —which make the Miami-New York run in a little more than three hours—to bear the brunt of the transition between the piston age and the jet age.

* * *

PURE JETS, already in service on some of National Air Lines' New York-Miami trips, will begin carrying Eastern passengers on long hauls by early next year.

And even as plans are made for broad-scale use of the 600-mile-an-hour pure jets (which will be Douglas DC-8s in Eastern's case), the plane makers are already talking of 2,000 mile-an-hour supersonic jets as passenger carriers by 1970.

Such an airliner could put a New Yorker in Miami before he hardly had time to buckle his seat belt.

* * *

"WE'RE THINKING of things like that," said Eastern Vice President William Van Dusen, "but we're primarily concerned now with the present. There's a need for a jet-speed plane that can use existing airports and we think the Electra fills it.

"It's fast (400 miles an hour) maneuverable (climbs to 10,000 feet in six minutes), and can use almost every airport in our system. It's going to be our workhorse plane in the next few years, even after the DC-8s are in service."

Eastern's officials are not waiting for business to come to them. They have a 20-man sales staff here drumming up business, much of it directed toward the busy and lucrative New York-Miami run.

To compensate for the losses suffered in the recent 38-day strike and to gear for the jet age at the same time, the airline is keeping its sales staff on the go.

* * *

"IN A WAY," said one sales representative, "we're working for Miami as well as for Eastern. Business for us means business for you."

The jet age itself is working for Miami, too.

"It's boosting Miami and all of Florida as an appealing resort area because the state is getting closer to northern cities all the time," said Van Dusen.

"From a time standpoint, Miami became as close as Atlantic City when you could make the flight in four hours. Now, the people who used to think of making a Miami trip once a year are going several times. They can afford the time because of speedy air travel."

* * *

NEW YORK businessmen, Van Dusen pointed out, can whiz down to Miami in the morning on a rush assignment and get back that night. Some of them are doing exactly that, just as many Miami businessmen do the same thing in reverse.

Convention-goers who once regarded Miami as too distant from the nation's geographical center can eliminate that factor as a consideration now.

"In every way," said one Eastern spokesman, "Miami—perhaps more than any other city—is going to be the big gainer in this age of faster air travel."

New Businesses Are Being Born At Record Pace

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

Not ever has the business birthrate in our land been as high as it is right now—a superlative confirmation that our economy is really growing again, that we're back into a major phase of expansion.

In December alone, over 16,400 new businesses were incorporated—the highest number of births ever recorded for a single month, up a fabulous 55.5 per cent over the total in the same month a year ago, up 20.6 per cent over the previous monthly peak.

SYLVIA PORTER

While Dun & Bradstreet has not yet released the figures for the first month of 1959, it's a virtual certainty that new charters substantially topped the 13,000 in January of 1958, and the total probably set a new record for the month.

* * *

What's more, the trend is nationwide, with every region, every state feeling the new upsurge in business births. Although New York is properly worrying about the pace of its business growth, the fact is that in December New York led all others in the number of new incorporations—2,770 against 1,976 a year ago.

California was second with 1,468 new babies against 974 a year ago. And in such sparsely settled states as South Dakota, Utah, Nebraska, the year-to-year percentage gains have been spectacular, running over 100 and 200 per cent.

* * *

The Big Are Still Getting Bigger

The forces working for giantism in industry in our nation are still powerful. Through mergers, consolidations, outright purchases the big are getting bigger every year.

The forces working for business bankruptcies also are still deplorably strong. Because of inexperience, ignorance, lack of money and credit sources, business failures are running over 260 a week, and this covers only those which fail with losses to creditors. Dun & Bradstreet calculates that the total disappearing each year through voluntary liquidation, merger and bankruptcy, approaches 400,000.

* * *

But the other side of the coin—and today, this side is shiny—is the rising number of businesses coming into being. The total of individual enterprises in the United States today is estimated at above 4,200,000—a rather wondrous statistic to contemplate in this era.

This is not just a simple story about the renewed boom in business births, fascinating as it is. For behind this tale are profound implications.

* * *

Birth Upsurge Precedes a Revival

FIRST, THE UP OR downtrend in business births is one of the most sensitive clues we have to where business in general is heading. This index usually turns down long before a business decline becomes perceptible, turns up long before a business revival is clear to the majority.

SECOND, THE FACT that hundreds of thousands of individuals do go into new businesses each year against all the known odds is a significant reflection of the broadening, basic growth of our economy.

AND THIRD AND MOST important, the healthy birthrate testifies to the fact that the American dream of owning your own business, of being your own boss—no matter what the hardships, the long hours, the risks, the lack of security, the heartbreaks—is far, far from dead.

The little, independent businessman is our greatest safeguard against the monopolistic, corporate state. His birth must be encouraged and his survival must be assured, for he is, in effect, a protector of our whole way of life.

The vitality implied by the booming business birthrate today should warm the heart of any American who honestly believes in our system.

Floridians Testify For Barge Service

TAMPA, Fla. —(AP)— The Interstate Commerce Commission Monday wound up the Tampa phase of a hearing on a petition for expansion of service by A. L. Mechling Barge Lines, Inc.

Among the witnesses at the final session here were chamber of commerce officials from Tampa and Fort Myers and John N. Gibson, director of development for Dade County.

All testified in favor of the expansion, citing the advantages it would bring their communities as well as the state.

Mechling, whose barges serve the Mississippi River area to Tampa, seeks to extend its service south to Miami, Fort Myers and Port Everglades and up to Minneapolis, Chicago and Pittsburgh. It also is asking ICC permission to extend its hauling privileges to cover general commodities.

Gibson told Commission Examiner James I. Carr that expansion of Mechling service would help bring Miami more industry of the type that "moves in and out." He explained this type of industry brings raw material into a city and moves out a finished product to markets elsewhere.

South's Textile Pay Rising

Dow Jones, AP, UPI

A wave of wage increases is spreading through the South's textile industry, with 35,000 workers affected so far.

Cannon Mills started it late last week by notifying its 16,500 employes that their wages will go up in mid-February, with minimums rising to $1.25 an hour. Higher paid workers are getting 10 cents an hour boosts.

Now, Springs Cotton Mills has posted wage hike notices in its South Carolina plants but the amounts have not been announced.

Over the weekend, Pacolet Manufacturing Co., Spartan Mills, Arkwright Mills, Judson Mills and Drayton Mills — all in South Carolina — said they plan to join in raising wages.

Textile men expect the increases to become general among the South's 550,000 textile workers.

The current wage average in the mills is $1.52 an hour but that includes overtime.

Ford's Profits Tumble

NEW YORK —(AP)— Ford Motor Co. Monday reported a 1958 profit of $95,700,000, equal to $1.75 a share.

This compared with $282,800,000, or $5.20 a share, in 1957.

Net sales during 1958 came to $4,130,300,000 against $5,771,300,000 the year before.

The company announced a month ago that 1958 production of cars and trucks slumped to 1,462,312 units from the 2,226,828 turned out in 1957.

Ford was the first of the auto industry's big three to report 1958 earnings. General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. are expected to announce theirs shortly.

All three saw sales, profits and production sag in recession 1958.
